Roundup

New System 'Working'

The new house-to-house county garbage pick-up system implemented at the beginning of April seems to be working "real good," according to J.P. Davis, President of the Prentiss County Board of Supervisors.

"There has been some complaining because we've missed some people's roads," Davis said. "But overall the new system is working fine."

Davis noted that if anyone is being missed from the weekly garbage pick-up, they should notify the board of supervisors so that this can be corrected.

He said there are some areas in the county where people have continued to dump garbage where the dumpsters were located. "We hope this will stop soon."

Hearing Postponed

A hearing for a 29-year-old Booneville man charged with raping a 9-year-old girl has been postponed until Monday, according to Booneville Police Chief Bobby Lambert.

The hearing for Tommy Pannell, 29, of Sunflower was originally scheduled to be heard Monday. However, the hearing is now scheduled for Monday at 2 p.m., Lambert said.

Pannell was arrested April 15 and charged with statutory rape. The alleged rape reportedly occurred at the girl's residence in Sunflower, Lambert said.

Pannell was released from jail April 18 on $10,000 bond.

Jobless Rate Down

Prentiss County's unemployment rate continues its downward trend, falling to 8.9 percent at mid-March, according to the Mississippi Employment Security Commission in Corinth.

This compares with a rate of 10.4 percent in February of this year and with 16.2 percent in March of last year.

Manufacturing employment in the county registered 3,010, 50 above the February estimate and 410 above the March 1983 estimate.

Nonmanufacturing employment rose to 3,980, 90 more than in February and 220 more than in March 1983.

The civilian labor force was estimated to be 11,510. The number of county residents employed was reported at 10,480.

Set Clocks Forward

Daylight Savings Time for 1984 begins this Sunday at 2 a.m.

To avoid confusion, remember the formula "Spring forward - Fall back."

This means that before going to bed Saturday night, clocks should be set forward an hour.

Courthouse Closed

The Prentiss County Courthouse will be closed Monday, April 30, in observance of Confederate Memorial Day.

However, Booneville City Hall and the Booneville Post Office will be open Monday.

Saturday Twisters Keep PCEPA Busy

By ED WOODWARD
Managing Editor

Tornadoes that swept through Mississippi Saturday leaving 15 dead and an estimated 100 injured, left only scattered minor damage and power outages, but no deaths or injuries in Prentiss County.

The National Weather Service in Tupelo tracked four tornadoes between 3 p.m. and 6 p.m. Saturday, April 21. Those twisters avoided all but a small corner of Prentiss County.

One was tracked from Ripley to Corinth; one from New Albany to near Ripley and on to Burnsville; one from Sardis to Ripley to Corinth; and one - the most destructive - from Water Valley through Lafayette, Union, Tippah and Alcorn Counties.

The New Albany to Burnsville twister actually looped around Prentiss County, while the one tracked from Water Valley cut across the northeast corner of the county.

The heaviest damage was done by the latter tornado which wiped out a large portion of the downtown area of Water Valley, killing seven people and injuring an estimated 72.

Two people were also reported killed in LeFlore County, five in Tallahatchie County and one in Union County.

A sighting was reported near Rienzi. And there were confirmed damage reports from Ripley and Burnsville.

Three touchdowns were reported near Ripley. One was at Reggie Smith's store on Highway 4 east of Ripley around 3 p.m.

Also around 3 p.m., a twister damaged the roof of the Jim Parks house and uprooted trees seven miles east of Ripley.

At 7:30 p.m., a tornado touched down 12 miles east of Ripley at the Leroy Derrick farm pulling up trees and downing power lines.

Trees and TV antennas were reported downed in Alcorn County. And a reported 6:30 p.m. touchdown in Burnsville caused property damage.

According to Ronny Rowland, manager of the Prentiss County Electric Power Association, two tornados did cross Prentiss County Saturday, causing "about three hour power outages for several hundred PCEPA members.

"Severe lightning associated with these storms burned a main line in two at New Site and destroyed a switch at the transformers that serve McClendon Cheese Co. in Booneville," Rowland said.

He reported that the first tornado touched down near the Tippah and Prentiss County line at 7:30 p.m., one and a half hours after the one tracked through that area by the NWS.

Local Industries Nominated For Governor's Award

Two Booneville manufacturing companies are among 92 Mississippi industries nominated for the 1983 Governor's Bronze Glove Award.

According to an announcement by the Mississippi Department of Economic Development, both Colleague Inc. and H&W Industries Inc. of Booneville were nominated for the award which was to be presented at the fourth annual Salute to Industry Banquet Tuesday night, April 24, at the Coliseum Ramada Inn in Jackson.

Each year the Bronze Glove Award is presented to one industry in each of the state's five congressional districts, according to George L. Snyder, public information officer for the MDED. Nominations are solicited from all communities through local development groups, chambers of commerce and local government. The Bronze Glove finalists are then selected by an impartial committee established by the MDED, Snyder said.

"For the third year the MDED is sponsoring the Salute to Industry Program in conjunction with the Employer Support of the Guard and Reserve," he said.

Responding to what he said was almost a 60 percent increase in nominations for the 1983 Bronze Glove Awards, William Hackett, executive director of the MDED, said, "It's gratifying to see the growth and public acceptance of this program over the past three years."

"As evidenced by the 1983 Alexander Grant Survey, Mississippi has one of the top business climates in the country. And I think the Salute to Industry Program is indicative of the pro-business environment industry find here in the state," Hackett said.

House Urges Public Hearings On Sale

The Mississippi House of Representatives voted Thursday, April 19, for a resolution asking the Interstate Commerce Commission to hold public hearings on the purchase of 713 miles of East Mississippi Illinois Central Gulf Railroad Lines.

The House vote was 115-5 in favor of the resolution, which was sponsored by 18 members from the area served by the lines.

The sale of the lines to L.B. Foster Co., a Pittsburgh, Pa., based firm, for a reported $22 was announced in February.

Though Foster has announced that the lines, renamed Gulf & Mississippi Railroad, will be managed by Kyle Railways of San Diego, Calif., and they plan to invest $2 million per year to update and refurbish the tracks and rolling stock, many area officials are openly skeptical.

In the past, Foster has made it a practice to purchase and scrap abandoned railways. And, prior to the sale, the ICG had stated its intention to abandon the East Mississippi lines.

But Foster officials have repeatedly insisted that they intend to operate the lines successfully by working "in partnership" with shippers and the communities served by the lines.

Kyle Railways, a manager of shortline railroads, currently manages the Natchez Trace Line, a 55-mile shortline railroad running between Oxford and Grand Junction.

In addition to the scepticism

Gift Shop Is Silk Flower Garden

By ANGELA SMITH
Staff Reporter

When someone walks into the Marietta Variety and Gift Shop, the first thing they notice is the colorful assortment of silk flower arrangements.

The gift shop, owned by Josephine Gooch, is filled with silk flower arrangements in so many colors that they are reminiscent of rainbows.

Mrs. Gooch has owned the shop about a year and a half.

Her husband, Richard, is minister at the Marietta Church of Christ. They have one son, Jeff, 21.

Mrs. Gooch first began arranging flowers when she lived in the Philippines.

"The priest in the Catholic Church would ask my grandfather to make flower arrangements whenever we had weddings, funerals, or any other occasions in the church. There were no florists. Money was spent on something else.

"I started helping my grandfather and I've made flower arrangements ever since," Mrs. Gooch said.

HER FLOWER arrangements today reflect the colorful flowers she grew up with in the Philippines, she adds.

Her favorite silk flower arrangements are those which look the most realistic.

Although she uses a wide variety of colors, Mrs. Gooch personally prefers the colors of orange, red and yellow.

"To me the yellow goes good like beige. It goes good with anything and brightens the room. It isn't a dull color. I like bright and cheerful colors."

In addition to the practice she had arranging flowers in the Philippines, she also took a course at Itawamba Junior College to learn new ways of working with flowers.

Besides creating centerpieces for the home, she also makes church arrangements, bridal bouquets, and flowers for decoration - days at cemeteries.

She rarely uses real flowers in the arrangements - she says her business is too small for that - and besides, silk flowers last longer.

Her shop is located in the heart of

BIBLE QUESTION BOX

QUESTION: Mr. Hogland, what is meant by the dark ages?

ANSWER: The dark ages refer to that period of time when the Bible was chained to the pulpit and only the clergy could read it. Historians differ on the exact dates of such a period in that darkness has degrees.

Since the Bible at that time was in Latin, few people except the "clergy" could read it. In the fifth century the Anglo-Saxon language was introduced into England. A demand was soon made for the Bible in that language. In the seventh century Cademan undertook a translation but died before it was completed. Bede tried with the same result. Alfred the Great tried, but death prevented. In the eleventh century the English language replaced the Anglo-Saxon and there arose a demand for the Bible in English. The apostate church opposed the effort. They succeeded in getting laws passed which made it punishable by death for anyone to read the English Bible. This marks the beginning of a bloody story of the rise of the English Bible. John Wycliffe began a translation in 1360. In spite of Roman opposition he completed it in 1382. Manuscript copies sold for two hundred dollars. Later William Tyndale and Miles Coverdale gave the world translations of this great book.

FBLA To Conduct Computer Camp

The Prentiss County FBLA Chapter will conduct a computer camp for 3rd, 4th and 5th graders the week of May 28 - June 1.

This is for students who will be in these grades the fall of 1984-85 school year.

Should there be an overflow of students enroll, a camp will also be held the following week.

Only 15 students will be accepted and they will be accepted on a first-come, first-serve basis.

Preregistration is necessary. The list will be in the Vocational Business Education Department at the Prentiss County Vocational Technical School. Phone 728-3915 to preregister.

The Computer Camp will last from 8:30 until noon from Monday to Friday.

Hands-on experience on the computers (TRS-80 Microcomputers made by Radio Shack) will occupy a large percentage of the time. Each student will have his own computer on which to work. There will be enough FBLA members to work with all students.

The Campers will learn how and why a computer works, have individualized instruction, and get to know basic programming. In addition, there will be a play time both on and off the computers, and refreshments at mid-morning.

The registration fee will be $50 for one week.

Storms

"It blew down a large number of trees in a line about half a mile long between the Ellis Wren and Hurshel Eaton properties," he said.

Rowland said PCEPA employees completed repairs in that area around 10:30 p.m.

"The second tornado moved through the county at about 10:30 p.m., blowing a tree over the main three-phase power line on the Baldwin-Ripley Road west of Baldwin, and several trees over the main power line that serves the Oak Hill area west of the Catholic Church on Highway 45 south of Booneville," Rowland said.

