Out-Of-State Tags Illegal

Booneville Police Chief Bobby Lambert warned he is planning to crack down on owners of cars with illegal outof-state license plates.

"Car dealers are going to other states and buying cars and trucks, bringing them in here with the license plates still on them and driving them around themselves. Then, when they sell the vehicles, the ones who buy them here are using the out-of-state plates," Chief Lambert said.

"We're getting complaints about it. And we're going to crack down. Out-of-state plates are no good in this state, and the dealers should remove

"If they don't, there will be a fine for running them. And the car will stay parked until they are legally licensed," he warned.

Phone Co. Pays Taxes

T.H. Bailey, District Manager for South Central Bell, presented checks totaling $212,702 to Prentiss County and the City of Booneville for payment of 1983 ad valorem

"The tax payments help support schools, police and fire protection and other services County Prentiss provides," Bailey said.

It is expected that South Central Bell will pay approximately $29 million to Mississippi municipalities and counties for 1983 ad valorem taxes. These payments are part of an estimated $65.6 million tax bill that will be paid by the telephone company to Mississippi and its counties and municipalities for 1983 and do not include income, social security and excise taxes paid to the Federal government.

Commodities To Be Given

February commodities for Prentiss County households will be issued on a "first come-first served basis" at the Food Stamp Office to those bringing or sending properly signed and dated commodity vouchers. The commodity voucher must be signed by the person whose name appears at the top of the voucher. The target date for February distribution is Wednesday, Feb. 22, 1984

Low income households where no one receives food stamps may make an application before the issuance date at the welfare office. If found eligible they will be issued a commodity voucher.

If there is a change in the distribution date, it will be announced over WBIP radio station.

Students Get Friday Off

The Prentiss County Schools will dismiss on Friday, Feb. 17, at 12:00 in order for teachers to work on the Prentiss County AIM (Accountability Instructional Management) Plan.

The members of the AIM Resolving Committees will meet at Marietta School at 1:30 on the 17th. Other teachers will remain at their individual schools.

Marijuana Bust

Officers Accused Of Planting Evidence

By ED WOODWARD Managing Editor

Two men who were arrested on Jan. 12 are claiming that one of the three Booneville police officers involved in the arrest planted false evidence in their vehicle after they were jailed.

Jim Davis, 25, Double Springs, Ala., and Anthony Jackson, 22, Booneville, say that one of the three officers - Hubert Kitchens, Jess Chaffin or James Pennington -planted marijuana in Davis's pickup truck after the two men had been arrested, strip-searched and incarcerated in the Booneville City Jail on charges of public drunkenness

According to Davis, shortly after midnight on Jan. 12, he was driving Jackson home from King Furniture Company in Rienzi, where Davis is plant superintendent and Jackson is assistant plant superintendent.

Davis said that as he turned east from Highway 45 onto College St. he noticed a police cruiser following him. As the policeman did not turn on his blue lights or siren, he said, he continued on to Jackson's home on Cherry St., where he parked in Jackson's driveway and went on into Jackson's house, assuming Jackson, who had been asleep, was right behind him.

According to Davis, as Jackson started to exit the pickup truck, Officer Chaffin pulled into the driveway and parked beside Davis' truck. Jackson's wife reportedly observed this and told Davis, who returned to the truck.

Davis said he asked Chaffin, "Can I help you?" He said Chaffin replied, "Yeah. Look at all them beer bottles in the back of that truck. Don't you know it's illegal to drink in this town?"

Davis said he replied, "Yes, Sir. I know it's illegal to drink in this town. Those bottles have been back there for a while.'

"He then asked me if I'd been drinking," Davis said. "And I told him I had drunk a couple of beers earlier. But I told him I wasn't drunk, and I didn't drink them while I was driving.

"And he (Chaffin) said, 'Well, you're going to jail,' And I said, 'For what?' And he said, 'For public drunkenness. You're drunk.' And I said, 'No. I'm not drunk. You can give me a DUI test," Davis said.

Davis said by this time Jackson had gone into the house, and was standing in the doorway, watching. as officers Kitchens and Pennington arrived.

Davis said Chaffin then searched his truck, removing a grocery sack containing "my father's old, antique, World War II pistol." He said he was in the process of moving from Double Springs to Jumpertown, had the gun "wrapped up

Local Industry Seeks To Buy Last Plot In Industrial Park

Mayor Charles Crabb announced at the Feb. 7 meeting of the Booneville Board of Mayor and Aldermen that, if financial assistance can be arranged, B&W Frame Shop wants to build an 8,000 square foot factory building on the lone remaining four-acre plot in the Booneville-Prentiss County Industrial Park

Crabb said the company, which manufactures furniture frames, presently employs 16, a number which would double if the new plant is built. He said, in order to purchase the land and build on it, the company would need a "small industrial revenue bond, probably for approximately $80,000," through the State Economic Development Office or a similar agency.

The board agreed to look into funding possibilities for the plant. Mayor Crabb told the board that something needs to be done about the intersection of George E. Allen Drive and Route 4. He said a fence on the property on the west side of the intersection has been torn down three times by motorists who failed to slow for the intersection.

The board voted unanimously to install a yellow flashing light on George E. Allen Drive at the intersection.

Board attorney Eugene Gifford told the board that the apparent low bid for the work on the city sewage system was $243,584 above the engineers estimate, and the job would have to be rebid.

He said Coca Cola, which was recently given a five-year franchise for the city park, had requested the franchise term be lengthened to seven years. The board approved

New Owners Say They Will Upgrade Local Railroad

By ED WOODWARD Managing Editor

Representatives of L.B. Foster Co. were reportedly in Northeast Mississippi last week attempting to dispell rumors that the company intends to abandon and scrap the railroad lines they are purchasing from the Illinois Central Gulf Railroad.

Speculation about Foster's plans for the 700 miles of railroad lines has been high on the discussion list for area city hall representatives and heads of industries served by the lines.

John Stephen, director of marketing for Foster, said such rumors could damage the company's ability to recieve approval of the sale from the Interstate Commerce Commission. But, he said, the company will not reveal its plans for the railroad before March 1, when they are scheduled to submit them to the ICC.

"The ICC has jurisdiction over the sale, and they require that we submit to them a detailed outline of our plans for running the rail lines," Stephen said.

"After we present it to them, it will be open for public comment, protests, hearings or whatever," he

L.B. Foster Vice-President William Tagmyer admitted the purchased lines will need "quite a bit of rehabilitation.'

Some sections need more work than others. But we fully intend to upgrade the railway," Tagmyer said, adding that cost estimates for the rehabilitation are not yet available.

Tagmyer said the company is afraid too much speculation about Foster's plan for the railroad lines could result in opposition that might delay ICC approval of the purchase. "If it drags out too long, the agreement is off. So we hope there are no problems," he said.

In the past, it has been L.B. Foster's practice to buy up abandoned railway lines and dismantle them for use as relay material. But

Curlee's Store

A 70-Year-Old Rienzi Tradition

By ANGELA SMITH Staff Reporter

Curlee's Store in Rienzi has remained practically the same since 1913.

The store first opened for business in 1909 in a frame building located on the corner of Main and Front Streets in Rienzi and was run by C.B. Curlee and his brother-in-law, Oliver F. Burnett. The store was destroyed by a tornado in

That same year Curlee rebuilt the store and later bought out Burnett. Curlee ran the store until his death in 1972. Now his son, Joe and his wife, Beth, carry on the family tradition.

The store still has many "old timey" items -- sheep shears, wagon wheel fillers for steel tired wagons, water dippers, a cheese cutter (that is still in use), and several large wooden barrels that hold tools (the barrels originally contained

The post office was once located in the store, because the elder Curlee served as postmaster for a time.

THE CEILING in the store is one of the few still left that is made of dark gray decorative pressed tin squares. The 40x100 building is lighted by 11 lightbulbs placed strategically throughout the

There is also a hornet's nest on display which came from the Curlee's farm, but the nest has dwindled in size because customers like to pinch it to see how it feels.

In the wintertime the store is warmed by a "pot bellied" stove -- the gathering place for men to sit around and swap news while they spit chewing tobacco at the stove's ash catcher.

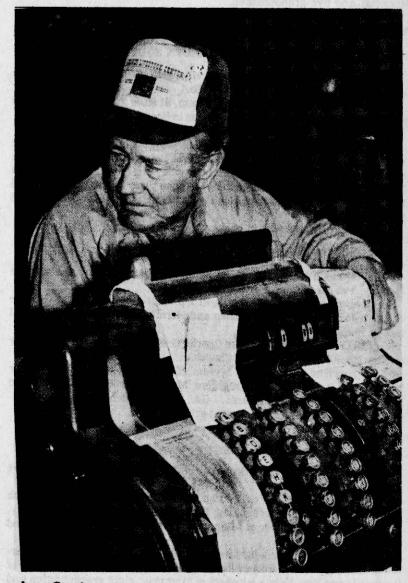

"Many a crop has been planted around this stove," Beth Curlee laughs. "But there was never much harvested."

She tells of a "yarn" that went something like this: "Did you hear about the fellow they found on the side of the road? Nobody could figure out who he was or where he came from until they turned him over. No doubt about it, he was from Rienzi, all right. There was a print of that nail keg at Curlee's Store on the seat of his pants."

Miss Viola Presley, The Banner-Independent's Rienzi correspondent, worked at the store for about 35 years.

