Mullen Is Manager

Dick (Richard) Mullen, now plant manager for Parker Hannifin Corporation's Automotive Connectors Division's Arlington, Texas plant will assume the additional responsibility of plant manager for the Division's new Booneville plant. The announcement was made by Steve Marcus, manufacturing manager for the Division.

Mullen will be responsible for all production activities at the new plant, which will manufacture air conditioning hose assemblies for domestic and import car manufacturers.

The new plant is expected to be operational by June 1, 1984, with 80,000 square feet allocated for manufacturing and 2,000 square feet for offices.

Mullen holds a bachelor of arts degree in business administration from Washburn University, Topeka, Kansas. He and his family will reside in Booneville.

According to Marcus, Parker Hannifin is the world's leading supplier of fluid power systems and components in industrial, automotive, aviation, space and marine markets. Sales in fiscal 1983, ending June 30, were $1.04 billion with net income of $29.5 million.

Offices To Be Closed

The Booneville Post Office will be closed Monday in observance of George Washington's birthday.

Offices in the Prentiss County Courthouse will be closed Monday in observance of the holiday. However, circuit court will be in session Monday.

Lewis Trial Next Week

The murder trial of Walter Lewis, 46, of Route 1, New Site, is scheduled for Wednesday, Feb. 22, at the Prentiss County Courthouse.

Lewis was indicted in October in connection with the shooting death of his brother, Jerry. The shooting occurred Aug. 4, 1983, at the residence of Walter Lewis, about two miles north of Pharr Flats.

Lewis was shot in the right side of the chest with a single shot .22 rifle.

Park Not Full Yet

Prentiss County Development Association Executive Director Doug Mansell says the four acre plot in the 251 acre Booneville-Prentiss County Industrial Park, requested by B&W Frame Shop, is not the last available land in the park.

In last week's Banner-Independent the lot was incorrectly described as "the lone remaining lot" in the park. "There are 95 acres still unsold in the Booneville park," Mansell said, adding that approximately 45 acres are graded and cleared.

"The Baldwin park will be full if negotiations currently in progress are fruitful. But we have land left in the Booneville park if any more industries want to locate here," he said.

During Tornado Awareness Week

No Tornado Drills For City Or County

By ED WOODWARD
Managing Editor

Though Feb. 13 through 17 is Mississippi Tornado Awareness Week and it will be highlighted by a statewide tornado drill today, no sirens will sound in Booneville or anywhere else in Prentiss County.

There will be tornado drills sometime during the week at all county schools, and at Booneville and Baldwin city schools, according to the respective school superintendents. But neither Prentiss County, nor the cities of Booneville and Baldwin will be participating in the statewide drill.

According to Prentiss County Board of Supervisors President J.P. Davis, the county no longer has a Civil Defense director to coordinate and conduct such a drill.

Though former CD Director W.H. Prather continues to serve as an advisor to the county in Civil Defense matters and would be available in the event of a real disaster, the county has neither provision nor the funds for Prather to conduct a drill, Davis said.

The city of Booneville will not participate either because the Civil Defense director's salary was deleted from the city budget, according to Mayor Charles Crabb.

"Right now, we don't have anyone who could coordinate it," he said. "In the event that we should have a disaster, we would operate under the present disaster program that has been set forth. We would just use our emergency response plan that we have," Crabb said.

Crabb said Robert Floyd is currently on call for the city in the event of a severe weather alert. "He is very capable of handling radar. And he's very capable of working with disasters with his experience that he has. And anytime that we need any help, he is designated by our board to handle the situation," Crabb said.

The board is reported to have authorized payment of $200 per month to Floyd for his services. Baldwin Mayor Merle Rowan said his city has never participated in the statewide drill. "We've just never had anyone to conduct one," he said.

According to former County Civil

At Junior Auxiliary Banquet

Margaret Floyd Is 'Outstanding Citizen'

Margaret Rinehart Floyd was presented the 1984 Outstanding Citizen award Saturday night at the Booneville Junior Auxiliary's second annual V.I.P. Dinner.

Hailed as one of the city's most active community leaders, Mrs. Floyd is the eighth recipient of the award. Earlier honorees were Marion W. Smith, 1977; Emmons Turner Jr., 1978; Mabel W. Nelson, 1979; Louise W. Peeler, 1980; Stewart Vail, 1981; Ruth Galloway, 1982; and Mrs. Nelwyn Murphy, 1983.

In making Saturday night's presentation, Mrs. Duncan Lott, president of the Booneville Junior Auxiliary chapter, noted that "Prentiss County has definitely prospered from Mrs. Floyd's gracious manner and endless energies directed toward her church, underprivileged and handicapped children, senior citizens and community."

Mrs. Floyd has been an active member of the PTA and BHS Booster Clubs, a Scout den mother, Girl Scout leader and cookie chairman. She has also helped plan and execute many Blue and Gold Cub Scout banquets and high school football banquets and has contributed much of her time to Story Hour at the George E. Allen Library, to Summer Playhouse, Puppet Theatre, Junior J's, Friday Night Disco and the Little League Summer Programs for the youth. She was instrumental in beginning the Girls' Softball Programs in Prentiss County.

"She has unselfishly given to the underprivileged and elderly by participating for many years in bi-monthly projects at Aletha Lodge Nursing Home and East Circle Housing Center for the Elderly," said Mrs. Lott.

Mrs. Floyd helped to establish "Life-Line," a telephone communications hookup with senior citizens who live alone. She has provided transportation for needy children to receive medical and dental treatment as well as made it possible for underprivileged children to participate in swimming lessons, Summer Playhouse and Puppet Show Productions.

She also helped to establish and equip a crisis center which serves abused and neglected children in Prentiss and other counties.

Mrs. Floyd helped to establish the Prentiss County Special Olympics and worked with that program for many years. She also worked weekly for many years with the special education classes at the Booneville schools, donated her time as a reading tutor at the George E. Allen Library, assisted the Hearing and Visually Impaired Classes at Northeast Mississippi Junior College and helped to screen hundreds of children for amblyopia.

"She also worked diligently for many years with the drives for the Heart Fund and March of Dimes, made many contributions to the annual Miss Hospitality Pageant, and worked as a volunteer for the bloodmobile, Very Special Arts Festival and NEMJC Art Department," Mrs. Lott added.

Mrs. Floyd is a member of the First United Methodist Church of Booneville, where she has directed and assisted Vacation Bible School, held an active membership in its women's circle and help past memberships on its Finance and Pastor-Parrish Relations Committees.

A Booneville resident for more than 28 years, she is married to Robert Floyd, owner and operator of Town and Country Insurance Agency. They have three children, Jim Floyd and Jan Valderaz of Booneville and John Floyd, a student at Mississippi State, and two grandchildren. The Junior Auxiliary's V.I.P. Dinner is the only fund-raising event sponsored by the club during the year. Proceeds go to support all of the organization's welfare, educational, cultural and civic projects for 1984. Ms. Cindy Caveness served as this year's chairman for the event.

"The Booneville Junior Auxiliary expresses its appreciation to the community for its continued support," Mrs. Lott said.

Former Supervisor Dies

Sam F. Jumper, 75, a former deputy sheriff and supervisor and a life-long resident of Jumpertown, died Thursday afternoon, Feb. 9, at the Baptist Memorial Hospital in Booneville following a brief illness.

Services were Friday, Feb. 10, at 4 p.m. at McMillan Funeral Home chapel with Bro. Ward Hogland and Bro. Milton Koon officiating. Burial was in Oak Lawn Memorial Park.

For most of his adult life Mr. Jumper was a political and civic leader in Prentiss County.

He began his political career by being chosen to serve as Trustee of the Jumpertown School District which became an accredited high school during his term of service.

He was elected constable of the second district to complete the term of the late Claud Crofford. He was elected to succeed himself for the following four year term and following this he served as deputy sheriff for the three successive terms to Sale Martin, Ben Holley, and George Rutherford.

In 1964 he was elected supervisor of the second district in which office he served continuously for three four-year terms until 1976 when he retired.

One of his ambitions was completed before his retirement by paving the New-Bryant and Jumpertown-Blackland Roads which afforded a North-South and East-West paved road through his district.

Mr. Jumper was a member of the Church of Christ. He was a third degree Mason of the Booneville Masonic Lodge and a 32nd degree member of the Corinth Scottish Rite Lodge. He was the son of the late Doug and Hattie Murphy Jumper.

Stoop Indicted For Williams Murder

By ANGELA SMITH
Staff Reporter

A murder indictment was one of five true bills returned by the Prentiss County Grand Jury after they met one day, Feb. 8.

James L. Stoop, 57, of 100 Price, Booneville, was indicted for murder in connection with the Oct. 13, 1983, shooting of a New Site teacher, Charles Williams, 41, of Route 7, Booneville.

Williams was shot once in the back with a 30.06 high powered rifle while he was in his pickup on Mt.

Pisgah Road, law authorities said. Stoop was allegedly in another vehicle on the right-of-way of Hwy. 4 -- which is only about a quarter of a mile from Williams' home.

Both vehicles were stopped when the shooting occurred, officers said. Two shots were fired. The shot that struck Williams went through the pickup's tailgate, bed, back of the cab, and the truck seat. Although only one shot struck Williams, the shot fragmented, hitting him in two spots, according to James Horn of the North Mississippi Ambulance Service.

The other shot struck the left hand side of the back glass.

Williams was transported to the North Mississippi Medical Center in Tupelo. He died Oct. 30.

Stoop reportedly turned himself in to the sheriff's department at midnight on the day of the shooting. Officers said the motive for the shooting was "a misunderstanding," but declined further comment. They did say, however, that there were two witnesses to the shooting.

ALSO INDICTED was Ranford

Huguley on a charge of grand larceny of a dwelling. This charge was in connection with the Aug. 17, 1983, break-in at the residence of David Wesson.

Two indictments were returned against Raymond L. Price. The first indictment charges him with two counts of grand larceny in connection with the theft of a social security check for $173 belonging to Lenora Young and a social security check for $153 from Fannie Mae McGee in September 1983.

Price was also indicted on a burglary and larceny charge in connection with the Aug. 19, 1983, break-in at the home of Jim Loveless.

Bobby McKinney was indicted on a grand larceny charge in connection with the theft of a 1978 Chevrolet diesel pickup belonging to Arthur R. Asters.

In the Grand Jury report, it was noted that the courthouse seemed to be kept in a generally good manner and order and that several improvements had been made since their last report dated Oct. 19, 1983.

Tornado

Defense Director Prather, in previous years Booneville and Prentiss County have participated in the statewide drills. "As long as we had Civil Defense, we were in it every year," he said.

"They have the local warning system, which we activated, in the radio station. And they have these in all the schools, and in the hospital and nursing homes. And this is the time of year I always checked those out to make sure they were operational prior to tornado season," Prather said.

He said, as far as he knew, the warning system was not receiving its annual check this year.

All school superintendents in the county said drills would be conducted in the schools at sometime during the week; but not necessarily on Thursday.

"We are participating," said Booneville City School Superintendent R.D. Griffin.

"Of course, we have fire drills and tornado drills all along throughout the school year. We won't necessarily do it at the time designated. But we try to do it sometime during the week," Griffin said.

Both County School Superintendent J.W. Greene and Baldwin School Superintendent Steve Clark said their schools would also be participating.

Prentiss County is already into the season of peak tornado activity, according to the National Weather Service. The four-month peak season runs from February through May.

In 1983, May was the most active month for tornado activity in the state. Of the 21 confirmed tornadoes (coincidentally, the average for the state over a 30-year period), 11 occurred during May. And seven of those occurred on May 18.

chez Tornado of May 7, 1840, which killed 317 people. The number of injuries, and the amount of property damage is unknown.

The third worst was the Tupelo Tornado of April 5, 1936. It killed 216 and injured 700. Property damage was estimated at $2,500,000.

