City Receives $26,500 Grant

The Department of Interior, National Park Service, has approved a $26,500 grant to be used for improvements at the Booneville City Park.

This is a matching grant, according to R.G. Houston, park commissioner. The city will have to match this grant money with the same amount of funds, he said.

The money will be used to build a new tennis court, convert the present tennis court into a multi-purpose court, and to build a jogging track around the old park, Houston said.

No date has been set for construction of the new facilities, he said.

Three Qualify For Constable

Tommy Smith, who won the democratic primary in the race for 5th district constable, will face three independent candidates in the November general election.

Billy D. Strickland and Doyle King have qualified by petition to seek election as 5th district constable. Johnny Mock was the first independent candidate to qualify by petition for 5th district constable.

Friday, Sept. 9, was the last day independent candidates could qualify for the November election.

Two Qualify For School Board

Gerald Rowland and Johnny H. Shook have qualified by petition to seek election as a member of the Prentiss County School Board in the 5th district.

There are now three men seeking election to that position. Mackie D. Holder, who is currently serving as school board member, qualified earlier.

County To Receive Community Grant

Prentiss County will receive $289,250 under the statewide category of the Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) program for improvements to and the purchase of new equipment for the county sanitary landfill, Gov. William Winter announced.

This project includes 2.6 miles of paved access road and the purchase of a landfill compactor.

"I am pleased to announce that Prentiss County is a recipient of these funds that will be used to help develop and benefit low to moderate income areas in communities throughout the state," Winter said.

The CDBG program is administered by the Department of Community Development, Governor's Office of Federal-State Programs.

Unemployment Is At 14.1 Percent

Prentiss County's unemployment rate for July is estimated at 14.1 percent, as compared to 14.5 percent in June, according to Job Service in Corinth.

Area county rates of unemployment were estimated as follows: Alcorn, 21.5 percent; Tippah, 12.3 percent; and Tishomingo, 18.6 percent.

The unemployment rate in the four-county area consisting of Prentiss, Alcorn, Tippah and Tishomingo counties was estimated to be 17.0 percent, compared to 16.7 percent in June and 13.4 percent in July, one year ago.

The total civilian labor force for the four-county area for July was estimated to be 48,570, an increase of 580 over last month and 40 above the July 1982, estimate.

An estimated 40,290 individuals were employed at mid-July, an increase of 330 over June, but 1,750 below the July 1982, figure.

The number of persons unemployed rose to 8,280 at mid-month. This represents an increase of 250 over the month and an increase of 1,790 over the year.

A total of 14,640 workers were employed in manufacturing industries at mid-July, 260 above the previous estimate and 270 above that of one year ago.

Although there were several small increases, the largest monthly and yearly increase was noted in electrical machinery. Nonmanufacturing employment was estimated to be about 150 below the June figure and 760 below the July 1982, estimate, with construction experiencing the largest decline.

Food Stamp Training Sessions

The Prentiss County Welfare Department will be conducting training sessions for selected food stamp households who have to comply with monthly reporting, a federal requirement.

Recipients who have to attend will be notified through letters. If a person cannot attend, he should notify the Prentiss County Welfare Department at 728-6072.

Monthly reporting requires certain food stamp households to make monthly reports to the county welfare department on their income and circumstances.

Another Lawsuit Filed Against Sheriff

By ANGELA SMITH
Staff Reporter

A $100,000 lawsuit was filed against Prentiss County Sheriff John McCauley, his bonding company, and his ex-deputy, Hubert Kitchens, in Federal Court in Aberdeen on Aug. 30 by a former prisoner, Larry Carpenter.

This is the third lawsuit filed against McCauley recently. All three lawsuits together are asking for damages in the amount of $675,000.

The lawsuit filed by Carpenter, of Route 6, Booneville, claims that on or about Dec. 8, 1982, he was riding in an automobile with Deputy Kitchens' father.

The suit states: "Both Carpenter and the deputy's father were drinking. The deputy sheriff, apparently upset that his father was drinking, stopped Carpenter and the deputy's father and abused the plaintiff (Carpenter) causing him grave injuries including a broken leg and seizures precipitated by blows to the head."

The suit further claims that "thereafter, the deputy sheriff carried Carpenter to the county jail, locked him in a cell and refused to allow him medical attention despite Carpenter's begging for this medical attention."

"Furthermore," the suit

states, "the plaintiff was kept confined in the jail suffering his excruciating injuries for a period of 26 hours, the defendants thus violating his statutory and United States constitutional amendment 14 and 8th right to make bail."

The suit states that Carpenter, "by reason of the defendant's wrongful actions has suffered damages including seizures, a broken leg, injuries to his head, injuries to his body, the undergoing of surgery, medical bills, hospital bills, loss of income, loss of learning capacity, and pain and suffering."

Carpenter asks for "at least" $100,000 in actual and punitive damages.

Sheriff McCauley fired Kitchens and another deputy in January after the two deputies announced their intentions to run for sheriff in the election. Both the sheriff and Kitchens were defeated in their bid for sheriff. Kitchens is presently employed at the Booneville Police Department.

On July 28, a $75,000 lawsuit was filed in Federal Court in Aberdeen by another former prisoner, Terry Shannon, claiming he was denied medical attention while incarcerated in

Work Is Progressing

An unattended bulldozer gives silent testimony to the construction work now underway at Baptist Memorial Hospital in Booneville. One wing of the old Northeast Mississippi Hospital has already been torn down and another is yet to go to make way for the construction of a new patient wing. The sections of the present facility that will not be demolished are expected to be completely remodeled in the project which is expected to cost almost $6 million. The project will take 2½ to 3 years to complete, hospital officials estimate.

Commission Says

Police Officer Cannot Serve As Judge

Apparently unaware that William (Willie) Anderson is no longer a Booneville police officer, the State Commission on Judicial Performance has recommended that the State Supreme Court remove Anderson from office as a justice court judge if he remains a policeman.

The recommendation comes two weeks late. Anderson, who was defeated in the August runoff election for justice court judge of the Northern District of Prentiss County, reportedly failed to report for duty on the Booneville Police force one night during the last week in August.

According to a police department spokesman, this was not the first such occurrence for Anderson. He was suspended from duty until the expiration of his term in office Dec. 31, 1983. He was a five-year veteran of the Booneville signed papers withdrawing his pension. Anderson still serves as justice court judge for the Prentiss County 5th District until the expiration of his term in office Dec. 31, 1983. He was a five-year veteran of the Booneville

Sheriff-Elect: 'No One Has Been Hired'

By ANGELA SMITH
Staff Reporter

Although rumors persist concerning who the newly elected Prentiss County Sheriff, W.V. Horn, will hire as his staff when he takes office in January, Horn says no one has been hired as of yet. "The public has hired me a bunch of them," Horn said last week. "But nothing is certain yet. I am looking at some people real close. But no one has been hired. I've got four months to consider it and I'm not in any hurry." Horn, the man who won the sheriff's post over 16 other contenders, says that running for sheriff has been in the back of his mind for four years. "I believe when I take office in January I can help slow down the theft and drug traffic in Prentiss County. We can't stop it all but I think we can help the problem." However, Horn declines to elaborate on future plans

Attorney Seeks To Withdraw Beer, Wine Petition

BY ED WOODWARD
Staff Reporter

Local attorney Tommy Comer, who submitted a petition requesting a referendum on the sale of beer and wine in the city to the board of aldermen at their Sept. 6 meeting, has expressed a desire to withdraw the petition, according to Mayor Charles Crabb.

"All I know is that he came in (to City Hall) the next morning (Sept. 7) and verbally said he wanted to withdraw it," Mayor

Crabb said. "Officially they haven't submitted a written withdrawal on it yet," he said. "The petition has been filed with the City, of course. And I think that, in order for them to withdraw it, it would have to be in writing."

Mayor Crabb said he thought the withdrawal request was prompted by the problems connected with placing a city issue on a county ballot. He pointed out that, at the time Comer

State Office Tells District To 'Get Act Together'

District's Board Meets To Discuss State Criticisms

BY ED WOODWARD

The response by the board of directors of the Northeast Mississippi Planning and Development District to a letter from the Governor's Office of Federal - State Programs, which was to have been delivered in person by Wednesday, Sept. 7, was a day late in being delivered, according to Rich Haydell, interim director of the State Department of Planning and Policy. Haydell said the package containing the response was delivered on Thursday, Sept. 8, and a meeting was held between the affected parties on that afternoon.

"We met for a couple of hours, and Ann Cook (director of the Office of Federal-State Programs) and Ken Shepard (director of Finance and Administration for the Appalachian Regional Commission) carried most of the discussion," Haydell said.

"There were two (NMPDD) Board members, Mr. (James) Cagle and Mr. (Jimmy) Moore, their attorney Thomas Keenum, their accountant Kermit Jones, Ms. (Sadie) Hardin, their interim director, and Mr. (John) Hanley representing the District. "We discussed some concerns with them, based on the response they gave us. And they will be reporting back to their

The Northeast Mississippi Planning and Development District board of directors met Monday, Sept. 12, to discuss criticisms of the board's operation voiced by the Governor's Office of Federal-State Programs and the Appalachian Regional Commission at a Sept. 8 meeting in Jackson. The meeting in the Alumni Room of the Frank Haney Union building on the NEMJC campus began at 2:05 with Board Chairman J.M. "Flick" Ash presiding. And, after the invocation by James Triplett and a call of the roll, a motion was made that the board go into executive session "to discuss personnel of the Planning and Development District."

After unanimous passage of the motion, all non-board members, including the press were barred from the meeting.

After one hour and five minutes the meeting was reopened to the press, and the minutes of the executive session were read by board attorney Thomas Keenum. According to those minutes, during executive session the board had discussed the Sept. 8 meeting with Governor's Office of Federal-State Programs Director Ann Cook, ARC Director of Finance and Administration Kenneth Shepard, and In-

Police Department and held the rank of captain at the time of his resignation.

Brant Brantley, executive director of the Commission on Judicial Performance, said the seven-member panel voted July 8 to seek Anderson's removal as a judge, and had not learned prior to their recommendation that he was no longer a policeman.

But the recommendation probably will still not be withdrawn, Brantley said, because it also suggests Anderson be fined $100 for improperly handling garnishment requests filed with his office.

According to Brantley, another reason for not withdrawing the recommendation is the possibility that it might also cause the Supreme Court to make a ruling clearing the confusion over the legality of judges simultaneously serving as law officers.

Brantley said there are at least three Mississippi justice court judges who are also serving as law enforcement officers in police or sheriff's departments.

"It is a legal issue that they (the commission) would like to have resolved," he said.

The commission is made up of lawyers, judges, and lay persons. It is charged with investigating reports that judges are guilty of misconduct, or cannot perform their duties because of a mental or physical disability.

The 1979 Constitutional Amendment that created the commission grants it the authority to make recommendations to the Supreme Court. The high court can then reprimand, fine, remove, or retire judges as it sees fit.

After receiving a complaint against Anderson, the commission appointed a committee, and a confidential hearing was held on March 31. That committee's report resulted in the commission's decision to seek Anderson's removal.

At the time, Anderson argued that a state attorney general's opinion indicated it was legal for him to serve in both capacities at once.

But the commission in its recommendation for Anderson's removal, insisted, "It is not possible for one man to serve both as a policeman and a judge and maintain the appropriate judicial attitude in dealing with criminal defendants before his bench."

The recommendation noted that, although Anderson does not render final decisions on criminal charges originating within the city of Booneville, his district does include part of the city.

"He does, however, accept affidavits, determine probable cause, and issue warrants for the Booneville Police Department on criminal charges arising in Booneville," the recommendation said.

Despite several attempts, Anderson could not be reached for comment Tuesday.

Brantley said, though the commission has been "aware of the problem", the Anderson case is the first such case it has considered in the three years of its existence.

Brantley blamed Anderson's candidacy in the August primary elections for the two-month lag between its decision regarding Anderson, and its recommendation to remove him, and fine him $100.

"The commission does not want to get involved in politics," he explained.

State

board on Monday (Sept. 12)," Haydell said.

"They sent back a fairly large package in response to the concerns we sent out. And their responses were still not satisfactory. There were still some questions in our minds," he said

"So, the way the meeting was conducted, really, two or three main issues surfaced. We did not spend our time discussing the details of their response, because that would have taken all day. And, even though it might have been productive, it would not have been as productive as what we did," Haydell explained.

Haydell then related the concerns of the Governor's office stated to the District's representatives during the meeting.

"Number One, we tried to impress upon the board members who were there that the NMPDD and their board needs to come forward with information, and take the initiative in taking necessary action to show that they are being responsive to the area, and the District, as far as providing services.

"We have some concerns, and have had for quite a while, and we made it known that in a typical situation, usually, the board itself, or the chairman of the board... the designated representative of the board leads the discussion in a situation like this.

"But, in this case, the board's attorney (Thomas Keenum) has acted as the board's spokesman," Haydell said. "And we feel like the board needs to get serious enough that they are their own spokesman, and will rely on the attorney for comments when needed.

"They had asked us, in detail, 'What do we need to do to satisfy you?' And we responded that the board is going to have to take action as they see fit to provide better services to the district, and they have got to show positive action; not just the strategies for what they are going to do. They need to start taking action.