LAST YEAR Joe Curlee moved his grandfather's old store behind his store. The store, which belonged to E.J. Green, was located near the railroad, and is at least 120 years old. The Curlees hope to restore it and make it into a

In days gone by, people used to play checkers at Curlee's Store. They still have the checkerboard but mostly it's their grandchildren who play checkers.

Davis said they were taken to the city jail, where he was given a sobriety test that showed he was sober. He said he and Jackson were strip-searched, then he was booked on charges of reckless driving, possession of a concealed weapon and public drunkenness, and Jackson was charged with public drunkeness

Davis said he was later called out by Kitchens, who said, "Mr. Davis, we're looking for some marijuana." "And I said, 'I hope you find it,"

He said Kitchens then told him to remove his boots and pants. He said he did, and Kitchens searched them, then asked for the keys to Davis's truck. Davis said he told Kitchens the keys were locked in the truck because he had been so nervous when they arrested them. Kitchens then let him return to his cell.

"The next morning, about 7:30, we asked the officer who brought our breakfast if we could get out," Davis said. "They had told us we would only be in jail for five hours for public drunkenness.

"But the officer said, 'Well, Mr. Davis, with all that marijuana they found in your front seat, I don't think they're gonna let you out,"" Davis said.

"And I asked him what he was talking about. And he told me they

my truck," Davis said. Davis said that once he and Jackson had posted bond and went out to his truck, which had been driven to the station by Kitchens, he found his vent window broken. Davis and Jackson were arraigned at a hearing in City Court on Jan. 30, where they were found guilty after testimony by the three arresting officers.

According to their attorney, Duncan Lott, the case will now be appealed. And, Davis said, a suit will be filed charging Kitchens with damaging Davis's truck and planting the two bags of marijuana that were found in it.

"I will file suit for slander, libel and defamation of character." Davis said.

When advised of Davis's accusations, Capt. Kitchens said, "All I can say is it's a lie.

"They had some whiskey sour in their vehicle. They had a concealed weapon, which was a nine millimeter automatic, and a pair of brass knucks. And they had several empty beer bottles in the back of the truck, were driving in a reckless manner, and the Jackson boy was passed out when Officer Chaffin stopped the vehicle," Kitchens said.

"The one driving, Davis, registered .09 on the intoxilizer, which was almost DUI (.10)," he added.

"I've worked in law enforcement about three years now. And I've never planted anything on anybody. Whenever I've caught them and charged them with possession of anything, it was because they had it," Kitchens said.

"The marijauna we found in Davis' truck weighed one-and-ahalf ounces, I believe it was. And he's been bound over to the action of the grand jury on illegal possession of marijuana.'

Kitchens said the marijuana was found during the initial search of the truck prior to the two men's arrest. "James Pennington found it over on the passenger side of the pickup, in under the seat," he said. 'Ramada Inn' on it. And, when he opened it, there were two bags of marijuana there.

"And Officer Chaffin found a nine millimeter Browning automatic and a pair of knucks under the seat on the driver's side," Kitchens said. "I don't know about it being an antique. But it had a clip pushed up in the grip. And the clip was loaded. All you'd have to do was just pull the thing back and eject one into the chamber," he said.

Kitchens said that since the inciden, Chaffin has retired from the police force. "He was just temporary down here for a while," Kitchens said. Pennington was not available for comment prior to press time.

"But I believe I can speak for the whole police department," Kitchens said. "And we've never planted any marijuana, any liquor or anything else on anybody. Anytime they've been caught, it's been in their possession, or they wouldn't have been charged."

He said Chaffin initially began following Davis and Jackson because, "they were driving in a reckless manner."

Sheriff's Report

BIBLE QUESTION BOX

QUESTION: Mr. Hogland, I read in a paper called the Christian Chronicle, I believe July issue 1983 that a certain church in St. Louis was having a homecoming weekend and the planned activities included homecoming dinner, fireworks and a homemade ice cream fellowship. Does the word fellowship include ice cream and dinner?

WARD HOGLAND

ANSWER: The word fellowship as used in the New Testament comes from two Greek words, koinonia and metoche. These two words are translated fellowship, communion, partakers communication, partner etc. In answering your question this word "fellowship" was never used to describe social events such as ice cream suppers etc. It is unfortunate that many people cannot keep the church work separated from individual work. The word "fellowship" as used in the New Testament does not include either social or recreational activities. These things should be done by the individual and the home rather than the church. In (1 Tim. 5) Paul said "let not the church be charged." Too many people take money out of the church treasury for almost everything.

Let The Bible Answer

Charles W. Leonard

Hill's Chapel Church Of Christ ROUTE 5, BOX 271 — BOONEVILLE, MISS.

HOW CAN WE KNOW THE WAY?

Jesus sought to prepare His disciples for the time when He would go back to the Father. The disciples failed to understand where He was going and the way of His return to the Father. Because of this lack of understanding, Thomas raised the question, " . . . how can we know the way?" A number of things are implied in that question.

ONE CAN KNOW THE WAY TO HEAVEN. Some seem to think that we grasp for, seek for, and look for, but can never know for sure the way to Heaven. The Bible teaches that it is possible for one to understand the will of the Lord that reveals the way to Heaven. (Eph. 3:4, Eph. 5:17) We can know the truth that will make one free. (John 8:32) It is possible to know the doctrine that reveals the way. (John 7:17) The way to Heaven is not something elusive or uncertain; one can know the way.

IT TAKES EFFORT ON THE PART OF MAN TO UNDERSTAND THE WAY TO HEAVEN. Study is necessary in order for one to be able to rightly divide the word of truth. (2 Tim. 2:15) People of the past and present have misapplied the scriptures. (John 5:39) Study is essential if one is to be ready to give a reason of the hope. (1 Peter 3:15) Effort is necessary to produce adequate proof for all things. (1 Thess. 5:21) One must put forth effort in order to know the way to Heaven.

THERE IS A WAY TO HEAVEN. Man does not possess the ability to determine the way. (Jer. 10:23) The way that seems right unto man is the way that leads to death. (Prov. 14:12) There are not many ways, but only one way that leads to Heaven. (John 14:6) The way to Heaven is through Jesus Christ. (John 14:6) The way that leads to Heaven is described as narrow with only few that find it. (Matt. 7:13-14) Teaching is necessary before one can know the way. (John 6:44-45) The way that leads to Heaven is described as the way of Holiness. (Isa. 35:8) One who travels the way of Holiness, must be in Christ and live a new life. (2 Cor. 5:17, Rom. 6:3-4) Faithfulness is required on the part of those making the journey. (Rev. 2:10) God determines the way to Heaven and unless one follows His will, he cannot expect to reach Heaven.

It is possible for one to know what God requires of those who travel the way of Holiness. When one learns of, believes, and obeys the Lord, he is on the way that leads to Heaven. It is possible for one to know and travel the way that ultimately leads to Heaven. Do you know and are you traveling the way that leads to Heaven?

Burton First To Organize Neighborhood Watch Program

The Burton community is the first in Prentiss County to organize a neighborhood watch program, according to Sheriff W.V. Horn.

But other communities, such as Cairo, Marietta, and Hill's Chapel, are also in the process of organizing neighborhood watches, he said.

Horn has also met with members of the Jacinto Neighborhood Watch because Prentiss Countians live in the area it covers.

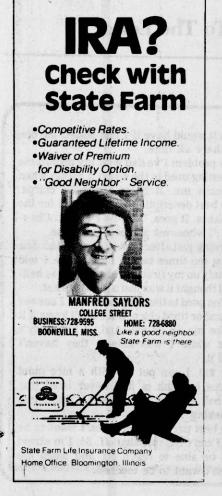

The Burton community held its first meeting at the old Burton School Jan. 19, with Horn and 5th District Constable Tommy Smith. The second meeting was held at Carter's Fabric Jan. 24, at which time dues were paid and signs were ordered.

Memberships in the Burton neighborhood watch are $5 and $5 for a Neighborhood watch sign.

Officers elected were Jerry Frederick, president; Charles Cummingham, vice-president; Horace McCombs, secretary; and Aaron Carter, treasurer.

Neighborhood Watch signs were put up in the Burton community Saturday, Feb. 4. More signs are available for those who wish to purchase them.

The Burton Community Watch patrols the area 24 hours a day and seven days a week.

"We are in contact with the Prentiss and Tishomingo County Sheriff's Department. We hope with this watch we can help cut down on crime in Prentiss County," Frederick said.

Those wishing to join the Burton Neighborhood Watch program should contact any of the officers for more information.

Sheriff Horn said that anyone interested in beginning a watch program in a community may contact him for help in getting the watch organized.

A meeting concerning the Hills Chapel neighborhood watch program will be held tonight, Feb. 9, at 7 p.m. at the Hills Chapel School.

Paul Bonds told the board there was a problem with dogs running loose in packs in the Hatchie Street area. The board suggested the mayor "try to find a part-time dogcatcher."

In other business, the board approved a taxi stand to be operated by Stanley J. Harris, and appointed Perry Jackson and Joe Shackleford as full-time police officers.

The matter of appointing a new school board member was tabled until the next recess meeting.

Computers

At Vo-Tech

Farmers in Prentiss County recently took to computers with renewed vim, vigor and vitality because they are aware of the need of training, and the necessity of putting farm records on computers.