The most costly Mississippi tornado in terms of property damage was the Vicksburg Tornado of Dec. 5, 1953. It killed 38 and injured 270. Property damage was $25 million.

According to the National Weather Service, the increased efficiency of warning systems in the last decade has contributed to a decrease in death and injury due to tornadoes

TORNADOES

Though there were no tornado-related deaths reported in Mississippi in 1983, the average tornado death rate for the state is eight per year. There were, however, 20 tornado-related injuries in 1983.

The first tornado of the 1983 season occurred on Feb. 1 in Jackson County, injuring three people. The last hit Jones County on Dec. 11.

The second and third deadliest tornadoes in recorded U.S. weather history both occurred in Mississippi. Second was the Nat-

Tornado Safety Tips

The National Weather Service offers the following advice in the event of an actual tornado:

-If you are at home or in a small building, go to the basement or to an interior part on the lowest level and get under something sturdy like a table.

-In schools, hospitals and public buildings, move to predesignated shelter areas (which should be clearly marked). Interior hallways on lowest floors are best. Go to the basement if possible. Avoid windows and glass doorways. Do not use elevators because the power might go off, leaving you stranded. Keep away from the ends of hallways.

-If you are in a mobile home or a vehicle, leave it and go to a more substantial shelter. Do not try to outrun the tornado with your car.

-If you are outdoors and there is no shelter near, lie flat in a nearby ditch and shield your head with your arms.

Though it was once thought to be a good idea to open the windows on the side of the building away from the tornado, Civil Defense authorities now advise against it. This has been found to actually increase damage. It also uses up time you do not have, and flying glass is dangerous.

There is no guaranteed safe place during a tornado. So, do not stop to watch it or stop to take pictures of it. If sirens go off, do not run outside to see what is happening. Search for shelter.

Many people are often confused as to the meanings of the terms, Tornado Watch and Tornado Warning.

A Tornado Watch means that weather conditions make tornadoes and severe thunderstorms possible and you should be on the alert.

A Tornado Warning means a tornado has actually been spotted and you should take shelter until an All Clear is sounded.

Though the peak tornado season is February through May, the National Weather Service cautions that tornadoes can actually occur at any time of the year, and Mississippi residents should be alert for severe weather at all times and know what to do if it should occur.

BIBLE QUESTION BOX

QUESTION: Mr. Hogland, what did Paul mean when he said, "The way which they call heresy" over in Acts 24:14?

ANSWER: The English word "heresy" in our Bible is simply a transliteration of the Greek word haireisis, spelled with characters of the English alphabet. The same word is translated "sect" in Acts 24:5 and 28:22.

It was used by the religious leaders of the Jews to prejudice the minds of the people against God and the Gospel of Christ. When they were unable to answer Paul and the other apostles they would cry out "Heresy, heresy." The repulsive quality of the word caused many to refuse to give the Gospel a fair hearing. The same charge was made against Martin Luther and others who opposed Roman Catholicism. Luther was branded as a "heretic" and people were advised to leave him alone. However, Luther and others were right in teaching against the ritualistic works of this organization. On the other hand Luther was incorrect in teaching salvation by "Faith alone." The truth of the matter is that we are saved by obedience from the heart (see Rom. 6:17). The Bible teaches we are saved by obedience but not the ritualistic kind. It must be from the heart.

DID YOU INHERIT YOUR RELIGION?

Literally thousands of people are expected to go to Heaven with inherited religion. Those with inherited religion make little or no effort to study the Bible and find out what God requires. They may listen to a parent or a religious leader and accept what is said without measuring it by the Bible. In the final analysis, their faith and trust is in man and not God.

Paul commended the Bereans for two things: (1) They received the word with all readiness of mind. (2) They searched the scriptures daily, to see whether those things were so. (Acts 17:11) After hearing Paul, they searched the scriptures to see if what he said was so. These people didn't want inherited religion, they wanted to see it for themselves.

Inherited religion places a human intermediary between man and God. The Bible teaches that Christ is the only one between man and God. (1 Tim. 2:5) We can follow someone religiously only as they follow Christ. (1 Cor. 11:1) People should look to Christ as the only perfect example and follow in His steps. (1 Peter 2:21-23)

Inherited religion eliminates individual responsibility. Yet, the Bible teaches that all are individually responsible before God. (Gal. 6:5, 2 Cor. 5:10, Rom. 2:6) Since all are accountable before God, we are responsible for what we do and responsible if we follow anyone into religious error. We are instructed to study to be approved of God and to rightly divide the word of God. (2 Tim. 2:15)

Thousands will be lost because they have inherited religion, which is nothing more than a man made religion. To make our calling and election sure, our religion must be from God. Do you have firsthand or inherited religion? Are you following God or man?

No 'Second Thoughts' About Another Campaign

Senator Visits Northeast Campus

By ED WOODWARD
Managing Editor

To practically no one's surprise, Sen. Thad Cochran said Tuesday, Feb. 14, that he will announce his candidacy for reelection soon.

Cochran made the remark while speaking to a small gathering of Booneville officials, faculty and townspeople in the office of Northeast Mississippi Junior College President Harold T. White shortly before making a quick tour of the campus.

"I know now why a senator is elected to a six-year term. It takes that long to get around the entire state," the first-term Republican senator quipped, adding that he tries to devote at least one day a week to such visits.

Cochran said he especially enjoys visiting high school and college students, either personally, or via one of his phone conferences. "I find that to be a very enjoyable experience. And I get some of my best questions from students," he said.

"Of course, I get some off-the-wall questions, too," Cochran said. He said one student had told him he planned to join the Army when he graduated from high school, but first wanted to know if there was going to be a war.

Asked how he felt about having William Winter as an opponent for his senate seat, Cochran said, "I think it's going to keep everybody on their toes. I think my staff is going to work a little more diligently. And I probably will, too. And I look forward to the experience of running for reelection.

"I intend to run an all-out, hard campaign, and a winning campaign. And you may have noticed I've already started. I haven't even officially, or formally announced my candidacy for reelection. But I plan to do that soon.

"And I don't intend to have any second thoughts about it, either," Cochran said, in an obvious reference to Winter's about-face after accepting the Ole Miss chancellorship.

After the short meeting in President White's office, Cochran spent approximately 30 minutes visiting students, faculty and NEMJC employees in the Frank Haney Union and Wright Hall.

Married In A Buggy

Jumpertown Couple Wed 65 Years

By ANGELA SMITH
Staff Reporter

Granville and Vida English of Jumpertown have been married 65 years.

They celebrated their wedding anniversary Jan. 12.

The couple were married by justice of the peace W.D. Yates who lived north of Jumpertown. The weather was pretty and they were married in a buggy. Actually they eloped, she said, because she didn't tell her parents about the wedding until after it was over.

They didn't take a wedding trip. "I don't know where we would have gone in a horse and buggy," he laughed. So they spent the night with his aunt, Fannie Eaton.

Mr. English, 85, served as a justice of the peace for 39 years and four months - 10 terms. Only one of his terms was not in succession. He was first elected during the Depression in 1932. He retired in April 1975, but people still call him "Squire" - another named used for JP's.

He also farmed all his life. "I and my team of mules worked for $3 a day," Mr. English remembers. "Then a $1 went about as far as $10 now."

He drove a school wagon for about eight years.

Mrs. English, 82, cared for their seven children in addition to having a garden, cooking and canning foods and helping in the fields.

They had their own cows, chickens, hogs, and also raised sorghum cane.

Their house is located on his grandfather, Thomas J. English's, old homeplace.

The couple often wish they had kept count of how many couples Mr. English had married while serving as justice of the peace. "I crawled out of bed many a night to marry people," he grins.

Some couples he married have celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary. And there have also been cases when he married a couple and years later even married that couple's child.

THEY CAN'T remember the exact phrasing of their wedding vows after 65 years - the important thing is when they said their vows they meant them.

"That's one thing wrong with the young generation," Mrs. English said. "They don't take their vows very seriously."

Mr. English says one reason they have been married for 65 years is they don't pay attention to each other when they fuss. "It's a give and take thing," he says.

Another possible reason for the longevity of their marriage could be their good sense of humor - which they say helps out in any situation. And, too, she smiles, Mr. English makes biscuits.

They have been members of Jumpertown Methodist Church for about 54 years (which is where they met).

Both are members of Eastern Star being Worthy Matron and Patron. He was also a member of the Mississippi Sheriff's Law Enforcement Association and the Miss.-Tenn. Law Enforcement Association.

Talk 'O The Town

Street Opinion

QUESTION: Do you think the city should make the owners of burned-out buildings or run-down property clean them up?

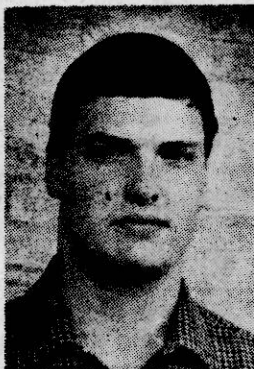

RHONDA MASSEY of Baldwyn: "Yes, I think they should. I don't think it's fair for the taxpayers to have to pay to get it cleaned up. In order to increase value of property surrounding it, I think it would be beneficial to have it cleaned up."

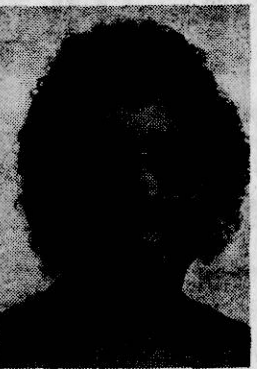

KAY FREDERICK of Route 3, Booneville: "Yes. Besides being an eyesore it might pose some dangers to children who go where they aren't supposed to. Mainly it looks ugly and our town needs every advantage it can get."

JOHN RHODES of Route 5, Corinth: "Yes. I think they should. I feel the owners are responsible for the property. To a visitor, or a student like myself, it makes them have a bad opinion of the city because of the condition of the buildings after they've burned."

JANE SUGARS of Smith Street, Booneville: "Yes. It would help to beautify the community to clean the buildings up after they've burned."

BROWN McCUTCHEEN of Route 3, Rienzi: "I think so. It's their property and I think they should be responsible for it. The city should be kept presentable and not have eyesores."

LOUISE LINDSEY of Marietta Street, Booneville: "Yes. If they own the building and it burns they should clean the mess up and not just leave it."

(Editor's note: "Talk O' The Town" is not intended as a scientific poll of public opinion. Rather, it is simply intended to give Prentiss Countians an opportunity to voice their opinions on particular issues and topics. Maybe we'll ask you next!)

Ponderings

By Angela Smith

Staff Reporter

Sometimes I think there isn't a sympathetic soul at The Banner-Independent, besides me of course.

I've got this cold. You know -- the type they talk about in commercials where the person has bleary eyes, sniffles, fever, scratchy throat, and aches all over. And a persistent cough.

But do I get any sympathy?

The closest thing to sympathy I heard was "I've thought you looked sick for a long time."

What is this world coming to?

Just because my fellow employees come to work when they're sick, they expect me to do the same. But at least if they're sick I try to cheer them up.

Here are some of my favorite expressions to cheer up sick folks:

- "Feed a cold, starve a fever" -- unless the person has a fever and is very hungry. Then say "Starve a cold, feed a fever."

- "Your bad cold could be worse. It could be mumps or chicken pox. Or both."

- "Look on the bright side. When summer arrives perhaps you will have stopped coughing by then."

Usually when I point out something like that, it cheers up my sick friends.

But no one has tried to cheer me up in my hours of ill health. The reason this irks me is because it's really THEIR fault that I'm sick.

They shamed me into washing my car because it was so muddy. A person can just stand so many weeks of having people ridicule their muddy car. So Saturday I went to the carwash and washed the mud off my car. (The man who works at the carwash offered to let me use a hammer and chisel to help get the mud off).

