Ex-Judge Barred

William Anderson, a former Prentiss County justice court judge, has been barred from ever holding a judicial office again.

On Wednesday, June 6, the state Supreme Court ordered Anderson removed from office and fined him $500 for 'bringing the judicial office into disrepute,' despite the fact that he is no longer in office.

Anderson had been accused of perjury and of failing to perform his duties in relation to garnishment proceedings while serving as a justice court judge.

The $500 fine levied by the Supreme Court was reduced from the originally recommended $2,000 by the state Commission on Judicial Performance.

Anderson had failed to appear, or answer charges levied against him at a hearing called by that commission.

BHS Hires New Coach

Booneville High School has hired a new basketball coach.

BHS principal Mac Curlee said Wednesday morning that the school has hired Carlos Smith, a 1978 graduate of the University of Mississippi, as the school's new varsity girls' basketball coach.

Smith comes to Booneville after a three-year stint as assistant coach at Houston High School. Prior to that, he was assistant coach at Pine Grove High School.

Smith replaces former Booneville High School coach Mickey Wood who resigned this year to enter private business.

Office To Visit

U.S. Senator Thad Cochran is dispatching his mobile office staff to Prentiss county on Wednesday, June 20.

The Senator's mobile office staff will be at the Prentiss County Courthouse in Booneville at 9 a.m.

Citizens who wish to discuss issues before the 98th Congress, or who may have a problem with a federal agency, are invited to stop by and meet with Senator Cochran's mobile office staff. Interested persons should contact the Chancery Clerk's office for exact location at the courthouse in their respective area.

Computers Being Used

Thirty-six percent of public schools in Mississippi use microcomputers in instruction compared to 68 percent nationally, according to a recently published research study based on telephone calls to the nation's 15,275 public school districts. 1,389 microcomputers are now in use in 340 Mississippi public schools.

With microcomputers becoming commonplace in the schools, the level of student access is a key issue. The study measures the potential for student access through Micro-Intensity, the ratio of students to microcomputers in schools using instructional microcomputers.

According to the study there are 135 students for every microcomputer in Mississippi schools using microcomputers in instruction compared to 92 nationally.

Auto Theft: It Victimizes Everyone

By ANGELA SMITH
Staff Reporter

Northeast Mississippi is sometimes described as a "den of thieves" because auto theft is such a problem, according to Virgle Luke, criminal investigator for the Mississippi Highway Patrol.

The area has been hit especially hard by auto theft in the last two years, he said.

"Chop shops have become a big problem in the past five years," he said. "Stealing is for parts - not transportation. Because cars are being stolen for parts our recovery percentage is much less."

The high rate of auto theft in this area is probably one reason some insurance companies don't write insurance in this area, according to Jim Jenkins of Farm Bureau Insurance in Jackson.

Farm Bureau had 11 losses attributed to auto theft in Prentiss County from November 1983 until May 1984, according to Larry Norsworthy, an underwriter for Farm Bureau Insurance in Jackson. During that same time period there was one auto theft loss in Alcorn County and two in Tishomingo, Norsworthy said.

In 1983, Farm Bureau Insurance paid $173,118 in insurance claims for stolen vehicles in Prentiss County, according to Roy T. Loveless, agency manager for Farm Bureau Insurance in Booneville.

Farm Bureau Insurance had a statewide rate increase on auto insurance in December. "I'm sure it had something to do with the high rate of auto theft because the rates are based on overall claims paid," Loveless said.

"When auto theft rises we have to charge more for insurance," Jenkins said.

Another reason auto insurance rates increase is because of fraud. Law enforcement officials estimate that many of the autos reported stolen have not actually been stolen - but are merely reported stolen simply for insurance purposes.

AUTO THEFT is not confined merely to Northeast Mississippi. Statistics show there is an auto stolen every 29 seconds in the United States, according to Investigator Luke.

Auto theft in the U.S. cost over $4.13 billion last year, he said.