The Intensive Business Training and Cooperative Vocational Office Training instructors cooperated with the Vocational Agricultural Adult Technician in offering computer training to local farmers.

computer training to local farmers.

The course, "Microcomputer Business Applications in Agriculture," was taught by Vocational Business Instructors, Laura W. Cartwright and Willie Frances Rutherford. The Vo-Ag Adult Technician, Ken Geno, talked to local farmers, and spread the word about the class.

For hands-on use by the local farmers taking the course were the 13 microcomputers and five printers bought cooperatively with local and vocational funds, a color computer bought by the Prentiss County FBLA Chapter, and the microcomputer and printer vocationally bought for Vo-Ag use.

Two Intensive Business Training students and Prentiss County FBLA members, Keith Smith and Mark Johnson, assisted with the instruction. Johnny Allen, Agriculture Instructor at Northeast Mississippi Junior College, assisted with the technical agriculture problems.

"It was an excellent experience for teachers and students alike," according to Mrs. Cartwright. The farmers and their wives learned simple BASIC programming; how to figure loans and discounts with microcomputer help; and how to analyze their farm needs. They found out about all the programs available through the Computer Applications and Services Department in the Cooperative Extension Service at Mississippi State University.

They ended the two weeks of training by going through the Recordkeeping Program especially designed for farm use.

B-I Wins Ad Awards

The Banner-Independent advertising department, Kay Parr and Sue Dillard, were recently awarded 1st place for best retail sales promotion and an honorable mention for best special section. The awards were presented during the annual Mississippi Press Association Better Newspaper Contest awards banquet.

The first place award was for the Banner's annual Bride's Section and the honorable mention was for the election tabloid. The newspaper competed with other weekly newspapers who had a circulation of 4,501 and above.

QUESTION: Do you think President Reagan will be

JOAN ENGLISH of Route 3, Rienzi: "I hope not. My husband is a trucker and the business just isn't anything like it was before and I think that's because of Reagan."

ALLEN STEPHENS of Route 4, Tupelo: "It's going to be hard to keep him out. I'd rather they wouldn't re-elect him. But if he's in office, it's hard to get him out."

VERNEAL TURNER of Route 2. Rienzi: "It's hard to say if he will be reelected. I don't think he has gotten the credit he should have gotten for his tries. I'd vote for him. I think he's made an honest effort.

BOBBIE JONES of Route 7, Booneville: "I think he will. I hope so. I think he's made a good president."

FELICIA SPRAGIN of Route 1. Shannon: "Yes, because I think he's a good president and knows how to handle the economy."

The Banner-Independent is really "uptown"

Perhaps I should say we're 'more' uptown. Afterall the office is located on Main Street. What I'm really trying to say is that now we have a microwave. For all I know everyone reading this has one, too. But for us, this is really a luxury and something we're very proud of. When our publisher gave his mother a new microwave for Christmas he told us we could have her old microwave. (I hope this isn't the first she has heard about it). Last Thursday he delivered the much talked about microwave to the office.

I think the main reason he brought the microwave here was in hopes that we would stop saying things like "If only we had a microwave. There's so much we could cook." Then we would name over all the delicious cuisine we would prepare if we had a microwave at our fingertips.

In fact, if anyone had heard the way we talked about how much food we would cook if we had a microwave, they would have thought we were going to sell food in addition to newspapers.

So now we have a microwave. And you would think that we would have prepared several mouth-watering meals by now.

If I have counted correctly, we have used the microwave to warm three cups of water. (Now you know why I'm so full of hot air -- I drink hot water). Actually we warmed the three cups of water just to make sure we could properly operate the microwave.

Now that we definitely know how it operates, I think that Norma, Kay, Sue, Shirley, and Suzann should prepare the rest of us hard-working and hungry people something delicious to eat. And it would be nice if they would prepare enough so that our readers could drop in and partake of the

I haven't told my fellow employees about my idea, but I have a feeling they will have something to say about it. And it may not be what I want to hear.

But I'm not giving up on us. We are really proud of this microwave and I think that one day one of us will get brave and prepare some food in

In the meantime if you drive by the office and you smell something burning, don't call the fire department. It will probably be me cooking water in the microwave.

Legislative Report

Medicaid Funding Legislators' Main Concern

By Buly McCoy State Representative

The Legislative week of Jan. 30 saw the major committees hard at work sorting through proposed bills.

A major issue that came up in subcommittee last week dealt with the utility assessments in your county ad valorem or property taxes. The ways and means committee received a two-day briefing from the State Tax Commission on the best way to handle this process. The committee must continue to study this measure until they have resolved the problems of setting assessment ratios for the different classes of property. In other words the Legislature is now charged with the responsibility of setting the percentage which will be multiplied times the appraised value of your property to get the assessed value on which you must pay taxes.

By mid-week statewide publicity on the conditions of the State Mental Hospital at Whitfield prompted a large delegation of House members to visit the facility. The trip was organized in order that Representatives might see first-hand the conditions and practices at the Hospital, and have a better understanding as to the level of funding needed to maintain the Hospital and properly care for the patients. No doubt the trip was quite beneficial for all Legislators who went, and should result in Mental Health receiving a very high priority on the appropriations list.

Another health-related area received much attention last week -Medicaid Funding. For many years, the Legislature has been forced to make additional appropriations (deficits) to cover the cost of Medicaid programs for our senior citizens and those needing health care assistance. In the five years I have served in the Legislature Mississippi's share of the medicaid program has risen from 48 million to the present 90 million which we are being asked to fund finish this fiscal year which ends June 30.

Rising health care cost and a sizable pullback of federal funds have brought a cutback in services to the Medicaid recipients. The Medicaid Commission has ordered cuts effective Feb. 1 on nursing home days paid for per month, doctor visits per year, number of prescriptions filled per month, as well as others. These cuts came despite an extra 10 million dollars appropriated by the Legislature last November.

We are now considering an additional 4 million dollars appropriation in order that further cuts will not be made.

The 4 million dollar bill passed the Senate, and the House Health Committee, but lost by 1 vote - 15 to 16 - in the House Appropriations Committee. As a member of that committee I voted yes for the additional funding.

Other efforts will be made to pass the additional 4 million dollar fun-

Senate Considers Bills Of Local Interest

By Dr. John White State Senator

Senators, beginning their second month of work in the 1984 Legislative session, approved this week the first general bill - a bill allowing boards of supervisors, at their discretion, to authorize county employees to dig graves for county residents for a fee.

The bill seeks to legalize a practice which has been commonplace for years in many counties, but which new State Auditor Ray Mabus recently said was illegal. It passed in the Senate 32-19 after a two-hour debate. It now goes to the House of Representatives for consideration.

The bill does not affect the law which already allows counties to pay for burial of paupers and strangers found dead in the county. We who favored the bill said that the intent of the legislation was to allow supervisors, at their discretion, to determine policies in their districts regarding grave-digging. The bill does not require counties to dig graves, but does give them the op-

After last week's bad news that the state treasury had $12 million less than thought, legislators got some good news this week. Sales tax collections reported in January for December showed a sizable increase after months of continually falling short of projections. This week the Senate released to the House of Representatives the $4 million emergency appropriation bill for the Mississippi Medicaid Co... mission after learning that the Budget Commission froze some $6 million in appropriations for building projections not deemed critical at this time.

Several hundred new bills have been introduced thus far during the session. The following are a few introduced recently which might be of interest to our district. (The bill number is in parentheses).

Hunting - A bill to provide that it shall be unlawful to hunt or shoot within 150 feet of the right-of-way of a public highway or interstate railroad. (S.B. 2318).

Prisoners - A bill to authorize the Mississippi Department of Corrections to provide for the working of offenders on road construction and repair projects of the State Highway Department (S.B.

Homestead Exemption - A bill to eliminate the requirement for filing annual renewal applications for Homestead Exemption if there has been no change in the status of the homestead property (S.B. 2266). Lottery - A bill to provide for the establishment and operation of a state lottery and to provide that the State Tax Commission shall administer the state lottery (S.B. 2209).

Letters

Dear Editor:

"Neither sleet, nor snow, nor rain, nor storm . . ." can deter the bureaucratic postal authorities from building a new post office on Highway 45 North, in Booneville. I was not really surprised at the news release in the January 26th issue of the BANNER-INDEPENDENT which stated that the final selection was the one originally picked. It is now evident that no consideration was ever given to any other site. It further indicates that those in authority are insensitive to the needs and unresponsive to the desires of the public which they are employed to serve. Such is often true when there is no competition nor are they accountable to those whom they serve. The public has no recourse and they are aware of it.

Although the postal authorities condesended to meet with concerned postal patrons, at which time several objections to the proposed site were raised, all of these were of no consequences. This indicated to me that time, expense, possible property damage and personal injury, and even loss of life in getting to the post office are likewise of no consequence to those in command as they serve all the patrons, and not just a few. Consider the few patrons within walking distance of the Highway 45 location as compared to those who now walk to the present facility. Thru traffic is sure to appreciate the beautiful new edifice as they try to negotiate the post office bound traffic with it's left turns and backed up lanes. Perhaps they will even stop and take a look at the corner stone.

Although the public was permitted to submit additional properties and several desirable locations were submitted, none of these were "suitable" because of size, shape and location. To be sure that no other location would meet the requirements, it was determined that an additional 10,000 square feet would be needed for parking. I agree that once we all get there, we will need a place to park.