In case you don't remember, Saturday was a beautiful, but windy, day. I always get as wet as my car when I'm washing it and Saturday the wind blew even more water on me.

So I think that's why I'm sick. And I know none of you probably care, either, since just about everyone else is sick, too.

However, for historical purposes I would like to mention that this is the first time in four years that I've had a bad cold.

So it will probably be four more years before I wash my car again.

Legislative Report

House Failed To Pass Medicaid Funding

By Billy McCoy
State Representative

The Mississippi Legislative week of February 6th was again focused on the needs of Medicaid recipients and other money problems of the State.

Again on Monday the House Appropriations Committee attempted to pass an additional four million dollar funding bill for Medicaid. I voted for the measure again, but it failed this time by two votes.

Upon the failure of the Legislature to approve these additional funds, the Medicaid Commission made several cuts to Medicaid recipients which will become effective March 1st. These cuts will affect hospitals, nursing homes, home health programs, physicians fees, pharmacists fees, and others.

However, the most drastic cut would force from nursing homes throughout the state well over 3000 elderly citizens, if they could not pay their own way. This cut would affect all those whose income is above $314 per month.

I will continue to work toward stopping this particular cut. We have additional bills in the House which speak to this problem. One bill introduced last Friday has over 60 co-sponsors and should have a good chance for passage.

Again, I would like to stress that the Mississippi Legislature has made no reduction in its funding of the Medicaid program. In fact we have almost doubled our funding in the last five years. The Medicaid Commission has been forced to make cuts because of the pullback of federal funds and rising medical cost.

During the five years I have served as your Representative, many citizens have discussed with me their views on compulsory liability insurance for automobiles.

The House Insurance Committee will hold hearings on this subject this week. Knowing the history of previous bills on compulsory liability, I do not expect favorable results for like bills this year.

The House Transportation Committee should soon be holding hearings on two bills that would affect our present Highway Commission. Each bill would form a Department of Transportation that would include highways, ports and harbors, and aviation. One bill would continue to have the three commissioners elected, but call them Transportation Commissioners. The other bill would have five commissioners appointed by the Governor.

The Agriculture Committee is worked especially hard this year -- looking for new and innovative ways to improve both the gross and net profits for Mississippi farmers. This committee will begin hearings on the soybean checkoff program. Many farmers have complained that this practice should be ended.

I am on the Appropriations subcommittee responsible for the Mississippi Department of Agriculture Appropriation and also for the Mississippi State University Experiment Station Appropriation. Every Mississippian should visit an area Experiment Station and, if possible, the facilities at Mississippi State University. The Agriculture and Forestry Experiment Stations have done much to improve the economic standing of thousands of our citizens. The facilities at Mississippi SState are among the most productive, beautiful, and well kept of our nation.

First Senate Deadline Rapidly Approaching

By John White
State Senator

Senators spent many hours in committee meetings this week studying the hundreds of bills that have been introduced. The first deadline of the session is rapidly approaching. Feb. 22 is the deadline for introduction of general bills and constitutional amendments. All bills other than revenue, appropriations or local and private must be prepared and introduced by this date in order to be considered during the 1984 regular session.

A number of bills were passed by committees this week and sent to the Senate floor for consideration. One was an act to increase from $10,000 to $25,000 the jurisdictional amount for county courts. Senators favoring the bill noted that this would help relieve the heavy circuit court load by allowing some cases formerly heard in circuit court to be heard in county court.

Another was an act to allow persons 18 years old to consent to medical treatment. One intent of this bill is to allow students away from home to consent to medical treatment which would be particularly helpful in emergency cases.

The bill which the Senate passed last week appropriating $4 million in emergency funds to the Medicaid Commission was rejected this week by the House of Representatives Appropriations Committee. It is my personal belief, however, that the full House membership will approve additional funding.

Any one of a number of small and relatively painless tax increases on non-essential items would provide adequate funding for the Medicaid Program itself as well as the Limited Medically Needy Program for pregnant women and children from married families.

For instance, a five cents per gallon tax on carbonated soft drinks would produce some $5.5 million. A two-cent per pack increase on cigarettes would produce $6 million and a 10 percent increase on alcohol and beer taxes would generate $5.5 million. For the person drinking one can of beer per day, this would come to $1.46 per year.

I appreciate the calls and letters I have been getting and I look forward to hearing from more of you. My Jackson phone number is 948-7321 and my address is P.O. Box 1018, Jackson, Miss. 39205. My home phone is 365-2181.

Have a good week.

Dear Editor:

RESOLUTION: Brother, thou from yonder sky, cometh neither voice nor cry;

Yet I know for thee today, every pain has passed away.

Whereas, I am deeply sorrowed today on account of the passing away of my personal friend, Mr. Sam F. Jumper, who has been a friend to me for many years. I can truthfully say, I will miss him.

Whereas, Mr. Jumper never sought recognition, that he might easily have won, but he chose to do the little things, feeling that it is the small things that count in life. Mr. Jumper loved Christ, the church, and home, and made friends with all who came in contact with him;

Be it Resolved, That we draw closer together and ever cherish the memory of this our dear friend, and emulate the admirable traits that he had; be it further

Resolved, That we extend to the family our tenderest sympathy in this sad hour. We recommend them to Him who giveth and taketh away, and may they say, Blessed be His Name. Be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this sentiment be sent to the family, and a copy given to our local paper.

Brother, thou are gone to rest, I will not weep for thee;

For thou are now, where often while on earth,

Thy spirit longed to be. Sympathetically submitted, Rev. S.W. Shinault

Dear Editor:

I noticed with some interest that the phone company has paid their taxes! How nice. After all, what are taxes for but to be paid.

And what a whopping amount too! Can you imagine how much in collected phone bills that must represent? Well, I'm happy for them. But I smell a fish somewhere.

I saw in the Tupelo Journal a picture of the ceremonial "handing over of the check" in Lee County. (It was a bundle too.) There were smiles all around. But, again I wonder -- why the publicity?

Could it be that when we see how much in taxes "comes back to us" we'll quit squawking about not only the "requested" rate hikes, but the already outrageous bills that have one or two pending rate hikes in them?

Maybe I'm just a complainer. But at least they pay taxes. I am still watching for all of the other businesses to put their articles in the paper when they "bring home the bucks." There's got to be a needle in that haystack somewhere. John Larsen

That Yankee From Yonder

By Ed Woodward

Managing Editor

I'm confused... which is not an unusual state of affairs when you work at The Banner-Independent. But my present confusion is not the result of association with my co-workers.

Last month, when I interviewed "Moose" Mansell about the Prentiss County Development Association's accomplishments in 1983, he told me that both Prentiss County industrial parks were "practically filled up," which I interpreted as meaning "almost full," especially since he said more land needed to be purchased now for industrial park use.

I wrote and published the interview, with that quote, and nothing was questioned. "Moose" even told me how much he liked the piece. And I subsequently invited him to speak at the Lion's Club, which he did, saying pretty much the same thing. Though I missed the PCDA banquet because I had to cover another story the same night, I am told "Moose" said something similar there.

Then, at the February meeting of Booneville's board, the mayor announced that an existing industry wanted four acres in the industrial park for an expansion. And one of the aldermen said there were four acres left next to Supervisor Larry Barron's maintenance building.

An informal discussion then followed about the necessity of purchasing more land for the park because it was filled up, and I subsequently wrote that the last of the industrial park acreage was being sold.

On Thursday, I received a call from "Moose", who informed me that the Booneville park was not full, and, in fact, still had 95 acres left. But, he said, the Baldwyn park would be full if current negotiations with a prospective new industry were successful.

Later in the day, I phoned Mayor Crabb with some questions for our progress edition. And, in the course of the conversation, he also mentioned that my news story was incorrect. "We still have 40 or 45 acres left," he said. But, when I told him "Moose" had said there were 95, he admitted he wasn't sure, and said "Moose" was probably right.

Later still, when I mentioned the situation to someone else, they commented that they didn't think there had been more than 90 or so acres in the park in the first place.

On Friday, I talked to "Moose" again, and asked him how large the industrial park was. He said it had started out at 251 acres, and there were 95 acres left. But, only 40 to 45 acres have been cleared and graded, and are ready for use.

That's why I'm confused. How much land is actually left in the industrial park -- 95 acres, 45 acres, 40 acres or none? And since when does "practically filled" mean two-thirds full?

And why doesn't the mayor know how much land is left? What would he tell the representative of an industry who called and asked if we had 50 acres to build a factory on? Would he say, "Let me check with 'Moose' and call you back?"

If I were representing an industry, and some mayor said that to me, I'd probably have second thoughts about locating in his town. And, who knows? I might need some land for a veeblefretzer plant some day.

Research Institute Publishes Dietary Guidelines To Reduce Risk Of Cancer

The American Institute for Cancer Research has published recommended dietary guidelines based on the findings of research studies that suggest a link between diet, nutrition and cancer.

These guidelines are closely patterned after the National Academy of Sciences report, Diet, Nutrition and Cancer. They are:

1. Reduce the intake of dietary fat - both saturated and unsaturated - from the current average of approximately 40 percent to a level of 30 percent of total calories.
2. Increase the consumption of fruits, vegetables and whole grain cereals.
3. Consume salt-cured, smoked and charcoal-broiled foods in moderation only.
4. Drink alcoholic beverages only in moderation.

According to AICR, these guidelines are consistent with good nutrition and adherence to them may also reduce the risk of developing cancer.

"The relationship between diet and cancer is being investigated by many cancer researchers," said Dr. T. Colin Campbell, the senior science advisor of AICR and an experienced researcher in the field of nutrition and cancer. "The evidence of a link is sufficiently persuasive that the NAS has proposed interim dietary guidelines. We believe the American public needs to be aware of both the scientific research in this area and the findings that have been discovered so far," he said.

The basis for the guidelines is scientific research that shows that a balanced nutrient intake achieved through the consumption of moderate amounts of a variety of foods and not through the consumption of moderate amounts of a variety of foods and not through the use of vitamin and mineral supplements may inhibit the development of some chemically caused cancers.

According to these guidelines, such nutrients and food constituents as Vitamins A, C, E, dietary fiber, beta carotene, and selenium have been shown potentially to inhibit cancer when consumed at levels found in a balanced diet. It is important to note that excessive consumption of certain of these substances, especially selenium, can be toxic.

The guidelines also explain that while many people have reduced their consumption of saturated fat, they have not reduced total fat intake. Research has shown a link between total fat intake and the incidence of cancer, especially cancer of the breast, large bowel, and prostate.

Research has also shown a link between excessive consumption of salt-cured, smoked and charcoal-broiled foods and cancer. Dr. Campbell says that few Americans are likely to be at risk from this, however, because of American dietary habits and controlled food processing procedures.

High alcohol consumption affects cancer risk because consumption of "empty" calories in alcoholic beverages reduces the intake of nutrient-rich foods. High consumption of alcohol may also be associated with the development of liver cancer. Combined with cigarette smoking, high alcohol consumption also increases the risk of certain cancers.

The American Institute for Cancer Research was founded in 1981 to raise funds to support scientific research and education in the area of diet, nutrition and cancer. AICR is headquartered in Falls Church, Virginia, a suburb of Washington, D.C.

HEART FUND MEMBERS - This year's goal for the Heart Association is $5,000. Donations will be collected Feb. 26. Local Heart Association members are (l-r) Ann

USDA Opens 1983 Wheat Reserve

Secretary of Agriculture John R. Block recently established a farmer-owned grain reserve for 1983-crop wheat with a trigger release level of not less than $4.45 and annual storage payments to farmers of 26.5 cents per bushels.

Block also said the U.S. Department of Agriculture will open reserve V for the first time to 1983-crop feed grains. USDA on May 31, 1983 closed reserve V to additional entries of 1982-crop feed grains because grain from this reserve was to be used in the department's payment-in-kind program.