Statewide last year, 2,910 vehicles were reported stolen. Of that number 1,727 were recovered in the state while 99 vehicles were recovered out of state, Luke said.

There were 356 stolen out-of-state vehicles recovered in Mississippi, he said.

In District 4, which covers the counties of Prentiss, Alcorn, Tishomingo and Lee, 490 cars were reported stolen last year. That is 16.8 percent of the total number of vehicles reported stolen in the state during that time period.

Statistics compiled by the Department of Public Safety indicate that in 1982 there were 2,738 cars stolen; 1981, 2,743. In 1982 381 cars were stolen in District 4 (13.9 percent of the statewide total) and

Brice's Crossroads Battle

Large Turnout Expected For Re-Enactment

By ED WOODWARD
Managing Editor

"We're expecting 500 troops, six or eight cannon and 50 to 55 cavalry troops this year," said James Downs, one of the organizers of this year's Brice's Crossroad's Battle Re-enactment.

The re-enactment which will commemorate the 120th anniversary of the famous Civil War battle is scheduled to take place Sunday afternoon, July 1, with a weekend of activities in Baldwyn and at the battle site east of Baldwyn.

According to Baldwyn historian Claude Gentry, plans for this year's event are going more smoothly than expected. "We're going to have more people than we know what to do with this year," he said.

Gentry said the 500 expected re-enactors is approximately double the number of troops who participated in the 1983 re-enactment.

"We have a good number who were here last year who are returning," he said. "And we will have more cannons...much more artillery." He said one group is even journeying from Canada to participate.

"There are several things that are going to be happening," said Jeff Robertson.

Robertson said the weekend will begin Saturday, June 30, at 10:30 a.m., "or possibly even earlier, depending on the number participating," with a parade of troops through downtown Baldwyn.

From 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday, the Union and Confederate camps near the Brice's Crossroad's Battleground Memorial Park, west of Baldwyn will be open to the public for viewing.

At 2 p.m. at Brice's Crossroads a cannon and artillery competition will take place.

There will be a fashion show and tea at the restored Carrollville mansion northwest of Baldwyn beginning at 3 p.m. "Women are urged to dress in the apparel made especially for the re-enactment celebration," Robertson said.

At 5 p.m. there will be a barbecue for re-enactors and their families at the campground, followed by an unrehearsed skirmish of troops at the battleground.

The skirmish, which will be open to the public, will close Saturday's schedule of events, Robertson said.

On Sunday, July 1, a church service for re-enactors, their families and the public will be held at Brice's Crossroads.

This will be followed by the actual battle re-enactment, which will begin at 2 p.m.

Robertson said the re-enactment committee is not sure where all the troops will be camping. "It was pretty crowded up under those trees last year. But I think it's all going to be happening at the same place," he said.

"Everything is expected to be bigger than last year," Robertson said.

"It looks like we're going to have four times as many cavalry troops as we had last year," said James Downs. "We have a group from St. Louis that has chartered two buses. They have about 90 coming. And they're bringing 10 cavalry and, I think, three cannons," he said.

planning the value of their property and buildings.

During the public hearings people will have the opportunity to discuss reappraisal if they have any questions, Brown said.

Once reappraisal is completed, county personnel will keep the information updated, Brown said.

Within the next two to three weeks reappraisers will be working in the city of Booneville.

Reappraisers will also be canvassing portions of the city of Baldwyn, Marietta, Jumpertown and Wheeler, Brown said.

"We have had great cooperation from the people," Brown said. "The cooperation in Prentiss County has accepted in plastic bags or cardboard boxes. Tree limbs and trimmings must be bundled in lengths of five feet or less. And no single item can weigh more than 75 pounds," he said.

"What's happened in the past is that the city was dumping all the yard trash in hollows along county roads. And what we're doing, in essence, is taking the whole burden of landfill charges out of the $4 a month and combining yard trash with household garbage," he said.