My conscience is clear; I have tried to point out certain consequences which could result from such a facility being located in a congested area which is already dangerous. Although I know of no legal responsibility for such decisions, the knowledge that an act of such apparent unconcern had brought about the loss of property or life would be punishment within it-

ellanaging Editor

So far I haven't run into any difficulties with the new phone situation. But, of course, I've only had my new phone about three weeks.

In case you're wondering, I didn't lease my phone from AT&T. Since I had just recently moved in I didn't have one that had been there all

And I didn't buy one from AT&T, either. First of all, I wouldn't have bought one from them if it had been there all along. Who wants to buy a used telephone. And I couldn't see paying so much that I would be forced to call a repairman whenever it broke down so I could protect my investment.

What I bought was a "disposable" phone. me for Christmas. But a "disposable" phone was what I was planning to buy when I got around to it, anyway. Getting one for Christmas just Both installation and monthly service are pretty reasonable when you already have a phone and the outlets to jack it into, because all the installer has to do is hook things up at the pole, and all you pay for is the monthly service fee and long distance charges.

But what, you ask, is a "disposable" phone? Elementary. A disposable phone is what I consider to be the wave of the future for the average person who has to watch his pennies, and even for a person of means who plans to stay

A disposable phone is like one of those they are giving away with Time Magazine subscriptions when you dial 1-800-257-1234. It's one piece, solid state, has push-buttons, and it redials itself when you get a busy signal. And best of all, it only costs about $10.

That's why I call it a disposable phone. After three months without lease charges it has paid for itself. Then, if it ever breaks down, I hast throw it away and buy another one. Even if it only lasts three months, it didn't cost me any more than it would have if I had leased the one that was there all time.

The only problem I've had with my disposable phone is getting used to the sound it makes when someone calls me. It doesn't ring...It chirps. That's the best description I can think of for the sound it makes. It goes, "Chr-r-r-r-r-r-p...Chr-rr-r-r-rp..," whenever someone calls me.

One morning just after I got it, Sara called. She said it rang ten times before I answered. I told her I was only on my first cup of coffee, was half-asleep and thought it was just a giant cricket. I've gotten used to the chirp now. And I answer on the second or third chirp. But I don't know if it would wake me up or not. And, if any body's called me while I was asleep, they haven't mentioned it.

But, for $10, I can put up with a nice quiet chirp. Come to think of it, I never liked that irritating bell anyway. My cricket is much less nerve-wracking.

And the best part is, when I don't want to be bothered, I can even turn that off. So, I'm afraid you won't be able to reach out and touch me when I don't want to be touched.

WHAT SCOUTING MEANS TO ME ... -- Some of the Cub Scouts and Boy Scouts who took time out this week to describe what being in Scouting means to them are Todd Jones, Bryan Saylors, Nathan McCoy, Eddie Swartz, Brad Russell, Mackie Barnes, Dan Moore, Stephen Christian, Brad De Vaughn and Mitchell Haden.

'What Scouting Means To Me'

I like all of it. I like the events that take place during the year. Here are some of them: camping, olympics, fun games, and craftwork. I like going to the pack meeting and the den meetings. There are Father and son events like hiking and fishing, boating and sometimes swimming at the park. I also like to earn badges. And out of all of this I hope that you figured out that scouting is fun! Brad Russell

Den 3 Pack 37

I like scouting because we learn lots of things about camping, and we also learn things that will someday save someone's life.

We go camping at least once a month and everyone looks forward to the jamborees, and the week in summer when we go to summer camp. During these camp-outs we learn to do things and earn skill awards and Merit Badges. I personally think that every child in the U.S. should be in Scouts. Dan Moore

Troop 79

Scouting is a great program. Boys get to compete mentally and physically with others. They learn how to share and care unselfishly. Scouting helps boys develop a good personal attitude as well as a good attitude towards others. Todd Jones Troop 37

Scouting Celebrates Anniversary

Feb. 5-11 has been designated Scouting's 74 Anniversary Week. An estimated 345 Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts and Exployers are expected to participate in various activities in Prentiss County this week.

Scouting is not only emphasized during Scout Week, but throughout the year. In Prentiss County alone, there are 13 Tiger Cubs, 104 Cub Scouts, 108 Boy Scouts, and 120 Exployers. These youths participate in activities such as the Pinewood Derby, the annual Scout Show, summer camp, camporees, weekly meetings, ski weekends, and many other

The following describe how some Prentiss County Scouts feel about Scouting.

Anyone interested in the Scouting program, should contact Jim Russnogle, district executive of the Prentiss County area, at 287-0154.

Since I have been in the Cub Scouts I have learned to respect my leaders (Akelas) and to love my flag and country. Cub Scouts keeps me straight and nice. I haven't been in the Scouts long but I love it so far. I have a great Den Mother (Janice Geno) that I like a lot, our meetings are fun and exciting. But the most important thing that I like best are my friends in the pack. The main thing that I have learned from Cub Scouts is to do my best in everything I do. Macky Barnes Pack 92

I think Scouting is one of the best past-times a boy can have. The exposure to outdoor life, and survival techniques. These things have helped me develop a better outlook on life and have helped me develop a better moral standard. Brad DeVaughn

Scouting program offers fitness,

Troop 37

I like making the pinewood derby car with my Daddy. Wearing my suit and going on field trips are fun. I like to earn badges. I like my den leader because she is my Mama. I like getting my Boys Life magazine. I like my whole den. But I like two million more things but I'll just say I like everything about cub scouts. Nathan McCoy

Den 1 Pack 107

Scouting is a great opportunity for fun and adventure. Scouting can be a key in a boy's life that can open the door to learn many skills. To help him become a better citizen and to serve God and our country. Mitchell Hayden Troop 92

What scouting means to me is getting to do more things and having more fun. I want to be an Eagle Scout just like my brother Keith. You get to go camping and hiking and make a lot of stuff. I am in the Webeloo now and having a lot of fun. I am looking forward to being a Boy Scout. Bryan Saylors Troop 96

I enjoy Scouting mainly because I enjoy camping, hiking, backpacking, and many other activities that scouts take part in. I enjoy Scouting because it gives me a chance to learn many skills from knot tying and first aid to archery and wilderness survival. Scouting teaches one how to be a true out-

But Scouting teaches more than how to be a true outdoorsman. Scouting teaches a boy leadership and self-reliance. The Scout motto is "Be Prepared" and the Scout slogan is "Do a Good Turn Daily. But most of all, Scouting teaches that a Scout is "Reverent" toward God and faithful in his religious duties. A Scout will always respect the beliefs of others.

Scouting is fun and rewarding. Stephen Christian Troop 96

I really like cub scouting. It is real fun. You get to go to a lot of places. Sometimes you get to play outside. Most of the time we get to be in the Christmas parade. Sometimes we get to camp in the backyard. I am working on the bear book. There are fun things to do in the bear book. It is time for pine wood derby. You can style them any way you want. They're fun! I tell you need to be in Cub Scouts too. Eddie Swartz

December Wedding In Arkansas For Miss Smith And Mr. Nelson

The First Baptist Church in Wilson, Ark., was the setting for the afternoon wedding ceremony of Beverly Kay Smith and John Weldon Nelson, Saturday, Dec. 17.

The Rev. Ed Pope, pastor of the church, officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Smith of Wilson, Ark. Her grandparents are Mrs. Ona Jones of Osceola, Ark., formerly of Booneville, and the late S.B. Jones, Mrs. Edith Smith and the late Ed Smith. She is the greatgranddaughter of the late Myrtle Lambert of Booneville.

The groom is the son of Mrs. Ruth Nelson Bond of Golden Lake Plantation, Wilson, and the late Robert Howard Nelson.

Nuptial music was presented by John Dresbach, and Cathy Cox,

Keith Smith, brother of the bride, and Neil Nelson, newphew of the groom, were acolytes

Attending the bride as maid of honor was Pat Wilson of Joiner. She wore a red satin dress and carried a bouquet of white roses.

Other attendents were Donna Slaton, and Lauren Beith of Wilson, and Dana Whitney of Osceola. They carried bouquets of single white April Sutton, cousin of the bride, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Middleton of Osceola, served as flower girl.

The ringbearer was Brad Clemons, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Clemons of Wilson.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of white organza, styled with a Victorian neckline with embroidered yoke accented with French Chantilly lace and pearls. The same lace trimmed the full skirt and chapel-length train. Her chapellength veil fell from a lace Juliet cap trimmed with pearls.

She carried a cascade bouquet of white tube roses and rose buds accented with greenery.

Steve Nelson served his brother as best man. Ushers were Jimmy Spurlock of Wilson, Sam Durham of Pineville, Ky., Frank Eaves of East Prairie, Mo., and Keith Smith, brother of the bride, of Wilson.

The mother of the bride wore a street-length dress of green satin. The groom's mother wore a blue street-length dress of chiffon. Both wore corsages of white rosebuds and Christmas greenery.

The grandmothers of the bride also wore corsages of white rosebuds.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Wilson Cooperative Club.

Hostesses were Eva Middleton, Diane Ralph, Renella Clemmons, and Lena Whitney. Mrs. Larry Wamble presided at the bride's book.

Rice bags were distributed by Kristal Slaughter, cousin of the

During the reception John Dresbach provided Christmas music at the piano.