MISS PHIFER HONORED - Miss Paula Phifer (center), bride-elect of Bill White, was honored with a bridal tea Saturday, Feb. 11. Also pictured are (l-r)

Helen White, mother of the prospective groom and Joyce Phifer, mother of the bride-elect.

Miss Phifer Is Feted With A Valentine Bridal Tea

Miss Paula Phifer, bride-elect of Bill White of Jackson, Miss., formerly of Booneville, was honored with a bridal tea in the fellowship hall of the First United Methodist Church on Saturday, Feb. 11.

Red cloths covered the gift tables which were accented with red and white flowers. Other decorations included Valentine hearts and cupid.

Mrs. Bill White, mother of the prospective groom, and Mrs. James Phifer, mother of the bride-elect, were in the receiving line, along with one of the hostesses.

Mrs. Annie Lee Kemp and Mrs. Henrietta Oakley presided at the guest registry.

Hostesses were Mrs. Dora Jean

Vassar, Mrs. Dot Langston, Mrs. June Greene, Mrs. Esta Bethay, Mrs. Linda Duckworth, Mrs. Cindy Lott, Mrs. Teresa Goodwin, Mrs. Mildred Sartain, Mrs. Nelwyn Murphy, Mrs. Blanch Anderson, Mrs. Louise Coggin, Mrs. Virginia Smitherman, Mrs. Jane Turner, Mrs. Claire Ross, Mrs. Donnie Goddard and Mrs. Mary Cecil Thomason.

Daughters Of Confederacy Told About Soldier-Educator

Mrs. Richard Kemp was the speaker for the February meeting of the D.T. Beall Chapter United Daughters of the Confederacy.

The club met Feb. 8, in the home of Mrs. Marjorie Waters on McCauley Street. Her sister, Mrs. Bernice Hall, who was unable to be present, was co-hostess.

Pie and ice cream with coffee was served to the 10 members present.

The subject Mrs. Kemp spoke about was Lawrence 'Sue' Ross. He was born at Brenton Fort, Iowa, in 1838, and came to Texas with his family in 1839.

His formal education began in Austin, Texas. When he was 15-years-old, 'Sue' entered Baylor, then the largest college in the state. He later attended Wesleyan University at Florence, Ala.

Ross led a campaign of soldiers against the Comanche Indians when he was 19-years-old. He was seriously wounded in this engagement but did recover and returned to Wesleyan University.

He returned to Texas upon earning his degree from college and actively engaged in warfare and performed brilliantly after 4 years of service.

He was married to his childhood sweetheart, Cynthia Ann Parker, and they had seven children. Another baby died in infancy.

He served in various political offices in high ranking capacity and served as president of the Agricultural and Mechanical College of Texas. The future looked very bright for him but in 1898 he became ill while on a hunting trip and later died.

His wife was grief stricken and after his death returned to Bryan to live with her daughter, Florine, and her husband, Dr. Henry Hill Harrington.

A tribute, one of many, was the naming of a college for him at Alpine, Texas, in 1919.

Mrs. Ross died June 8, 1905.

CELEBRATES 80th BIRTHDAY - Mrs. Irene Parker celebrated her 80th birthday with a reception at the First Methodist Church on Sunday, Jan. 22. The reception was hosted by her children, Raymond Parker, O'Neil Parker and Bettie Parker Gustafson. Some 125 friends and relatives attended.

Woman's Club Learns About 'Key-Coding'

Mrs. Walter Simpson, instructor in the Northeast Junior College department of cosmetology, was the guest speaker at the February meeting of the Woman's Club of Booneville which was held at the George E. Allen Library.

Mrs. Simpson spoke to the club members about 'Key-Coding' which is very similar to the 'Color Me Beautiful' program.

She gave helpful hints about the correct color selection for clothing, makeup, and jewelry for each skin type.

Mrs. Webster Cleveland Jr., president of the Woman's Club, gave the date for the Woman's Club District Conference in West Point, and Mrs. Curlee Ross and Mrs. Bill White are to serve the club as delegates.

The club is in the process of selecting officers for the new year, and Mrs. S.C. Galloway, Mrs. L.W. Peeler, and Mrs. Emmons Turner are on the Nominating Committee.

Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. Sam Milton, Mrs. S.C. Galloway, Ms. Vessie Ferrell, and Mrs. Bill Duncan.

The entrance to the Marion Smith Conference Room was decorated in the spirit of Valentine's Day. A grapevine wreath formed in the shape of a heart was featured on an easel with a frame matted in pink.

ASCS Report

The Banner-Independent

By C.E. CALVERT
County Executive Director

Deputy Secretary of Agriculture Richard E. Lyng said today that 37,530 dairy producers have signed contracts with the U.S. Department of Agriculture to reduce milk output under the Dairy and Tobacco Adjustment Act of 1983. The contracts will be accepted at the amounts offered by the dairy producers, he said.

The participants, representing some 12 percent of the nation's dairy producers, have contracted to reduce fluid milk output by 9.3 billion pounds. This would be about 5.5 percent of the estimated milk output during the 15 months of the program. The reduction in calendar 1984 will be about 7.4 billion pounds, and could range from 6.5 to 8.2 billion pounds.

"This is a substantial amount, but it is also some what disappointing since we had hoped a larger number would participate," Lyng said. "It appears the dairy surplus problem is not going to be resolved as quickly as all of us had hoped."

Contracts show an intended herd reduction under the program of 336,796 head above normal culling. Producers also indicated their intention to send 23 percent of that amount to slaughter by Jan. 31. The remaining reduction will be at a rate of about 20,000 head per month. "This should not have a significant impact on cattle, poultry or hog markets," Lyng said.

Lyng said payments to participants of $10 per hundredweight of reduction will total about $930 million. This will be financed by a 50-cent per hundredweight USDA assessment on all milk produced in the 48 contiguous states and marketed for commercial use.

This assessment runs from Dec. 1, 1983 to March 31, 1985. It replaces two 50-cent assessments imposed under legislation previously enacted by congress in an attempt to resolve the dairy surplus problem.

Another mandatory assessment of 15 cents per hundredweight will begin when the program for dairy product promotion, research and nutrition education becomes effective. Lyng said USDA is working on the portion of the act which calls for the establishment of a 36-member National Dairy Promotion and Research Board.

Lyng said dairy product promotion efforts will be designed to increase public consumption and further decrease the cost of the government's dairy surplus acquisition program.

However, he said, participation figures indicate that a further reduction in milk output will be needed after the 15 months in the program have lapsed. "It also appears that further adjustment will be necessary to bring the dairy supply and demand closer into balance."

The $13.10 per hundredweight average support price for milk was reduced by 50 cents on Dec. 1, 1983 as authorized by congress under the Dairy and Tobacco Adjustment Act. Lyng said it appears this may need to be reduced by another 50 cents on April 1, 1985.

The act permits this action if USDA estimates net purchases of milk products by the Commodity Credit Corporation will exceed six billion pounds of milk equivalent in the succeeding 12 months. Also, USDA may reduce the support to $11.60 on July 1, 1985 if it estimates net government purchases will exceed five billion pounds milk equivalent in the following year.

December marked the 56th consecutive month of year-to-year increases in milk production. Since 1979, these increases have resulted from gains in both cow numbers and the amount of milk per cow.

MEASUREMENT SERVICES AVAILABLE THROUGH ASCS

The Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service provides pre-measurement and other producer services to assure farmers that they are in compliance with 1984 acreage reduction requirements and eligible for program benefits.

At the request of the producer, we will stake and measure acreages before crop planting time. Farmers who plant within the stakes that are placed when the land can be assured of correct reporting of crop.

To be eligible for price support loans, target prices and other program benefits, producers must certify actual planted acreages. Pre-measurement is important in helping farmers plan which land to devote to the acreage conservation reserve and which fields to plant.

Other ASCS producer services include measuring total cropland, field or subdivisions to be planted and land areas for other purposes. Fees vary, based on the type of service rendered.

County Agent's Notes

By CLIFFORD J. HAMPTON
County Agent

Nitrogen should be applied to wheat in mid-February, until March 1 for nitrating wheat.

If your yield potential is:

- 35 to 40 bushels per acre apply 60 to 70 pounds N
- 50 to 65 bushels per acre apply 80 to 100 pounds N
- Above 65, apply 90 to 100 pounds N in February and an additional 30 pounds of N in late March to about April 10.

The source of nitrogen makes no difference in the February application, urea, ammonium nitrate, liquid (32 percent) nitrogen or other. If a late March or early April application is made this should be urea, ammonium nitrate or another dry source of nitrogen.

On sandy soils that tested low to medium in potash and potash was applied preplant, some may have been lost to leaching during the heavy December rains. If wheat shows a potash deficiency by late February apply an additional 30 pounds of k2o per acre.

Spring Oats. Much of the state's oat crop was killed by the December freeze. There is some interest in planting spring oats for grain. This can be done but yields will be below that (maybe 50 percent) of fall planted oats. For a grain crop seed about one inch deep as soon as possible at the rate of five to six bushels per acre.

Soybeans

Varieties. The number of varieties available for planting continues to grow. Careful selection of a varieties is basic to the success or failure of soybean production. Variety selection is an important example of no cost management that can make soybeans profitable in 1984.

In the process of selection, first identify the major yield limiting factors field by field. Some of them such as diseases and nematodes can be corrected through use of resistant varieties. Also consider maturity date, herbicide reaction, expected planting date and yield performance. Study research and Extension variety publications and choose those varieties that will help avoid major problems and that have yielded well for several years on soils at research locations nearby. Plant more than one maturity group and keep some acreage in varieties that have performed satisfactorily on the farm in the past.

Fertilization and Liming. Base fertilizer and lime programs on soil tests which also can determine the level of soil fertility. Some producers reduced or omitted fertilizer the last couple of years to economize. In these cases, it will be especially important to retest those fields to determine needs. Once soil fertility levels drop into the low range, yields can be significantly reduced without adequate fertilizer rates. About one out of four acres of soybean land test low in phosphorus and four out of ten test low in potassium.

Soil Conservation

By ED CALVERT
Soil Conservationist
Booneville Field Office

Prentiss County has received it's share of severe cold weather this winter. This may have stunted our winter wheat crop. A later winter (Feb. 1 to March 15) application of nitrogen will be very important.

The greatest demand for nitrogen is when jointing and shoot elongation begins and continues to about the flowering stage. By flowering, wheat has accumulated most of the nitrogen needed for developing the grain. Head formation takes place when stem elongation and jointing begin. Timely application provides a full development of the plant. Adequate nitrogen is necessary at this time if yields are to be optimized.

Rate per acre of late winter application should be 80 to 90 pounds of nitrogen on heavy (clay) soils, 70 to 80 pounds on well drained sandy loam soil, and 60 to 70 pounds on well drained brown loam soil. Excess nitrogen delays maturity and may increase susceptibility to disease.

Splitting the late winter nitrogen application may or may not be necessary. If wheat is on fine-textured soils that have slow to very slow internal drainage, nitrogen uptake may be limited when the soils are soaked. Under these conditions some nitrogen may also be lost from the soils as a gas. You should apply half the nitrogen Feb. 1-15 and the remainder in early March on soils where you expect a loss.

For further information on winter wheat management come by and see us or call the Soil Conservation Service office at 782-3544.

Announce CCC

Loan Rate

Commodity and farm storage loans disbursed in February by the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Commodity Credit Corporation will carry a 10 percent interest rate, according to CCC Executive Vice President Everett Rank.

The 10 percent rate reflects the interest charged by the U.S. Treasury in February and is the same rate in effect the preceding month, Rank said.