"We also indicated that they need to get serious about hiring a new executive director. We were told at the meeting that Ms. (Sadie) Hardin is only an interim director," Haydell explained. He admitted that the new designation came as a surprise to his office.

"We did not insist that they hire a new executive director. But we implied that, if the board is serious about resolving the situation, they should pursue the appointment of a permanent executive director.

"We also indicated to them that, in the past, there has been some feeling from the ARC Washington staff, the CBG (Community Block Grant) review mechanism, and the Aging operation, that the services that the District were providing in those areas were not as adequate as they could have been, and we felt that the board needed to immediately address the problematic responses they were giving as their services," Haydell said. "The meeting really did not end up a sparring session on details. The theme was mainly that we were trying to make a point to the group that was there that, Number One, we felt that the board, if they had not been in the past, should begin taking this situation as a very serious matter. And that, Number Two, they need to take actions as they deem appropriate, and we would review them and indicate whether they were appropriate or not," he said.

"They asked, Number One, 'How can we be assured that those actions are what you want?' And we told them we could not guarantee any action they might take. But they will have to come forth with a suggested approach. And we will review it and go from there.

"But, there is no way we can tell them how to run their show. They have got to take the initiative, and run it," Haydell said.

Haydell agreed that, in summary, the NMPDD board of directors was told that it should "get it's act together."

"Basically, the meeting was just us trying to impress on them that the board needs to get very serious about the situation, and they need to initiate necessary action to show that they are a responsive board.

"And it remains to be seen how effective the two board members who were at the meeting, and the attorney and accountant, can be in getting this across to the full board," Haydell said on Friday, Sept. 9.

terim Director of the State Department of Planning and Policy Rich Haydell (a report on that meeting appears elsewhere in this issue).

Reports on the meeting were made to the board by Keenum, NMPDD accountant Kermit Jones, and board member James Cagle, who had attended the meeting.

Still in executive session, the board voted unanimously to accept the Aug. 15 letter of resignation submitted by executive director Charles Spearman, and voted unanimously to appoint Sadie Hardin as interim executive director "if her qualifications are accepted by the district board."

Still in executive session, the board voted to advertise in the six local newspapers in the counties comprising the district, and in The Daily Journal, The Clarion Ledger, and The Commercial Appeal for applicants for the position of executive director of the NMPDD.

Qualifications approved by the board include a four-year degree and two years experience in public administration and planning and development.

Resumes are to be received by Sept. 25, and a director is to be employed by Oct. 15, according to the resolution.

A screening committee to review the applications was appointed by chairman Ash during the executive session. The screening committee will meet on Sept. 27 at 10 a.m. to process the applications.

Salary for the new executive director was set at $23,500 if the applicant chosen has a four-year degree, and $24,500 is the applicant chosen has a masters degree.

Five minutes after the board voted to come out of executive session, a motion to adjourn was made, seconded, and passed unanimously, and the meeting was adjourned.

BIBLE QUESTION BOX

QUESTION: Mr. Hogland, I have read of the books of apochrypha, why were they left out of the Bible?

WARD HOGLAND

ANSWER: Rejection of the apochrypha seems to be the only correct position one can take when he reads the scripture. The term apochryphal has come to mean "non-canonical." The word "canon" is the anglicized form of a Greek word which originally denoted a straight rod, used as a ruler or measuring instrument. Early Greek writers used this term in talking about the scriptures as being the rule of faith and practice. In other words a book is canonical if it proves to be genuine. It should be noted that Jesus or any of his apostles never quoted the apochryphal books or in any way indicated they should be a part of the Bible. Since Christ has promised that the WORD will not pass away it was his function to see that we received that word in its purity. You may be assured that we have the word as it should be and that God will see that man does not destroy it until Christ comes again.

ARC Memorandum Details NMPDD Irregularities

BY ED WOODWARD
Staff Reporter

An Aug. 1 memorandum from the Appalachian Regional Commission to the Northeast Mississippi Planning and Development District suggests that former NMPDD executive director Charles Spearman may have erroneously reported income as reimbursed expenses on his income tax returns.

The memo also indicates that the NMPDD board was aware that money being paid to the Northeast Mississippi Junior College for duplicating services was actually being placed in a special checking account established by duplicating department head Dr. James Rhodes, and being funneled back to Spearman by way of cash and payments on his charge accounts.

It was the discovery of the latter through receipt of an anonymous letter containing pages from a 1981 state audit of NEMJC that prompted the ARC to order an audit of the NMPDD earlier this year. The Aug. 1 memo contains the findings of that audit.

Three specific items received the majority of space in the memorandum. The first item listed under "Questioned Costs" is $17,900 in attorney retainers paid to the district's attorney, Thomas Keenum, and charged to ARC grant funds.

According to the memo, NMPDD records indicate that Keenum received a fixed monthly fee, averaging approximately $500, over a three-year period, with no recorded substantiation of services provided.

The memo further states that, according to ARC regulations (Circular A-87, Attachment A, Part C, Section 1a), attorney fees allowable under a grant program must be "necessary and reasonable for proper and efficient administration of that grant program."

The NMPDD board attempted to justify the costs in two letters to the ARC, one from board chairman J.M. "Flick" Ash dated May 4, 1983, and one from the district's accountant Kermit Jones dated June 3, 1983.

The letters provided a summary of the services rendered by Keenum, and an explanation of the procedures for allocating the cost of those services. The summary accounted for $10,572.28 of the questioned amount.

Explaining that, of the total of $17,900 in costs questioned, $16,400 was charged through June 30, 1982, and was the subject of the memorandum, while the remaining $1500 would be the subject of a review of the audit for the grant year ending June 30, 1983, the memo then deals with the first two amounts.

"The documentation provided by the district indicates that it received legal services valued at approximately $25,000 over a three-year period," the memo states, adding that the summary "indicates that the majority of time was spent discussing project applications rather than dealing with issues which specifically require legal interpretation."

The memo then calls the charging of such costs to ARC administrative grants "a serious misallocation of grant resources." And the ARC accepts the documented amount of $10,572.28, while placing three conditions on future grants.

The conditions are:

(1) All costs for legal services charged to ARC grants must be on a fee for service basis with the service provided clearly indicated;

(2) The charges must be confined only to those matters requiring interpretations of law, contract preparation, review, and the like; and

(3) The services must be related to meeting the requirements of the ARC program.

The second item receiving extended attention in the memo is the "executive director's unsupported travel allowances," in the amount of $13,000.

The memo states: "By resolution, the board of directors authorized the payment of $100 per week for 'unaccountable expenses' to Mr. Charles Spearman effective Jan. 1, 1980."

It then reports that Spearman was paid a total of $13,000 through Jan. 30, 1982, with the entire amount "charged to the travel category of various ARC accounts."

"These payments were made to Mr. Spearman over and above travel costs for which he submitted vouchers and also covered periods when the district's records indicated he was on leave," the memo continues, adding that ARC regulations "provide that charges made to a grant must be necessary and reasonable for the proper administration of the grant program and supported by adequate documentation."

But, according to the memo, "The grantee's (NMPDD's) records provide no indication of the purpose of these payments."

Spearman himself responded with two explanations for the costs in a letter on May 4, 1983. "First, he stated that he considered them to be additional compensation (which, he noted, he had declared on his income tax return)," the memo said. "Second, he contended that he incurred certain unreimbursed expenses for the use of his automobile for traveling to the post office, attorney's office, and to the district's accounting firm."

In response to Spearman's explanations, the ARC said: "Mr. Spearman's first explanation is not supported by the board's resolution which approved this payment. The resolution states that Mr. Spearman was to be given... '$100.00 per week in unaccountable expense...' In the same resolution, the board also authorized a 15 percent salary increase for Mr. Spearman. It is quite clear that the board was taking two distinct actions and that it did not consider these payments as 'additional compensation.' Further, copies of tax returns provided by Mr. Spearman also undermine his contention. While the amounts are indeed shown on the tax returns, they are not listed as income, rather they are shown as employer reimbursements for meals, lodging, and car expenses, etc (emphasis is ARC's), and are offset with business related expenses claimed by Mr. Spearman."

The ARC then concluded that, "at the time Mr. Spearman prepared his income tax return, it does not appear that he considered these payments to be 'additional compensation.'"

In regard to Spearman's second explanation, the ARC concluded that "the travel costs he mentions are reimbursable under the grant upon the timely submittal of a proper voucher. This was not done and a general recollection is not an acceptable substitute."

The ARC states that the contradictions were discussed with district representatives on May 25, 1983. And, with the district concurring in the decision, the $13,000 was disallowed.

For further details of the ARC's memo on the North Mississippi Planning and Development District, see next week's Banner-Independent.

During Regular Meeting

NEMJC Board Approves Personnel

Routine business was handled by the Northeast Junior College Board of Trustees during their regular monthly meeting Tuesday afternoon.

Two new faculty members were approved by the board. Cathy Stonebrook of Tupelo has been employed as an instructor in data processing technology and Sammy Streetman of Route 6, Booneville, has been employed as an industrial maintenance instructor at the Corinth Extension Center, according to NE President Harold T. White.

The board also approved some 56 people as supplementary personnel in academic evening college, leisure learning classes, adult basic education, day class overloads, and special instructors in computer technology.

In unfinished business from the August meeting, the board ratified bids for physical education supplies and equipment, Winner's Circle, Corinth, $416; and Johnsey's Sporting Goods, Jackson, Tenn., $321.90.

The board also accepted the low bid of $825 from Richardson Printing of Tupelo for printing college stationery. Other bids were submitted from Air Cap Graphics, Tupelo, $845.74; Rutledge Publishing Co., New Albany, $1,944.80; and Downs Printing, Booneville, $1,203.50.

The printing of the View Book was awarded to Air Cap Graphics, Tupelo, who the county jail. Shannon is currently serving a prison term in Parchman.

The other lawsuit was filed in Prentiss County Circuit Court by the family of Jerry Wayne Lewis for the amount of $500,000.

Lewis was shot and killed in a family argument Aug. 4. That lawsuit claimed Lewis's death "was caused or contributed to by the negligent acts of his employees for failing to fulfill the duties of his office as Sheriff of Prentiss County."

saying that would only defeat his cause.

Mainly he reiterates statements he made during the summer's political campaign.

Horn still advocates the need for community watch programs in all communities in the county.

"I'll organize watch programs with any and all who are interested. This is one of the answers to the theft problem -- if people want to get involved. A community watch program can be as successful as the people want it to be."

He notes that it will be up to the people in the different communities to contact him if they are interested in organizing such a watch program.

As soon as Horn settles into his new job he plans to meet with school officials and set up drug awareness programs in the schools, he says.

Horn also said that his sheriff's department will answer all calls as soon as humanly possible. "That's the duty of the sheriff's office," he says.

Horn, 52, is no stranger to politics. He served as 5th district supervisor for three terms, 1968-79.

Prior to election as sheriff, he was employed by the State Highway Department as a foreman in Tishomingo.

His wife, Liesta, has worked at the Medical Clinic since 1959. They are the parents of twins, Dennis and Denise, 20.

Horn, a native Prentiss

Countian, says he is looking into the possibility of his attending a school for the newly elected sheriffs at the Highway Patrol Academy in Pearl.

Once he assumes his duties as sheriff, he stresses that he will need the people's help and support and that any information people have concerning theft or drug problems in Prentiss County will be kept confidential.

submitted the petition to the board, the question of the legality of such an arrangement had been discussed.

Comer was unavailable for comment. A representative of his office also declined to comment. However, that spokesman did report that they "thought" Comer had presented a similar petition requesting a county-wide beer and wine referendum to the Prentiss County Board of Supervisors on Sept. 12.

Board of Supervisors

President J.P. Davis confirmed the report, but declined to comment further, saying only that the board planned to meet to discuss the petition on Wednesday morning, Sept. 14.

According to Hubert Lambert, one of the proponents of the referendums, there are between 600 and 700 verified signatures on the petition submitted to the city, and 1,800-plus verified signatures on the county petition.

Talk 'O The Town

Street Opinion

QUESTION: Are you in favor of alcoholic beverages being sold in Prentiss County?

SARAH SHOOK of Route 5, Booneville: "No, I'm not. There's too much of it as it is. It ruins our young people. If it was sold here it would be too easy for them to get. They get too much as it is where they have to go out and get it."

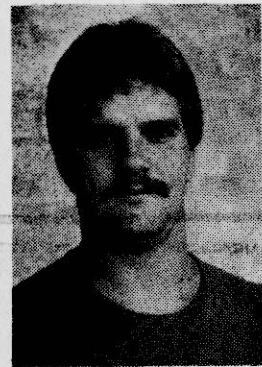

MRS. OSCAR BONDS of Route 3, Booneville: "No. It's ruining the young generation. I just don't want it in Prentiss County if we can keep it out."

BOBBY MANLEY of Route 1, Booneville: "I wouldn't vote for it myself. But people don't have to go too far to get it - just 10 or 20 miles to get all they want - in Prentiss County, too. You can find as much liquor in Prentiss County as in Lee and Alcorn counties."

DAVID WESSON of 402 E. Skyline, Booneville: "No. I grew up in Baldwin and if I wanted my kids to be around beer and liquor stores I'd move back to Baldwin. That's why I live in Booneville."