Following a wedding trip to Memphis, the couple are residing at Golden Lake Plantation in Wilson where the groom farms. The bride is employed by Lee Fergus, Attorney at Law, in Osceola.

County Agent's Notes

By CLIFFORD J. HAMPTON County Agent

February and early March are the usual times for applying nitrogen to winter annual pastures. These include ryegrass, small grains, annual clovers and mixtures. Where a good stand of clover is grown with the grasses, nitrogen may be reduced or omitted depending on how much nitrogen the clovers supply.

With all the cold weather damage to these forages, many questions have risen concerning sources of nitrogen to use and timing of application. The answer is not always simplė.

The most common sources of nitrogen for forages include solid ammonium nitrate, solid urea, and solutions of ammonium nitrate and Ammonium nitrate usually contains 32 to 34 percent nitrogen with about equal amount of ammonium and nitrate nitrogen. Solid urea contains 45 to 46 percent nitrogen. The solution contain 28 to 32 percent nitrogen with about equal amounts of ammonim nitrate and urea nitrogen. Nitrate is the main form of nitrogen used by forages and most other plants, with only very small amounts of ammonium nitrogen being used. Therefore, regardless of source, the nitrogen must be converted to nitrate before the plants can utilize it.

The nitrate in ammonium nitrate is ready to be taken up by the plant. However, it is the most leachable form. The ammonium generally converts to nitrate over a four to six week period.

Urea is highly water soluble and like nitrate moves freely with the soil water. However, in warm moist soil urea converts rapidly to ammonium carbonate by the enzyme urease. Ammonium carbonate is very unstable and decomposes rapidly to ammonia, carbon dioxide, and water. If this takes place near the soil surface, nitrogen will escape into the atmosphere as ammonia, because it is a gas under standard conditions of temperature

In general, when conditions are right for active growth each source of nitrogen will produce a good plant growth. However, a lot of dead inactive grass will contain considerable amounts of the urease enzyme and increase losses from the urea sources of nitrogen may be expected. With these conditions, the solid form of urea will be more efficient than liquid urea since the prills will make less contact with the enzyme contained in dead grass. Dribbing the liquids and knifing in urea sources are ways to reduce urea contact and resulting

Recently limed and high pH soils have also produced losses from urea. In the conversion, some of the ammonia escapes to the atmosphere since the soil is saturated with calcium and, therefore, cannot absorb ammonia efficiently. Therefore, it might be best when possible to stick with ammonium nitrate on recently limed or high pH

Efficiency and cost per unit of nitrogen are other factors to consider when determining nitrogen sources. Ease and cost of application should also be taken into account.

ASCS News

By C.E. CALVERT County Executive Director

To encourage more farmers to reduce soil erosion and improve natural resources, USDA recently broadened the scope of the Agricultural Conservation Program to include funding for a long-term conservation project for cropland taken out of production by the 1984 acreage reduction programs.

Farm program participants will be encouraged to practice good conservation management on their entire farm by following a conservation plan. We have a responsibility to continue conservation efforts and to examine the extent to which commodity programs contribute to poor conservation practices by encouraging production on fragile land.

The experimental project will share 90 percent of the cost of planting trees and grass on highly erodible land.

The new program will allow farmers to retire highly erodible land for 5 years if seeded to grass, and at least 10 years if planted to trees. The acres under the project also will be eligible for any acreage reduction plan through 1985.

Other USDA agencies involved in the program are the Soil Conservation Service, Forest Service, Extension Service and the Economic Research Service.

The acreage conservation reserve program is expected to provide with long-term conservation objectives. It will give USDA and the Congress an opportunity to evaluate the landowner's willingness to make a long-term commitment to retire highly erodible land instead of planting crops on it.

ASCS Conducts Sign-Up

The Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service began accepting applications for the 1984 wheat, feed grain, cotton and rice acreage reduction programs on Jan. 16. The sign-up period closes Feb. 24.

Farmers who meet the acreage reduction requirements are eligible for price support loans and target price protection.

The acreage reduction programs assure farmers a greater net profit per acre. For example, the average wheat program participant would net from $2.50 to $19 more per acre than the nonparticipant, depending on yields and market prices.

By participating in the programs, farmers minimize the possibility of a return to excess supply situations and low prices. They can control their own destiny by working together to reduce planted acreage and production to maintain a level of the stocks in line with market demand.

The 1984 commodity programs also provide farmers:

protection against weather

 conservation on portions of their cropland,

- maximum efficiency in use of land, machinery, labor and agricultural chemicals, and

-- increased crop insurance coverage for wheat program participants.

Under the acreage reduction programs, farmers are required to take out of production at least 30 percent of their wheat base, 10 percent of their feed grains and extra long staple cotton bases, and 25 percent of their upland cotton and rice bases. Cross compliance between programs is not required. Those who enroll in the wheat program may divert an additional 10 to 20 percent of their wheat base and receive payment-in-kind equal to 75 percent of the established yield. Farmers can work together through the acreage reduction programs to help improve crop prices and protect themselves from economic disasters.

PIK Commodities to Count Against $50,000 Payment Limitation in 1984

The value of commodities received by a farmer as paymentin-kind compensation in 1984 will be added to other program benefits in determining whether the farmer has reached the statutory $50,000 payment limitation applicable to commodity programs, a U.S. Department of Agriculture official said recently.

C. Hoke Leggett, associate administrator of USDA's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, said the PIK compensation would be figured in with cash diversion and deficiency payments in arriving at the $50,000 payment

USDA on Jan. 4, asked for comments by Jan. 13 on proposed PIK program regulations for 1984. USDA evaluated comments submitted by the public and decided the proposed rule would be issued as a final rule with no changes.

Wheat is the only crop for which a payment-in-kind program has been announced for 1984.

> Pre-Measurement Service Available

The Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service provides premeasurement and other producer services to assure farmers that they are in compliance with 1984 acreage reduction requirements and eligible for program benefits.

At the request of the producer, we will stake and measure acreages before crop planting time. Farmers are required to plant within the stakes that are placed when the land is measured and to report their crop acreages to our office when planting in completed.

To be eligible for price support loans, target prices and other program benefits, producers must certify actual planted acreages. Pre-measurement is important in helping farmers plan which land to devote to the acreage conservation reserve and which fields to plant.

Other ASCS producer services include measuring total cropland, field or subdivisions to be planted and land areas for other purposes. Fees vary, based on the type of service rendered. Pre-measured acreage is guaranteed for the program year and producers who take advantage of the service will avoid unnecessary worry over the possible loss of 1984 farm program

In order to service the requests on a timely basis, farmers are encouraged to apply early.

By ROBERT THORNTON County Forester

The term "debris burn" to some means a simple trash or garbage fire, a rather insignificant task routinely carried out.

A debris burn that gets away, however, can mean devastation, and believe us when we tell you: a debris burn can get away in less time than it takes you to go in the house for a drink of water. We've seen the results to too many "little" fires that become forest fires when they were left unattended even for a few minutes. High winds, dry fuel or simple neglect -- no matter what the reason the fire got away, the results are the same.

A fire that gets away is capable of consuming anything in its path: vehicles, houses, outbuildings. livestock and, yes, occasionally even people. Never take this type of fire lightly, because it has a very real potential for disaster.

Once you set a fire to burn trash,

A debris fire that spreads to the property of another becomes illegal, and the person who sets the fire faces criminal and-or civil liability. Penalties for such an offense can include a fine, a jail term, or both. Offenders are also liable for financial restitution to the owner whose property is damaged.

Fires caused by neglected debris burns are pretty common in Prentiss County and are responsible for the destruction of a good many acres of woodlands and other property each year. A few commonsense rules can sharply curtail the number and severity of these fires: 1. Never burn on a windy day when conditions are excessively

2. When burning your routine trash, use a metal container placed a safe distance from the house. Remove all burnable materials within 15 feet of the container. If you burn leaves or other relatively small amounts of debris without a container, make sure your burn area is no more than three feet in diameter, and maintain the 15-foot clearance mentioned above.

3. When burning large amounts of debris, such as burning off a field, a brush pile or windrow, contact the Forestry Commission before you burn. This way, we will know your fire location and, should it burn out of control, can reach you faster to suppress the fire.

4. Always keep an eye on your fire until it is completely out, or until, in the case of large brush piles or windrows, you are reasonably certain that any threat of it escaping is past. Following these few rules will greatly reduce the chance that you will become a victim of an uncontrolled fire. Remember, an escaped debris fire can become a "monster" and cause you a lot of regret. Don't let it happen to you!.

Nationally, Mississippi ranks 18th in terms of total national forest acreage (1,118,000 acres). Idaho has the most, with 10,731,000

Home Economist's Notes

By PATTY K. ROBINSON Extension Home Economist

I know that many home gardeners are concerned about winter injury to evergreen landscape plants. An Extension Landscape Specialist offers the following information for assessing winter damage on landscape plants.

Harsh winter weather has damaged landscape plants. Plants of borderline hardiness have suffered freeze damage. These include Azaleas, Ligustrum, Pittosporum, Sweet Olive, evergreen Viburnum, and banana shrub. Hardy species such as hollies, Nandinas, and Euonymous have foliage burn caused by freezing and drying. In both cases, the degree of injury depends on these factors: (1) area of the state, (2) health of the plant prior to winter and (3) exposure in the landscape. Here are recommendations to assess damage and groom shrubs for spring.