Boyden explained that it would not be necessary to tie brush in bundles. "When we say 'bundle it,' we just mean place it in a neat pile so our men can pick it up. It can't be scattered from one end of the lot to the other. It has to have some type of uniformity," he said.

"As long as it's in five-foot lengths, or less, and doesn't weigh over 75 pounds we'll pick it up," he said, adding that trash will be accepted in cardboard boxes as long as it does not include any garbage.

Boyden said RSI will attempt to retain the present collection schedules whenever possible. "The only possible change I can see in the

Garbage Collection Transition Expected To Go Smoothly

By ED WOODWARD
Managing Editor

At a May 22 recess meeting, the Booneville Board of Mayor and Aldermen contracted with Refuse Systems Inc. of Corinth to handle all residential and commercial garbage and trash pickup in Booneville. And, according to Booneville Alderman Wade Lambert, the phasing out of the city's role in garbage and trash collection should be a smooth one.

"There will be no change at all in the residential pickup schedule," Lambert said. "Next Monday (June 18), they will begin handling commercial pickup. Residential pickups will begin July 1."

"Beginning next week, they (RSI employees) will begin riding with city crews," Lambert said. "There may be a change in a route or two for residential customers. And as quick as they find out what changes there will be, we'll announce it in The Banner-Independent in time for the people to be familiar with it."

Lambert said the purpose of the change was to get the city out of the garbage business which was reportedly losing approximately $67,000 a year.

He said, though the monthly rate for residential pickup will increase to $4, RSI will pick up garbage, trash and brush all at once. Garbage pickup and trash and brush pickup have been accomplished by the city on separate days.

"There was no charge for brush pickup by the city because we were not taking it to the landfill," Lambert said. He said RSI's equipment will enable them to compact brush, making it suitable for dumping at the county landfill.

"Not charging for brush pickup was what was killing us because it kept two trucks going about 40 hours a week," Lambert said.

"This way, it'll be $4 a month for everything," he said. "The garbage pickups will really be the same. We just put another dollar on for the brush."

Jack R. Boyden of RSI explained that there will be certain requirements for residential pickup of garbage, trash and brush.

As before, items set out for pickup must be within five feet of the street and outside any fence. Garbage must be bagged, but may be set out in garbage cans, Boyden said.

"Yard trash, such as grass trimmings, leaves, etc., will be

Opinion Explained

By ED WOODWARD
Managing Editor

Sen. John White has received a written copy of Attorney General Edwin Lloyd Pittman's opinion regarding whether electric power associations, such as the Prentiss County Electric Power Association, are subject to the state's Open Meeting Law.

The Attorney General's Office had previously notified Sen. White of the opinion by telephone. The written opinion explains the reasons for the determination that the PCEPA is not subject to the law.

At the request of The Banner-Independent, Sen. White had requested in a letter dated April 4, 1984, a written opinion "as to whether electric power associations formed under the authority of ...Mississippi Code of 1972, are public bodies under the contemplation of Section 25-41-3(a) so as to fall under the State Open Meetings Law."

In formulating the requested opinion, the Attorney General's Office first determined that electric power associations are not "public bodies" under the definition of Mississippi Law.

The written opinion, prepared by Special Assistant Attorney General Larry J. Stroud, states, "It does not appear to us that an electric power association is a board, commission, authority, council, department, agency, bureau, or other policy-making entity of the State of Mississippi," which is the definition of a "public body" in Section 25-41-3(a) of the Mississippi Code of 1972.

The written opinion continues, "While an electric power association is a cooperative corporation authorized by statutes, it is not a municipal corporation; nor is it a political subdivision of this State, supported in whole or part by public funds or expending public funds.

"An electric power association does not fit any of the statutory definitions of 'public body.' Further, it is not our opinion that an electric power association is in any manner an arm or agency of the State or any political subdivision. It does not appear the legislature considered them a political subdivisions, because in Section 77-5-249 of the Mississippi Code, Annotated, 1972, it is mandated that such corporations and their property 'shall be liable for taxes and shall be taxed and assessed in the same manner and to the same extent as privately owned utilities.