He said PCEPA employees arrived at those two locations at about 11 p.m., after finishing work at the location of the first tornado. "They completed the work at 2 a.m. Sunday morning," he said.

"They then separated into several two-man crews and repaired a large number of smaller outages around Baldwin, Frankstown, Booneville and New Site," Rowland said.

"This work was completed about 8 a.m. Sunday morning. Then, about 3 p.m. Sunday afternoon, a tree was blown across a line at Lake Mohawk causing a large number of members in the Dry Creek Community and Lake Mohawk area to be without power for about two hours," he said. "We'd like to express our appreciation to the members who were without power for their patience. And we would also like to thank our fellow employees for their work through the night in the mud, rain and lightning," Rowland said.

There was other damage reported by other sources in the Geeville and Ingram Baptist Church areas, and in the Oak Hill Community.

Third District Supervisor J.P. Davis reported that a portion of the back wall of his maintenance building was "pulled out." The building is constructed of cement blocks.

Both Davis and Baldwin Mayor Merle Rowan reported damage in the Ingram Baptist Church area, including a "trailer blown over."

Rowan said there were also "several porch tops blown off" near Brice's Crossroads.

The second twister was also reported by Prentiss County Sheriff's deputies who were in the Oak Hill vicinity at the time it hit. But it apparently was never detected or tracked by the National Weather Service radar.

In addition to uprooting a number of trees, causing the power outages, the tornado tore off several roofs, overturned outbuildings and reportedly demolished at least one barn in the Oak Hill area.

Debris was also strewn over the Cox's Bottom area adjacent to the Oak Hill Community.

There have been several reports of debris from the Water Valley destruction being dumped in the area by the waning winds of the 5:30 p.m. killer tornado.

ICG

about Foster's actual motives for the purchase, a recent United Transportation Union newsletter accused the G&M of attempting to evade labor agreements currently in effect with the ICG.

Dan Collins, assistant general secretary for the union, said the union is seeking to maintain protective agreements for employees of the lines. He said Kyle and the G&M might try to cut costs by cutting wages.

Foster had stated in a March 16 application to the ICC that "modifications of traditional labor practices are central to the G&M's ability to provide competitive rail service." The company said its plans might have to be scrapped if those modifications were not granted by the ICC.

Holly Van Dine, a Foster spokesman, denied that Foster, Kyle or the G&M intended to evade any agreements with the union.

IS THERE A HELL?

Hell has become such an unpopular subject that many religious groups have eliminated the subject of hell from their teaching and preaching. The word "hell" (GEHENNA) appears twelve times in the New Testament. It is used eleven times by Jesus and once by James. Hell is taught in the New Testament and should be preached on more by those who preach.

I believe there is a hell because the Bible teaches it, all nations believe it, heaven suggests it, and justice demands it. The law of sowing and reaping as set forth in the scriptures suggests there is a hell. (Gal. 6:7-8) Why are we warned of the judgment if there is no hell? (Heb. 9:27) The rich man that died unprepared, tried to warn others. (Luke 16:27-28) It shouldn't be hard for us to believe in hell if we believe in heaven. The same Bible that teaches one also teaches the other.

God uses figurative language to describe unto us the horrors of hell. Hell is described as the following: (1) a place of torments (Luke 16:23-24) (2) outer darkness (Matt. 25:30) (3) a furnace of fire (Matt. 13:41-42) (4) a lake of fire (Rev. 21:8) (5) a place of destruction or second death (Matt. 10:28, Rev. 20:14) (6) a place prepared for the devil and his angels (Matt. 25:41) (7) a place from God's presence. (2 Thess. 1:9) To view hell and its inhabitants should cause all to desire heaven.

We should try to avoid hell because it will last forever. The Bible teaches that the wicked will be tormented forever and forever. (Rev. 14:11, Rev. 20:10) The punishment of hell is also described as everlasting. (Matt. 25:46, 2 Thess. 1:9) The fire of hell is described as unquenchable. (Mark 9:43) More would become Christians if they would read the description that God gives of hell. The only way to avoid hell and enter heaven is to obey Christ and live according to the teachings of the New Testament.

When your life is over and you face God at judgment, where will you spend eternity? Will you experience the joys of heaven or the horrors of hell?

Eyes On Mississippi

By BILL MINOR
Syndicated Columnist

JACKSON, Miss. — For years there has been general agreement behind the scenes in the Legislature that a poor state like Mississippi could not afford to operate eight institutions of higher learning, all of which since 1973 have been called universities.

But talk of consolidating or closing any university has been done only in hushed tones, because lawmakers didn't want to stick their necks out on such a touchy subject. Nor has the State College Board been willing to take the lead.

This year, for the first time, the issue of university consolidation has been brought out into the open, and it took a 30-year-old freshman senator to do it.

One day in the cloakroom of the Senate, Sen. Cy Rosenblatt of Jackson was musing with a couple of colleagues about how the state might maximize its limited resources to provide the best services possible. Rosenblatt, a Phi Beta Kappa scholar, wondered aloud why Mississippi was trying to maintain eight universities. That meant its higher education money was being spread too thin.

"Why don't you introduce a resolution about it?" chimed in Sen. Glen Deweese of Meridian, the chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee.

Rosenblatt did just that. He had the proposal drawn calling for a study by the State College Board on consolidation of programs, and institutions to eliminate unnecessary duplication in the state's higher education effort.

When he started carrying the resolution around for others to co-author it, sometimes he would get a loud laugh from his colleagues. Others would say, "I couldn't touch that with a 10 foot pole." But eventually 21 others joined him, including Deweese.

For nearly three weeks now, the resolution has been languishing in the Senate Universities and Colleges Committee, headed by one of the two blacks in the Senate, Sen. Doug Anderson of Jackson. Anderson is under great pressure from the black community to oppose any effort at consolidation because blacks fear the first institution to go would be Mississippi Valley State at Itta Bena, the smallest and last school created by the state.

The forecast now is that Anderson will try to keep from calling a meeting of the committee in order to bottle up the resolution. Reportedly, the committee on which Rosenblatt and three other co-authors of the resolution sit, has a slight edge for the proposal.

Meantime, the movement in the Senate has stirred some activity over on the House side. Rep. Pat Presley of Pascagoula, who heads the University and Colleges Committee in the House, has now proposed his own resolution calling for a legislative study of both senior and junior colleges.

The Presley resolution doesn't come right out and say its for the purpose of recommending a consolidation plan, but that obviously is the undergirding purpose. One major difference is that under his proposal, a joint interim committee of legislators would oversee the study, rather than the State College Board.

Significantly, in the House, the Presley resolution has been sent to the House Rules Committee, rather than Presley's own Universities and Colleges Committee. This means that if it passes the House and goes to the Senate, then Lt. Gov. Brad Dye would be almost obligated to also send it to the Rules Committee, rather than Anderson's committee.

Meanwhile, the negative attitude of the College Board toward the legislative interest in possible consolidation of institutions is somewhat surprising. Obviously, the board is sensitive about the implied criticism that it has not already developed a plan for consolidation as a part of its two-year program review process.

Already, the College Board contends, it has eliminated 250 programs at the universities since 1980 and more are to be cut as a result of a $213,000 study done by outside consultants.

The College Board, of course, can easily hide behind the fact that it would take a legislative act to close any institution of higher learning, since each school was created by a legislative act.

Some legislative sources say previous studies made by the College Board have contained recommendations as to the consolidation of certain institutions, but that the board has refused to make the information public because of the potential controversy it would create.

In its study released last November, the Mississippi Economic Council had raised the question of merging some universities rather than "continue to operate institutions which are overly populated with poorly prepared students, which have declining commitment of resources for instruction and research, and which are, despite these circumstances, demanding higher levels of support."

One startling fact brought out by the MEC study is that the cost of operation and maintenance of the physical plant of the eight state universities has risen in the past 10 years, while the percentage allocated to instruction and research has decreased.

That would tend to prove that maintaining eight separate plants is eating into the areas which determine quality of the institutions — instruction, faculty and research.

Ponderings

By Angela Smith

Staff Reporter

Something very miraculous happened last week.

Somebody or some bunny left an Easter egg in my office.

This wasn't just a typical Easter egg. This was a prize egg — at least that's what it had written on it.

The reason this prize egg was left in my office was because in last week's column I lamented that in all the Easter egg hunts I had participated in, I had never found the prize Easter egg.

I'm really not sure when the egg was hidden in my office. I took last Friday off so I didn't find the egg until Monday morning.

The green egg was the first thing I saw when I came into my office. Whoever hid it knew the egg had to be put in plain sight or I wouldn't discover it.

As soon as I saw it I ran and told the people I work with about my prize egg.

They all denied knowing anything about the hidden egg. They even denied knowing me.

Of course I didn't let on to them, but finding the egg really brightened my day.

But I'll have to admit the egg did cause a few problems.

There were these people who wanted to eat the egg and there were these people who wanted me to eat the egg. Can you imagine someone actually wanting to eat a prize Easter egg?

As we all know, a prize Easter egg's days are numbered. My prize egg's number came up Tuesday night.

My prize egg had a slight accident. It broke when I threw it at one of the Banner Bunch.

I hope this doesn't sound like I am an ungrateful recipient of a prize egg. Because I truly cherished it as much as anyone can cherish a prize egg.

I still haven't found out who left the egg. Perhaps I never will.

There's just one little thing that worries me — what if there are other eggs hidden in my office? I suppose if there are, I'll know soon enough.

Letters

Dear Editor,

I would like to publicly thank our Sheriff's Department and my neighbors for trying to recover the items stolen from our property.

I feel (as I'm sure most of the people in our area do) it's a disgrace to our community that there are those who see nothing wrong with taking the only things left after a family loses their home by fire.

Although nothing was recovered, thanks to all of you that helped.

Yours truly,
Becky Cooper
Rienzi, Miss.

Dear Editor:

We would like to publicly spotlight a special group of people — the Girl Scout leaders in your area. Who are these leaders? They are the ones who are patient, fun-loving, understanding, cooperative, sympathetic, creative, fair, organized, caring, highly motivated, and specially-trained. They're the ones who find tremendous personal satisfaction in helping young girls seek wonder and fulfillment in their lives.

Monday, April 23, was Girl Scout Leader's Day. We honor them on this and every day and cherish the involvement of these women and men who give so freely of their time to make a difference in the lives of our girls.