- Look for split bark caused by freezing. The bark cracks and peels away or will slough off as you rub the twig between your fingers. These limbs are dead.

- Scratch thin bark with your thumbnail or knife. Look at the color of the tissue just beneath the bark. If the bark is bright spring green, tissue is alive and will be alright. If tissue is brown, gray, black or dark olive green, there has been winter injury and tissue may be dead.

- Brown foliage is dead and will absciss (fall off). If stem tissue is green with no split bark, plants will put out new foliage in the spring. They will look naked until then.

-- Wait until the plant has had time to green-up in spring before you do any pruning. You can tell what tissue is dead and alive much better by spring. Then prune dead or damaged limbs as soon as they are identified. This will help prevent and control disease problems which could otherwise develop on dead or weakened tissue. Stem tips on hollies and boxwood can be pruned earlier since a clear and definite margin of dead and live tissue can be easily

- Do not over-fertilize winter damage plants. This can cause root damage and will stress the plant. Use equivalent of 1/2 to 3/4 pound actual nitrogen and potash per 1000 square feet planting area. Use "slow-release" fertilizer materials if available.

- Mulch plants with 4"-6" of organic material such as pine straw, bark or rice compost. Water plants as needed from May through next November. Apply equivalent of 1" of water to plants each week there is not adequate rainfall (about 1"). Preventing drought stress will be critical for damaged plants, but avoid over-watering.

- Be prepared and expect some plants (apparently now looking okay) to suffer and even die when the first hot weather arrives in midto late May.

- The most important factor in preventing winter injury is avoiding drought stress from mid-August through November. So, use mulch and water as needed. This assures a deep, vigorous root system on the plant as winter arrives.

- New plants to be added to the garden should be hardy for your zone-area of the state. Use publication 666 "Selecting Landscape Plants" as a guide. Ask your local Extension agent for a free

For detailed information on pruning, ask your local Extension agent for a copy of "Pruning Landscape Plants," I.S. 204.

4-H News

By WANDA L. ROBINSON 4-H Program Assistant

Teenagers make decisions everyday that will have lasting effects on their future. Whether to get an after-school job, go to college, play a school sport or study for an exam can be greatly determined by a teenager's peers.

One of the most important decisions a teenager can make about his health is whether to smoke cigarettes. Peers can pressure their friends to smoke with common excuses like:

- Cigarette smoking is harmful only if a person inhales.

Cigarettes low in tar and nicotine can't harm your health. - There's nothing wrong with smoking cigarettes as long as you don't smoke too many.

- It's okay for teenagers to experiment with cigarettes if they quit before it becomes a habit.

- Teenagers who smoke regularly can quit for good any time they like.

Teenagers make decisions everyday about their health. They may eat junk foods and neglect their teeth. Others may seem extremely health conscious and exercise regularly. But whether teenagers are health conscious or not, parents are still puzzled when their teenagers smoke cigarettes.

Many boys start smoking cigarettes because most of their friends smoke or they want to be popular. Many girls start smoking cigarettes to try to attract boys. Overall, teenage smokers think they are grown-up but they really

Through the 4-H health project, teenagers learn to make wise decisions about their health.

They learn that:

not starting is easier than stopping.

- one-third of all home fires are caused by smoking.

- 80 percent of lung cancer is caused by cigarette smoking.

tobacco smoking is habitforming.

For more information about the 4-H health project or teenage smoking, contact the county Extension office at 404 East Church St., or call 728-5631, or 728-7092.

Rehabilitation Program Available To Prentiss Handicapped

By ED WOODWARD Managing Editor

Allied Enterprises is not a factory, though it now occupies a building which formerly housed a garment factory and a form of manufacturing does occur under it's roof. But Facility Manager Michael Byrd is eager to explain what Allied Enterprises is and does, especially as it relates to Prentiss Countians.

"We've been here in Corinth since 1969, and we serve Alcorn, Tishomingo and Prentiss Counties," Byrd said, adding that many people are under the impression that Allied Enterprises offers permanent employment. But, he explains, Allied "is an evaluation and training facility for persons with mental and physical disabilities."

"We're under the State Department of Rehabilitation Services," he said. "We were under the State Department of Education prior to last July 1. But a new department was created for us.

"Under rehabilitation services there are two divisions. One is the of rehabilitation, of which we are a part. And the other is disability determination," Byrd said.

"But Allied Enterprises is owned and operated by the division of vocational rehabilitation. And this facility is one of 23 statewide such operations," he said.

Allied provides two main services, Byrd explained. "One is vocational evaluation -- a system of pencil and paper tests, work samples and real work. And we use this to try to find out certain things about the clients that are referred to us, such as their potential for employment, what would be the best areas of employment for them to go into, what problems they might have in employment, what strengths they have, and what

"Then, once we complete an evaluation, we make recommendations to the referring counselor. And, from there, a client could go into training, we could recommend other services, such as mental health...We even refer some people to Social Security if we feel employment just isn't feasible for them. Or we could just recommend placement," Byrd said. "The other area of service we provide is called Personal Vocational Adjustment Training," he said, explaining that this service zeroes in on any specific problems the client may have that keep him from holding down a job, and retrains them on those specific points.

Byrd said clients are generally referred to him by another agency, though people do occassionally contact him first. And, in that case, he will send them to the right

He said the correct person to see in Prentiss County is George Oakley at the Vocational Rehabilitation Office on Highway 4 West in the building formerly occupied by Handy Dan's (908 Washington St.).

Oakley said his office is open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday, though he is usually in the Corinth office on Monday and Wednesday. But he operates by appointment, and one can be made by phoning 728-5373. But he stresses that only persons who are handicapped but still employable are eligible for the services offered by Allied Enterprises.

"What people should realize is that we work with working age people. And, when we say 'a vocational handicap,' or 'a disability,' we mean that, though he is handicapped, he is still employable with proper retraining,"

"So, we provide services to try to help that person get back into the labor market. And, of course, that can be done by a variety of services, depending on what the individual needs, from corrective surgery, to job placement or training," he said.

Once the person has gone to Oakley with medical verification of his physical or emotional handicap, and Oakley has decided that that person can be helped by the services available at Allied Enterprises, he refers them to AE.

Once at AE, the client is first evaluated by Ms. Dale Smith, AE's professional evaluator, with a battery of aptitude tests that indicate the client's strengths and weaknesses. "And a lot of things could come out of evaluation," Byrd said. "We could find that a client is not feasible for employment. And, at that point, we would try to get that person to an agency that could help them, such as a mental health program, or Social Security, whatever program we felt could help them.'

But, if the client proves employable, AE offers "real work" as a form of training, Byrd said.

"We get this work from industries around the three-county area. And I am continually out looking for contract work," he said.

Examples of the contract work done by trainees at Allied Enterprises range from construction of box spring frames for a Lee County mattress manufacturer, to recycling of file folders for a Corinth industry, and fabrication of hydraulic seals for another Corinth

According to Byrd, such 'real work" not only gives the handicapped person a new skill, it instills a feeling of self-worth, giving that person the self-confidence needed to confront the labor market.

In November, Allied Industries moved into its new building after being forced out of its Sawyer Road location, and found itself with an increas of $1800 per year in rent expense. But that problem was alleviated by $600 donations from the Boards of Supervisors in each of the three counties served by AE, community support Byrd said he appreciates very much.

And Byrd points out that his program is one of the few government programs that actually gives the taxpayer a return on his investment. Not only is it selfsupporting through work contracted by local industries, after training its clients enter the labor market and become taxpayers themselves.

"The federal government obviously considers what we do worthwhile. We were one of the few programs that suffered no funding cuts in 1983," Byrd said proudly. Allied Enterprises is funded 80 percent with federal money, and 20 percent with state money, he ex-

Byrd said one remaining problem, transportation of trainees to the Corinth facility, is on the verge of being solved thanks to approval of a grant from the Department of Energy and Transportation for a van. "Once we have that, we will at least be able to pick them up at specified points and bring them on in," he said. "One other big problem is letting handicapped people in Prentiss County know that our service exists for them. Even though our program began with veterans in 1918, and was expanded to include civilians in 1922, and we've been operating in Corinth for 15 years, most people either don't know we are here, or don't know what we do. "It's time physically and emotionally handicapped people in Prentiss County knew we are here to help them," he said. "We can't help them if they can't find us." Byrd suggested that anyone who is handicapped in any way who has been unable to obtain employment or keep a job because of that handicap should contact George Oakley, or call him at 287-1461.

FORMING PUMP SEALS -- Billy Joe Moss (Left) of the Burton Community and Billy Flanagan, Jacinto, prepare pump seals for forming at Allied Enterprises. Moss is currently undergoing retraining at AE. USDA Wheat Standards Changed

A new class of red wheat and new procedures for rounding dockage are two of the proposed changes to the U.S. wheat standards on which the U.S. Department of Agriculture is requesting comment.

"USDA is proposing to establish an eighth class of wheat, designated 'Red wheat' to enable the grain markets to determine the use and value of some of the new wheats being developed," said Kenneth A. Gilles, administrator of USDA's Federal Grain Inspection Service. The new class would apply to mixtures of the existing Soft Red Winter, Hard Red Winter and Hard Red Spring classes.