It's Time To Start Planning Your Garden

Now is the time to check local seed sources for new and recommended seed varieties for your garden. Here are some of the new vegetables for 1984:

'Celebrity' hybrid tomato, a 1984 All-America Selection Winner, has resistance to tobacco mosaic virus, root knot nematodes, and fusarium wilts. The plant has short vines similar to 'Floramerica'. The fruit are large, firm, and reported exceptionally flavorful.

'Hybrid Beet Pacemaker III' - a round root, with almost no zoning (rings) and great tops.

'Honeybrew' -- A hybrid honeydew type melon with resistance to fusarium wilt and powdery mildew.

'Set More 100' - A hybrid cucumber with resistance to just about everything.

'Bush Star' - a hybrid muskmelon with short vines for the limited space gardener. The vines are tolerant to powdery mildew.

'Early Snap' - a new edible podded pea like 'Sugar Snap' but earlier and with shorter vines.

'Sugar Ann' - a 1984 All America Selection winner. This snap type pea is very early and has dwarf vines only 18 inches tall.

'Skookum' - a new hybrid, rapid growing semi-savory spinach.

'Mirage' - a new hybrid watermelon similar to 'Crimson Sweet' but promising higher yields, darker flesh, and better flavor.

The information given here is for educational purposes only. Reference to commercial products or trade names is made with the understanding that no discrimination is intended of other products which may also be suitable.

Take advantage of any nice days when the soil is dry enough to work. A little time spent rowing up part of the garden can really pay off when planting time comes and the soil is too wet to work. Last spring was extremely wet at planting time, but gardeners who were ready weren't as far behind as those who had left the garden flat.

When starting seed in the house, use a sterile potting mix to reduce damping off. Give plenty of light (16 hours a day), and keep the temperature between 60 and 70 degrees. North Mississippi gardeners should plant tomato seed this month. Planting dates are listed in the Garden Tabloid, Extension Publication 1091.

Soil temperature and soil moisture determine how well early planted vegetable seeds germinate. The lowest soil temperature tolerated is 40 degrees, and this is for lettuce and English peas. Cabbage, carrots, radishes, and spinach seeds need a minimum temperature of 45 degrees, but at these low temperatures seedlings growth is very slow. Don't rush the season and waste your seed by planting too early.

Reading Labels Can Add To Savings

Labels can help people plan more nutritious and economic meals. By comparing the nutritive values of various brands of foods, people can get more nutrition for the food dollar.

Remember, when reading labels, that all food processors must list ingredients in the order in which they predominate - in other words, in decreasing order according to their weight present in the product.

For instance, a label that lists "Gravy, beef, carrots, salt," contains more gravy than anything else. A label that reads "Water, sugar, orange juice" has orange juice in the least amount. Consumers should read ingredient lists carefully to determine if they're getting what they pay for.

Examine the labels of "new" products and old standbys. Compare prices, net contents, ingredient lists and, if available, nutrition information panels. The cost for a slightly modified product - the addition of a little seasoning, a sauce, a few onions or imitation bacon bits, some raisins, dates, or nuts - may be more than the consumers wishes to pay.

For economy, use cereals that need cooking rather than instant or ready-to-eat cereals. Also, unsweetened cereals can be selected. If practical, buy cereals in family-size boxes.

Consider cost and quality of the finished product in deciding whether to buy convenience foods. How much the person enjoys cooking and how much time available for it also will influence the choice. Some foods are easy to prepare, yet inexpensive. Among these are many canned and frozen vegetables, fruits, and juices; instant dehydrated potatoes; canned and dried soups; nonfat dry milk; bread; prepared mixes for biscuits and cakes; and ready-to-eat and "quick" cereals.

When groceries arrive at home, check them critically. Are the choices economical, compared with other choices that might have been made?

Bulimia More Prevalent

Anorexia Nervosa Is Now On The Decline

Anorexia nervosa is a compulsive dieting syndrome that results in starvation and is fatal in five to 20 percent of all cases. It has been quite prevalent in the United States, though it is now declining as bulimia, or bingeing following by vomiting or laxative abuse, increases. Rarely are males anorexic.

Typically, this problem occurs in wealthier countries and strikes bright, upper middle-class young women who are high achievers. So far, researchers have been unable to identify any specific medical or psychiatric cause. Fashion has been blamed for encouraging anorexia because of its emphasis on ultrathinness. Since the 1950s, role models for women - such as Miss Americas, models, actresses - have become thinner and thinner. Women become anorexic in an attempt to meet these standards and develop a profound fear of obesity.

The syndrome frequently begins with a marginally overweight young woman who decides to diet long after she has reached her ideal body weight.

Anorexia nervosa can also be associated with a stressful situation, such as going away to college or being exposed to parents' divorce. Anorexics often come from over-bearing families and use compulsive dieting as a means of gaining control of the family and manipulating them.

One symptom of the syndrome is that the dieter has a distorted body image - that is, she thinks of herself as fat when in fact she is emaciated. Other symptoms include a denial of her illness, absence of menstrual periods, a lack of interest in eating, an increase in physical activity and sometimes an increased interest in nutrition.

Often an anorexic becomes preoccupied with food and continually insists that others eat, though she herself refuses to eat. She may avoid foods containing fat and concentrate on vegetables and protein.

Anorexics may seriously damage their bodies by inducing vomiting and using diuretics and laxatives. These practices can result in electrolyte imbalance and other serious metabolic problems. Singer Karen Carpenter's death was a result of complications of anorexia.

The first and most important step in treating an anorexic is getting her to acknowledge her problem. Those unwilling to do this are the hardest to treat. The anorexic is encouraged to form a trusting relationship with a therapist who specializes in eating disorders. A physician and sometimes a nutritionalist also participate in her treatment.

Treatments may be given in a hospital if the problem is severe. For example, if a patient is seriously malnourished, aggressive nutritional support is needed, which may include intravenous feeding. Treatment varies with each patient, however. Those suffering from this syndrome can be very manipulative, and most medical personnel who deal with anorexics agree that firm, strict guidelines are necessary for the patient to overcome the problems and begin eating normally again.

VISION AND CLASSROOM PERFORMANCE

A child's ability to see and to use vision skills effectively can relate to his or her classroom performance. Concerned parents and educators recognize the importance of vision as a factor in the progress and well-being of the developing youngster. In spite of this, there are many children who fall behind in school because of undetected vision problems.

Many schools and parent-teacher groups conduct valuable preventive vision screening programs. However, these screenings should not be confused with a thorough vision examination by a doctor of optometry.

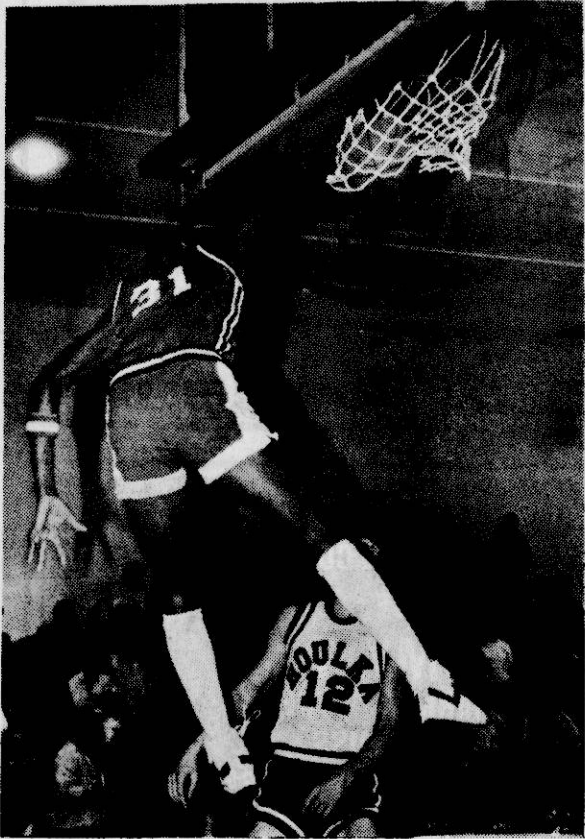

The typical school eye chart is designed to be seen at 20 feet and measures how well or poorly the child sees at that distance. Problems with near vision, eye coordination and focusing ability are among the many problems that may not be discovered in this test.

The observant parent or teacher is in an excellent position to pick up on any symptoms of vision problems in a young child. If these exist, a thorough eye examination may be in order.