"Therefore, it is our opinion that electric power associations...are not public bodies within the meaning of Section 25-41-3 of the Mississippi Code...and are not subject to the Open Meetings Act," the written opinion concludes.

BIBLE QUESTION BOX

QUESTION: Mr. Hogland, did God have a death penalty under the Old Testament, and if so for what?

ANSWER: The Old Testament law known as the Mosaic Law had the death penalty for a number of things. I will list some of them. Murder (Ex. 21:12) Rebellion to parents (Ex. 21:15, 16) Kidnapping (Ex. 21:16) Incest (Lev. 20:11-14) Homosexuality (Lev. 20:13) Bestiality (Lev. 20:15, 16) Witchcraft (Lev. 20:27) Whoredom (Lev. 21:9) Blasphemy (Lev. 24:10-16) Sabbath breaking (Num. 15:32-36) Idolatry (Deut. 13:6-10) Rebellion to judges (Deut. 17:8-13) False prophesying (Deut. 18:20) False testifying (Deut. 18:20) Adultery (Deut. 22:22) Rape (Deut. 22:25-26). I hope this will help answer your question. You might observe that when God said, "Thou shalt not kill" It is more accurate to say "Thou shalt do no murder." As the above text show God had many people killed but had a law against murder. As a matter of fact, early in the history of man God imposed the death penalty. In Gen. 9:6 he said, "Whosoever sheds man's blood by man shall his blood be shed." This text tells us that God had the death penalty for people who committed murder.

future would be with the Wednesday route. We might eventually combine those people with the other routes. But we want to keep it as simple as possible and as close to the same service as possible," he said.

Boyden said "mobile toters", individual, wheeled containers, such as those presently used in Memphis and Tupelo, might be offered as an option at extra cost to residential customers in the future.

"Since the city will continue to handle the billing, we don't want to overload them with too many options. But I think we will eventually come up with some type of program," Boyden said.

The city will continue to bill all water meter holders for garbage unless an individual specifically requests otherwise. But, Boyden said, the new city ordinance requires that anyone requesting such exemption must show proof that they are either personally hauling their trash and garbage to the landfill, or are using a container leased for their business.

Boyden said RSI is presently conducting individual negotiations with local businesses and industries for commercial collection, which is scheduled to commence next week.

Booneville School District's CAT Scores Rank Above National Average

During April 1984, students in the Booneville Municipal Separate School District were given the California Achievement Test. Overall test scores were on or above the national average in every grade tested. All students in grades 1-6, 8 and 10 were administered the test to determine the extent of each student's development, relative to his potential within the framework of the school's educational objectives. The instructional areas evaluated were: reading, spelling, math, language, and reference skills. Scores are reported in national percentile rank which ranges from 1 percent to 99 percent. If the score is above 50, the group of pupils scored better than half the pupils taking the same test; 50, the group of pupils scored as well as half of the pupils taking the same test; below 50, the group of pupils did not score as well as half the pupils taking the same test. The first graders in the Booneville School System had a percentile rank score of 62 on the total battery section which means that the pupils' score ranks the same as or better than 62 out of 100 students who took the same test. Language scores in the Booneville Schools are higher than any other instructional area measured. Reading scores in the sixth and the tenth grade reflect vocabulary deficiencies and reference skills for fifth and sixth graders are slightly below the national norm. However, overall test scores were on or above the national average in every grade tested.