CARLA MCKINNEY of Route 5, Booneville: "I'm not at all in favor of it. I think it would do far more harm than good. I'd just like to keep it as far from home as I can. I know it's out there but I want to keep it away from my children and me."

EDGAR LEE GARDNER of 304 Sunflower St. "I haven't made up my mind about that. But I think it would help Prentiss County. We would get taxes from it. I believe it would better the county."

(Editor's note: "Talk 'O The Town" is not intended as a scientific poll of public opinion. Rather, it is simply intended to give Prentiss Countians an opportunity to voice their opinions on particular issues and topics. Maybe we'll ask you next!)

The Banner - Independent

Ponderings

By Angela Smith

Staff Reporter

For those of you who may have come in the Banner-Independent office last week or called us on the telephone - this explanation is for you.

Our receptionist, Norma, was on vacation last week. While the employees at the Banner were slaving away for our readers to have a paper to read, Norma was toasting her toes in Florida.

We are deeply indebted to Pat Fugitt who worked Tuesday and Wednesday and to Marilyn Cole who worked Thursday. Without their help we would have gone completely bananas.

However, if you were one of the people who happened to come in last week, you might have thought we were bananas anyway. Last week was really hectic - and this week hasn't proved to be much better.

As you probably know, our former editor was promoted to publisher. This meant switcheroo on the office set-up.

Ken is now occupying the publisher's office and our advertising department, Kay and Sue, are now in the office formerly occupied by the editor.

And now a word about Kay and Sue's new office.

In honor of their new office, Kay purchased a lovely, green fern to brighten up their new surroundings.

"Kay," I said, "this fern is so huge it could have a snake in it." Kay just glared at me and asked me not to mention snakes around her ever again.

So when Kay and Sue went to lunch last Thursday I scrounged through my desk drawer and finally located my plastic, green snake which I keep on hand for just such special occasions.

Somehow, the green snake wound up in Kay and Sue's green fern.

Later that afternoon when Kay was admiring her green fern, she spied the snake.

If you happened to be in the Booneville vicinity last Thursday afternoon, now you know whose scream you heard.

Not only did Kay scream (twice), she also hit our publisher, who was standing next to her. This turned out much better than I ever imagined.

And since I have told that, I may as tell you about the adventure Wanda Robinson, 4-H Youth Program Assistant, and I had last Friday.

We had plans to make a picture of a hog which had been donated to the 4-H Pig Chain (where 4-H'ers raise pigs).

I now know where the saying "lazy as a pig" originates. When Wanda and I arrived at the farm at Hills Chapel to make a picture of the hog, we discovered we had a problem.

The hog we wanted to make the picture of would not get up. Evidently he thought he needed more beauty sleep. Not to be out-done by a pig, Wanda crawled over the fence into the pigpen to try to get the pig to pose.

Pigs are like some people I know. No matter what you do, they just won't cooperate.

Wanda did everything she could to get the pig to stand up. All he did was grunt.

Don't think I didn't do my part in trying to get the pig to rise to his feet. I kindly asked him in Pig Latin to let me take his picture and he still refused.

So we had to put off making the picture of the pig until that afternoon, when 4-Her Randy Dean, who cares for the porker, came home from school. But by then our pig friend was wide awake and we didn't have any problems making his picture.

"A man has arrived when he can be as cranky at the office as he is at the breakfast table."

Eyes On Mississippi

By BILL MINOR
Syndicated Columnist

JACKSON, Miss. - Three times around the same political track in one year is a bit much to ask of a candidate in order to win public office.

Yet dozens of Democratic candidates in Mississippi, the most notable of them being gubernatorial aspirant Bill Allain, will be doing that when they meet their Republican foes in November, after having twice faced the same constituency in two hot August primaries.

Mississippi's system of electing public officials through party primaries that require a candidate to run twice before he can receive the nomination, then face the nominee of the opposite party (plus independents) in the general election is evidently one of the very few still in existence.

While the system is obviously hard on the candidates, it is also hard on the voters to come out three times within a space of four months in order to see that their choice for public office is elected.

No doubt the Mississippi Democratic candidates facing their third race are looking enviously at their fellow Democratic office-seekers in neighboring Louisiana who don't have to go through a three-step election process any longer.

Louisiana is the only state which has been able to install the "open primary" system in which all candidates for an office, Democrat, Republican and Independent, must run in the same elimination primary. If no candidate wins a majority, then the two highest face each other in a general election.

It's a system which many Mississippi Democrats have coveted for years, dating back to the 1960s when it was first proposed here. Once it met a gubernatorial veto, and three times it has failed to pass muster with the U.S. Department of Justice.

While Mississippi is striking out on the open primary system, Louisiana was given the green light by the Justice Department in 1975 to put it into operation.

The push in Louisiana came from Gov. Edwin Edwards who had been put through two tough Democratic primaries and a hard-fought general election race with Republican Dave Treenback in 1971. Edwards vowed he would not go through that again.

So he picked up the Mississippi idea and got the Justice Department okay. Ironically, when Mississippi came back after that and asked for the same system, it was turned down.

The strange hangup Justice has with Mississippi is over the fact that the open primary would eliminate black independent candidates from running in a general election where there can be a winner with only a plurality.

This is a holdover from objections first raised by black political leader Charles Evers and some other black candidates in the late 1960s that they could not get into the political process running as Democrats. Ironically, there has been no black elected to office for more than 10 years as an independent.

Some influential white Democrats in Mississippi became rather disaffected with the open primary idea when it produced a Republican governor in Louisiana in 1979. Since then, there has been no effort to push for its approval in Washington.

Significantly, it is expected that the Louisiana open primary system will now, four years later, produce a Democratic governor in that state.

Mississippi Democrats could eliminate one of the three steps if they chose, by doing away with the runoff primary system. That's what other Southern states did a long time ago when it became apparent the Republican party would offer strong challengers in every general election.

However, Mississippi Democrats have made no effort to change the system that has been in vogue here since the days when winning the Democratic nomination was automatic election, and they wanted the nominee to get a majority vote.

Obviously, in Mississippi

if the candidate getting the highest vote in the first primary was the party nominee, the outcome of the last six governors races would have been quite different.

It has become axiomatic in Democratic gubernatorial runoffs here that the second place finisher in the first comes out the winner in the second.

Some would say that has worked out for the better. Others would say differently.

For instance, it would have meant that Mississippi would have had the services of William Winter as governor back in 1968, rather in 1980.

That's why the open primary advocates still believe it is the system which offers the best of both worlds... and doesn't make a candidate have to run three races.

Ag Affairs

By ED BLAKE
Mississippi
Farm Bureau
Federation

It might not be considered debatable between a Union county, Miss. farmer and his son whether the wheel or the ultra-light airplane invention today is the most influential in their modern farming operation, since almost all of their farm machines run on wheels.

But Ray and David Brownlee consider their investment last year in an ultra light airplane as the greatest thing to come along in recent years to improve their ability to keep up with crop conditions almost daily on their widely scattered soybean, cotton and corn fields that are bisected time and again by three creeks.

Keeping almost daily tabs on their fields which are spread out for a distance in one direction of over 20 miles had become a very time consuming chore for the Brownlees as they drove a pickup truck from field to field over the diverse routes that were required to get over creeks and around neighbors' properties.

Then came the two big boxes from an aviation corporation, and the Brownlee father and son spent a week assembling with bolts and rivets a cute little flying machine that was covered with red, white, blue and yellow sailcloth and which looked about like a kite from another planet with a go cart slung beneath it.

Today, approximately 528 flight hours later, their enthusiasm for their airplane that scoots them over their fields or lets them soar almost motionless over them in slight breezes has become unbridled.

When they bought the little bird that flies so easily and safely they admit they were influenced in large measure by a strong recreational urge to fly in their own small plane with take-offs and landings almost anywhere they chose. But after two crop seasons now behind them, they have found that the plane easily has paid for itself in better crop yields because it enables them to spot potential problems with weeds, grasses, insects, and diseases in time to nip them in the bud. Even such problems as fertilizer deficiency or drought stress show up readily from the air much sooner than they are detectable from ground level observations.

The ultra light airplane is a recent development in the aviation field that has grown out of hang-gliders when the possibilities were seen in equipping those light gliders with small motors to propel them in the absence of up-drafts.

With a wingspan of 32 feet, a length of 16 feet, height of 9½ feet and weight of less than 254 pounds, neither the plane nor the pilot need licensing. Instead he is certified after learning basic pilot rules and courtesies and demonstrating to the local dealer that he has mastered the basic controls of the plane. At that point the dealer leaves the propeller on the plane instead of taking it back to the shop with him - and the new plane owner is on his own.

Among the safety and courtesy rules the pilots of these little personal aircraft observe are those prohibiting them from flying low over residential areas or in commercial air corridors. They learn not to fly on windy days or when weather conditions are unsettled.

The craft's 35 horsepower engine gives the plane a speed of from 20 to 63 miles per hour, and it has a range of 100 miles on only five gallons of fuel. It can fly as high as the pilot cares to go, comparable to other non-pressurized airplanes.

However, the Brownlees find they have to dress warmly if they go very high since the temperature drops about three degrees for every 1,000 feet of altitude and the open cockpit (or chairpit) does generate a bit of chill factor way up high.

Economy, safety and recreation values are reasons the Brownlees love their new farm flying machine. It won't stall and spin, and even if it runs out of gas it slowly drifts uprightly back to earth about as harmlessly as a feather drifting to the floor of a henhouse.

POINT OF LAW

(Prepared by the Mississippi State Bar. Some legal rights may vary from locality to locality. Always consult an attorney when in doubt about your rights.)

Q: What are the different types of listing agreements that can be made with a real estate broker?

A: A listing agreement is a legal contract that governs such conditions as the broker's fees, the right of the seller to negotiate on his or her behalf, and terms restricting the rights to sell. An open listing contract is a listing wherein the owner lists the property for sale with one broker, but reserves the right to list the property concurrently with as many additional brokers as desired. The seller will owe a commission only to the broker who actually sells the house. Exclusive agency contracts employ one broker as an agent for the property for a definite period of time, but also allow the owner to sell directly without an obligation to pay a broker's commission. An exclusive right to sell contract appoints one broker as sole agent for a specified period of time and entitles the broker to a commission if a property is sold by any party within the time limits.

Q: What precautions should the buyer take to be sure that title is conveyed to his new property without any problems?

A: The buyer will want to assume a title that is "marketable," that is, free from all indebtedness or limitation on its use. It is up to the buyer to examine the title. This should be done before the purchase is complete through a title search or examination of public records by an attorney, who then issues a certificate indicating the findings or supplies a written title opinion.

Q: What is title insurance and does a buyer need to purchase it?

A: If the buyer is obtaining a mortgage loan, the lender will require title insurance in the amount of the loan to protect himself against possible loss. This insurance however does not protect the owner in the event that defects are found in the title. Owners title insurance insures the new owners' equity in the property. It is optional.

Q: How should a buyer take title?

A: Title may be taken by an individual or by two or more parties in a joint ownership. If the parties are husband and wife, it is common to take title as joint owners with right of survivorship, so that the death of one party, titled to the entire property is turned over to the survivor. However, estate taxes should be considered before deciding on this form of ownership.

Miss Moore-Mr. Hill Announce Engagement

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Daniel Moore of Booneville announce the engagement of their daughter, Laura LeAnn, to James M. (Jim) Hill Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. James M. Hill of Booneville.

The bride-elect is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Mullen of Glade, Kan., and Mr. and Mrs. Ward Moore of Mountain Home, Ark.

The prospective groom is the grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Robert Hill and the late Roy Floyd and Mrs. Bessie Pharr Floyd, all of Booneville.

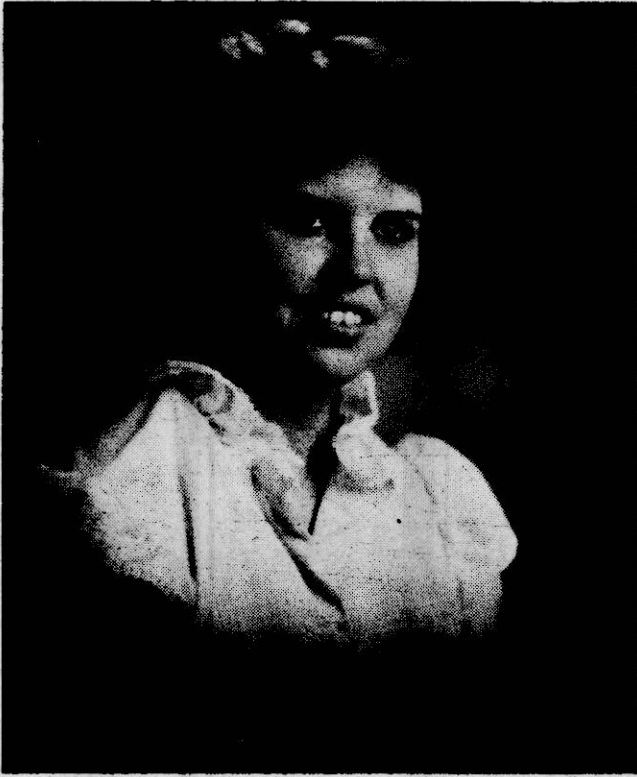

Miss Moore is a 1982

graduate of Gibbon High School in Nebraska and is now employed at the Aletha Lodge Nursing Home.