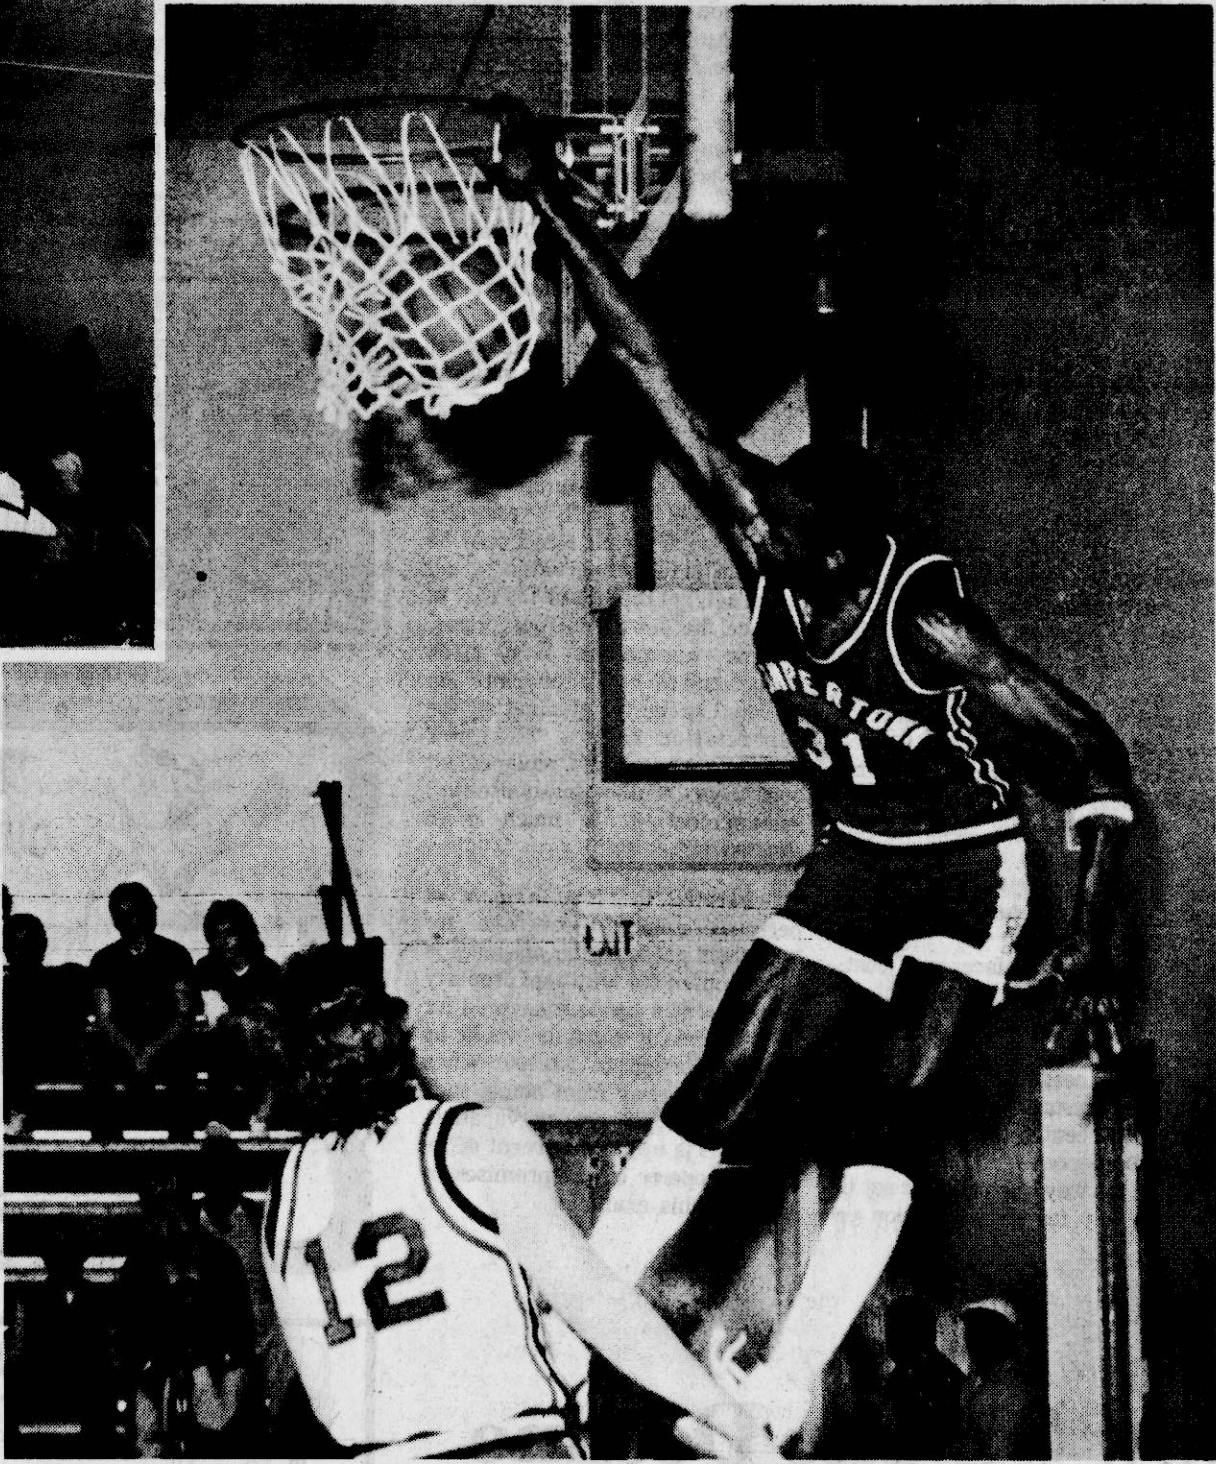

For answers to your specific questions regarding vision, call The Booneville Vision Clinic. 728-3446

Booneville: Boys Out, Girls In

5 Prentiss Teams In Semi-Finals

By GREG SHOOK
Sports Writer

After Tuesday night's matchups only five Prentiss County teams remained in the district tournament - Wheeler boys and girls, Thrasher boys, Jumpertown girls and Booneville girls. These teams will be competing in semi-final action throughout the remainder of the week.

Here is a look at district tournament action through Tuesday night, Feb. 14.

District 1A At Northeast Junior College

The Booneville Blue Devils were knocked out in the first round of play by the ever tough Alcorn Central Golden Bears 66-48, leaving Booneville fans to place their full attention on the Devilettes.

Derrick Pollard connected for 20 points to lead the mighty Bear attack. Keith McIntyre added 16 and Rod Nixon 12. Booneville's floor attack was led by Clay Johnson with 20 points to his favor. Carlos Hastings, making his final appearance with the Booneville club, scored 11 and Tim Jumper added 10.

The Devilettes made the semi-finals with a very impressive 58-33 win over the Lady Bears of Alcorn Central. Kunshinge Sorrell blistered the net with 25 points for the Devilettes, while Sovenia Harris added 18 and Michelle Young 11. Marica Young had 17 points to lead the Lady Bears' unsuccessful attack.

District 1BB At Tishomingo

The Thrasher Rebelettes fell to the hands of the Hatley Tigers 81-27, but not before taking one victory in the district. The Rebelettes won over the Burnsville Mares 43-28 in the first round.

In the Burnsville game Marie Miller led The Rebelettes with 12 points, while Ann Chambers added 11. Brenda Blakney led the attack for the Mares with nine.

In the Hatley game Missy Farrar hit 22 points to lead Hatley. Cindy Smith added 19 to the Tigerettes final tally. For Thrasher, Tracy Taylor hit 12 to be the only Rebelette in double-figures.

The Thrasher Rebels, still keeping state hopes alive, defeated Hamilton 75-63 to reach the semi-finals.

Thrasher got 22 points from Calvin Davis, who led the scoring, with Paul McCutchen adding 20 and Danny Ramsey 13. Jesse Little connected for 13 for Hamilton.

The New Site Lady Royals fell short in the second round of play, losing 64-47 to the Belmont Cardinalettes, after taking the first round in a close one over Hamilton, 52-51.

In the first round against Hamilton Katie Caveness busted 23 points to lead the Lady Royals. Tammy Thornton added 12 and Carol Taylor 10 to the tally.

Tracy Hall put up 25 points for Hamilton, not enough to give her team the win.

In the Belmont game Sherry Slayton led the Cardinalettes with 19 points. Christina Henley added 15. For the Lady Royals it was Katie Caveness with 13 points followed by Tammy Thornton and Lane Smith with 12 each.

The New Site Royals also won their first round with a 71-57 victory over the Burnsville Mustangs. But they were eliminated in the second round by Mooreville 66-59, in overtime, after holding a 33-29 lead at the half.

Against Burnsville Mark Barnes commanded the Royal attack with 23 points. Ronald Clark added 16 and Kip Loden 15.

After the smoke cleared in the over-time against Mooreville Ron Salters had 39 points to his favor and Michael Ruth 11 for Mooreville. On the other end it was Ronald Clark with 14 points, Mark Barnes 13 and Scotty Moore with 12 for New Site.

Thrasher was to face Nettleton in the semi-finals Wednesday night, Feb. 15.

District 1B At Itawamba Junior College

The Jumpertown Cardinalettes still remain to be reckoned with after a 70-46 opening round win over West Clay.

Jumpertown was led by Michelle Laurderdale with 18 points. Angela Welch added 14 and Cassie Davis 12. For West Clay Linda Johnson led the scoring with 16 points.

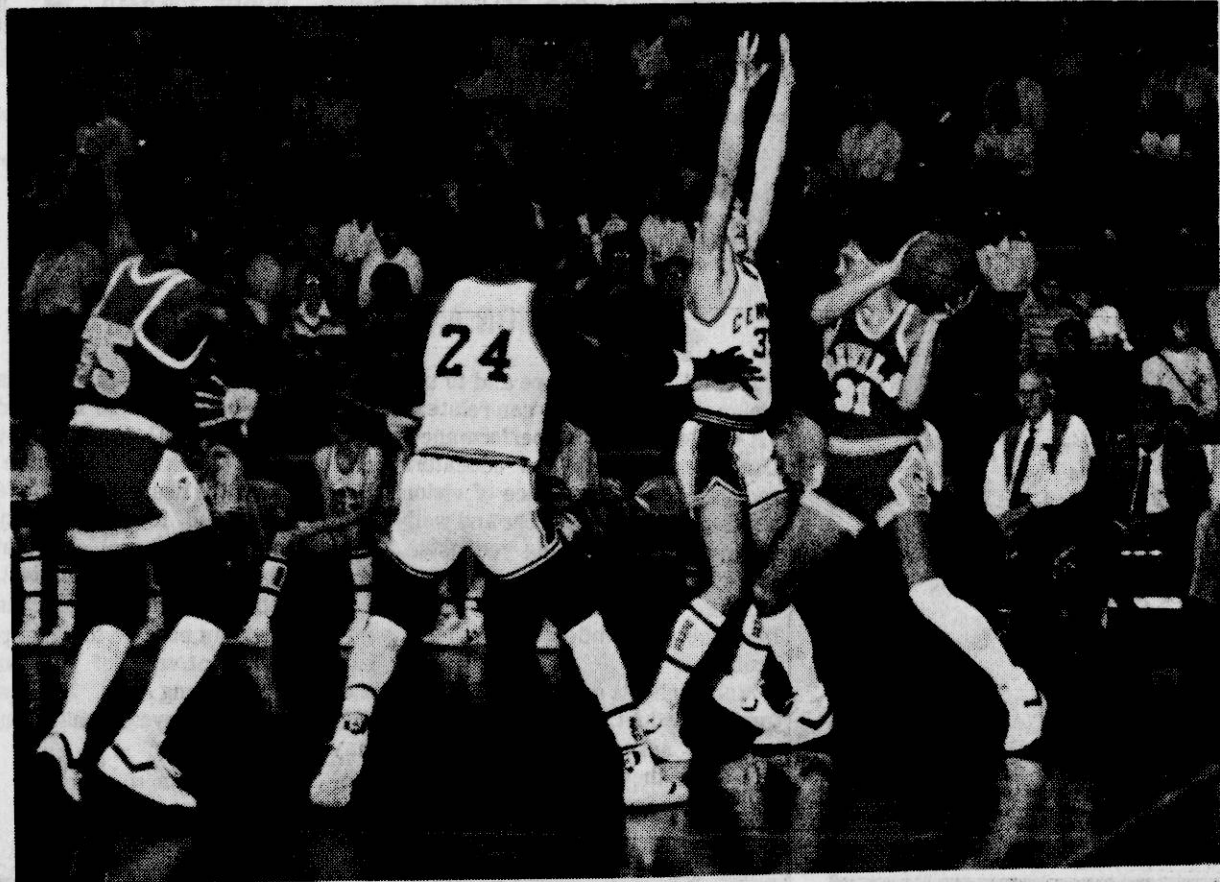

The Jumpertown boys were turned back in their first round attempt by Houlka 68-55.

Robert Woodard led the Tigers with 31 points and Jerry Bean added 18 to the tally. Rickey Burress led Jumpertown with 25 points. Tim Betts followed with 10.

Wheeler's Lady Eagles took their first round with a 63-45 win over Tishomingo.

Sports Opinion

What? No Booneville Olympics Ever?

By SCOTT MCKINNEY
Sports Writer

The 14th Winter Olympic games is underway and the competition is already high. Sarajevo, Yugoslavia, is the site of this year's games, which promise to be among the best ever.

A record number of countries - 50 - 13 more than in 1980 - are competing, with some 1,600 athletes testing their skills in the events. And, yes, the U.S. hockey team is there, hoping for another gold medal like the one they won in the 1980 games.

But a question has popped in many different people's minds lately, especially Prentiss Countians'. Who decides where the games are held?

Of course Prentiss County could never host the Winter games. We are not prepared, weather-wise, for those yet. But how about the summer games?

This summer, Los Angeles will host the Summer Olympic games with festivities abroad. Many athletes representing many nations, along with their supporters, will invade Los Angeles, boosting that town's economic development by over 150 percent.

So why can't we host the summer games? We have the facilities. Maybe they just don't know that we are capable of hosting them.

Let's start by determining where each game would be held. NEMJC could host the basketball, soccer, volleyball, and waterpolo team competitions. The Booneville High School gymnasium would be a perfect place for the boxing championships. The Booneville City pools could host the swimming competitions. And downtown Booneville would make a great bicycle track.

The gymnastics and weightlifting could be held at Anderson Junior High gymnasium, with the track and field events held at the Booneville High School's new football field and track.

Seriously, Prentiss County could never host something like the Olympics. But the idea opens a new phase of development. We have one of the best places in the world to live and work. We just don't realize it.

Maybe we should no longer look at the bad things about our county; only the good. Because if we don't love, respect, and show pride in our county, no one else will.

It could be worse. We could be in Russia!

Tigers & Lady Tigers Both

NEMJC 2nd In North Division

The Tigers and Lady Tigers of Northeast Mississippi Junior College used wins over Mississippi Delta Junior College Monday, Feb. 13 to clinch the number two spot in the North Division standings.

Coming home to Bonner Arnold Coliseum after a Feb. 9 road win over Holmes, the men and women of Northeast routed Delta in both games, the 12:30 tip-off resulted in a 79-67 win for the Lady Tigers and the following men's game ended in an 81-60 sweep.