Very truly yours,
Prairie Girl Scout Council Staff

Dear Editor,

As a grateful citizen of Prentiss County, I want to express my appreciation to Baptist Memorial Hospital and Northeast Mississippi Junior College for coordinating the 1984 Health Fair. I likewise appreciate the many businesses, organizations and individuals who had a part in the effort.

It is refreshing to see people trying to help people. No prohibitive costs. No catch. No strings attached. Trying to prevent crises before they occur.

Let's all continue to look out for one another.

Sincerely,
Doug Greenway
Minister, Booneville Church of Christ

Dear Editor,

In God We Trust. If so, why is prayer left out? Just because they won't let us have prayer in our schools doesn't mean we can't have God in our hearts.

Christians don't give up. Let us all pray for our children to let God rule their lives. They are growing up in a sin-sick world.

The number one book that should be taught in our schools is being left out — God's Holy Bible. Without God the Creator, we would be nothing but dust from which we came.

They are trying to teach our children that we came from monkeys. My God is no monkey. A monkey didn't create the Heaven and Earth. I'll admit, monkeys do have more sense than some men and women. At least a male monkey will choose a female mate.

Let us pray for our next leader that he will trust in God and have love for his fellowman and not want to pile up riches for himself.

Let us all trust God and we will win this fight for prayer in our school.

During 1983, the National Association of Civilian Conservation Corps Alumni (NACCCA) celebrated the 50th anniversary of the establishment of the Civilian Conservation Corps (CCC).

The NACCCA is trying to locate about two million former members and persons who were connected or affiliated with the CCC during the 1930's and 1940's. It is a known fact that many of these persons reside in Mississippi and areas served by The Banner-Independent.

I am sure that many of your readers have often wondered what became of the CCC. You can tell them the CCC lives again in the NACCCA. It is a young and growing organization with 102 chapters throughout the nation, and more are in the planning and development stages. One of its major objectives is to have the CCC reactivated.

A commemorative postage stamp honoring the CCC's 50th anniversary has been available for purchase since April, 1983.

Anyone interested in the organization can write to NACCCA, Loehmann's Plaza, 7245 Arlington Boulevard, Suite 318, Falls Church, Virginia, 22042, for more information and literature.

Conference Committees Ironing Out Differences

By SENATOR JOHN WHITE

During the last two weeks of the 1984 Legislative Session, the Senate and House of Representatives will be working in conference committees to iron out compromises on well over 100 bills on which the two houses differ.

For each bill, there are three Senators and three Representatives who meet to work out a compromise to present back to the Senate and the House. If both houses agree to the conference plan, the bill goes to the Governor for his signature into law.

Probably the most controversial of the bills is the revenue-raising measure. The Senate and the House are far apart in their ideas on how much revenue should be generated for operation of state agencies and programs.

The Senate version, which proponents argue will stabilize the finances of state government, would bring in around $143 million. Provisions include continuing permanently the 6 percent sales tax; increasing the income tax for those earning over $15,000 of taxable income; upping the taxes on cigarettes, beer, light wine, and alcoholic beverages; increasing the contractor's tax; and removing the credit of the insurance premium tax against income tax owed by insurance companies.

The House proposal provides at least a temporary solution to financial problems and would bring in about $34 million by extending the 6 percent sales tax until Jan. 31, 1985.

Other bills which are now in conference committee include:

— a bill regarding homestead exemption which is designed to give taxpayers relief from higher tax bills due to reappraisal of property. The Senate version raises the homestead exemption from $5,000 to $8,500.

— the appropriation for the Mental Health Department. The House took out the Senate provision that gave the state Mental Health Department more control over funds for the regional centers.

— the special appropriation to the Board of Economic Development. The House left the funds for subsidizing the Amtrak train to the World's Fair but removed funding for Mississippi entertainment at the Fair and for a riverboat replica which would later become a tourist center in Greenville.

The following bills have been agreed upon by both houses and signed by the Governor:

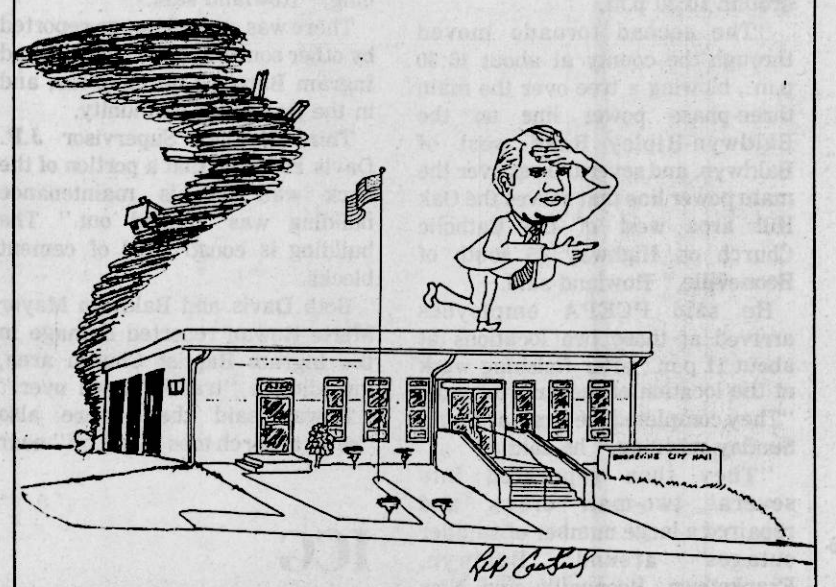

— the bill permitting the withdrawal of life-support systems by unconscious and irreversibly ill patients who have previously signed a "Living Will" requesting this.

— a bill raising the ceiling on state Medicaid appropriations to $90 million per year.

— a bill declaring milk the state beverage.

— a bill allowing the state flag to be flown at night or in bad weather if an all-weather flag is used.

That Yankee From Yonder

By Ed Woodward

Managing Editor

If Mayor Crabb and the city's aldermen did not see the need for a Civil Defense director and a tornado alert system when they cut that office from their budget last fall, they should be able to see that need after last weekend's storms.

What happened at Water Valley could have happened here. And, just maybe, it almost did... two hours, and again, five hours after the death and destruction in Yalobusha and Tallahatchie County.

Like Booneville, Phillip, where three people were killed had no Civil Defense system. The only warning its residents had was a blowing car horn. And the victims didn't hear it.

The storm that hit Water Valley was picked up on radar by the Tupelo National Weather Service station only two minutes before it hit the town. The NWS then tracked it and three other twisters as they traveled northeast, avoiding Prentiss County as if Mayor Crabb and his aldermen had passed an ordinance against tornadoes.

Why those four tornadoes actually missed

Prentiss County is hard to say. Storms sometimes miss large cities because of the great amount of hot air rising from them. But no explanation for the local aversion has been forthcoming from the NWS.

But weather service radar failed to detect or track the twister that swept across the northwestern corner of the county at 7:30 uprooting trees and causing power outages.

And it apparently never detected the black, swirling funnel of wind, dirt and debris that swept from the Brice's Crossroads-Geeville-Ingram Church area northeast to the Oak Hill Community, just south of Booneville, at approximately 10:30 p.m.

In addition to causing power outages, that tornado overturned a mobile home, uprooted a number of trees, tore roofs from buildings, knocked out the concrete block wall of J.P. Davis' maintenance building and demolished a barn.

In fact, there have been no reports of that fifth twister at all from the NWS, although several Prentiss County Sheriff's deputies were actually on the scene at the time it swept through Oak Hill.

That the 10:30 storm actually was a tornado, and not just a heavy thunderstorm, is evident from the actual path it cut through the area.

It also left a great amount of debris strewn across Cox's Bottom, adjacent to the community.

This raises an important question. What if the tornado that hit south of Booneville had veered northward and swept through Booneville instead? Or what if the tornado that cut across the northwestern tip of the county had been further south? Would we have had any warnings?

Even with NWS radar, Water Valley only had two minutes advance warning. And that two minutes was not enough to save seven people from death and over 70 from injury.

My question, then, is, was anyone watching the radar in the City Hall Saturday night? Was it even turned on? Was Mayor Crabb's part-time radar watcher even in town, or had he gone away for the holiday? Could the residents of the surrounding area who were hit have been warned if Bill Prather had still been on the job?

If the city had not decided to do away with its Civil Defense director, I don't think I would have to ask that question.

And I have one other question. We made it through safely this time. Six tornadoes menaced, but missed Booneville, if not the rest of Prentiss County.

But, what about the next time?

Eastview Extension Clubbers Learn 'Sewing Shortcuts'

The Eastview Extension Homemaker's Club held their monthly meeting Tuesday morning, April 10, in the home of Mrs. Mary Davis.

The president, Mrs. Peggy Cleveland, called the meeting to order.

Mrs. Cleveland gave the devotional by reading Helen Steiner Rice's poem, "He Loves You." The thought for the month was, "Life is a long lesson in humility," by James M. Barrie.

Roll call was answered by each member telling what flowers they planned to plant this month.

"Sewing Shortcuts," the focus topic for April, was given by Mrs. Mary Davis.

Mrs. Davis and Mrs. Letra Rorie gave the program, "Making your own rootings from cuttings." Members exchanged rootings and cuttings of lilac, snowball, aloe vera, father-in-law tongue, fern and cactus plant.

Mrs. Cleveland showed the film, "How to root your own plants," by Leon Perry, Area Extension Agent with the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service. Perry gave ten tips on azaleas and the three most common causes of failure -- planting too deep, over fertilization and lack of proper watering.