Hill is a 1980 graduate of Booneville High School. He raises livestock and is employed at H&W Industries.

Librarian
George E. Allen Library

New books are now available on three topics for which the library have had requests. Nancy Polette of Lindenwood College has written a book of interest to parents and teachers of the gifted entitled "3R's for the Gifted: Reading, Writing, and Research."

Much of the material consists of learning modules, but there are discussions on identifying the gifted and creative as well as designing a program for their needs.

"Birthday Parties for Children: Party Ideas for children 1-10," by Jean Marzollo, may present just the novel idea or how-to that you've been seeking.

"Your Fortune in Franchises," by Richard Finn, is a practical overview for those seeking information on ventures in retail trade.

"2001 Resources of Financing for Small Business," by Herman Holtz, could also be very helpful.

Marjorie Holmes's writings have found a following among introspective readers. Her newest is "To Help you through the Hurting."

Local author, Claude Gentry's new book, "Guntown Hot Times: Fact, Fantasy, Legend," will bring back memories and furnish many a chuckle along with its local history.

History Subject of September

Meeting of Woman's Club

The Booneville Woman's Club held its September meeting at the George E. Allen Library where a program about "Federation and Education" was presented.

The program was under the direction of Mrs. Merrill Cartwright. She was assisted by Mrs. L.W. Peeler and Mrs. Charles Brown.

Mrs. Peeler, whose attire depicted the dress of the early club woman, gave the history of the Booneville Woman's Club.

Mrs. Brown spoke to the club about the club woman today and women's desire to adjust the ideas of the past to the needs of the present.

Mrs. Webster Cleveland Jr., president of the Woman's Club, announced the District 3 awards presented to the club this year.

The 1982-83 Yearbook, compiled by Mrs. Hal

Hughes, won third place. The club's History Report, submitted by Mrs. L.W. Peeler, received special recognition, and the Booneville Woman's Club received a Certificate of Recognition for outstanding achievement.

The hostesses for the September meeting were Mrs. Carroll Yarber, Mrs. Stewart Vail, Mrs. W.B. White, and Mrs. Don Williams.

Mrs. Lott Town Coordinator

For Drug Program

Cindy Lott has been named Booneville town meeting coordinator for "The Chemical People" project, according to June M. Milam, director of the Drug Research and Education Association in Mississippi, Inc. (DREAM).

She will join First Lady Nancy Reagan, more than 270 Public Broadcasting Service (PBS) stations throughout the nation and thousands of town meeting coordinators in local communities across the United States to help combat drug and alcohol abuse among young people.

The main components of the local "Chemical People" project are the two town meetings that should be held Nov. 2 and Nov. 9 in order to give concerned citizens a chance to watch two television programs on Mississippi ETV at 7 p.m.

The programs, also called "The Chemical People" and hosted by Mrs. Reagan, define American youth's problems with drugs and alcohol and offer specific solutions.

After watching the programs together, the local citizens will be given an opportunity to discuss their local drug and alcohol problems among area youth. The project then encourages each community to form a task force to work on solving the problems on the local level.

More than 60 communities in Mississippi have already begun to make preparations to hold town meetings and organize task forces. If you would like to be a part of the project or attend the town meeting, please contact your town meeting coordinator, or write The Chemical People Project, Mississippi ETV, P.O. Drawer 1101, Jackson, MS 39205.

Booneville Native Honored For Solar Design

Winners in the state's first Passive Solar Design Competition have been announced by the Mississippi Department of Energy & Transportation. The competition was held to promote the development of passive home designs suited for Mississippi's climate, and to identify designers capable of creating such solar home plans.

Winners in the New Designs category were: first place, Arnold Aho of Starkville; second place, Robert Ford of Starkville; and third place (a three-way tie), Uriel Pineda of Hattiesburg, Syd Spain of Jackson, and Robert Ford of Starkville.

Aho, a professor at Mississippi State University and home designer, will be awarded $1,400; Ford will receive $700 for his second place entry; and he, Pineda, and Spain will each receive $300 for the third place award.

Heyward Bell, an architecture student at MSU, was the winner of the student award. He designed a home which, according to the judging panel, was very professional and competitive with the other entrants. Bell receives an award of $700.

There are many passive designs available in the marketplace today. However, most of them stress the heating aspect of passive solar design. Those homes would overheat in the summer in our state. Because Mississippi's climate has a lengthy cooling season, the competition stressed design for summer cooling as well as heating.

SOLAR AWARD - Dianne Ford, Solar Coordinator for the Mississippi Department of Energy & Transportation, presents Syd Spain with his certificate and check for third place in the Passive Solar Design Competition. Spain is originally from Booneville.

One design used a front porch as a shading and cooling device. Another used a "solar chimney" to create a draft which would push heat out of the building. Still another used an earth berm on the east and west walls. All of the designs used shading devices such as overhangs and proper landscaping techniques to create vegetative shade.

Dianne Ford, solar coordinator for the Mississippi Department of Energy and Transportation, said, "I was very pleased with the amount of interest generated by the competition. We have known that passive solar works in Mississippi, and have already received requests from prospective home builders for the names of the winners."

an ME from Texas Southern University, Houston, Texas, a DD from Reed Christian College, Los Angeles, Calif., and a master of theology degree from Claremont School of Theology, Claremont, Calif.

The Rev. Edners said he believes in "keeping the pulpit relevant."

"It is under a unique obligation to speak for God, and to answer for God," he said, adding that conversations about the role of the pulpit and the church in politics and social action are becoming a popular theme.

"Pulpit and press, television and radio, college and seminary, civil rights and states rights, Negro and white are all taking sides. And these discussions may determine whether the church will courageously formulate an answering theology which realistically analyzes contemporary social problems, and develops an effective strategy for corporate church action, or continues to whisper sweet amsens of piece in a traditional theology of personal salvation and morality, which is very good, but not comprehensive," the Rev. Edners said.

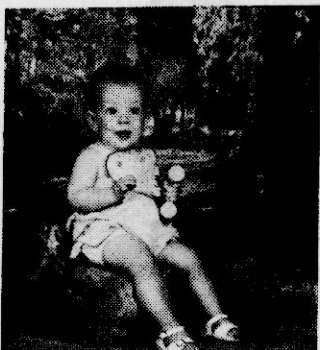

"The relevant pulpit must be one that adequately defines and defends its teachings with intellectual clarity, logical consistency, and asks no quarter. We sorely need a theology that demonstrates its truth... answering to God and Man with active participation in all issues of life," he said.

The Rev. Edner received his license to preach from Bishop Randall A. Carter in 1941 after graduating from Texas College, Tyler, Texas, with a bachelor of arts degree.

"My first charge was in Houston, 16 blocks from where I was born," he said. "I stayed there eight-and-a-half years."

In 1946 the Rev. Edner was ordained as a traveling elder by Bishop Carter. He also holds a bachelor of divinity degree from Pacific School of Religion, Berkely, Calif.,

NMMC Hospice Program Needs Volunteers

Dianne Duvall, hospice program coordinator at North Mississippi Medical Center, is searching for volunteers to train for work in both the medical center's hospice program, and work on the hospital's oncology ward.

Ms. Duvall, who is also the medical social worker for the hospital's home care program, has scheduled Tuesday night training classes for the volunteers. These classes will begin on Oct. 4 and will run for five weeks. They are scheduled for 6 p.m. in the hospital's Commonwealth Room.

Ms. Duvall explained that, unlike patients served by the Home Care Program, who are recuperating at home from a major illness or accident, patients in the Hospice Program are terminally ill, and have chosen to spend their remaining days at home, rather than in a hospital environment.

"We have a hospice nurse who sees just hospice patients in the eight counties served by the program (Lee, Prentiss, Union, Tiptah, Itawamba, Pontotoc, Monroe, and Chicaw County). But, now I need volunteers to help with the hospice patients," Ms. Duvall said.

"The hospice philosophy is palative (pain-free) care, and support for the patient," she explained. "We deal with terminal patients in the home. And hospice volunteers are very important. They are a crucial part of hospice; not an extra benefit. We don't just like to have volunteers. We need them, because they are the ones who preserve the link between the patient and the community."

"The patient's primary caretaker... the spouse... must be with the patient all the time. So, he or she is isolated from the community. And the volunteer will preserve that link with the community."

"They will provide companionship first of all... something very crucial to the patient," Ms. Duvall said. "They might go in and just visit with the patient. It is a break in the routine, having somebody new to talk to."

"They may stay with the patient while the spouse goes shopping... Let's take a hypothetical situation," she said.

"You have a man who has cancer of the lung. His wife is taking care of him at home. He has trouble breathing, and he might have to use oxygen. So, the wife has to stay there with him most of the time."

"What the volunteer would do, if the family wishes, is come in there and stay with the patient while the wife goes shopping, or just gets out of the house for a break. The primary caretaker can wear themselves out," Ms. Duvall said.

"The volunteer might also do some light housekeeping... offer to wash the dishes, something like that. You have to use your imagination, and think of ways you might help; things that could be especially tiring to the spouse under the circumstances," she said.

"A volunteer might also be involved in transporting the patient to and from the doctor's office or the hospital, if needed. The types of help volunteers choose to give are their choice, as is the amount of time they wish to spend. You might want to give a few hours a week, or a few hours a month. It depends on what you want to give, and what the family needs," she said.

"You might be assigned to more than one family. Or you might have just one family. When a volunteer and I sit down and talk after the training period, it's what the volunteer decides he or she wants to do," Ms. Duvall said.

In addition to volunteers for the Hospice Program, Ms. Duvall said she needs volunteers to help on the oncology ward. And volunteers for both will be trained at the same time.

"These people would visit cancer patients while they are in the hospital," she said.

"What distinguishes the oncology patient from the hospice patient is that the oncology patient is not necessarily dying. He still has a lot of hope, and rightfully so."

Ms. Duvall said she would especially like to have cured cancer patients, and their spouses working on the oncology ward, because they could identify with, and give hope to those patients.

"So, at the same time I am training hospice volunteers, I will be training oncology volunteers. In fact, a volunteer can wait until the training is over before deciding which area to work in."

"The training will all be centered around cancer because most of the hospice patients do have cancer," Ms. Duvall said. "Some of the topics we will deal with are death and dying, listening skills, and anticipatory grief."

"Whenever you know somebody is going to die, you go through your grief ahead of time, before they actually die," she explained. Ms. Duvall said she would appreciate it if anyone who wants to volunteer, and plans to attend the training sessions, would contact her in advance of the October 4th session. "I'd like to know ahead of time if anyone is going to be there," she said.

Anyone interested in volunteering for either program should contact Ms. Duvall at the Home Care Department, Belle Vista Unit, North Mississippi Medical Center, Tupelo, MS 38801. Or phone her at 842-3632, Extension 1751. The only requirement is that you be 18 or over.

"I want volunteers who want to give something of themselves to somebody who is needing help. And I want somebody who is committed," Ms. Duvall said. "After they say, 'Yes, I will give two hours a week,' I need that commitment."

Other bids were submitted by Reinbold Printing, Booneville, $7,964.95, for 3,000 books; and $9,239 for 5,000 books; Richardson Printing, Tupelo, $8,820 for 3,000 books; and $10,132 for 5,000 books.

The bid for printing of curriculum cards also went to Air Cap Graphics, Tupelo, who was the low bidder at $662.99.

Other bids were submitted by Standard Graphics, $1,260; Reinbold Printing, $952.64; Richardson Printing, $1,078; Rutledge Printing, $1,714; and Downs Printing, $1,358.

Printing of Facts Folders went to Standard Graphics who bid $313.45 for 5,000 copies, and $441.60 for 10,000 copies. Other bids were submitted from Reinbold Printing, $448.95 and $662.05; Richardson Printing, $420 and $672; Rutledge Printing, $541.25 and $779.45; Downs Printing, $418 and $575; and Air Cap Graphics, $638.73 and $797.47.

Bids for welding supplies and equipment for the industrial maintenance program at the Corinth Extension Center were taken under advisement and will be ratified at the October meeting.

The board also approved a change order for the Gaye Roden Aquatic Center for $1,196.

The board also decided that they would send a representative to the American Community College Association meeting next month. However, the representative was not selected at the meeting Tuesday afternoon.

During the meeting the board recognized M.F. Hudson of Union County who attended the NEMJC board meeting. Hudson serves on the Mississippi Junior College Committee.

The board was also reminded that dedication ceremonies for the Gaye Roden Aquatic Center will be held Friday, Sept. 29, at 11 a.m.

Heritage Weekend Coming Attraction

Heritage Cablevision will produce a first in the cable television industry Sept. 16-18 when it provides an entertainment weekend live via satellite to all of the more than 200 communities it serves nationwide.

The "Heritage Gold Star Weekend" will feature programming from Home Box Office, video tape clips of many of the Heritage communities and the opportunity for viewers to win prizes in a special drawing.

"This is the most exciting event we've ever been involved in," according to Terry Rich, Heritage's Director of Special Events. "Never before have we been able to provide an entertainment weekend to all of our systems."