The Lady Tigers, boosting their record to 16-5, took revenge for a game lost to Delta earlier in the year. Valerie Beasley had her best game of the year with 31 points, while Dianne Harris added 15. Amy Wheat had 13 and Diava Dean scored 11. The Lady Tigers established dominance early in the game, heading for the dressing rooms at the half with a 41-30 lead.

"I was proud of the way my girls played," coach Ricky Ford said afterward. "I've been proud of them all year. In this game we went well to Valerie under the goal and she played well for us."

With the win, the Lady Tigers move into second place with one game left in the regular season.

The Tigers, having already claimed second place with their win over Holmes, put icing on the cake with the Delta win. Though the points were pretty evenly divided, several starters continued to stand out with their consistent performances.

Marlon McGaughy, who head coach Richard Mathis admits is on "quite a tear," led the team in scoring with 17 points. Right behind him was Cal Fields with 12, Terry Ballard with 10, Ron Elam with 10, O'Neal Payton and Perry Perrin with eight each, Kenneth Odle, Michael Groves and Roosevelt Combs with four a piece and Terry Ball and Jeff Hurt with two each.

"I think we're playing better now than we have all year," Mathis said. "After our loss at Northwest, I shook up the lineup and as a result, I'm playing nine or ten players a good bit in every game."

Right now, I'd have to say Marlon is our best player. We moved him back to point guard and he seems to be playing more settled. He's shooting well and his penetration in the lane is excellent. Moving him has probably been responsible for his averaging 22 points per game."

Mathis said he is encouraged by his team's timing, since they seem to be peaking near the beginning of the North Division tournament.

However, Mathis and Ford both say they are not overlooking the upcoming game with Meridian set for Thursday, Feb. 16 at Meridian.

BHS Lifting For Special Olympics

The 1984 LiftAmerica program will lift off at Booneville High School on March 21 during National LiftWeek, March 19-26.

According to Coach Wayne Jones, Chairperson at Booneville High School, LiftAmerica is a series of nationwide community-based lift-a-thons conducted on behalf of Special Olympics and the National Strength and Conditioning Association.

Coach Jones said, "LiftAmerica is the first national fundraising program to emphasize strength training and conditioning."

"BHS lifters will be soliciting pledges toward their tested performance in optional strength training and conditioning exercises," he said. Proceeds from the event will be used to expand the Special Olympics training program and fund scientific research in athletic conditioning and sport science.

Exercises to be tested may include bench press, power clean, or dead lifts, according to Coach Jones. Participants will be tested on one maximum repetition for strength and power.

"LiftAmerica also teams the NSCA up with Special Olympic Training Staff to conduct what will eventually be a nationwide network of training schools where the 9,200 Special Olympic coaches will learn the principles of strength training and proper athletic conditioning," Coach Jones said.

Over one million Special Olympic athletes will receive the very best conditioning preparations for the sporting events that "mean so much in their lives," Coach Jones said.

In April, Coach Jones said that the national LiftAmerica program, headquartered in Lincoln, Nebraska, will collect all pledges by mail.

BHS Lifters Attend Clinic At IJC

Twenty Booneville High School Devils and their coach, Wayne Jones, attended a strength and conditioning clinic at Itawamba Junior College Saturday, Feb. 11th.

The clinic was under the direction of Dr. Greg Shephard, the former strength coach at Brigham Young University who is now the strength coach for the Utah Jazz of the National Basketball Association.

Dr. Shephard presented techniques in weight training, motivational films and nutritional information to over 400 athletes from 40 different high schools.

The clinic was climaxed by the selection of one athlete from each school to attempt his personal goal in the dead lift.

"Jimbo Goddard represented us well with his lift of 505 lbs.," Coach Jones said. Every athlete and coach who attended the clinic came away with a positive attitude toward weight training in sports, according to Coach Jones.

Coggin Honored

Rod Coggin, a student at Booneville High School, has been named a 1984 United States National Award Winner in football, according to the U.S. Achievement Academy.

Rod is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Coggin. His grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. George Reed, Amory, and Mrs. Grady Coggin, Nettleton.

He was nominated for the award by BHS Coach Wayne Jones. And as a winner, his name will appear in the USAA official yearbook which is published nationally.

Students are selected for the honor on the basis of academic performance, interest and aptitude, leadership qualities, responsibility, citizenship, attitude and cooperative spirit, dependability and recommendation from a coach, teacher or director.

Home Blood Sugar Tests Advocated For Diabetics

Blood testing that people can do themselves is urged for persons with diabetes in the cover story of the winter issue of Diabetes '83, a newsletter published by the American Diabetes Association and free to all diabetic patients.

"Self monitoring of blood sugar has made that goal (keeping blood sugar levels consistently normal) possible for many people," writes Michael Brownlee, M.D., assistant professor of Biochemistry at The Rockefeller University. "Tight control is an ideal because it can probably prevent or delay many diabetic complications."

Diabetes and its complications, including kidney failure, stroke and leg and foot amputations from gangrene infections, kill more Americans every year than all other diseases except cancer and cardiovascular disorders.

"Blood tests are an improvement over urine tests because urine tests give only an indirect - and often inaccurate - reflection of blood sugar. It's hard to make sound treatment decisions based on fuzzy data," he noted. In contrast, blood tests can give precise blood sugar levels. With self-monitoring, it is possible to improve blood sugar control by providing a definite target and a scheme to achieve that target. It is unfortunate that this is not better recognized by diabetic patients and that self-monitoring has not become as popular as many physicians would like.

More than 11 million Americans suffer with diabetes. Due to abnormal function of the pancreas, many diabetic patients do not manufacture sufficient insulin to properly utilize sugar and other foods. Consequently, glucose - a form of sugar - can build up to dangerously high levels in the blood. Traditionally, diabetic children and adults have monitored their own glucose levels by testing their urine, while blood tests were limited to visits to their physicians.

Kits for patient monitoring of blood glucose were first reported in 1978. They have gained progressively wider use in the last few years.

"To do a blood test, you prick your finger and put a drop of blood onto a chemically treated strip that changes color according to the amount of sugar in the blood. To read the strip, you either compare it against a color chart or insert it into a meter, which displays a number," writes Dr. Brownlee.

"Anyone of any age who wants to achieve better control can benefit from self-monitoring of blood sugar," he continues. With a precise indication of what is going on in the body, the patient can make day-to-day adjustments in food intake, exercise, and, if necessary, insulin injections, to maintain optimal blood glucose levels. Anyone with diabetes, whether or not they are using insulin or oral medication, can benefit from self testing.

Dr. Brownlee concludes his article by urging all people with diabetes to ask their doctor's advice about the procedure.

A free subscription of Diabetes '83 - which will become Diabetes '84 with its next issue, is available to any person with diabetes who requests it by writing to the American Diabetes Association, Dept. 1984, 2 Park Avenue, New York, NY 10016.

Diabetes '83 is the latest in a wide range of publications and other education materials prepared by leading U.S. medical experts to help diabetic sufferers live healthy, productive lives. The American Diabetes Association is the nation's leading national voluntary health organization dedicated to serving all diabetic children and adults, and their families, through its research, education and community service programs.

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK:

Help! It's Me Again, Lord!

By Bro. Bobby White

Pastor Lakeview Baptist Church

It's me again Lord, I know that it has been quite awhile since I talked with you, but Lord, you know how busy I've been. I know I should take time to pray more often, but things just seem to get out of hand, you know how time flies. Things were going so well there for a while. I don't know what happened, now everything is going wrong. Lord, I need help. Bills are piling up, money just doesn't come in like it should, I just don't understand it. No, now that I think about it I haven't been giving my tithes to the church like I should, but Lord, there were a few little things I needed.

Yes, Lord, I'll read Luke 6:38. I'm sure it will help me understand what's wrong. Lord, there's something else too, I haven't been feeling good lately, been coughing and wheezing a lot. Yes, I'm still smoking, but that couldn't be it. Could it? But, Lord, I get so nervous when I try to quit. Yes, Lord, I know I'm quite a few pounds overweight, but you know how I love to eat. Sure Lord, I'll read I Corinthians Chapter 3 verse 16-17, anything to help me.

No, Lord, I guess I really haven't been going to Church very often, lately. The weather has been pretty rough you know, and like I said, I've not been feeling good. Yes, I've managed to go to work, but, Lord, I have to have a little rest you know. No, on Saturday I'm so busy I just don't have time to rest. We have company pretty often, play cards or go to the movies. Yes, Lord, I know some of those movies are pretty rough, but we don't take the kids. But, Lord, on Sunday night I have to get ready for work on Monday. Well, on Wednesday night I'm so tired. But you know, Lord, they tell me the church is doing pretty well. Yes, I've heard there has been quite a few absent from church lately. Lord, maybe we need a new pastor. This one preaches pretty hard. Yes, Lord, I'll read Hebrews 10-25.

You know, Lord, after having this talk with you and reading those scriptures, I think I've found out what's wrong in my life. Lord, I really do need help. Lord, will you help me to be what you would have me to be?

Does this prayer sound familiar to you?
I Thess. 5-17: "Pray without ceasing."
I Cor. 15-58: "Therefore my beloved brethren, be ye steadfast unmoveable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, forasmuch as you know that your labour is not in vain in the Lord."

A DELIVERY YOU CAN BANK ON - This 40,000 pound preformed concrete building constructed by National Bank Builders & Equipment Co. of Walls, Miss., was recently delivered to the triangle formerly occupied by the Prentiss County Home Bank on the back of this flatbed trailer. After being lifted by four hydraulic jacks so the trailer could be pulled from under it, the building was lowered onto four concrete pads. It will be used to house a 24-hour computer banking facility for The Peoples Bank. (Photo by Ed Woodward)

Ag Affairs

By ED BLAKE
Mississippi Farm Bureau Federation

The uncertainty of Uncle Sam's future role in the fish hatchery business, the high cost of commonly used chemicals used to kill existing fishpond populations, and a new state government posture toward state certification of gamefish hatcheries, have combined to create an occasional new approach to remedying species imbalances in Mississippi fishponds.

For a long time the usual remedy for improved fishing in farm ponds when species got out of balance with each other, resulting in poor fishing, was to chemically kill the existing fish population and start all over again.

In most cases this still is the most effective remedy for most poor fishing situations, according to Ramon Callahan, state biologist with the U.S. Soil Conservation Service. But with today's new developments it may be more economically feasible in certain cases to add larger fish of the needed species to correct an imbalance problem rather than starting anew.

"However, we make no specific recommendations for remedying an ailing pond," Callahan hastened to say, "until a pond check is made by a professional biologist."

A pond check is performed by biologists with the Soil Conservation Service, the Department of Wildlife Conservation or others does more than simply determine a relative population count of the various species. It also provides information regarding the need for fertilizer or lime in the water, or several other cultural practices. Then, technicians determine specific recommendations dealing with any or all of the problems of the pond in question.

Eden Fisheries operates just across the levee from the Yazoo River and is primarily a commercial catfish operation, but Henderson is engaged in considerable research as he actively develops a gamefish-for-stocking program. He produces bass and bream as well as catfish.

Both Henderson and Callahan acknowledge that it is no easy thing to economically raise bass and bream beyond a fingerling stage since bass are predators and must be provided with adequate supplies of forage fish as they develop during the first year to about ten inches in length and from about a quarter to a half a pound in weight.

An example of the newly recommended addition of these larger fish to an ailing pond is when a pond check shows too many small bream are being produced with insufficient bass to keep their numbers in control. Then, a few larger bass can do wonders!

Callahan reports that natural bass reproduction is a slow process and the ready availability of yearling sizes can be a real asset to a problem pond. He added that today a popular chemical used for causing a fish kill in a pond costs approximately $60 per pond acres. So a purchase of larger bass to control bream numbers oftentimes is more economically feasible, and is a time saver.