Aim Of New HOT Program To Cut Erosion

Prentiss County is part of an area wide Hold Our Topsoil Program aimed at cutting soil erosion in half during the next five years. The present rate of soil loss on cropland in Mississippi is 10.6 tons per acre per year. This compares with 17 tons of topsoil lost annually from cropland in Prentiss County. The HOT Program was launched in 1983 when Gov. William Winter appointed Agriculture Commissioner, Jim Buck Ross,

Chairman of a steering committee to conduct the program. Committee members represent 19 state and federal agencies and organizations interested in soil conservation. Prentiss County has about 74,000 acres in row crops with the annual soil loss of 17 tons per acre. It is estimated it will cost the farmers of this county $68 per acre if a ton of soil is valued at $4. This money would go a long way toward installing the needed conservation practices such as terraces, grassed waterways, streambank stabilization structures, etc., to prevent soil loss in the first place. Prentiss County will participate with other counties Aug. 23, in an area wide field day to be held on the James Creek Ranch near Aberdeen in Monroe County. Dalton Garner, Area IV Vice-President, Mississippi Association of Conservation Districts is chairman of the Area IV Hot steering committee responsible for planning and conducting the field day. Theme for Area IV's Hot Field Day is 'Conservation Practices That Work,' said Garner. "We want to invite everyone to attend. Final details of the field day's program will be announced later." "Involved in the Hot Field Day plans are farmers, Vo-Ag. teachers, district conservationists, FmHA staffers, ASCS employees, county agents, state employees, T.V.A. workers, and representatives of many businesses and other organizations," said Garner. Persons who want more information on the field day may contact local representatives of any of the above named organizations.

"WHO SHOULD WEAR THE TITLE "REVEREND"?"

It has become a common practice with many to address preachers as "Reverend." Two things have contributed to such practice: (1) a desire to show respect to one who preaches, (2) a force of habit. Many preachers wear proudly the title of "Reverend" because it helps to inflate their ego as it did the Pharisees. (Matt. 23:7-9) Preachers are also men and should not be worshipped. (Acts 10:24-25)

The word "Reverend" appears only once in the Bible and is found in Psalms 111:9. It comes from the Hebrew word "Yare," which means, "be afraid," "dread," "fear" and "reverence." Its meaning in Psalms 111:9 is "to be feared," or "reverenced." We learn from the Bible that God is the only one to be feared or revered. "And fear not them which kill the body, but are not able to kill the soul: but rather fear him which is able to destroy both soul and body in hell." (Matt. 10:28)

The word "Reverend" refers to God and no one should accept a title that belongs to God. Should one accept a title that belongs to God then he is accepting glory which belongs to God and is placing himself on equality with God. One should hesitate to wear titles which are not authorized in the word of the Lord, "holy and reverend is His name." (Psalms 111:9)

Ponderings

By Angela Smith

Staff Reporter

I have a confession to make. But only one. I am a procrastinator. If I can put off doing something -- I will. Until the last minute. I've always had a low regard of people who put off doing things until "tomorrow." I regarded them as somewhat lazy. At least that's how I regarded them until I joined their ranks. Now I have a somewhat different attitude concerning my fellow procrastinators. I have decided that people who habitually postpone doing things until the very last minute are inclined to be very well-adjusted individuals. Of course I could be wrong.

We will examine one case for instance. Me.

I ALWAYS receive a notice from my dentist when it's time for my dental check-up. But do I go ahead and make an appointment? Of course not. I wait several months until all my teeth begin hurting and then I make an appointment.

Another thing I postpone is washing my car. (I don't guess this is news to anyone who sees my car). Sooner or later I figure it's going to rain. Then my car will be muddy because I live on a gravel road.

However, I would like to point out that I washed my car last Friday. And although my car is dusty, it is clean underneath.

There is another thing I wait until the last minute to do. This will probably shock you. Sometimes I wait until the last minute to write my column.

WHY WOULD anyone wait until the last minute to write a column?

I have lots of good reasons. But I'll wait until next week to tell you about them. I guess I'm just a true-blue procrastinator.

By the way, although I used the word "procrastinator" several times in this column, I didn't know how to spell it. And I waited until the very last minute to look the word up in the dictionary.