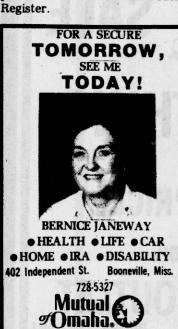

In an effort to maintain and increase exports of U.S. wheat, Gilles said USDA also is proposing a more representative and accurate method of stating dockage by revising the rounding procedures.

Currently, dockage is certificated by rounding down to the nearest whole or half percent. Thus, when wheat contains between 0.00 and 0.49 percent actual dockage, no dockage figure is shown on the certificate. Wheat containing 0.5 to 0.99 percent dockage is certificated 0.5 percent; 1.00 to 1.49 percent is certified 1.0 percent.

Under the new proposal, when the actual dockage is from zero to 0.25 percent, no dockage figure would be shown on the certificate; 0.26 to 0.75 percent would be certified as 0.5 percent 0.76 to 1.25 percent would be certificated as 1.0 percent.

Comments on the proposal should be sent, in duplicate, by March 13 to Lewis Lebakken, Jr., Information Resources Management Branch, FGIS, USDA, Room 0667-S, Washington, D.C. 20250; telephone (202) 382-1738.

The proposal is scheduled to be published in the Jan. 13 Federal Register.

OLYMPIC FLAG RAISED -- Eddie Weeks (left) general manager and coowner of the Booneville McDonald's, raised an Olympic flag in front of his store on Tuesday, Feb. 7, opening day of the 1984 Winter Olympics in Sarajevo, Yugoslavia. "This flag is a symbol of the pride every citizen of the United States has in our Olympic athletes," Weeks said. "The success of any community, business or country is due in large part to young people who set goals, work hard and sacrifice to achieve them. McDonald's salutes these young achievers with the flag we are raising today," he said. Assisting Weeks in the flag-raising are (center) Bob Morgan, who will be working at the 1984 Summer Olympics in Los Angeles, and (right) NEMJC coach Bill Ward. (Photo by Ed Woodward) both Stephen and Tagmyer insisted that is not the plan in regard to the lines being purchased from the ICG.

'That's not what we're doing here. If the ICG wanted to abandon the lines they wouldn't have sold them to us," Stephen said, explaining that Foster was spending more for the tracks than they would be worth as scrap.

The lines affected by the sale run parallel to the Tennessee-Tombigbee Waterway, serving an identical area. The main line from Corinth to Prichard, Ala., serves Prentiss County.

Booneville Mayor Charles Crabb said he has attended both the initial meeting in Meridian when the sale was announced and a subsequent meeting in Pontotoc on Jan. 19, and he feels Foster plans to operate the railroad and not scrap it.

"I imagine the ones they are talking to now are the mayors who did not attend any of the meetings,"

"But they have told us both times that they plan to run a railroad. And I guess that's all they can say now. We've had two meetings, and I made both meetings. And they have emphatically told us that they were not in it for salvage of the railroad; they were in it to run a railroad, and to make it a profitable thing, and to give better service and to put the lines into a condition that would be an asset not only to the railroad, but to the people that they serve," he representatives are sincere about planning to operate and improve the railroad. "It's my feeling they would not spend that much money on something they planned to scrap. And they haven't indicated in any way that they would do anything but run it," he said.

Crabb said he thinks the Foster

"They seem to be a reputable company. And I understand they have scrapped some lines, but they were not anything like these."

Crabb said he did not understand why some people were concerned. "The ICC will have to approve the sale anyway. And, of course, they are going to look into it. And I don't think they would approve the sale if the lines are going to be scrapped.

"Stephens emphatically said to us, 'We are here to run a railroad.' And that made me feel that's what they plan to do. And we asked him in Pontotoc, 'Will there be any area of the 700 miles shut down?' And the answer was, 'No."' Crabb said.

"They also told us that they will buy at least 30 locomotives, and the type of cars that we need and as many as was needed to meet the demand," he said.

Mayor Crabb said Booneville businesses and industries that use the railroad include H&W Industries and Caver Seed Co. "Right now. H&W is interested in a rail spur for their factory. And we have another factory in Baldwyn --Liberty Diversified - that needs a rail spur," he said.

Baldwyn Mayor Merle Rowan said he feels that, considering what Foster paid for the railroad (a reported $24 to $30 million), he does not think they would scrap it.

He said anything Foster might do to rehabilitate the line would be an improvement. "Right now we have one train each way a day. They (ICG) haven't kept their tracks up like they should. And they do not clear along the tracks or clean up along them," Rowan said.

"We've had a time with them here trying to get them to even clean up the mess inside the city limits. They always said they didn't have any money to do it with," he

Rowan said he knew of no recent meeting between area officials and Foster representatives, and he had not been personally visited by either Stephen or Tagmyer.

CB Club News

By LADY BLUE SURF

We are sorry to report that several of our club members have been sick. Thrasher Star spent five days in the hospital. Lady Termite and White Girl have had colds. Lady Treeclimber had had the flu and Lady Blue has had a catch in her back.

White Girl's mother is in ICU in Baptist Memorial with pneumonia. We hope everyone is better soon.

A roadblock for the Hilltopper family was held Saturday from 10 a.m until 2 p.m. Letterman and Pouncewheel made signs for us which we certainly appreciated. The club members braved the cold and wind for this worthy cause and lots of folks contributed. There was $1,041.91 collected.

Lady Hilltopper said she could never repay all their friends who helped in anyway, but she said to thank all of you. Blue Surf thanks everyone also.

Our social was Saturday night. Lots of folks enjoyed all the good food and fellowship. It was good to see Mrs. Songster, Kid Sister and Sunday afternoon club members met and worked on the tickets and brochures for our coffeebreak scheduled for April 14 and 15.

The Dance will be on Saturday night from 7 until 11 at West Side Community Center. Admission will be $2 for adults, children under 6 will be admitted free.

The Jamboree Sunday starts at 10 a.m. Trophies will also be presented. The public is invited. Happy birthday to White Girl and Sugar and Spice on Feb. 9, and to Lady Kingfish on the 12th. Our officer's meeting will be Feb. 16, and the business meeting will be

Feb. 21. We also worked on the roll call sheet. Several club members are behind on their dues, so please bring these up-to-date at our meeting. Some will be asked to move their unit numbers in empty

Happy anniversary to Birdhunter and Lady Birdhunter on Feb. 10. Club members are asked to review the by-laws. Those who do not attend meetings as stated, may be dropped or asked not to vote if their dues are deliquent. It has been voted upon to strictly abide by the by-laws.

Until next week, stay well, be happy, and attend the church of your choice.

Catfish Recipe Contest Is Announced By Catfish Farmers

Feb. 29 is the deadline for entering the 10th annual National Farm-Raised Catfish Cooking Contest, sponsored by the Catfish Farmers of America, according to Cathy Thompson, Contest Coordinator, Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce.

The contest will be held June 2, in the Metrocenter in Jackson, Miss. For application forms write: Cathy Thompson; National Farm-Raised Catfish Cooking Contest;

P.O. Box 34; Jackson, Miss. 39205. Five finalists will be chosen and notified in mid April. They will receive an all expense paid trip to Jackson for the contest.

First prize is $2,000.00. Other prizes are second place - $1,000.00, third place - $500.00, and two runners-up -- $250.00 each.

Recipes may be submitted for any category or type so long as farm-raised catfish is the main ingredient. Recipies will be judged on appeal of the idea, ingenuity, availability of ingredients, eye appeal of finished dish and flavor.

New Site Girls Favorites In Class BB

By SCOTT McKINNEY Sports Writer

New Site girl's head basketball coach Eddie Moreland is a man in a very good position.

Coach Moreland's Lady Royals currently sport a 19-7 record and are one of the favorites going into next week's Class BB district tourney.

This is Moreland's first year at New Site High, but he is no stranger to the area. He graduated from New Site in 1974, and his home is in the New Site community.

Moreland coached for two years in the Corinth Jr. High program before accepting the position as mentor of the Lady Royals last fall. Moreland feels good about being in his hometown and coaching at his alma matter.

"This is just like a homecoming for me," Moreland noted on being in New Site. "My home is here and I reall enjoy coaching out here."

His Lady Royals seems to enjoy his coaching, too. Sporting their impressive record, the Lady Royals are a team of hustle and high spirit. Just watching them play makes one wonder why they don't ever get tired.

Three Lady Royals are presently averaging in double-figures. Tammy Thornton, a junior guard, leads the team in scoring with nearly a 14 point average. Freshmen duo Lane Smith and Katie Caveness also are in double figures, with Smith averaging 12 points and Caveness averaging 10.

Youth is one thing the Lady Royals have plenty of. Only two seniors make up the team with the rest being underclassmen. Coach Moreland realizes that there is a future in the Lady Royal program.

"We have good, young athletes and we also have a strong junior high program," Moreland said.
"Our future looks real good right not. We can really build upon these young players."

Also, Moreland credits his girls with good team play and the ability to play a lot of them in a game. "We got pretty deep on our bench," Moreland said. "Our girls have good quickness and they are overall good atheletes."

The Lady Royals' district tournament gets underway next week at Tishomingo High School gymnasium, with the action expected to be fierce and tough. Several of the area's top teams are involved: Hatley's Lady Tigers, Baldwyn's Lady Bearcats and Belmont's Lady Cardinal's are all very tough teams.