Some pondowners now have a welcome, favorable alternative to a fish kill practice which generally puts a pond out of action for three years.

Local Woman's Nephew Receives Kidney Transplant In Memphis

To Jim Whitehurst of Corinth, "brotherly love" is more than just a saying. On Jan. 31, his brother, Tim of Grenada, donated one of his kidneys to him.

The Whitehursts are the nephews of Ella Stutts of Booneville.

This is the second kidney transplant Jim Whitehurst has undergone. Some 5½ years ago he lost the use of his kidney because of illness. He was then connected to a dialysis machine for more than a year before the first kidney transplant.

It was not too long after the first transplant that Whitehurst's new kidney became infected and he again used the dialysis machine.

The Whitehursts have another brother, Jerry of Memphis. Both Jerry and Tim had volunteered to give their brother one of their kidneys when they first found out about the disease -- but Jim asked them to wait to see if another donor could be found.

"Everybody's trying to make something great out of this," Tim Whitehurst said prior to the operation. "But to me it's just something anyone would do for a member of their family."

Mrs. Stutts said that her nephews are doing fine.

"Tim is expecting to go home today," she said Tuesday. "Jim will be in the hospital (at the William F. Bould Division of the University of Tennessee Medical Center in Memphis) for at least two months. But he did get a pass and go to his brother-in-law's in Memphis last weekend."

Later on this year Tim will be the guest of honor at his brother's annual charity golf tournament for the Kidney Foundation.

United Gas Has Rolled Up Its Sleeves To Lower The Cost Of Natural Gas

Everyone knows that times are tough. Even though a recovery appears to be in sight, the effects of the recession are still with us.

And will be for a while.

We know that the cost of fuel for heating homes and fueling industry is more important than ever. And because a maze of regulations influence supply and transportation contracts, lowering the delivered cost of natural gas is not easy.

But we're working hard to do so because the cost of energy is of critical concern to home and industry.

So we've rolled up our sleeves. We've cut our budgets where appropriate, reduced our expenses while maintaining the safe and efficient operation of our natural gas system. We've lowered our delivered price for natural gas by exercising available options in gas purchase contracts, renegotiated some other contracts downward and negotiated more favorable terms in transportation agreements. We've reduced the level of our capital spending.

We've brought United Gas to a new high-level of strength and efficiency.

We know how important energy is to the continued well-being of home and industry. Natural gas is the most efficient fuel ever produced by man or nature. It is our objective to continue bringing this premium energy to you at the lowest possible cost, as we have worked to do for more than 50 years of service to the Gulf South.

This Is State Tree Planting Week

Mississippi's annual Tree Planting Week is only days away (Feb. 10-17) and indications are that local participation in the observance will be among the highest in the event's ten year history, according to Chauncey Tanner, statewide Tree Planting Week - 1984 Chairman.

"Plans for Tree Planting Week are well along in most counties at this point," Tanner said.

Tanner said Mississippi's annual "Celebration of Trees" has been steadily growing since the program was first spread statewide in 1975.

Tree Planting Week committees, led by Soil and Water Conservation District Commissioners in each county, are sponsoring the local observances. Persons wanting information about local tree planting events should contact any of the agricultural offices or watch and listen for additional local announcements.

VA Phone Service Gets 700 Calls Day

Most people would pull the telephone off the wall if it rang 500 times in eight hours - but if the phones at the Jackson VA Regional Office ring any less, it's been a slow day.

The telephone interview unit at the regional office has received from 655 to 819 calls a day from veterans and their dependents throughout Mississippi since Jan. 1, 1984. Each of the unit's seven veterans benefits counselors answers an average of 100 inquiries daily. The toll-free service puts an experienced benefits counselor within reach of any veteran anywhere in Mississippi.

"The telephone unit was established to provide personal consultation to veterans unable to visit the regional office," said regional office director Charles Wickes. "Our telephone counselors can discuss eligibility and entitlement for all VA programs during a telephone conversation."

Seated at desks in front of computer terminal screens and VA benefits manuals and wearing telephone head sets eliminating use of traditional hand-held receivers, telephone counselors take calls one after another covering everything from home loan guaranty eligibility to lost checks.

VA's "Target" computer terminals give each counselor immediate access to VA's national records system. Counselors can identify and expedite action on a lost VA benefits check, give a caller an update on a benefits claim in process or verify the accuracy of a benefits check during a phone call. The counselor can also identify benefits a veteran may not have known were available.

"Access to the computer system is activated when a veteran or beneficiary answers seven personal questions and provides a VA claim number, social security number or military service number," explained Wickes. "This question-answer process protects a veteran's file from exposure to unauthorized individuals."

Wickes said the telephone unit is staffed to answer questions from veterans, their dependents or survivors from 7:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., Monday thru Friday. However, since the greatest number of calls are received between 9:30 a.m. and 2:30 p.m., callers are urged to call during the early morning or late afternoon hours. The toll-free telephone number is 1-800-682-5270 and the Jackson area number is 960-4873.

Food Prices Average Higher In December

The consumer price index for food in December rose 0.5 percent from the November level (before seasonal adjustment), according to the monthly consumer price index released by the U.S. Department of Labor.

Prices for food bought in grocery stores in December rose 0.6 percent from the November level, but were only 1.9 percent above December a year ago. In contrast, prices for restaurant meals and snacks rose 0.2 percent in December and were 4.1 percent above a year earlier.

According to Assistant Secretary of Agriculture William Leshner, "In 1983 prices for food bought in grocery stores have averaged 1 percent above 1982 levels - the smallest increase in 16 years. However, I am concerned that much of this reduction in the rate of food price increases is attributable to lower farm prices for most farm commodities."

"Price for meats, poultry, eggs and fruits and vegetables have increased since the first of the year as a result of extreme cold weather this winter. Weight gains of livestock have slowed due to cold weather, and the Christmas freeze destroyed citrus and vegetable crops across the south."

Prices for red meats dropped 0.1 percent in December. Beef and veal prices rose only 0.1 percent, but pork prices declined 0.3 percent in December, reflecting holiday sales features by many retailers. Pork prices were 11 percent below a year earlier.

Poultry prices however, increased 4 percent and egg prices rose 12.4 percent in December, due to reduced supplies and strong consumer demand during the holidays.

Smaller supplies of eggs are the result of planned cutbacks by producers due to high feed costs and substantial losses of laying flocks due to avian flu.

Fresh fruit prices declined 3.3 percent, reflecting lower prices for orange and bananas. Fresh vegetable prices rose 6.5 percent, led by higher prices for lettuce and potatoes.

Some Tips

For Safety

At Home

Children are injured in their homes each day, and often ordinary household fixtures such as screened doors, electric outlets, space heaters, stairways and steps are to blame.

To help keep children from becoming victims of these "household hazards," the Governor's Commission for Children and Youth (GCCY) has offered some "child-proofing" tips to help make homes safer for children.

Commission Chairperson Dr. Peggy Emerson suggested parents or guardians check all doors and windows to see if latches and knobs work properly and doors open easily. If they do not, then children may face a serious fire hazard. They could become trapped and burn to death if a fire occurred.

Also, having a pre-planned fire escape route is recommended, and practicing once a week with children so they will know what to do if fire breaks out is a good idea.

Another childproofing suggestion is to cover all electrical outlets when not in use. Small children often are attracted to electrical outlets and sometimes attempt to put fingers on other objects in them that might cause severe electrical shocks or burns.

Caution also is recommended when using electrical appliances around children. Small children may pull extension cords or other electrical cords from the wall, resulting in injuries.

"Also, children require well lighted areas for play and other activities such as reading. Check areas such as playrooms, bedrooms and dens where children play to be sure there's adequate lighting. Poor lighting is bad for children's eyes," Emerson noted.

GCCY also recommended installing handrails on stairways and steps to help children avoid falls and injuries. "If there are more than three steps involved, a handrail should be provided to protect children and others from falls," she said.

Another way to make a home safer for children is to make sure that space heaters are properly vented and there are no gas leaks in the house. During the warm months ahead when heaters are not in use, GCCY suggested covering or securing heater knobs so children cannot turn them on. In some cases, knobs can be removed.

The commission also suggested repairing or replacing worn screens on windows and doors. "Holes in screens are a temptation for children, and, because they think they're fun to play in, children put fingers, hands, noses and feet through, often cutting themselves or collecting germs and bacteria found on the screen," Emerson said.

Individuals also should check for and repair broken windows, glass fixtures or chipped tiles. "These things can cause children to trip and fall or severely cut themselves," she noted.

A final childproofing suggestion is to check for peeled paint, particularly in areas where food is prepared or served.

"Children can swallow pieces of peeled paint and get lead poisoning. Repaint the area using a lead-free paint, or cover it with wall paper or some sort of wall covering," Emerson suggested.

For more information on child-proofing the home or other information about children and youth, phone the GCCY at 354-6772 or the Governor's Service Line, toll free, 1-800-222-7622.

Kubrik Looking For Actors To Play Marines In New Film About Vietnam

Director Stanley Kubrick - whose films include 2001: A Space Odyssey, A Clockwork Orange, Dr. Strangelove and The Shining - is conducting a nation-wide talent search for new faces to play the parts of young marines in his new film Full Metal Jacket, based on the novel The Short-Timers, by Gustav Hasford, who served as a Marine in Vietnam from 1967 to 1968. Filming will begin in the Autumn of 1984.

The story follows 18-year-old Marine recruit, Private Joker, from his carnage-and-machismo initiation rites at the Marine Corp Parris Island Training Camp, where his drill instructor brags about the marksmanship of Ex-Marines Lee Harvey Oswald and Charles Whitman, to his climatic involvement in the heavy fighting in Vietnam during the 1968 TET Offensive.

Anyone interested in doing an audition video tape for a part in this film should follow the instructions below:

How to do an Audition Video Tape

1. Use a 1/2 inch VHS or Sony Betamax home video recorder and camera set-up.

2. If the VHS recorder runs at two speeds use the faster of the two speeds.
3. Wear a T-shirt and pants.
4. Start the video recording with about a 3 minute acting scene. Do any scene you think appropriate and with which you feel comfortable.

5. Next, do about a minute or so telling something about yourself and your interests.
6. Next, hold up a piece of paper on which you have clearly printed your name, address, phone number, age, and date of birth. While you are doing this say the same information

- out loud.
7. Last of all, do a close-up and a full length shot of yourself on the video, from a front view and a left and right profile.
8. Stick a label onto the cassette with your name, address, telephone number and age clearly printed on it. Unfortunately, we cannot return any of the video tapes.

9. Air mail the cassette in a padded bag to Stanley Kubrick, Warner Bros., 135 Wardour Street, London, W1V 4AP England.

Full Metal Jacket will be written, directed and produced by Stanley Kubrick for release world-wide by Warner Bros.

Area Heart Fund Campaign Underway

Helen Jones, president of the American Heart Association -- Mississippi Affiliate's 1984 fund raising campaign in Prentiss County, will coordinate volunteers on Heart Sunday, Feb. 26, who will seek contributions and distribute information on how the American Heart Association spent its money in support of research, education and community service programs. "This year's campaign goal is $5,000, contributing to a statewide goal of $925,000," Mrs. Jones said. The American Heart Association is a major health organization of more than two million volunteers dedicated solely to the reduction of early death and disability from heart disease, stroke and related disorders. The Mississippi Affiliate is made up of county heart organizations in all 82 Mississippi counties.

Despite a continuing reduction in the death rate from heart disease and stroke, more than 40 million Americans are afflicted with these diseases, and nearly one million Americans die each year as a result of these diseases -- more than all other causes of death combined, according to the AHA.

"We're fighting to reduce the early death and disability from these diseases, so when your Heart volunteer calls, remember to give generously," Mrs. Jones said.