Rich said the weekend could not have been possible without the assistance of HBO, which is providing the majority of the programming for the weekend, as well as technical assistance with the satellite.

"We're going to be running some of the best movies of the year," Rich added, "including 'Reds,' 'Poltergeist,' and 'Missing.' Also featured will be HBO specials, such as the acclaimed children's program, 'Fraggle Rock,' 'Dolly Parton in Concert,' and 'Kenny Rogers in Concert.'"

Additionally, Heritage has been scouring its 14-state service area for video clips of the communities it serves.

"For instance," Rich said, "we'll be introducing the newest Heritage community, South Bend, Indiana, home of the University of Notre Dame."

Heritage Cablevision, a subsidiary of Heritage Communications, Inc. (HCI-NYSE) based in Des Moines, Iowa, serving over 340,000 subscribers in 14 states. Heritage owns and operates the cable system in Booneville, Baldwin and several other Northeast Mississippi communities.

return enough cotton to USDA's Commodity Credit Corporation to meet payment-in-kind obligations, according to Daniel Amstutz, secretary of agriculture for international affairs and commodity programs.

Thus, all producers who are eligible to receive PIK cotton from CCC inventory must "Harvest for PIK" - obtain loans on their 1983 production to satisfy 40 percent of their PIK needs.
The other 60 percent will come from cotton already in CCC's inventory, Amstutz said.

Under the Supplemental Appropriation Act for fiscal year 1983 (PL 98-63), USDA has to accept bids of up to 20 percent on 1982-crop cotton, unless USDA could buy enough cotton to fulfill PIK requirements at lower bids.
The 1980 and 1981-crop bids were evaluated on the basis of comparative equity values of the 1982 crop.

Under the special purchase program, CCC acquired an estimated 780,000 bales of cotton, which when added to CCC's present inventory, is not enough to meet CCC's needs for the PIK program.

During the Aug. 8-24 purchase program, CCC accepted bids on 1980, 1981, and 1982-crop cotton from farmers who had cotton pledged as collateral for outstanding price support loans. Farmers received in-kind compensation for selling cotton to CCC.

Bids were offered on 1,177,901 bales. The bids ranged from zero to 100 percent. Farmers offered bids on 1,011,109 bales of 1982-crop cotton, 151,377

purchase program was 7 percent.

Peanut Price Support Levels

The average federal support price that farmers can expect for a ton of 1983 crop peanuts is $544.71 for Virginia and Valencia grown in the southwest and suitable for cleaning and roasting types; $553.77 for Runner; $528.86 for Spanish and for Valencias in all other areas.

The method of computing the different levels is the same as for the 1982 crop.
The actual support prices depend on the percent of the various sizes of kernels and other factors in each ton of nuts.

For each percent of sound mature and sound split kernels, the support level

per ton is: Virginia, $7.91;
Runner, $7.755; Spanish, $7.794; Valencia in the Southwest suitable for cleaning and roasting,
$8.184; and other Valencias
in all areas, $7.794.

Prentiss County farmers participating in the ASCS peanut program produced over 53 tons of Spanish peanuts last year. All of this went under quota price support loan.

FARM SAFETY WEEK
The 1983 National Farm Safety Week, Sept. 18-24, marks the 40th consecutive observance of this special activity co-sponsored by the National Safety Council and the U.S. Department of Agriculture. The theme for the week, "Safeguard the Future," focuses on efforts to reduce accident losses among farming and ranching families by promoting the safety of their children and youth.

GARDENS

Weatherwise, September and October are frequently two of the best gardening months of the year. The peak summer temperatures

have normally passed, thunderstorms with strong damaging winds are less frequent, and the days are usually clear and bright. Of course, this is still hurricane season, so there are still chances for bad weather.

SEPTEMBER
September is the month
for planting leafy greens

such as lettuce, turnips, mustard and spinach. Set out plants of cabbage,
broccoli and cauliflower.
Plan to water the garden to insure good seed germination and plant survival.
Thin rutabaga seedlings to stand 9 to 12 inches apart in the row. Crowded plants make only tops. Thin beets to stand 3 to 4 inches apart.

Turnips for roots also require thinning.
Sidedress late summer vegetables with one pint of ammonium nitrate per 100 feet of row. Apply when the soil is moist and water it in.
Keep fertilizer off the plant leaves to prevent leaf burns.
Also sidedress tomatoes,

peppers, eggplant, and okra.
Diseases and insects are problems in the fall garden.
Continue to spray a fungicide such as maneb on tomatoes to control early blight on the leaves.
Imported cabbage moth
and cabbage looper larvae feed heavily on leafy greens

and broccoli and cauliflower. Treat with one of the biological insecticides containing Bacillus thuringiensis.
Cucumber beetles and squash bugs feed heavily on fall cucumbers and squash.
Cucumber beetles will also feed on leafy greens, especially Chinese cabbage.

New Long Distance Telephone Rates Now In Effect

New rates for in-state long distance telephone calls have been approved by the Mississippi Public Service Commission and went into effect Thursday, Aug. 25.

South Central Bell will not receive any additional net revenues as a result of the new rates.

"The new tariffs encourage Calling Card calls by establishing a 50 cent charge for operator assistance with the actual conversation time billed at direct-dialed rates," said J.N. McGowen, vice president of South Central Bell's Mississippi operations.

"Furthermore, those operator-assisted calls which require more operator work time now carry uniform flat rates to offset the cost of this service. These rates range from 50 cents for a station-to-station, Calling Card call to $2.25 for operator-handled, person-to-person calls.

Other major changes include:

- Rate period specific billing. With rate period specific billing, if a weekday call is placed at 4:55 p.m., for example, and continues until 5:05, the first five minutes would be billed at the full weekday rate. The second five minutes, from 5:00 until 5:05 p.m., would be billed discounted, evening rate.

- A new one-minute initial period for operator-assisted calls:

- No holiday discount when the legal holiday is not on the same date - for example, if New Year's Day is on a Saturday and the legal holiday was the Friday before, no discount would be in effect on Friday; and
- modest increases in charges for short-distance calls and modest decreases in charges for longer-distance calls.

Under the old rates, a four-minute direct-dialed

call from Jackson to Tupelo, for example, would have cost $2.13 if placed between 8:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m. on a weekday.

With the new rates, the same call costs $2.10. A four-minute station-to-station Calling Card call placed between 11:00 p.m. and 8:00 a.m. on a weekday would have cost $2.58 under the old rates and now costs $1.34.

"The new tariffs should encourage our customers to use the least costly method of calling while our company will benefit through increased network efficiency," McGowen said.

Direct-dialed rates apply for actual 'talk' time," McGowen added.

4-H News

Courtesy might be considered hunting insurance since the person who practices it will probably always have a place to hunt. In many areas, most hunting occurs on private land. Studies by the National Shooting Sports Foundation (NSSF) a survey made by the National Future Farmer magazine show about 50 percent of landowners have posted their property against hunting. The most frequently mentioned reason landowners give for posting their property is the failure of people to ask permission to hunt. The simple courtesy of a sportman's asking permission to hunt is one of the keys to improve relationships between hunters and landowners.

One NSSF study showed more than one-third of the landowners who posted their property said they would allow hunting if sportsmen asked their permission. Only 10 percent of the landowners who posted their property said they would not open it to hunting under any circumstances. Developing person-to-person relationships with landowners is another key to having more hunting land available. Sportsmen who get to know a landowner and who stop in after each hunt and offer to share their game with him are almost always welcomed back. By treating the land as if it were his own, showing consideration and courtesy to the landowner and his property, a sportsman can go a long way toward making sure he will always have a place to hunt.

HOW DO YOU RATE AS A HUNTING PARTNER?

The hunter was determined to find the perfect hunting partner. After a few years, he was sure that he had finally found a candidate that met all of his high standards. Unfortunately, they hunted together only once. He later learned the man he had chosen was also searching for the perfect hunting partner. Perfection, of course, eludes all of us. How often have we forgotten to pack in an extra sandwich or box of shells or that our partner drinks his coffee only with milk? These faults are universal, and everyone could compile a list of such shortcomings. However, when it comes to hunting safety or hunting ethics, forgetfulness or carelessness provide no excuse. When going afield, whether it's with an old hunting buddy or with a new friend, keep the following points in mind. These tips will help make anyone the "perfect" hunting partner. When hunting on private land, be sure to get permission in advance. Landowners who find uninvited hunters on their property have every reason to be upset. It doesn't help the public image of hunters, and a partner deserves better. If possible, stop by the landowner's house before starting. Be sure to get the approval of the landowner before bringing any friends to hunt on their property. Take the time to introduce these partners to him, and check to see if there are any areas on his property that should be avoided. Most landowners don't mind one or two friends, but don't invite a whole gang. When hunting with a novice, explain the habits and characteristics of the game and the proper etiquette for the kind of hunting to be done. Taking unfair advantage of game by a novice may be an act of ignorance, not callousness. When in the field, keep in mind partners should not compete. Instead of arguing over who shot a bird, compliment him on making a nice shot. Adopt this attitude, and everyone will have an enjoyable day afield and pleasant memories of the hunt.

Diets Dangerous Without Proper Nutritional Balance

By MELISSA MIXON
Food and Nutrition Specialist
Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service

Like mini-skirts, disco, and toga parties, diet fads come and go. Just when some people are about to give up on the current craze, another one comes along that they think might work. Many are appealing because they promise quick and easy weight loss. But unless the diet is nutritionally balanced - as many of these aren't - it could be harmful if followed over a long period of time. Be suspicious of diets that promise quick results, especially those that encourage eating little or no food, emphasize one type of food to the exclusion of others, or promise miraculous results with a particular food. Many popular diet fads avoid foods containing carbohydrates. Eliminating carbohydrates from the diet can lead to a condition called ketosis. When carbohydrates are not available, incompletely metabolized substances called ketones accumulate in the blood, causing it to become acidic. People in a ketotic state tend to lose their appetite and become weak, fatigued, nauseated, and dehydrated. These symptoms usually disappear when a balanced diet containing carbohydrates is resumed. Before trying a reducing diet, be sure it's nutritionally sound. Some ways to evaluate a diet include: -- Are there fewer calories in the weight-loss diet than in foods normally eaten? Remember, weight is lost only by taking fewer calories than are expended. -- Does the plan include a variety of foods from these groups: Fruit and vegetable, bread and cereal, milk and cheese and meat, poultry, fish and dry beans? It's important to have foods from each of these groups each day. The greater the variety of foods in the diet, the less chance there will be for the development of a deficiency or an excess of any nutrient. -- Is it made up of foods that will hold its appeal, not just for several weeks or months, but for years to come? Remember that weight control is a life-long process. -- Are the foods available at most grocery stores? If products are not easily obtainable, interest in the diet may fade. Lose 34 -10

Injuries Plague Devils in Loss to Amory

By SCOTT McKINNEY Sports Writer

Last week it was Mother Nature, this week it was injuries that plagued the Booneville Blue Devils as they lost their second consecutive game, this one to the Amory Panthers 34 to 10. The Blue Devils played a sound first half and went to the dressing room trailing only 14 to 10. However, the start of the third quarter brought the start of the injuries as several Booneville players received leg cramps and pulled muscles. Amory opened the scoring when fullback Frank Pruitt bolted into the endzone from the one-yard line. The extra point attempt failed for the Panthers. However, Booneville came back to tie the score and go ahead when quarterback Michael Blalock hit tightend Carlos Hastings on a 30-yard touchdown pass and Rod Coggin got the p.a.t. Michael Blalock dropped back to pass on Booneville's next drive but Amory's Anthony Stewart intercepted the stray toss and pitched back to John Darden who took the ball into the endzone from 55 yards out for the score. Pruitt added the two point conversion to make the score 14 to 7. Booneville added a field goal when Coggin split the uprights from 34 yards out with no time left before halftime to make the score 14-10 at the half.

Amory outscored the Blue Devils 20-0 in the second half as the injuries began to occur. Panther quarterback Clyde Whitfield hit John Darden on a 65-yard scoring strike to start the second half. The extra point attempt again failed. Amory scored again when Steve Walton scampered 35 yards for the score. Whitfield kicked the extra point to give Amory a 27-10 lead. The final score of the night occurred when Panther tailback Glen Smith scored from 30 yards out. Whitfield added the p.a.t. to make the final score 34 to 10. Booneville Coach Wayne Jones mentioned the fact that his team was unorganized when the injuries started. "We started getting confused, wondering when some of the injured players were supposed to be in the game. That caused a lot of confusion on the sidelines," Jones said. Booneville had 179 yards total offense while Amory piled up 265 yards. Jimbo Goddard led Blue Devil rushers with 32 yards on 4 carries while Pruitt compiled 113 yards for the Panthers. Morgan Blassingame was credited with 9 tackles for Booneville and Tom Cook had 8 stops for the Devils. Booneville will open it's home schedule tomorrow night at Keenum Stadium against the Kossuth Aggies. Kick-off is set at 7:30.