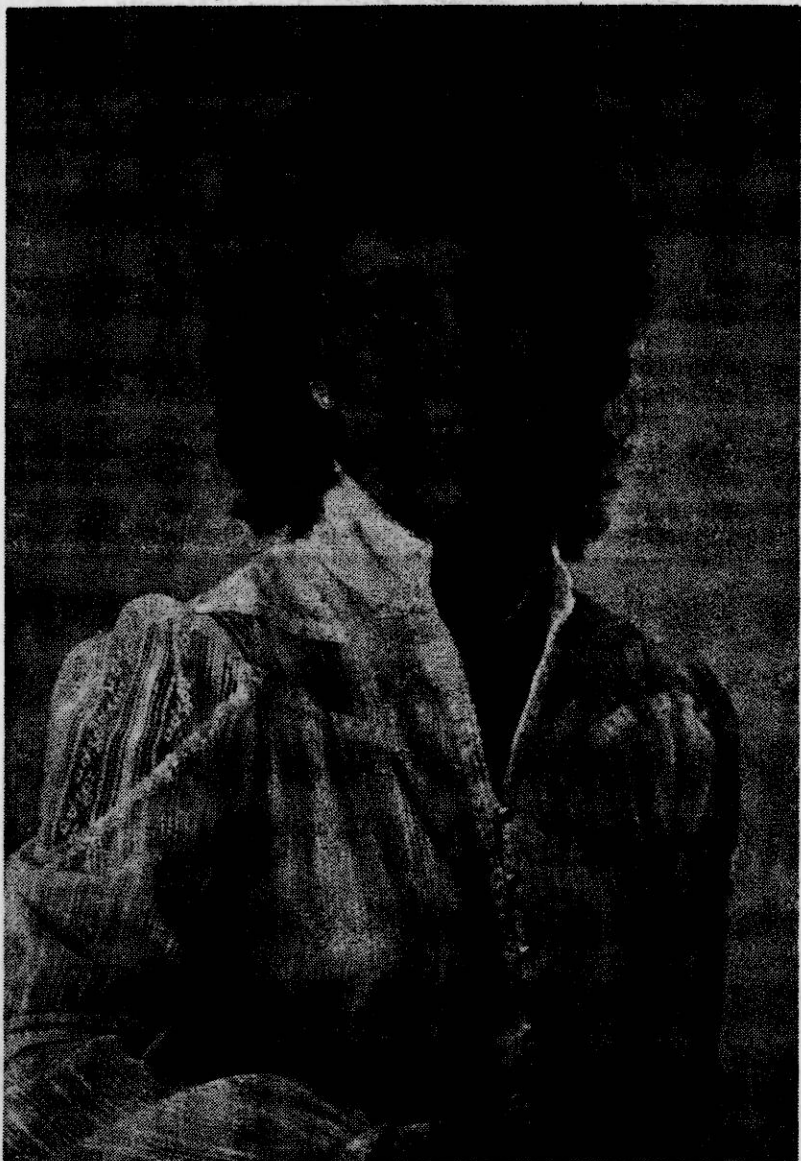

Mrs. Mary Sue Jones demonstrated a fabric lamp shade to go over an oil lamp; candlewicking pictures of a rooster and hen; a stenciled calico cat; and an appliqued calico rooster framed in a wooden embroidery hoop with a double fabric ruffle.

Mrs. Davis also demonstrated a counted cross stitch poem that she was working on.

Members then worked on their craft project, cutting trains out of felt to be given as Christmas gifts to handicapped children.

Mrs. Cleveland adjourned the meeting and refreshments were served by Mrs. Rorie and Mrs. Davis.

The next meeting will be May 8 in the home of Mrs. Brenda Green of Marietta.

NEMJC's 'Gadabout Tour' Will Leave June 2 For Nassau

Lounging on balmy white Bahaman beeches, swimming in Nassau's emerald-green waters and shooting golf on lush courses is a dream most Mississippians find impossible to afford, but through Northeast Junior College's Gadabout Tours, the dream has become affordable.

Set to leave Memphis June 2, the trip to the grand island of Nassau will last through June 9. Tourists will be staying in the newly-opened Cable Beach Hotel, a $100 million facility that features not only the gorgeous beach, but also tennis and racquetball court, a shopping mall, pool, golf course and a 20-thousand square foot casino.

For a price of $599 per person, the trip includes round-trip, non-stop air from Memphis via Republic Airlines, round-trip transfers, seven nights at the posh Cable Beach Hotel, admission to the Bahama Rhythms Show, all taxes, tips and surcharges, and an official Gadabout Nassau trip souvenir.

Tour organizer Anne Cross said space is tight since all preparations must be concluded by mid-May.

"After a winter like we've had, prospective tourists should think 'SUN' and get their $100 deposits in today."

Pilot Club Program About Special Olympics

The April program meeting of the Pilot Club of Booneville was held in the private dining room of Sapp's Restaurant on Blackland Road Thursday, April 19, at 7 p.m. Mrs. Anne Prichard, president, presided.

The decorations in the meeting room featured the Easter motif.

The program was under the direction of the Outreach Division. Mrs. Dolye Hodges gave the invocation and Mrs. Annie Lee Kemp led the pledge of allegiance.

Dr. Neola Cleveland, assistant outreach coordinator, introduced the guest speaker, William Crossett, director of Area 13 of the Mississippi Special Olympics. Area 13 is composed of Prentiss, Alcorn, Benton, Tippah, and Tishomingo counties.

Crossett gave a brief history of the origin of special olympics. He said that Eunice Kennedy Shriver founded the organization by sponsoring a summer camp for handicapped children.

The Joseph P. Kennedy Jr. Foundation has been established to foster the Special Olympics which have become international in scope, he said.

The State Special Olympics budget for Mississippi is $650,000 for 1984. There are only three paid employees in the state, Crossett said. The remainder of the work is done entirely by volunteers.

The Mississippi Special Olympics are called "A World of Winners." Some are called "Love Olympics." Special Olympics help to accomplish goals that the special people involved had not dreamed they could achieve. The participants are very competitive and take pride in their accomplishments, he said.

Some 175 athletes recently participated in the Area 13 basketball special olympics at Northeast Junior College. The State Special Olympics will be held at Mississippi State University May 18-19.

The information given by Crossett was of special interest to

May Is Older Americans Month

Gov. Bill Allain has proclaimed May as Older Americans Month in Mississippi.

an excellent opportunity to honor better for these very important and to do something to make life citizens."

Following the theme, "Health: Make It Last A Lifetime," the Mississippi Council on Aging, Governor's Office of Human Development is calling upon older Mississippians to take steps to improve their health and other citizens to help them in controlling injuries, making appropriate use of drugs, developing better nutritional habits and engaging in activities to increase their physical fitness.

"Older Americans Month is an excellent time for everybody in our state to be more concerned about the health of our older population," said Michael Raff, director of the Governor's Office of Human Development.

The 10 area agencies on aging across Mississippi, as well as other organizations, have planned a wide range of programs and events to help older Mississippians to improve their health.

Included are events to demonstrate and encourage appropriate physical activities for older persons such as "Lifetime Fitness Fairs" featuring talks by authorities on the relationship between exercise and health and suggested fitness activities for older people, "Walks For Your Life" measured walks for older people and traveling fitness shows that feature small scale physical fitness programs at individual senior centers.

Also included are activities to encourage improved nutrition such as recipe contests and lectures by authorities on nutrition, programs to control injuries conducted by authorities on safety and activities stressing the appropriate of drugs such as lectures by members of the medical profession.

"The aging process, of course, can't be prevented," Raff noted, "but there's much older persons can do to maintain good health. We hope that Older Americans Month will help older persons, their friends and their families to become more aware of what can be done to get more out of the golden years by having good health.

"This is the 22nd year that Older Americans Month is celebrated across the nation," Raff said. "It's

State FBLA Awards Presented At Jackson

For the second time, the Prentiss County FBLA has nominated someone who would eventually be named state FBLA Business Person of the Year.

Kenneth Christian, publisher of The Banner-Independent, was named Mississippi's FBLA Business Person of the Year at an awards program April 6 at the Mississippi FBLA conference in Jackson.

Former Banner-Independent publisher Gary Greene was nominated by the Prentiss County FBLA and received the same award in April 1978.

Selection of the state FBLA Business Person of the Year is based on that person's promotion of FBLA, community service, personal achievements in business, and extent of active interest in FBLA and related activities.

Also at the state conference, the Prentiss County FBLA Chapter was named a Gold Seal Chapter. They were one of 10 in the state to be so named, and received the honor because of the many activities that are a part of the Prentiss County Vocational Technical School's active FBLA chapter.

The local chapter was also named second in the state for the Sweepstakes Award. The presentation of this award is based on a point system involving winning contests on the state level.

The Prentiss County chapter's Business Report was named top report in the state because of the chapter's activities and because of the businesslike way the report was set up. Although the project was a chapter project, Julie Long, Jessica Aust and Amy Goddard actually completed the project for competition.

The chapter's Amoco Achievement in Business - Free Interprise - project also won first place in the state.

In this project, the local banks cooperated with FBLA members in spreading the word about free interprise to their employees and customers. Mark Johnson and Keith Smith compiled this project for the state competition.

Also winning first place was the chapter's Money Management project, a project on entrepreneurship. It was completed by Scott McKinney, Rod Coggin, Jim Caver, Laurin Wood, and Monica Canup.

Keith Smith placed fourth in the state competition for Business Computer Applications Design and Programming.

Rose Ann Green was also installed as state FBLA reporter at the conference in Jackson.

Cheri Gamble and Mark McGreger were named to Who's Who in the Mississippi Future Business Leaders of America.

Chapter sponsors, Laura Cartwright and Willie Frances Rutherford were in attendance at the state conference, as were Mrs. Roddy Jackson and Mrs. Dalton Wallis, mother and grandmother of the new state reporter, Rose Ann Green of Prentiss County FBLA Chapter.

In addition to the awards received by the students, Mrs. Cartwright also received second place honor as state FBLA Sponsor of the Year.

CONTACTS MORE THAN COSMETIC
Many people choose contact lenses over eyeglasses for the sake of appearance. There are a number of circumstances, however, for which contact lenses are the preferred - or even the only - means of vision correction available. KERATOCONUS, for example, is an unusual hereditary disease in which the cornea gradually thins, protrudes, and acquires fine scars. Glasses do not correct the visual defect, whereas contact lenses usually work very well - postponing or even eliminating the need for a corneal transplant. For the patient who has had cataract surgery, contact lenses can provide vision very close to normal, significantly better than the thick, distorting lenses of cataract glasses. Also, injuries to the cornea can produce irregular scarring for which eyeglasses are of no practical use, but with contact lenses there is some reasonable hope of being able to correct vision. For answers to your specific questions regarding vision, call The Booneville Vision Clinic. 728-3446

County Agent's Notes

By CLIFFORD J. HAMPTON
County Agent

If you don't have a yard or if your yard can't support a garden, there is still ample opportunity for gardening through the use of containers.

You can turn patios, balconies or even apartment roofs into gardens this way. Pots, wooden and plastic tubs, barrels and plastic bags can all be used to make creative, attractive container gardens.

Containers not only make gardening possible for many, they can extend the gardening season. The containers can be prepared and sown much earlier in the spring or longer into the fall than garden plantings. When the weather gets cold, you can just move your "garden" inside.