The Lady Royals face Hamilton in their opening round game, with the winner to challenge Belmont, last year's state champs.

"Hamilton has a fine team," Moreland noted. "They are quick and talented, and they have a lot of depth."

Moreland's Royalettes have been playing excellent basketball since the holiday break. And with just the right effort, they could extend their season a few extra weeks.

Try-Out For BHS

By GREG SHOOK

Booneville High School's weight room had a different look for a short time last week. Three girls -- Robin Davis, Lisa Cartwright and Vickie Bishop -- decided to try their luck on

The girls started the weightlifting program designed by Coach Wayne Jones to increase players' strength and endurance for the upcoming football season. But by the end of the first week all three Asked how he felt about girls coming out for football, Coach Wayne Jones said, "I cannot stop them from coming out. No one can, by the rules. But we are not going to treat them no different if they do come out for football. They will have to go through the same work outs that the other players have to go through.

Reaction from BHS students, whether player or fan, boy or girl, was mixed.

Jimbo Goddard, a BHS male football player, said, "I think they are just going out for the publicity. But, if they're not, I say, sure, give

Alcorn Girls-Wheeler Boys Win

Wheeler Splits A Set With Alcorn

By GREG SHOOK Sports Writer

The Wheeler Eagles and the Alcorn Central Golden Bears split a pair last Thursday night at

In the opening girl's game Lady Bears' Wendy Williams connected for 33 points to lead all scoring in the game while Marcia Young put up 24 points. Wheeler Eaglette Tangie Miller led the scoring for her club with 28 points, Pam Johnson added 14. In what some people called 'the game of the year" the Wheeler Eagles pulled out a 88-86 victory over the 26-3 Alcorn Central Golden Bears. Wheeler set the pace early in the game jumping out to a 6-0 lead in the first quarter, but to find the Bears on the attack to come back to tie the game. In a fast paced game Wheeler would not let up to let the Golden Bears slow down for a second. Wheeler used the speed and strength under the boards to keep Central from getting the ball to the inside to Rod Nixon and Mike Gray for a open shot. However Central's Derrick Pollard connected for 32 points which mainly came from the out side in the corners and the top of Wheeler and Central went into the locker room at the half with Wheeler on top by two, 49-51.

In the opening of the third quarter Central controlled the tip of the ball. Willie Miller stole the ball from Dewayne Snyder of Central to give Wheeler two easy points. Keith McIntyer played the first of the third quarter with four fouls but thanks to the inside strength of Todd Swinney and Tony Tate McIntyer fouled out of the game with 1:50 second left in the third quarter. Although Central had a slim 66-65 lead at the end of the third quarter the best action was yet to Central controlled the tip of the ball in the fourth and final quarter but that would be about all they would control. Wheeler stole the ball from Central three time in a row to get six quick points. Central used their speed to play catch up ball to try to get back on top.

Ole Miss Over Tennessee

Cecil Dowell canned two free throws with one second remaining on the clock to lift the Ole Miss Rebels to a 57-56 SEC victory over the Tennessee Vols. The win was the Rebels first SEC victory against nine defeats. Eric Liard paced the Rebels with 27 points.

In other SEC play, Alabama's Buck Johnson scored 18 points and Bobby Lee Hurt added 17 as the Tide upset third-ranked Kentucky 69-62 in Tuscaloosa. The Wildcats dropped to 16-3 overall, but remained tied with Auburn for the conference lead with a 7-3 mark.

February 12-18 Is National Vocational Education Week

The week of Feb. 12-18 is National Vocational Education Week. This is an appropriate time to think about the importance of vocational education to our community and to our nation.

At a time when excellence in education is a top priority on the national agenda, the theme for the week, Vocational Education: Creating Partnerships for Excellence, clearly communicates the ideal link that should exist between vocational education and the community.

Vocational education is charged with preparing people for work and achieves its goal through partnerships with students, community agencies, trade associations, business and industry.

This year alone, approximately 170,000 people will be trained at the 104 vocational-technical centers strategically located throughout Mississippi.

These young people and adults are preparing for a wide range of promising careers in many occupational fields including: industry, marketing, distribution of goods and services, agriculture, health, business, home economics and related areas.

Vocational education students learn how to perform a skill through laboratory experiences and classroom instruction.

Through partnerships with business and industry, vocational education instructors are able to give their students on the job training as a complement to their classroom instruction.

In Mississippi, partnerships with business are making it possible to design customized vocationaltechnical training programs to meet the new demands of the workplace, especially in high-tech in-

One of the many examples of vocational education's full partnerships with business and government is in the implementation of the Jobs Training Partnership Act (JTPA), a federal jobs training program. In many communities, vocational education programs are providing the majority of training for displaced and unemployed workers who participate in the program.

Vocational education programs contribute to the welfare of local communities by preparing citizens for the demand of changing workplace. As community planners press forward to make decisions about the future, they must examine employment projections.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics projects that in the coming decade less than 20 percent of the available jobs will require a baccalaureate degree. This makes it even more critical for vocational education to create new partnerships with industry and community agencies to plan together for realistic programs to meet these needs of the 1990's.

As the pace of technological, social and economic change accelerates, vocational education programs will need to strengthen existing partnerships and reach out to create new one.

National Vocational Education Week is an appropriate time for business and industry leaders to explore how they might work more closely with vocational education to achieve new standards of excellence for preparing future workers that are vital to their businesses and to the genreal welfare of our community.

Cochran Presenting Awards

U.S. Senator Thad Cochran will present awards to 24 young people who are winners of the second annual First Bank Young Citizen

Following the presentations, Sen. Cochran will be the featured speaker at the Feb. 14 awards banquet at the Ramada Inn Convention Center in Tupelo.

Cochran, who received his B.A. and law degrees from the University of Mississippi, was himself an outstanding young citizen. Under a Rotary Foundation Fellowship, he studied international law at the University of Dublin, Ireland. He was President of the Young Lawyers Section of the Mississippi State Bar, and in 1971, he was named one of three outstanding young men of the year in Mississippi.

The banquet will honor a gold, silver, and bronze winner and three other finalists in each of four categories of achievement. The categories, Service, Leadership, Responsibility, and Achievement Plus, were selected to provide recognition to fine young people who might otherwise go unrewarded.

Four Prentiss County youths are finalists:

Robert McKinney, a senior at Booneville High School, is a finalist in the Achievement Plus category. Karl Sexton, a Martin Hill Academy senior is included in the Leadership Category.

Rhonda Jean Crow, a New Site ninth grader, is a finalist in the Responsibility category.

And Jackie Nix, a New Site junior, is a finalist in the Service Category.

Last year, the inaugural year of the Young Citizen Awards, First Bank was one of two banks in the nation to receive a coveted Golden Coin Award from the Bank Marketing Association for a community affairs program. Mr. Harris, Director of Marketing at First Bank, says, "The Young Citizen Awards were conceived to help First Bank fulfill its corporate and social responsibilities to the communities in which it operates, to boost the momentum of the estabilished area concern for the development of youth, and to motivate young people to seek excellence."

Senator Cochran, a native of Pontotoc, served six years in the U.S. House of Representatives. A Republican, he was elected in 1972 to the United States Senate, replacing James O. Eastland. He serves on the Senate Appropriations Committee, the Agriculture Committee, and the Governmental Affairs Committee.

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK:

By Charles L. Potts

Can Marriage Survive?

Eph. 5:25 -- "Husbands, Love Your Wives, Even As Christ Also Loved The Church, And Gave Himself For It."

CAN MARRIAGE SURVIVE? World News reports indicate that the greatest social crisis in America is the epidemic of divorce. When we realize that over 11/2 million couples divorced in 1983 . . . we are made aware of this national shame. The church and nation are no stronger than the homes that make up our society . . . and it is estimated that 50 percent of all marriages consummated this year are likely to end in divorce. What are the reasons for this crisis? For starters, there is a general rejection of authority. Most people live by their feelings rather than their convictions. It's like we should call this the "me' generation. Too many are insisting on their own happiness regardless of the consequences. Christians are too willing to compromise their witness. Also, the moral climate of our society is conducive to the breakdown of marriage. There is no stigma! It is also stylish. Often wives who work outside the home are financially independent . . . this gives an option they have never had before to such a degree. The chaplain of a State Correctional School for boys recently stated that 82 percent of the boys there were from broken homes. Oh, what a price we pay by divorce. Many people believe also that the feminist movement has contributed to the breakdown of the family. I like to tell people that I belong to the greatest woman's liberation movement in the history of the world - the Church of Jesus Christ.

Wherever the Gospel has been proclaimed and accepted, women have been elevated and emancipated. We get into trouble when we look to pagans for our standards. Christians should follow the teachings of the Word of God. The home is the school God uses to help prepare us for heaven. It is in the home that the child's personality is developed. Character is produced in the environment of the family. Convictions and moral standards are formed in the home. It is also in the home that we learn to love. Children who grow up in "cold" homes are likely to be withdrawn. When children see love between mother and father they are likely to follow their example in marriage. The touch is so important! Kiss the children. ... hold them in your arms. Tell them of your love often. A secure and self-confident person is most likely to come from a loving home.

Lest I become too wordy . . . let me leave you with this thought. I know parents who will do anything for their children . . . give them the finest education and social and financial opportunity. But often . . . these same parents fail to give their children that which they need more than anything in the world - a saving faith. May God be alive in us . . . and our