Eagles Mauled By Tigers

The University of Southern Mississippi War Eagles ran into a buzzsaw this past weekend as they took a 24-3 loss from Auburn. Southern Mississippi coach Jim Carmody said this years Auburn team is "quite a bit better" than last year's edition, which survived a 21-19 squeaker with the Eagles. In Saturday's game, Auburn's Bo Jackson scored two touchdowns and Lionel James rushed for 172 yards on 16 carries for the Tigers. Kicker Al Del Greco added a 41-year field goal and three extra points to cement the Auburn victory before 73,500 fans, the largest crowd to see a season opener at Auburn.

"James and Jackson are the two best runningbacks we've played against since I've been at Southern," Carmody said. Carmody also added that his team could play against a top team if they eliminated their mistakes.

Saylors Still Leads Local Prog Chart

Manfred Saylors continues to hold the early lead in The Banner-Independent's prognosticator chart, piling up a 78 percent average after two weeks of action. Saylors picked 11 of 13 games correctly this past week to keep him in the lead. Bill Ward and guest picker Ralph Stutts also picked 11 of 13 games this past week to keep them close with Saylors. Ward is currently in second place for the year behind Saylors with a 74 percent average, correctly picking 20 of 27 games. Leighton Miller and Doug Jumper brought up the rear this week as they picked at a 77 percent clip with Jumper ahead of Miller in total picks. Jumper has picked 19 of 27 games so far this year, while Miller has correctly picked 18 of 27. This week's guest picker is Sandy Fisher, manager of Pizza Inn in Booneville.

Jr. High Action

The Booneville seventh and eighth grade football teams will play Ripley Tuesday night in Keenum Stadium at Northeast Junior College. According to Coach Ken Shackelford, the first game will begin at 6 p.m. with the seventh grades playing. The eighth grade teams will play immediately following the seventh grade game. Boosters Sponsor Supper

The Booneville High School Boosters Club will sponsor a spaghetti supper from 5 to 7 p.m. Friday at the new Booneville Elementary School, located north of Keenum Stadium. The supper will be just prior to the Blue Devils' first home game of the season, against Kossuth. Carryouts will be available. Proceeds to benefit all sports at Booneville High School.

JOHN R. WHITE, O.D.

GLAUCOMA WITH 20/20 VISION?

Glaucoma is a leading cause of blindness in the U.S. Most often it strikes people after the age of 35 to 40 and with the aging of the population the prevalence of the disease is going up rapidly. It is estimated that between 1 and 2 million Americans have some degree of glaucoma. This disorder accounts for approximately 11 percent of all blindness in the U.S. Glaucoma is often called the "sneak thief of sight" because in its early stages there are few noticeable symptoms. Many people have early glaucoma without knowing it. By the time they seek professional help irreversible damage to the eye may have already occurred. So deceptive are the early symptoms that a person with glaucoma may be able to "pass" an eye chart screening with 20/20 vision. An oversimplified explanation of glaucoma is an increased pressure of the fluid within the eyeball. If the pressure is not reduced it destroys delicate structures within the eye. A complete eye examination by your optometrist will include a test of the fluid pressure. If the disease is detected early the glaucoma can be controlled and blindness prevented. For answers to your specific questions regarding vision, Dr. White invites you to call his Booneville office.

'Sparkling' Defense Wins For Northeast

Rebounding from last week's 33-0 loss to Gulf Coast in their season opener, the Northeast Tigers rode a sparkling defensive performance to a 15-7 win over Holmes Junior College Thursday night in Goodman.

Head coach David Carnell, after his second game in that capacity, praised the team for a solid overall performance, but was especially proud of the night his defense had.

Forcing numerous turnovers with sticky pass coverage and hard-hitting, the Tiger defense went a long way in making the 15 point contributed by quarterback David DeGroat's offensive squad enough to clench the contest.

With 9:55 left in the first quarter, Terry Taylor intercepted a pass at the Holmes 25-yard line for the Tigers, but the offensive failed to capitalize as a Holmes defensive man intercepted a potential Tiger scoring pass only a few yards away from the end zone, and carried it to the 30-yard line. Holmes broke away with a 70-yard run into their endzone, but the play was called back, leaving the score at that point 0-0.

The next scoring attempt for the Tigers came with 3:45 left in the first period when Scott Mills snagged a Holmes fumble in mid-air and returned it to the three-yard line. Going for the field goal, kicker Jeff Dillworth had his 24-yard attempt blocked.

With just under five minutes gone in the second quarter, a long reception by Philip Hollingsworth set up a successful field goal attempt by Dillworth. The 45-year kick put Northeast on the scoreboard with six minutes left in the half.

After the three-pointer, a Holmes fumble opened up another scoring opportunity for the Tigers, one which they didn't turn down. With 1:52 remaining in the first half, a recovered fumble gave DeGroat a chance to run the ball in himself, making the score 9-0. The PAT was no good.

The ended scoring for the first half, leaving Northeast in the driver's seat.

Early in the third quarter, David Spight recovered a fumble for Northeast, and though the recovery didn't spark a scoring drive, it was just another example of the intense defensive play the Tigers displayed against the Bulldogs.

Holmes did deny Northeast a shut-out, however, when their only score came with 1:53 left in the third period. Bulldog Chris Beaman took the option in from 20 yards out, and the extra point attempt was successful, cutting the Northeast lead to two.

Things got hairy for the Tigers early in the fourth quarter, when DeGroat, after picking up good yardage, was intercepted and the Bulldogs were able to move the ball deep into Northeast territory. The Tiger defense pulled the fat from the fire once again, however, when Pat Pate blocked a Holmes punt and a speedy Taylor picked up the ball, running it 75 yards for NEMJC's final touchdown.

The extra point attempt failed once more, making the score 15-7.

The kicking game was a major point of concern to Coach Carnell, and he said it would have to undergo some reform before Northeast's Sept. 22 contest with East Central.

"Our kicking game is not up to par, and we'll have to have it from now on," Carnell said. "Otherwise, I was pretty pleased with the way we played. Our defense did an extremely good job, even though we did let them complete some third down plays when they should have been punting.

"Also, we didn't have any sustained drives, especially in the last half of the game. DeGroat is a good quarterback, but there's a lot of room for improvement," Carnell said.

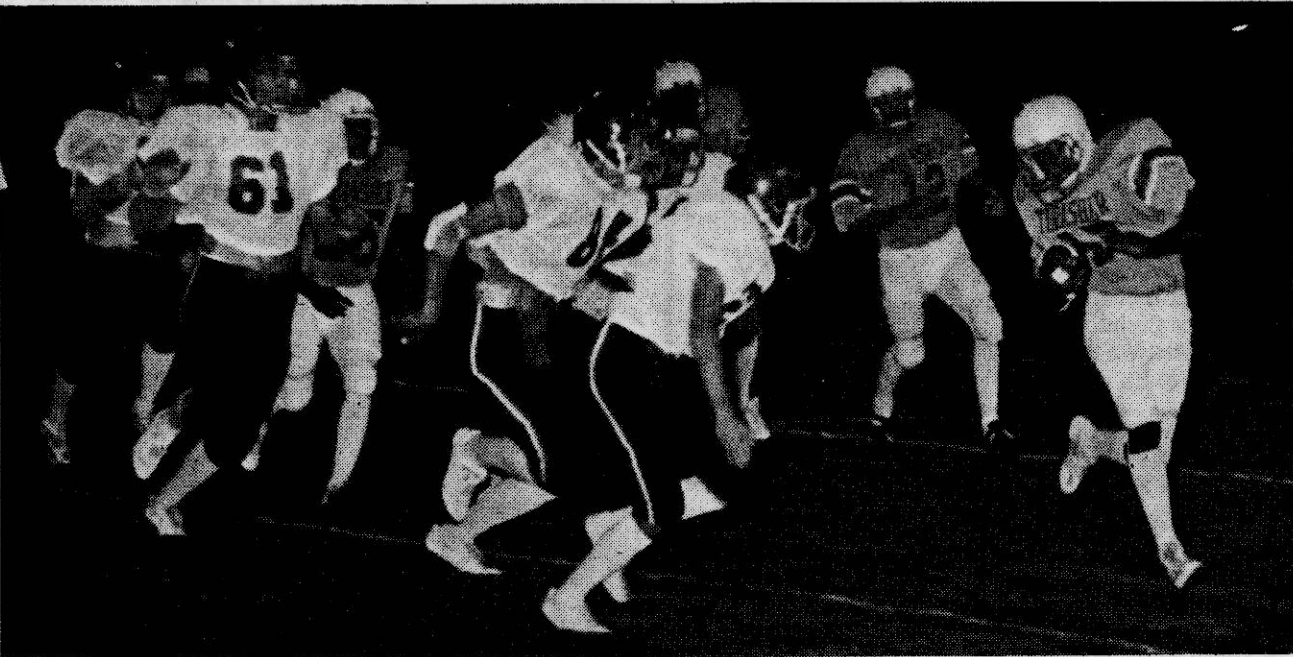

The Tigers travel to Dacatur to meet East Central Junior College Saturday, and kickoff time is scheduled for 7:30 p.m.

"We're going to have to correct a lot of mistakes if we're going to beat East Central," Carnell said. "Holmes was a tough game that we had to play hard to win. East Central is going to be tough, too. Let's face it, nobody is just going to roll over and lay down for Northeast."

Bearcats Smother Rebels 25-0

By BUTCH CALDWELL
Sports Writer

A pair of touchdowns by Gregg Tucker along with Anthony (Sleepy) Price and Tommy Welch chipping in one each gave the Baldwin Bearcats a 25-0 verdict over the Thrasher Rebels in Thursday night action at Latimer Park.

Baldwyn, the District I-BB North pre-season pick, got things rolling midway through the opening period when Anthony Price returned a Rebel punt to the Thrasher 33-yard line. Two plays later Tucker rolled left 29 yards to score.

Scott's conversion attempt was blocked, giving the Cats a 6-0 lead.

A young Rebel defense held Baldwin at bay through most of the first half, but a short punt put the ball on the Thrasher 29-yard line.

It took Baldwin five plays and the aid of a 5-yard penalty to move to the 1-yard line where Tucker sneaked over on two tries.

The two-point pass was incomplete and the score was 12-0 at intermission.

In the third quarter, the two teams exchanged punts early in the period. Baldwin got good position on the Thrasher 34-yard line and six plays later Price crashed in from the two.

The two-point try was no good and the lead was 18-0.

Baldwyn climaxed the scoring on another short punt by Thrasher which gave the Bearcats the ball on the Reb 23.

It took four plays before Tommy Welch raced over from the four. Stan Scott kicked the extra point and, with 11:54 left in the game, Baldwin lead 25-0.

While Tucker, Price and Welch provided the firepower for Baldwin, Dwight Shinault, Roy White and William Warren made things happen for Thrasher.

Thrasher moved the ball in Baldwin territory much of the first half, but was unable to cash in with points. Short punts and fumbles

Don't Shoot Lines

South Central Bell district manager, Tom Bailey, urges area hunters to watch telephone cables and lines now that dove season is here.

"Damaged lines hurt everyone: customers are without service, the company must make time-consuming, expensive repairs and the party responsible could be billed for the damage," Bailey said.

Hunters are asked to "please aim carefully when shooting to make sure no cables nor telephone lines are in their line of fire."

ATHLETIC INJURIES

Professional athletes working with doctors of chiropractic find real advantages and the outcome is better performance and increased energy levels.

However, most of us "weekend-warriors" are not professional athletes, yet we need chiropractic even more. Our bodies are not as finely tuned for the variety of sports that we take part in and are more easily injured as a result of over-stretching, collisions, slipping, sprains etc.

Many times seemingly minor injuries go untreated, leading to greater pain and suffering. Some injuries related to the spinal column and central nervous system require immediate treatment so as to prevent future discomfort and ill health. Nerve interference can be readily observed by the athlete as soreness, lack of flexibility, delayed reaction time, loss of balance etc. Many professional athletes know it keeps them in the game, and it will work for you too.

As an athlete you know the advantages of proper physical fitness, but do you really know how good you can feel? Call our office and let us help you plan your physical fitness program to help you achieve the best results.

Sunday Dinners Are Edith Sims Specialty

By ANGELA SMITH
Staff Reporter

Sunday dinners are a special time at Edith Sims' home.

As soon as church is over at Jacinto Church of Christ her grandchildren ask Mrs. Sims, "Grandma, what's for dinner?"

But even before they ask they know they are going to have something good to eat.

Almost every Sunday Mrs. Sims' family gathers at her home in Cairo for Sunday dinner.

Her family consists of her husband, George Orland, their son and daughter and their spouses, Larry and Freda Sims, Hoyt and Joan Wade, and six grandchildren.

Their other son, Johnny and his wife, Judy, and their son live in California.

IF THERE'S ONE recipe Mrs. Sims is known for, it's probably the one for "Red Velvet Cake." Her fellow church-goers depend on her to bring red velvet cake to their church get-togethers.

Mrs. Sims has taught the Ladies' Bible class at her church for the past 20 years.

She has worked at Hills Chapel School as a substitute teacher and has also worked there in the cafeteria for five years.

Mrs. Sims attends the Cairo Senior Citizen Center regularly where she and the other ladies quilt and the men "whittle and spin yarns."

In the last three years she has pieced and quilted 25 quilts. A tulip quilt she made is one of her favorites. In addition to quilting, embroidery is another hobby, as well as caring for a "porch full of flowers."