Although container gardening is much like traditional gardening, you'll need to make a few adjustments. Common mistakes made by container gardeners are using containers that are too small, planting flowers or vegetables too close together, and not fertilizing adequately.

An easy way of determining the proper size container is to make it approximately one-third of the height the plant will be when it reaches maturity. It is better, however, to use tall rather than short containers, because the soil won't dehydrate as rapidly in taller ones. The smaller and shorter the pot, the more frequently it will need to be watered.

Too many plants to a pot often arises because containers look more attractive with a thick mass of plants. The rows and generous spacing of a garden simply don't lend themselves to a container, so you'll usually want to space plants more closely than the seed packet instructions indicate. But if you space too closely, you'll find that your plants will begin to deteriorate just as they should be hitting their peak, because they're competing with one another for the limited soil, nutrients and water available in the container.

In many cases, root damage results because there is just not enough room for them. Plants should be close enough so that they fill in the container space at six weeks to two months; if they fill it in before, they are too close together and should be thinned.

Though most anything will grow as well in a container as in the ground, high-yield varieties are best adapted to containers because they allow you to make the most of your limited space. High-yield vegetables include short types of carrots, lettuce, radishes, snap peas, and tomatoes.

Regular fertilizing is important to ensure healthy growth for your plants. Always follow the fertilizer label directions for application. Like the garden plants, container grown crops will need the proper amount of sunlight. Follow seed packet recommendations for each crop.

For more information concerning gardening come by the Extension Office, or call 728-5631 or 728-7092.

Recently enacted legislation extended the opportunity to enroll in the 1984 Wheat Program through May 4.

In addition to extending the sign-up period several changes were made in the Wheat Program to make a paid diversion part of the 1984 program.

To participate, a reduction in the amount of 30 percent of the acreage base must be made. The producer would be paid on 10 percent of the base as a payment rate of $2.70 per bushel times the farm yield.

In addition to the minimum reduction of 30 percent, the producer may elect to reduce an additional 10-20 percent of their wheat base and receive payment-in-kind equal to 85 percent of the established yield times acres diverted.

A producer who has a base and did not plant wheat for harvest in 1984 may elect to participate by devoting 10 percent of their farm base to conservation reserve acreage and be eligible for the diversion payment of $2.70 per bushel times farm yield times number of acres diverted. Further details concerning the 1984 wheat program are available at the county ASCS office.

Prices Rule Out Deficiency Payments

Market prices on last year's corn and sorghum crops exceeded federal target price levels for the commodities and cancelled out deficiency payments.

The 1983 target price was $2.86 per bushel for corn and $2.72 per bushel for sorghum. During the first 5-months of the marketing year, corn prices averaged $3.15 per bushel and sorghum prices averaged $2.76 per bushel.

The feed grain program authorizes deficiency payments to farmers when the national average market price during the first 5-months of the marketing year is less than the target price.

1982 farm legislation authorizes advance payments of 10½ cents per bushel for corn and 10 cents per bushel for sorghum when farmers enrolled in the 1983 acreage reduction program. These payments were made at that time. The amount paid to participating farmers which exceeds the final deficiency payment on the acreage planted will not have to be refunded before the end of the marketing year. The 1983 crop marketing year for corn and sorghum ends September 30, 1984.

Farm program participants in Prentiss County harvested about 1439.8 acres of corn and 44.18 acres of sorghum during 1983.

Protect Crop Acreage Bases

Farmers are advised to file an acreage report, whether they participate in farm programs or not.

Farmers who did not sign up for the programs could benefit by certifying their planted acres because the reported 1984 acreage will be used in establishing the 1985 base acres.

The acreage reports are used to determine compliance with farm programs and to document the crop acreage for establishing future crop acreage bases.

To be eligible for price support loans, target prices and other program benefits, farm program participants are required to report the actual planted acreage on a field-by-field basis. As of April 23, 200 farmers in the county had reported fall-seeded and spring-seeded crops.

ASCS verifies that acreage reports are accurate by randomly checking farms and also by providing aerial photographs for farmers to identify their fields. Farmers may request pre-measurement and other producer services to be sure reports are accurate and avoid unnecessary worry over the loss of program benefits. The service is provided for a normal fee and the measurements are guaranteed for the crop year.

Prentiss County farmers have thru May 4 to certify fall seeded crops and thru July 15 to certify spring seeded crops. Acreage reports may be filed weekdays between 8 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. at the county ASCS office.

Soil Conservation

By PHIL PURVIS
District Conservationist
Booneville Field Office

Ever since man has tilled the soil to produce feed and fiber crops, the problem of soil erosion has been present.

What effect does tillage have on soil erosion or water quality? None if there was no rainfall or wind. However, without these factors there would be no purpose in tillage, better yet, no one to till the soil.

Our main concern then should be related to how we till the soil to produce crops that are necessary for our livelihood. No-tillage is certainly the answer to reduction of soil loss. But will it produce profitable crop yields, does it improve water quality, we can depend on chemicals for weed control, and is it acceptable to the average farmer and his ability to make it work?

Certainly no one can argue that point that residue and actively growing plant cover reduce runoff and conserve our soil resources. The degree to which we implement these agronomic principles depends upon rainfall extremes and soil characteristics.

No question about it - our rainfall in Mississippi is extreme and seems to be most extreme during seedbed preparation and early crop growth. Soils vary in texture from sandy to clay and exist on level to steeply sloping land.

Cropping systems must be used that encourage cover throughout much of the crop season - from seedbed to harvest and back again to seedbed. The intensity of the system will depend on rainfall extremes and soil conditions. No-till may be the answer in some situations.

All of these factors are brought to light in the farm conservation plan developed by USDA's Soil Conservation Service.

If soil erosion concerns you, contact your local soil conservation service representative and see how he can help you reduce soil erosion on your farm.

Developing a farm plan tailor-made to your expectations and needs can be the most important step you take this spring.

Timberline

By ROBERT THORNTON
County Forester

A lot of folks in the county have set out pines in recent years. Some of these plantings are ready for a thinning.

There are basically two factors that we foresters use to determine if a young pine plantation is ready for thinning Diameter, or the distance through the tree, at 4½ feet above the ground, and the Density of the stand.

Your stand is ready for thinning if you have one of the following combinations of size and density per acre: 750-five inch trees; 500-six inch trees; 375-seven inch trees; or 300-eight inch trees.

How can you tell how many trees per acre you have?

Here's one easy way: Tie a loop in the end of a rope. From the end of the loop, measure out 11 feet, 9 inches and tie a knot. Now cut the rope just beyond the knot.

Measure numerous plots at random in your plantation using the rope as follows: Drive a stake in the ground, drop the loop over it, grasp the knotted end of the rope and walk around in a circle. Count the trees inside the circle, and multiply times 100. If you have 7 trees inside the circle, the stand density is 700 trees per acre. Take enough plots to arrive at a good average.

It's smart management not to let your pines get too crowded. To do so invites growth stagnation and the weakened trees also become more prime targets for insect and disease attack.

Take a look at those trees you planted back in the mid to late sixties. The time is probably right to cut some of them out. If you want us to help you make a decision, give us a call!

Next column we'll talk a little about how to do that thinning.

But all in all she likes spending time in her shop. "I love to do this," she says, looking at the many arrangements she has made. "It's how I relax."

Forestry Notes

By ROBERT THORNTON
County Forester

The Magnolia State's tenth annual Tree Planting Week, held recently in conjunction with Mississippi's Arbor Day, was another huge success, according to Chauncey Tanner of Heidelberg, Statewide Chairman of the event.

Tanner said more than 600,000 seedlings were given away during the week-long "Celebration of Trees." Seedlings were planted on school grounds, private yards and public landscapes across all 82 counties of the State. Well over 60,000 school children, scouts, civic club members, 4-H club members and individual families participated.

"Tree Planting Week-1984 will go down in the records as one of the best we've had since we started having this as a statewide event in 1975," Tanner said.

The Mississippi Association of Conservation Districts (MACD) is the primary sponsor of Tree Planting Week. The Mississippi Forestry Commission and a number of other conservation and related groups assisted with the conduct of the program at the county level.

Hinds County led all others in number of free trees distributed, with a total of 55,000. DeSoto County was second, with 35,000 seedlings handed out; Leflore, with 25,000 free seedlings distributed, was third; Rankin was fourth with 24,000, and Yazoo was fifth with 22,000 trees given away during the February event.

Harrison County had the greatest number of schools (100) involved in conducting tree planting ceremonies. Hinds County had Arbor Day plantings at 40 schools; 30 schools held special planting in Jackson County. Nineteen Washington County schools participated; 14 schools and 3 kindergartens planted trees in Lowndes County, while 14 and 13 schools participated in Lee and Rankin Counties respectively. Coahoma, Leflore, DeSoto and Madison all had a dozen schools taking part. A total of 560 schools participated statewide.

Some of the trees for the ceremonies were purchased by the Conservation Districts, while many thousands more were donated by forest industries, U.S. Forest Service, and many private businesses and civic organizations.

Tree Planting Week Chairman Tanner, commenting further on the outstanding Tree Planting Week 1984 outcome, offered special praise for all of the volunteer agencies and individuals who pitched in to help with the preparation of the seedlings for giveaway.

"It was really a community-spirited effort all the way" he said. "I think we are going to see annual participation continue to grow. It's a project that everybody can relate to and it really helps increase general awareness among citizens of all ages of the many benefits we get from trees - from wood products to beauty and shade."

CCC Loan Interest

Rate Up Again

Commodity and farm storage loans disbursed in April by the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Commodity Credit Corporation will carry a 10% percent interest rate, said CCC Vice President C. Hoke Leggett.

The new rate, up from 9% percent, reflects the interest rate charged by the U.S. Treasury in April, Leggett said.

Home Economist's Notes

By PATTY K. ROBINSON
Extension Home Economist

If you're planning to can food at home this summer, now is the time to gather the necessary equipment. The right equipment is essential for safe, high quality products.

Many pieces of canning equipment are a one-time investment. Pressure canners and water bath canners fall into this category. Watch for sales on these two items in the coming months.

A pressure canner is needed to process low acid foods - meat, fish, poultry, and vegetables. Two basic types are available. One has a dial-type gauge to regulate the pressure. The other has a weighted device. Both work satisfactorily when directions are followed carefully.

Dial gauges must be tested for accuracy before each canning season. You may have these tested at your County Extension Office on East Church Street in Booneville.

A boiling water bath canner is needed for canning fruits, pickles, and jams. Be sure to take a quart jar along when making a purchase. The canner should be deep enough to allow two or three inches of water to boil over the top of the jars. A pressure canner (without gauge) can double as a water bath canner if it's deep enough.

Take a jar inventory and decide whether you need to purchase new jars this spring. Inspect canning jars on hand for nicks and cracks, especially around the top edge. A nick could prevent a good seal. Also remember that very old canning jars become brittle with age and can break under pressure and heat.

If you need to purchase more jars, watch for specials.

It is very important to have reliable canning instructions before you begin. Free publications are available at your County Extension Office.

Planning ahead can save time and money when the produce is ready.

4-H News

By WAYNE LAND
Extension 4-H Youth Agent

Would you like to do something really worthwhile? Would you like to be involved in a program dedicated to helping young people be the best they can be?

Would you like to travel or to meet other people who care? Would you like to improve your leadership skills and abilities?

Volunteering to work with the 4-H program is an answer to all these questions.

There are dozens of ways you can be a 4-H volunteer. With work, home activities and other involvements, you may not feel you have the time. But, you don't have to make a life commitment. You can volunteer a few hours a month for a few days, or even give a once-a-year commitment.

Now, you ask, what can I do? The possibilities are endless. Share a skill connected with a hobby or your profession.

You can teach a small or large group any subject, ranging from cooking to needlecraft, woodwork, electrical skills, automotive skills, meat quality, and on and on.

If you'd rather not teach, volunteer to be a helper. Assist someone else who is conducting a workshop or tour. Or, be a judge by, helping set up and score a 4-H contest. Be a donor. 4-H programs are enriched and made possible by the generous support of community-minded individuals. Or, volunteer to serve as an advisory council member. Members of advisory councils help plan and conduct county programs.

Volunteer to be a 4-H club advisor and organize a 4-H club. If you can share less time, volunteer to be a project leader. This allows you to work with a group of 4-H'ers in a particular project. You can choose from more than 40 projects. Or, be a recruiter. Help find more people to fill the many jobs for volunteers.

Working with young people brings challenges and great satisfaction. Find your place in the 4-H program and make a commitment to help youngsters develop to their highest potentials.

Education Hearings To Be Held

The State Department of Education will hold three public hearings in May on early childhood education programs. The hearings, May 7 in Grenada, May 8 in Jackson and May 10 in Hattiesburg, are on proposed criteria and guidelines for kindergarten.

All three hearings begin at 7 p.m. The Grenada hearing will be at Grenada High School, the Jackson hearing in the 2nd floor assembly room at the Woolfolk State Office Building, and at Blair High School in Hattiesburg.

The Education Reform Act of 1982 mandated the establishment of public kindergartens statewide by the 1986-87 school year. For the past year, the SDE has been working to develop guidelines for approved programs. The public hearings are a part of that process.

office. Written responses should be addressed to: Early Childhood Coordinator, Division of Instruction, State Department of Education, Box 771, Jackson, Miss. 39205.

Jones said S&J purchased its first building from his company in 1969, and has since purchased a total of 800 buildings, including the Booneville City Hall complex and several Prentiss County factory buildings.

In 1972 Jumper won a trip around the world from Gulf States, and "traded it in for two trips to Hawaii," Jones said.

In accepting the plaque, Jumper said there were many people he should thank, but he did not want to name any of them. "I might miss

After the luncheon, held in the Hospitality Room of the Frank Haney Union at Northeast Junior College, W.L. Jones, president of some of them," he said.

"The friendship and association of the people in this room means much more than this award," Jumper said.

"I'm proud of Gulf States," he said. "It's a Mississippi company run by Mississippi people. And our business is impossible to run without good contractors and good suppliers.

"Gulf States is all important to our success," Jumper said.

BHS Runner Enjoys Her Success

By SCOTT MCKINNEY
Sports Writer

Booneville High School senior Sovenia Harris is best known for her talents on the basketball court. But she has also established BHS and herself as forces to contend with in local track meets.

The tall, lithe athlete has won ribbons from all local meets during her four year high school career. Harris said she has been running for over five years. "I started running when I was in junior high school," she said. "I actually joined the Anderson track team and started running because I really didn't have anything else to do."

She quickly compiled impressive records as a trackster, placing in every meet she entered. Though she advanced to the state meet last year, she was disqualified when she jumped the starting gun in the two mile run.

She had been a favorite in the event. The two mile run is her specialty.

Sovenia has also competed in the 220 yard dash and the 440 yard dash. Nearly fifty ribbons decorate the runner's home, along with the many trophies, plaques and certificates she has been honored with.

"I never thought that I would be so successful when I first started," Harris said. "After I started running, I just enjoyed it so much that all the awards were just extra."

Harris trains only during the track season because of a lack of time in the winter months. She usually runs one or two miles each day during her training period.

Basketball, her first love, takes up most of her time the rest of the year.

Although the track season is now over at BHS, Harris plans to continue her running. "I have thought about running in the Gum Tree Run in Tupelo next month," she said.

"But that race is a 10 kilometer (eight and one-third miles) event and the longest I have run in is a four mile event."

College is another possibility for the trackster. But she insists she must now concentrate on matters at hand. Harris said for her May 18 high school graduation will be her next "crossing of the finish line."

Lady Tiger Softballers Have To Make Every Player Count

Up by five runs against division rival IJC, on an unusually warm and cloudless afternoon, play stopped on the field as a Northeast player sat on the ground, momentarily wrenching in pain.

Immediately, coach Millard Lothenore ran out to second base to attend to his fallen player. The player was helped up and, under her own power returned to a concerned bench. After a faint sigh of relief, one Northeast fan remarked to another "I think she's all right; After all, she can't afford to be hurt."

In women's junior college softball, rules stipulate that teams must begin the game with ten players and end the game with ten. When Northeast's Lady Tigers hit the field, that's exactly what they do. They really have no choice, since there are only ten members on the team.

But ten has proven to be all they've needed to win the north Division Championship and earn a berth in the State and perhaps regional tournaments.

"What we've got here is just a dedicated team," Lothenore said. "They're a unique bunch of young ladies who know what it takes to win and are willing to put forth that winning effort."

"Knowing they're at a disadvantage just having ten players I think just makes them more determined to show everyone they can do it, and they have."

Boasting an overall record of 16-8, and an even more impressive division mark of 15-1, the Lady Tigers were beaten only by IJC earlier in the season. It was two wins over IJC that clinched the division title for Northeast. The Lady Tigers are currently engaged in the double-elimination State Tournament being held at Meridian Junior College April 27-28.

Lothenore said it's usually easy for a coach to pick out a couple of good players to whom the team owes its success. But in analyzing the success of the Lady Tigers, Lothenore soon found a complete list of players responsible for the winning season included all ten team members.

Heading the top of the list are Georgie Egger, left fielder batting .434 and Tammy Holt who plays short field and sports a .432 batting average. Not far behind is center fielder Regina Trussel batting a .397 and short stop Kim Wilson with a .353. Catcher Charla Huddleston turned in a .357 performance at the plate while second baseman Mary Tucker barely hovered above her with a .358. Third baseman Dianna Sivley batted .338, pitcher Emily Teague hit .268 and first baseman Ginger Dickerson hit .260.

In only its third year at Northeast, the women's softball program is one of the brighter spots in Coach Lothenore's list of duties.

"I really enjoy being involved with a group of young women like these," Lothenore said. "They are intense and dedicated and that intensity and dedication has really worked for them."

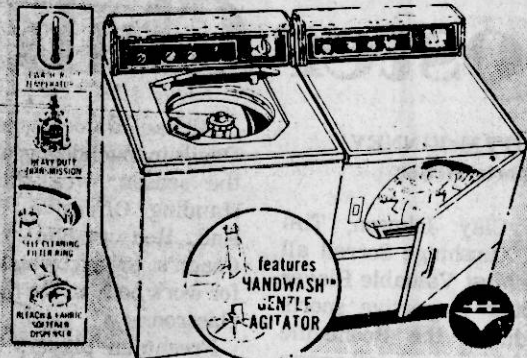

"On this team, we try to stress their strong points instead of dwelling on weaknesses. I think doing that not only gets them through the season successfully, but it just might give them something they can hand on to throughout their lives."

Through half of Lothenore's team will be gone after this season, he said he feels he's got a good foundation to build on next year. After having played a season with just enough players, pressure will be nothing to the next group of upper classmen. In fact, Lothenore already has a pretty good idea how they will handle the pressures of another season.

"This bunch of girls is like aluminum. The more they're pressed, the harder they get."

COOK SIGNS WITH NEMJC - Booneville's Tom Cook, a 6'-2" 250-lb tackle, is shown signing a scholarship with the Northeast Junior College Tigers. Coach David Carnell said he plans for Cook to "step right in and give needed help."

HARRIS MVP IN ALL-STAR GAME - Diane Harris, a member of the Northeast Junior College's Lady Tiger basketball team, recently was selected as the Most Valuable Player in the Mississippi Women's Junior College All-Star Game. Harris is from Booneville.

NEMJC At State Tennis Tourney

With the State Junior College Tennis Tournament already under way at Meridian, Northeast Junior College coach Emma Braddock is confident her women will deliver exactly what the circuit expects from them, and her men will deliver a few surprises, too.

Though the Tigers' strongest hope for a championship is sophomore Kathy Arnold, Braddock thinks New Albany sophomore Duane Grubbs could possibly upset some of Gulf Coast Junior College's top competition for a championship of his own.

"I'm just really hoping to see my girls play like they have all season," Braddock said. "And I'd like to see some upsets in the boys' play. I've heard that Gulf Coast is supposed to be really strong."

Arnold, a Booneville native, has been beaten only once during the season, and that loss came against a non-conference player. That impressive record makes her the number one player from the north.

Grubbs, who moved up from Northeast's number three singles player last year to the top spot this season, is ranked number two from the north, right behind IJC's Scott Lee.

Grubbs and Arnold, however, do not make a team. They play with equally able team members Lorie Owens, of Corinth, ranked second in the north in the number two spot, and Corinth's John Little, who is also the north's number two player in the second spot.

Grubbs and Little combine in doubles to form the north's number two team, and Arnold and Owens have captured the number one ranking in the north with some very tight doubles play.

Strengthening the Northeast team further are Drew Hutchison of Columbus in the number three team spot for the men and Booneville's Suzann Sims in the number three spot for the women.

Both Hutchison and Sims are ranked number two in the district in their class.