She and her husband, George Orland, observed their 46th wedding anniversary in April. He is a retired employee of the State Highway Department.

SINCE THIS IS "molasses making time," there is nothing more appropriate for cooks to serve than Molasses Cake. This cake tastes similar to a spice cake - but is much better, she says. For a richer cake, raisins or nuts may be added to the cake mixture.

Those who like hushpuppies may want to try Mrs. Sims' recipe for Onion Cornbread which tastes similar to hushpuppies.

She serves Onion Cornbread with any kind of vegetables but notes that it is especially good when served with turnip greens in the wintertime.

Old-fashioned teacakes are another of her specialties - at least according to her grandchildren. So for that reason she always keeps a cookie jar filled with teacakes. But the cookie jar doesn't stay filled long!

Red Velvet Cake
1½ cups sugar
1½ cups Wesson oil
1 tsp. soda
1 tsp. salt
2 Tb. cocoa
1 tsp. vanilla
1 tsp. vinegar
2 eggs
2½ cups plain flour
2 oz. red food coloring
1 cup buttermilk
Cream sugar and oil. Add eggs, beat well. Add vinegar and food coloring beating well. Add sifted dry ingredients alternating with buttermilk. Beat well. Add vanilla.
Bake at 350 degrees for 30 or 35 minutes. Makes 3 layers.

Frosting
1 stick oleo
8 oz. cream cheese
1 tsp. vanilla
1 box powdered sugar
1 cup chopped nuts (pecans)
Cream oleo and cream cheese. Add vanilla and sifted sugar. Mix well then add nuts.

Molasses Layer Cake
2 cups flour
½ tsp. cloves
¼ tsp. allspice
1 tsp. cinnamon
½ tsp. salt
½ tsp. soda
2 tsp. baking powder
½ cup sugar
1 cup molasses
one-third cup butter or oleo
½ cup milk
2 eggs
½ cup raisins or ½ cup pecans (optional)
Mix first 8 ingredients. Then add next 4 ingredients adding raisins and nuts last, if desired.

Pot Roast
3 lb. beef or pork
6 carrots (sliced)
6 potatoes (quartered)
1 large onion
salt as desired
Cook meat in pressure cooker till tender for 30 minutes or more at 10 lb. pressure. Remove and place on meat platter. Cook vegetables until tender in broth where roast was cooked. Place vegetables around roast.
Make gravy and pour over roast.

Gravy
Brown ½ cup flour in ¼ cup oil. Fry with the broth

Onion Cornbread
2 cups self-rising cornmeal
1½ cups self-rising flour
1 cup chopped onion
¼ cup vegetable oil
5 eggs
2 cups milk (more or less)
Mix well. Bake in 8-inch skillet at 450 degrees for 20 minutes.

Jelly Roll
4 eggs
¾ cup sugar
¾ cups plain flour
¾ tsp. baking powder
¼ tsp. salt

Old-Fashioned Tea Cakes
2 cups sugar
¼ tsp. salt
1 cup butter or oleo
1 tsp. soda
3 eggs
3 Tb. buttermilk
3 cups plain flour (add more if needed for soft dough)
Pour dough on board and knead until right consistency to roll. Cut out and bake on cookie sheet at 375 degrees for about 10 minutes. Makes 45 medium sized tea cakes. Flavor with nutmeg.

Orange Salad
1 3 oz. box orange jello
1 medium can mandarin oranges

ENJOYING SUNDAY DINNER - Sunday dinners are special occasions at Mrs. Edith Sims' home in Cairo. Following church services, her family gathers in her home to discuss the past week's events and their plans for the left from the roast and vegetables.

Chicken Dressing
1 large fryer
1 tsp. salt
Cover fryer with water and cook in pressure cooker 30 minutes at 10 lb. pressure. Cool. Pick meat from bones.

To the meat and broth mixture add: 1 skillet onion cornbread crumbled (recipe follows); 3 slices white bread or biscuits and ½ cup dry oats, 1 tsp. sage, ½ tsp. black pepper and 1 cup chopped celery (optional). Mix well. Bake at 450 degrees for 25 minutes.

Onion Cornbread
2 cups self-rising cornmeal
1½ cups self-rising flour
1 cup chopped onion
¼ cup vegetable oil
5 eggs
2 cups milk (more or less)
Mix well. Bake in 8-inch skillet at 450 degrees for 20 minutes.

Jelly Roll
4 eggs
¾ cup sugar
¾ cups plain flour
¾ tsp. baking powder
¼ tsp. salt

Old-Fashioned Tea Cakes
2 cups sugar
¼ tsp. salt
1 cup butter or oleo
1 tsp. soda
3 eggs
3 Tb. buttermilk
3 cups plain flour (add more if needed for soft dough)
Pour dough on board and knead until right consistency to roll. Cut out and bake on cookie sheet at 375 degrees for about 10 minutes. Makes 45 medium sized tea cakes. Flavor with nutmeg.

Orange Salad
1 3 oz. box orange jello
1 medium can mandarin oranges

coming week. Here Mrs. Sims serves food to her granddaughters, Amy Sims (center), and Kristi Wade. (Photo by Suzann Sims)

1 medium can crushed pineapple
1 carton small curd cottage cheese
1 large carton cool whip
Cut orange sections in half. Drain juice off pineapple and oranges. Place all ingredients in bowl and mix together. Chill.

Booneville Happenings

By MRS. GORDON McGEE
Correspondent

Methodist Senior Citizens Manor Tupelo (Traceway) worship services Sept. 1 were conducted by the Rev. C.L. Potts and Doug Holland, music director at First United Methodist Church. The Rev. Potts is the minister of First Church in Booneville. Those gracious people of Traceway always welcome any visitors.

The descendants of William Thomas Frasier met at the West Side City Park on Sunday, Sept. 4, for their annual get-together. Those attending were Robert Frasier of Weiner, Ark.; Demetris Young and Gary L. Pitts of Little Rock, Ark.; Billy and Shirley Young, Truman, Ark.; Essie Brewer, Spring Town Texas;

Thomas and Thelma Oldham, Ft. Worth, Texas; Hazel Cunningham Osborne, Valrice, Fla.; Roy and Virginia Davis, Joliet, Ill.; Charles, Bonita and Jerry Frasier, Nathan, Geneva and Tim Frasier, and Mr. and Mrs. Troy Frasier, Jackson, Tenn.;

Mr. and Mrs. Gary Frasier and Gary II, Memphis; Julia Ruth Cunningham, New Albany; Mrs. Katherine and Alaina Prentice, Starkville; Larry, Nina Beth and Larry Jr., Doran, James, Tana and Justin Thomas, Corinth; Robert Tucker and Shirley, Hamilton.

The rest are from here around town: David, JoAnn, Paul, Mary Lou and Connie Dunahoo, Bobby and Monica Winfield, June and Kenny McGill, Bart Patton, Betty Wade Winfield, Granville and Edith Huddleston;

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Frasier, Douglas Frasier Dallison, David, Denise and Samantha Patton, Pat, Brenda and Anita Patton, Herman and Ollie Fasier, the Rev. and Mrs. C.D. Edge, Robert and Opal Pitts, Brandie Pitts, Clovus Frasier, Pink Frasier, Marcella Stell, Hazel Dallison, Daria Dallison and Lucille Dallison Smith.

This group has not met for the past nine years and they always look forward to this gala event.

Mr. and Mrs. Leland George, Connie, Leland's daughter, and John Sow of Miami, Fla., have been on an eight day tour of Europe, Austria, Italy and Switzerland. They enjoyed all of the sites of these foreign countries and had a wonderful time together.

Mr. and Mrs. Tim Hill of Ole Miss visited their mothers, Mrs. Louise Rummage and Mrs. Barbara Merrill over the weekend. The spacious lawn of Bobby Jean and Kelly Goddard was the setting for the Wesley class of the First United Methodist Church cook-out Sept. 8.

The lawn was highlighted with a yellow hay wagon and charcoal grills. Bobby Goddard and Hershel Thompson (cooks) got the entire neighborhood hungry with the smell of big, fat hamburgers and all the trimmings. However, you had to be on the front lawn to be one of this big class of 56 people present and your name on one of these "goodies" so everyone managed to be present with only five of the class missing.

The hospitality of this Christian family was enjoyed throughout the evening.

Class president Mildred Sartin thanked the Goddards for opening their home to the class. The Rev. C.L. Potts gave the invocation. Newlyn Murphy kept the group in a jovial mood with group participation games. The lovely, cool evening gave interest and thought for an annual outside get-together for the class. After singing "Blest Be The Tie That Binds" with the class in a large circle, the Rev. Potts led the dismissal prayer.

Mrs. Irma Hutchens would like to thank everyone that remembered her in any way with cards, letters, telephone calls and prayers while she was in the hospital. She also said that friends mean more than money. Mrs. Irma is at home and much improved. It's our prayer that she will continue to improve.

Mr. and Mrs. O.C. Davis of Grenada recently visited with Mrs. Gladys Davis.

Mrs. Rachel Keays of Newbern, Tenn., visited with Mrs. Mary Cecil Thomason last week and attended First Methodist Church with her.

Beth Tidwell spent Labor Day with her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. R.C. Wildsmith, Steve and Mike of Powell, Tenn. They all attended church at Beaver Creek Cumberland Presbyterian Church in Knoxville on Sunday.

Sympathy is extended to the family of Elzie Deaton. Mr. Deaton died Sunday and was buried Tuesday in Gaston Cemetery.

Saturday, Sept. 10, Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Lawrence, Mrs. Estella Williams and Mrs. Lola Fulghum attended the funeral of their sister-in-law in Humbolt, Tenn.

First United Methodist Church was honored to have the Baddour singers, "The Miracles," with us at the morning worship services Sept. 11.

The general meeting of the United Methodist Women was held Sept. 12 at 7 p.m. with Circle 4 as hostess. All women circles of the church were represented. Sept. 12 groups 1 and 2 met and Sept. 14 the Upper Room group met.

Monday, Sept. 12, the WMU Day Bible Study group met in the home of Mrs. Gordon McGee with 13 present. Frances Abernethy, circle leader, presided. Mrs. Mary Glen Curlee brought an interesting study.

Willetta Dixon gave the call to prayer. Then the group had a good hour of Christian fellowship over coffee, punch and coco cola salad.

Rose Cook had a guest last week, a good friend, from Lancen, Mich., came down and spent the week. He got hungry for some good cooking and what better place could he come than to Rose's house. They had a delightful week.

The family of Mrs. Maggie Wingo met at the Booneville City Park on Sept. 4 for their annual family reunion. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Jessie Rinehart and grandchildren; Mr. and Mrs. Louis Rorie, Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie McCalla, Mrs. Bernice McCalla and children of Rienzi;

Mrs. Madge Whitley, Farmington, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wingo and granddaughter, Meridian, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Medburn, Delphi, Ind.; Mrs. Evelyn Moore, Tishomingo, Mrs. Betty Waters, Baldwin, Mr. and Mrs. Eligah Wingo and Hershel Smith. They all reported a good time of food, fun and fellowship.

Sympathy is extended to the families of those who have passed away: H.C. Hanel, T.F. Battles, Mrs. Virginia Holley Smith, Mrs. Evelyn Harris, Roy Hayden, Elzie Deaton, and Vernon C. Lovell.

Mr. and Mrs. Billy Bonds have returned after about nine days of vacation. They visited J.W. and Mozelle Kitchens in Kenosha, Wis. While there they went to the fair in Elkhorn, Wis., three different nights and saw the following performers entertain: Ronny McDowell, Louise Mandrell, Conway Twitty, Lee Greenwood, and Tammy Wynette. They left Kenosha and went to Nashville to visit their son and family, Mr. and Mrs. James H. (Jim) Bonds, Valerie and Matthew.

INOCULATING FORAGE LEGUMES

Forage legumes are very important for pasture and hay production. When grown with grass they provide a higher quality pasture or hay than grass alone. Legumes make their own nitrogen and can also supply nitrogen to grass growing with them. Accordingly they serve a double duty.

Legume inoculation is introducing legume bacteria into a root system to let legumes fix or change nitrogen into usable forms. It is the process of mixing legume seed with the correct strain of bacteria before planting. After the seed are planted, the bacteria will multiply if soil conditions are favorable.

After the legume seed germinates and begins to grow, bacteria invade the root hairs. They form growths on the roots called nodules. The bacteria live in these nodules and do their beneficial work. A red or pink color within the nodule indicates that the bacteria have nitrogen-fixing activity. Nodules which are white, green, or brown inside fix little or no nitrogen. These may be produced from native bacteria in the soil and are usually ineffective or less effective than nodules formed from added inoculum.

Many different methods have been used to supply legume bacteria for the legume seed. With any method, remember that bacteria frequently die when exposed to dry, hot conditions even for a short time.

The best method of inoculation is to use large numbers of live bacteria on the seed and apply them just before seeding. You do this by moistening the seed with a small amount of water-syrup (10 percent syrup) solution and adding commercial inoculant. The syrup sticks the inoculum to the seed and nourishes the bacteria in the soil until they can feed from the plant sugars.