Rounding out the team for Northeast are New Albany's Melissa Tyler and Corinth's Wayne Holley. Both play in the number four team spot, but Tyler has played well enough to capture the number one district ranking going into the state playoffs. Holley is ranked number two in the north in his class.

Play was scheduled to begin Wednesday, April 25 and plans were to try and wrap up the tourney in two days. Unless hampered by rain or other inclement weather, the Northeast team should make it home last Thursday or early Friday.

Thrasher Runners Qualified In Nine Events

By GREG SHOOK
Sports Writer

The Thrasher High School track team qualified in nine events last Thursday at the District 1BB track meet. This enables them to compete in the North-Half Class BB Track Meet this Saturday in Grenada.

"We feel good about being in the North-Half Track Meet this year," said Coach Danny Smith.

"Of course this is our first year to have a track program here at the school," he said. "But we are hoping to go down there and do very well in the meet."

The Rebels had two girls qualifying in the girls' division. Bernice Miller qualified in the 440 dash with a time of 1:08. Marie Miller qualified in the 880 run with a time of 2:50, and in the high jump with a jump of 4'6".

Six boys qualified for the North-

Half. Gene Shinault earned a try at the 440 dash with a time of 53.99 seconds. Chester Anderson qualified in the 880 run with a time of 02:14.

A time of 22.84 seconds made it possible for Roy White to get a North-Half spot in the 110 meter low hurdles. Danny Ramsey, with a high jump of 5'10", also qualified for the North-Half Track Meet.

Thrasher won two relay spots in the North-Half Meet with an 880 relay time of 1:36.50 and a mile relay time of 3:45.99. 880 relay team runners are Gene Shinault, Dwight Shinault, Junior Warren and Sean Jourdan.

Runners for the mile relay were Gene Shinault, Marvin Dillworth, Delema Shumpert and Sean Jourdan.

The North-Half Meet will start at 9 a.m. Saturday. Thrasher High School is hoping for a good turnout of Rebel fans for the meet.

Wheeler Track Team Surprising Squad

By GREG SHOOK
Sports Writer

The Wheeler High School Eagles surprised everyone by fielding a track team this year. And even more surprising, everyone on the team qualified for the the Class B North-Half Track Meet at Holmes Junior College this Saturday.

The reason was that the Tishomingo track team did not make it to the District Meet, thereby forfeiting to Wheeler.

Coach Chuck Geno said, "I think we would still have done pretty well if the other teams had been there. But we are glad we are going to the North-Half, and I believe we have a good chance there."

Tracksters for the 1984 Eagles are Bryan Downs, Roy Shook, Junior Downs, Randy Luallen, Felix McGee, Daniel Chittom, Darryl Stephens, Keith Ryan and Randle Frier.

Northeast Basketball Camp Schedule

Budding basketball greats in northeast Mississippi will have the opportunity to refine and sharpen their roundball skills when Northeast Junior College conducts four sessions of its annual basketball camp program.

The first camp, being conducted for senior high school girls, will begin May 27 and run through June 1. The senior high boys session will start June 3 and go through June 8. Junior high girls may attend camp from June 10-15, and junior high boys will attend June 17-22.

The men's camp director will be Northeast Coach Richard Mathis and the women's director is Lady Tigers Coach Ricky Ford. Both Mathis and Ford have established themselves as winning coaches at Northeast. The rest of the staff is also composed of other outstanding coaches and players for the area.

In addition to the finest in basketball related facilities, campers will be able to take advantage of facilities for weightlifting, swimming and the cafeteria, catered by Morrison's. Campers will also be covered by a group insurance policy during the session.

Tuition for overnight campers is $102, while day campers will pay a tuition of $82. The tuition covers the cost of meals, room, instruction, insurance, a camp T-shirt and the awards. Awards will be presented in each age division for best defensive player, one-on-one competition, most valuable player, best free throw shooter, hot shot, sportsmanship and all-star game honors.

Campers must submit a pre-registration deposit of $20 to be mailed with their registration forms. For information on registration, contact NEMJC Athletic Director Bill Ward at 728-7751, extension 240, or write Northeast Junior College, Athletic Department, Booneville, Miss. 38829.

SPORTS OPINION

Every Sport Possible In Action Right Now

By GREG SHOOK
Sports Writer

This seems to be the time of the year when all pro sports are in action at the same time. Basketball, football, baseball, tennis, golf, fishing, soccer and other sports that I can't think of are all being played right now.

Basketball is in play-offs right now. And, boy, let me tell you I am ready for it to be over with. I am sick of hearing people fuss about their top team getting beat in the play-offs. Besides, I hate to see them lose all their money on the games.

Now football is another story. With the USFL, AFL, NFL and CFL you can sit down and watch football year-round. And since I have been going to all the Memphis Showboats home games it does something to me. I can sit down and watch football all day long if I have to, or go to the games and stand on the side-lines all day long.

I guess it is because I play football and I get to see the Showboats play.

If everyone were like that about football, the Showboats would never have to move from Memphis and I could go and see them play forever.

Baseball is in its opening weeks with San Diego doing some outstanding playing on the diamond. Detroit's Jack Morris has also been showing some stuff with his big no-hitter two weeks ago.

On a sad note, the Atlanta Braves can't get their act together to make a replay of last year's season.

Tennis has just completed its Masters Cup, and is now getting ready for Wimbledon which is coming up in June. It looks like John McEnroe and Chris Evert Lloyd may both take home titles this year.

Golf, I don't care about it! What about you?

Fishing? Too slow a sport for me. However, I fish when there is nothing else to do and the fishies are in the mood for their last stand.

Soccer. Memphis Americans -- more power to them. Nobody in this area seems to be interested in it, or they would get up a soccer team.

As you can see March and April seem to be the months for all sports -- the ones you like, and the ones you hate.

Fine Performances Despite Illness

Northeast's 'Carousel' Cast Overcame Problems

By ED WOODWARD
Managing Editor

After four years of reviewing plays at Itawamba Junior College while I was living in Fulton, I find Northeast Junior College's thespian efforts doubly impressive.

IJC actually offers theatre-related courses. And the majority of the students who are consistently involved in the productions there are theatre majors. You expect anything put on by Bob Tomlinson's kids to be polished and professional.

But Northeast has no formal theatre courses. And its productions are under the auspices of the speech department. Therefore, when Northeast students perform with as much polish and professionalism as those at IJC, I am really impressed.

And Carousel is definitely not the easiest of Rodgers and Hammerstein's musicals to perform. Several of the songs - especially You'll Never Walk Alone - require a wider than average voice range. And the play includes several long scenes with only two people onstage, and one, the Soliloquy number, with only one person onstage.

In such scenes, it is especially difficult to hold the audience's interest. Yet the Northeast troupe managed things well.

Director Murphy Jones's casting was excellent, especially considering the casting problems he encountered. He first lost his leading lady; then he was plagued with last minute illnesses.

But Julie Booth as Julie Jordan was a perfect frail, delicate pawn for the blustering arrogance and thoughtlessness of Billy Bigelow. And she also possesses the perfect voice for delighting an audience during numbers like If I Loved You and What's The Use Of Wond'rin. Husky, red-haired Deano Graham was also a perfect casting choice. His clear baritone voice did a fine job of handling the If I Loved You duet and the especially difficult Soliloquy.

Graham also managed to add just enough of a touch of insecurity and immaturity to his interpretation of Billy to make him a sympathetic character despite his self-centered, egotistical, bullying of Julie.

Honors for most delightful performance go to June Plaxco, whose scatterbrained Carrie Pepperidge probably reminded everyone in the audience of someone they knew.

And my own personal choice for best performance, probably because of my own preference for character roles, goes to Linda Howell for her portrayal of Billy's boss at the carnival, Mrs. Mullins.

As Graham did in his role as Bigelow, Miss Howell managed to make a potentially unsympathetic character a likeable one.

The most difficult characters to portray are the "gray" ones...the ones with obvious good, and bad traits...probably because they are the most human characters. Without actually showing us any tangible reason for liking Mrs. Mullins, Miss Howell still accomplished the feat of making us like her.

Also worthy of mention were the performances of Ricky Borden as the disreputable Jigger, the play's "heavy."

And Tammy Sims as the village matriarch, Nettie, offered both a completely believable performance and a beautiful rendition of You'll Never Walk Alone.

I also heard several favorable comments from the audience about the effectiveness of Billy's death scene, which was beautifully done.

Though I always feel guilty about not mentioning everyone, I have only space for those I considered outstanding. Everyone did a fine job, and omission of someone's name does not mean a bad performance. If anyone had given a bad performance, they would be specifically mentioned.

My only negative comment has nothing to do with the efforts of anyone involved in the play, either onstage or off. It has to do with the facilities.

Not only did I notice how bad the acoustics are in the Seth Pounds auditorium, I heard a great many comments from others in the audience.

When a production is as well "miked" as Carousel was, and all the performers do a competent job of projecting their voices, but dialogue and singing still cannot be heard in certain parts of the auditorium, something is wrong.

Steps definitely need to be taken to either find a new facility for such performances, or to devise ways of improving the acoustics in the present one. The present situation is unfair to those who are working so hard to perfect these productions.

IF I LOVED YOU - Billy Bigelow (Deano Graham) listens with skepticism as Julie Jordan (Julie Booth) sings about what it would be like if they were in love during the opening scene of NEMJC's production of Rogers and Hammerstein's "Carousel".

A REAL NICE CLAMBAKE - Members of the cast and chorus of the NEMJC production of Rogers and Hammerstein's "Carousel" perform a dance number on a New England beach.

A HORSE FOR THE LIONS - This three year old mare, named Wing Ding, has been donated to the Booneville Lions Club by local attorney Donald Franks, according to club president Richard Coggin. The black mare, a registered Tennessee Walking Horse, was foaled Sept. 18, 1981. Her sire was Son of Ebony by Ebony Masterpiece. The dam was Little Sister F by Setting Sun Delight. Coggin, who said the horse will be used for fundraising purposes, expressed the club's appreciation to Franks for the donation. (Photo by Ed Woodward)

Ole Miss 'Jazzfest' Will Feature
Famous Jazz Trombonist

On Saturday, May 5, high school jazz groups will swing into music at the first University of Mississippi "Ole Miss Jazzfest," sponsored by the Ole Miss Department of Music, with support from C.G. Conn, Inc., Mississippi Music, Inc., and with coordination by the University's Division of Continuing Education.

A festival highlight will be an appearance by Buddy Baker, internationally known trombonist, who will be guest clinician and soloist for the occasion.

Baker has toured with Stan Kenton, Woody Herman and Henry Mancini. He is a member of the Rocky Mountain Brass Quintet, the Greeley (Colorado) Philharmonic, and the Rich Matteson-Harvey Phillips TUBAJAZZ Consort.

Baker is currently chairman of the Brass and Percussion Department at the University of North Colorado.

Joining Baker as adjudicators will be members of the Tony Thomas Trio from Memphis, Tenn.

The one-day Jazzfest will give high school jazz groups the unique opportunity to enjoy some friendly competition in style and harmony, and to pick up suggestions for improvement from the professionals.

Other festival treats include performances by "The Mississippians" jazz ensemble directed by Ole Miss music faculty member John McCauley. After all competition has been completed, the group will present a brief concert with Buddy Baker as trombone soloist.

All Jazzfest events will be held in Meek Hall Auditorium on the Ole Miss campus. There is no admission charge for any event.

Each participating group will perform for critical comments from adjudicators. Ratings will be awarded if desired. Bands receiving superiors will be awarded an engraved plaque; other ensembles will receive certificates.

Equipment provided for performers will include PA system (with microphones), music stands, grand piano and band risers.

Bands will furnish their own electric pianos, amplifiers for guitars and electric bases, and will deal with recording services privately and directly.

There is a $75 ensemble fee for participation.

Further information about Jazzfest may be obtained by writing or calling Dr. John McCauley, Director of the University Jazz Ensembles, The University of Mississippi, University, Miss. 38677; telephone (601) 232-7268 or 234-8261.

Export Use Of Tenn-Tom To Be Subject Of Forestry Seminar

A one-day Forestry Products Export Seminar for the Tennessee-Tombigbee Waterway region is scheduled for Tuesday, May 22, 1984, at the Riverview Plaza Hotel in Mobile, Alabama.

Registration will begin at 8:00 a.m. and the seminar will conclude at 4:00 p.m.

The purpose of the seminar is to better inform producers in the Tenn-Tom region of the potential export opportunities for forestry products as a result of the completion of the waterway.

The seminar is sponsored by the Tennessee-Tombigbee Waterway Development Authority, the five-state organization responsible for promoting development of the waterway.

A special block of rooms has been set aside at the Riverview Plaza for May 21 and 22 for seminar participants.

By next year, the Tennessee-Tombigbee Waterway will be completed and open to navigation. It will provide a cheaper alternative route for shipment of raw materials and products to the Southeastern Gulf region for domestic and export markets.

Studies indicate that one of the most immediate impacts of the Tenn-Tom may be the increased export of forestry products from the waterway region.

The region produces much of the nation's marketable timber resources. These forests will be needed to supply the world demand for forest products which is expected to double by the year 2000. The Tenn-Tom offers a unique opportunity for capitalizing on this export potential.

Those interested in attending the seminar or obtaining additional information about the meeting should contact the Tennessee-Tombigbee Waterway Authority at P.O. Drawer 671, Columbus, Miss. 39703-0671 or (601) 328-3297.

THIS AD IS FULL OF LIES.

LIE #1: ADVERTISING MAKES YOU BUY THINGS YOU DON'T WANT.

Advertising is often accused of inducing people to buy things against their will.

But when was the last time you returned home from the local shopping mall with a bag full of things you had absolutely no use for? The truth is, nothing short of a pointed gun can get anybody to spend money on something he or she doesn't want.

No matter how effective an ad is, you and millions of other American consumers make your own decisions. If you don't believe it, ask someone who knows firsthand about the limits of advertising. Like your local Edsel dealer.

LIE #2: ADVERTISING MAKES THINGS COST MORE. Since advertising costs money, it's natural to assume it costs you money. But the truth is that advertising often brings prices down.

Consider the electronic calculator, for example. In the late 1960's, advertising created a mass market for calculators. That meant more of them needed to be produced, which brought the price of producing each calculator down. Competition spurred by advertising brought the price down still further.

As a result, the same product that used to cost hundreds of dollars now costs as little as five dollars.

LIE #3: ADVERTISING HELPS BAD PRODUCTS SELL.

Some people worry that good advertising sometimes covers up for bad products.

But nothing can make you like a bad product. So, while advertising can help convince you to try something once, it can't make you buy it twice. If you don't like what you've bought, you won't buy it again. And if enough people feel the same way, the product dies on the shelf.

In other words, the only thing advertising can do for a bad product is help you find out it's a bad product. And you take it from there.

LIE #4: ADVERTISING IS A WASTE OF MONEY. Some people wonder why we don't just put all the money spent on advertising directly into our national economy.

The answer is, we already do.

Advertising helps products sell, which holds down prices, which helps sales even more. It creates jobs. It informs you about all the products available and helps you compare them. And it stimulates the competition that produces new and better products at reasonable prices.

If all that doesn't convince you that advertising is important to our economy, you might as well stop reading.

Because on top of everything else, advertising has paid for a large part of the newspaper you're now holding.

And that's the truth.

By VIOLA PRESLEY
Correspondent

Harrell Doty of Memphis and Mr. and Mrs. Arlie Mink of Jonesboro, Ark., were weekend guests in the home of Mrs. Hubert Doty.

Family and friends of Mrs. Frances Bullard have been visiting with her in the Baptist Memorial Hospital in Booneville.

Mrs. Ray Church of Booneville was hostess Sunday afternoon in the home of Mrs. James Reed when Mrs. Freddy Phillips of Corinth was honored with a shower.

Relatives and class friends showered Mrs. Phillips with an assortment of lovely and dainty gifts.

Mrs. Church added enjoyment to the occasion with the use of arrangements of spring flowers.

Assisting in the presentation of gifts and in serving refreshments were Tracey Church, Patti Phillips and Jana Johnson.

Jamie Marecle, seven-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Roy Marecle, was delighted with a double celebration for her birthday on April 16. Friday Mrs. Marecle entertained Jamie and her first grade class mates with a party at the Rienzi Elementary School. Tuesday the grown-ups in the family were invited to the Marecle home for cake, ice cream and sharing gifts with Jamie.

Mrs. Lillian Johnsey is confined to her home this week due to illness. Mrs. Billy Moore of Hattiesburg is here with Mrs. Johnsey's other children, to visit with her.

Mr. and Mrs. Grady Kuykendall and Mrs. Louise White were guests Friday night of Viola Presley.

Mrs. Raymond Massengill and Mrs. Truman Smith were in Tupelo Thursday.

Mrs. Carolyn Bishop, Jodie and Rockie Brooks were in Memphis over the weekend to visit with Mrs. Jane Brooks, in a Memphis hospital.

Clarence Essary returned to his home, Route 3, Rienzi, Tuesday after a stay of several days in the Magnolia Hospital, Corinth.

CB News

By LADY BLUE SURF

Our regular business meeting was held Tuesday night. We were all glad of the success of our jam-boree and want to thank the merchants who donated gifts and to the others who donated items.

It was voted on to continue the scholarship at Northeast at regular expense.

Honeycomb enjoyed a visit to Arkansas and the Ozark Mountains. On her return home a beautiful bouquet of red and white carnations awaited her.

Lady Doule R is a patient in Baptist Memorial in room 131. Silver Dollar Queen has been sick also.

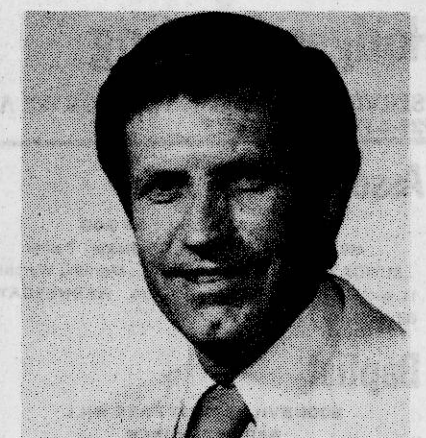

Happy birthday to Ox on April 24; Round Lady on April 26; and Lady Tree Climber on April 28.

Telephone Man and family were not fortunate during the storm the other night. Lightning damaged their ice maker, TV, washer and several other items.

Our social will be held Saturday, May 5, at 7 p.m. at the West Side Community Center in city park. It will be pot luck, so everyone come and enjoy the fellowship.

Until next week, stay well, be happy and attend the church of your choice.

Missionary At 1st Baptist Sunday

JERRELL BALLARD

Jerrell R. Ballard, a Southern Baptist Missionary in Barronquilla, Colombia, South America, will speak at the First Baptist Church in Booneville Sunday, April 29.

In addition to being a missionary, Ballard is an artificial limb specialist where he works at the Baptist Hospital in Barronquilla.

He and his family have lived in Colombia for 11 years.

Presently Ballard is home on leave and is working in Tupelo with Orthopedic Products.

Dr. Bill Duncan, pastor of First Baptist Church, invites the public to attend both services to hear Ballard tell about his variety of missionary experiences.

Spelling Bee Champ Competes In Memphis

TAMMY OWENS

Tammy Owens, Prentiss County Spelling Bee Champion, will compete in the Mid-South Spelling Bee Friday, April 27, at 6:30 p.m. at Memphis State University.

The spelling bee will be held in the University Center Ballroom, located in the center of the campus across from the administration building.

The winner of the Mid-South Bee will then go to Washington, D.C., for competition in June.

Tammy is the daughter of Arnold and Reba Owens. She is an eighth grader at Jumpertown School.

Mrs. Joyce Green is her spelling bee sponsor.

Other honors that Tammy has won at Jumpertown include certificates in English, Math and History. She was voted class favorite. She also won the Prentiss County Spelling Bee last year.

Some of her hobbies are cross-stitching, candlewicking, macrame, softball and reading.

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK:

It Never Touched My Heart

'Keep thy heart with all diligence for out of it are the issues of life.'

-- Proverbs 4:25

By C. D. Edge

The suffering around us must not make us bitter -- Once a handicapped high school student was well liked by his schoolmates. His crutches kept him from physical activity but he had a fine mind and did well in his studies. His friends saw all his problems about getting around and they felt sorry for him. One day his close friend asked him what caused his disability -- "IT WAS POLIO" -- he answered, the friend then said, "with so much difficulty, how do you keep from becoming Bitter?" Tapping his chest with his hand the young man replied with a smile -- "OH IT NEVER TOUCHED MY HEART."

Beloved our great God loves us. We may suffer but we don't have to become Bitter. As long as you keep your life open to Him -- AFFLICTION WILL NEVER TOUCH YOUR HEART.