Commercial supplements have been developed which do a good job of sticking large amount of inoculum on the seed. The supplements may contain gum arabic, synthetic gums, and sugar to stick the inoculum to the seed and protect the nodule bacteria until the seed germinates. One such product which is now commercially available is "Pelinoc." The seeds are coated with a nutrient gel (about one-third of the inoculum may be mixed with the gel for the initial coating) that keeps the bacteria alive. A second coating of powdered inoculant adheres a large amount of inoculum firmly to the seed and aids in drying the seed.

Timberline

By ROBERT THORNTON
County Forester

Although no serious outbreaks of Southern Pine Beetles have been reported in Prentiss County they are active in other parts of the State, and could become active here as the Summer moves on. We need to keep a sharp eye out for them.

The first signs of an attack are usually faded foliage and yellowish-white clumps of resin, shaped like tiny crawfish mounds, clinging to the bark of pine trees.

Due to the unusually cool, damp weather we had this Spring, the fading of needles on infested trees may have been retarded, causing an infestation to go unnoticed for a longer time than usual.

Landowners should walk through their pine timberstands at regular intervals this Summer, looking for signs of bark beetle attacks.

If you think your timber is infested with these, or any other insect pests, contact us and we'll check it out for you. We'll also help you get your damaged timber salvaged to control the outbreak.

The timber market has picked up considerably in recent months and our privately owned pine timber is again increasing sharply in value. All the more reason to keep a close eye on it, wouldn't you say?

Got A Critical Erosion Problem? Plant Trees!

Some of you may have seen bumper stickers on state-owned vehicles with the word "HOT" in red letters. You may think this is just an appropriate remark about the weather, but there's more to it than that. The letters H.O.T. stand for "Hold Our Top-soil."

The HOT campaign was recently launched by state conservation agencies to call attention to a serious problem in Mississippi — soil erosion — particularly on cropland and unimproved, steeper sloped pastureland in highly erodible soils.

For a while conservation measures initiated after the devastating Dust Bowl Days of the 30s had the situation under control, but the use of large, more efficient, modern farm machinery and other factors caused many farmers to neglect or abandon soil conservation practices. Soil erosion is once again with us. We have the third worst cropland erosion problem in America according to the experts.

If you have a really critical erosion problem, you might want to consider planting a different crop — trees. They're proven soil-holders, and a good long term investment, to boot. In fact, financial experts say good timber will yield a return rate at 3 to 5 percent above inflation for the foreseeable future. Not many other investments can match such an overall rate of return from quality timber managed under a good, modern forestry plan.

Want to talk about going into tree farming in a serious sort of way? Let me hear from you. I'll be glad to help.

Marketing Specialist Gives Tips On Preparing Pies

By ANN O. RUSHING
Extension
Marketing Specialist

When your menu calls for pie, you have several options. Pies come in all flavors, styles and sizes.

You can buy them from the deli, bakery or frozen food case for the highest price or choose partially prepared crusts and fillings and put them together yourself and save a little money. A final choice may be to prepare the entire pie, crust and all, at home.

Since pie making can be tedious and time consuming, you may choose to buy pies already prepared. If you prefer to do part of the work at home, markets have a wide variety of pre-prepared pies and convenience items.

Most dessert pies fall into two categories, cream pies and fruit pies with many possible combinations, sizes and shapes. Deli's offer completely baked pies. Also the frozen food case boasts a wide array of fruit and cream pies.

There are special fruit pie mixes that require only pouring into prepared shells.

Boxes of cream pie fillings are available in instant form or to be cooked and poured into a choice of baked pastry or crumb crust.

With so much variety available in pies, home baked ones are still quite popular. For beginners the pastry is often the most difficult part to master.

You can make pastry from basic recipe, use any one of a number of pre-crust mixes or buy the pastry prepared and frozen, ready to bake, or even a home prepared or bought crumb crust.

If you choose to make your own pastry, here are some tips for success: Have all ingredients at about 70 degrees F. Handle dough lightly to incorporate as much air as possible to inhibit the development of gluten, (this gives a flaky and tender crust). Avoid too much flour, which toughens pastry.

Avoid too much liquid, which makes it soggy. Avoid too much shortening, which makes doughs greasy and crumbly. Chill pastry after mixing to tenderize it, keep it from shrinking during baking and make it easier to handle. Cover and refrigerate 12 hours or more. Remove from refrigerator at least one hour before shaping it. Handle dough as little as possible. Start baking in very hot oven. When you've mastered the art of pastry making, make several pastries and freeze them for use later. Shape them ready to use before freezing. Use layers of waxed paper to separate several pastries in one pie pan.

One common problem in pie making is leaking meringue. Leakage refers to liquid separating out from the meringue. If there is enough of it, the meringue could slip around or off the top of the pie.

When egg whites are beaten, a foam is produced. This foam is called meringue. Foam results from a protein in egg - albumen - stretching and holding air beaten into it. Whipping coagulates the protein, making the foam rigid. Thus, foam is made up of many tiny air bubbles surrounded by a film of coagulated protein.

To prevent meringue for pies from leakage, or the liquid separating from the foam, keep these points in mind.

Add sugar at the beginning or during the beating of egg whites. Leakage is more likely to occur if egg whites are beaten too long before sugar is added.

Consider how long the egg whites have been beaten. Underbeaten egg whites do not keep their rigidity, lose volume quickly, and too, the liquid separates out easily. Be sure to beat the egg whites until peaks are formed that stand straight and bend slightly at the tips. Consider the temperature of the pie filling when meringue is added. There is less leakage when meringue is placed on hot fillings rather than cold. To prevent leakage, the recommended procedure is to: spoon meringue over the hot pie filling and spread meringue to meet the crust around the edge of the pie. This helps hold meringue in place. Bake the pie at 375 degrees F until the meringue turns a delicate brown color.

For Jobs & Education

Senator Supports Programs

Senator Thad Cochran (R-Miss.) says education and job opportunities are "critical to the hopes of Mississippi making economic growth and development in the future."

level, and there must be adequate jobs to meet the needs of our people," he commented here today. "Education and opportunity are inevitably linked. We must have both if our state and our people are to enjoy the standard of living to which we all aspire," the Senator stated.

His remarks came at a meeting of faculty of the Brookhaven city school district as the 1983-84 session began for local schools, teachers and students. He reiterated his support for programs such as the elementary and secondary education act, vocational education and technical training.

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

God's Guarantee

Titus 1:2 tells us -- 'In Hope of eternal life, which God, that cannot lie, promised before the world began'

By C. D. Edge

The Lord is truth itself, and we can depend upon Him. In the Old Testament we are told in NUMBERS 23:19 - GOD IS NOT A MAN THAT HE SHOULD LIE - He keeps His promises. When we look at His promise from a human point of view, we might say that He stands to lose more than we do. We could only lose our soul, but if God should not keep His promise He would lose His CHARACTER, HIS VERY GREATNESS.

A young boy went to a lady's house one time to sell some berries. The boy stayed at the door as the lady measured the quantity of berries in her kitchen. "Don't you want to come in and see that I don't take more than I should?" she asked. "How do you know that I won't cheat you?" The boy said, "I'm not worried, lady, besides, if you did cheat you'd get the worst of it." She said, "What do you mean I'd get the worst of it?" "Well," he said, "I'd only lose a few berries, but YOU WOULD MAKE YOURSELF A THIEF AND A LIAR."

Friends, we can count on God. He must be true to Himself; that GUARANTEES HIS PROMISE. Remember that our great God never made a promise that HE WON'T KEEP.

ABOUT THE COVER:

Coming off a 33-0 loss to Gulf Coast the week before, Northeast Junior College bounced back into the win column last Thursday night in Goodman, Miss., defeating Holmes Junior College 15-7. The victory was David Carnell's first as head football coach at Northeast. Coach Carnell is shown above right cheering the team on against Holmes and at bottom left solemnly watching his team get beat by Gulf Coast. The photo at bottom right shows the Tigers in action against Holmes.

It's A Long Way To The Top For Ole Miss Coach Billy Brewer

By RONNIE CALDWELL,
Mississippi
Sports Page

It's a long fall from the top to the bottom, but it's an even longer distance to climb from the bottom back to the top. Just ask Ole Miss football coach Billy Brewer.

The story of the Ole Miss football program over the past decade is truly an amazing one. Begin in 1970. The Rebels were 7-3 and in the Gator Bowl under John Vaught. In 1971, Billy Kinard took over and the Rebels went 9-2 with a Peach Bowl berth.

Now turn the page on the next decade. Exit Billy Kinard and enter Ken Cooper. Four mediocre seasons later exit Ken Cooper and enter Steve Sloan. Sloan compiled, if that's the right word, records of 5-6, 4-7, 3-8, 4-6-1 and 4-7 at Ole Miss. Exit Steve Sloan and enter Billy Brewer this season.

Sloan's five years at the Rebel helm might have been the most destructive of the entire decade. Sloan claimed improvement in facilities at Ole Miss as one of his best accomplishments. A great deal of that credit should go to athletic director Warner Alford and the University's athletic committee, but Sloan left the actual football team in skeleton condition at best.

Once again, just ask Billy Brewer. One of the main problems with this year's Ole Miss football squad is depth. Brewer is severely constrained because of the lack of personnel to go around to numerous key positions.

"We are going to have a problem with depth," said Brewer, immediately after a disappointing 37-17 opening loss to Memphis State. "It's just going to take some time, but it is crucial that we can't leave one team out on the field for very long, especially like we did with our defense against Memphis State."

The biggest challenges facing Brewer and his new staff at Ole Miss are depth as well as a lack of team size, inexperience and the intangibles of not having a winning tradition. It's a challenge that is toughened by a rigorous schedule, but one that Brewer knows must be met to help rebuild a program that had sagged near the bottom.

"It is a challenge and we have got our backs to the wall, but it is something that has got to be done and we're going to do it," explained Brewer, who successfully rebuilt programs at Southeastern Louisiana and Louisiana Tech. "I have been a fighter all my life and I am not going to stop now." Ole Miss quarterback Kent Austin is well aware of the problems Ole Miss has faced and is facing, but the answer is simple, according to Austin.

"We will improve with more experience," he explained. "It's like coach Brewer says that it is not how you start the season, but how you end. As we play more, we will get more fine-tuned. Almost every mistake that we made was due to a lack of concentration."

Concentration, experience, a winning attitude, and rebuilding — all components of Ole Miss' dedication to make that long climb back to the top.

MISSISSIPPI TEAMS AND FOES:
Alabama will roll over Ole Miss by 13.
Mississippi State will get back to work with a 14-point win over Navy.
Southern Mississippi will further improve its record with a 10-point victory over Louisiana Tech.
Louisiana Tech Arkansas will send New Mexico a long way home with a 17-point Hog victory.
Auburn and Texas will fight for their lives before the Tigers claim a three-point win.
East Carolina will top Murray State by six.
Florida will rock Indiana Vandy will barely get past Iowa State by three.

Tulane Defeats Ole Miss

In New Orleans Superdome

By SCOTT MCKINNEY
Sports Writer

The Tulane Green Wave survived a last minute surge by Ole Miss to hold on to a 27-23 win in the Superdome in New Orleans.

Rebel quarterback Kent Austin twisted his knee and fell to the turf as time expired with Ole Miss at the ahead late in the fourth quarter when quarterback Jon English hit James Harrison on a 12 yard scoring strike.

Ole Miss took the ball on their own 20-yard line with 2:23 left in the game and took the ball to the Green Wave one, but an intentional grounding penalty and Austin's fangled feet cost Ole Miss the win.

Austin finished with 256 yards passing, completing 20 or 42 passes with 2 interceptions and McGee had a tremendous afternoon, rushing for 167 yards on 20 carries and 2 touchdowns.

McGee also caught four passes for 47 yards.

Lightning Halts Three Games

Somebody Up There Must Not Like Football!

By SCOTT MCKINNEY
Sports Writer

What is it that the local high school and college teams know that we don't? Or, maybe, we should ask, what has all the local teams done that has made Mother Nature so upset?

The first two weeks of the football season have been exciting and juberant, but a new force has been put on the statistics book as a normal happening -- lightning.

Lightning has been a major problem in several and chances were the storms would hang around. As teams started to take the field in the second half, a lightning bolt struck a transformer and knocked out the lights at the field. Total darkness prevailed until the storm passed and the lights came back on. Unbelievable, but it'll never happen again, right?

Wrong! The very next night Tupelo was playing at Amory. Before the game started, a thunderstorm rolled through the Amory area and lightning bolt struck the school.

The bolt knocked out the stadium lights, caused $500 damage to a new public address system, and sent a lightning ball through the main hall of the school. It just happened that the Booneville coaches were at the game. Makes you wonder, huh?

This past week with a little over six minutes left in the game at the New Orleans Superdome between Ole Miss and Tulane, a severe thunderstorm sent a lightning bolt that hit the main transformer in downtown New Orleans and knocked out the lights in the Superdome.

What's going on? This is what Booneville coaches and Billy Brewer are starting to wonder!

Lightning is dangerous at this time of year, especially if you're in an open field, particularly a football field. We still advise everyone to attend football games, and especially Booneville's games, but one word of advice to all fans: When the lightning starts, get off the metal bleachers and off of the field. Also remember, you get struck once, you won't have anything to worry about!