City Park Needs Full-Time Athletic Director

With the start of summer activities at the West Side City Park, the problem of not having a full-time park athletic director has again appeared.

The city park has a full-time director in Freddy Loveless. However, Loveless' main duties involve the upkeep of the park and do not include supervising athletic activities.

Each year the city hires an athletic director -- for the summer only -- to coordinate the athletic programs. And this practice has raised many questions from concerned citizens.

A part-time athletic director -- regardless of how good a job he does -- just cannot be as effective as a full-time year-round director would be.

Take the Little League football program, for example. For the past two years, with the cooperation of the city this program has been run by parents of the players, not by the part-time director. However, some of these parents say they will not aid the city with the program this fall. They say they feel there should be an athletic director for the football program, too.

The city park sponsors the church softball league each year with games played at the park. But, the church basketball league must hold its games at Gaston Baptist Church, a long trip for many of the participants. Several church officials say they would like to see a multi-purpose gymnasium built at the city park that could host a church basketball league. This would provide a neutral court at a central location in the county.

Another problem for many Booneville youths this summer has been the lack of a 13 to 14-year-old baseball team. The park has sponsored such a team in the past. But this is the first year Booneville will not be represented in Dizzy Dean play.

Not fielding a 13 to 14-year-old team at the park has upset many Booneville citizens for a number of reasons. Many 13 and 14-year-olds are traveling to other towns to play on a team in their age division. This causes problems for some parents, especially those with children of other ages involved in Booneville programs.

There have also been suggestions that the park sponsor a soccer program for the city's youth. But, without a full-time athletic director this would probably be an impossibility. Neighboring cities, like Corinth and Tupelo, have full-time athletic directors. And the difference is worth the distance for many.

The present city budget may not provide for a full-time park director. But the idea should at least be considered for the next fiscal year. It could mean the difference between a good city youth program and a great city youth program.

Sawmills Have Changed A Lot Since 1930s

By ED BLAKE
Mississippi Farm Bureau Federation

Modern technology has made quite a change at the local sawmill since you older timers were boys.

I remember the way they did it when I was a boy. My dad usually picked late summer when the crops were laid by and the woods were dry to send his men into the woods with crosscut saws to cut down and section off the logs for the log wagon.

The most notable occasion in my memory came in the 1930's when my father decided to build a barn during lay-by time. We had a lot of choice cedars and pines on the place so he dispatched men with crosscut saws into the woods and pasture to cut pine logs for the barn and cedar blocks for the foundation.

For the main two story section he had them cut straight cedar trees which were sunk into the ground and sawed off evenly at the second story rafter line.

Our log wagons were

County School Report

Transportation Costs Much Too Expensive

By J.W. GREENE
Prentiss County Superintendent of Schools

Even though the regular school term is over, the Prentiss County Vocational-Technical School is very busy during these summer months.

Recently the vo-tech completed two weeks of computer camp for elementary students. A total of 37 students from Booneville and Prentiss County in grades 3, 4 and 5 participated in the camp. According to Mr. Merrill Cartwright, these were the most diligent students they have been involved with.

Classes in computer education for teachers through Mississippi State University are now being planned at the vo-tech. The courses will be offered for both graduate and undergraduate credit. Anyone interested in these classes should contact Mrs. Laura Cartwright at the vo-tech center for further information.

The summer academic program is now in progress at the Vo-tech. The quota of students has been met and classes have begun. Students attend classes in English, math or keyboarding from 7:30-10:30, then spend the remainder of the day in vocational training.

By the end of the term, students will have been exposed to 6 different vocational areas. Students are receiving credit for their participation plus reimbursement of $1.00 per hour to cover lunch and transportation.

In addition to all the activities mentioned above, the bus driver school has been recently held at the vo-tech. I still want to urge those interested in driving a bus to attend one of the schools. A school will be coming up in August for new drivers.

In looking at operation expenses for the 83-84 school term I noted with particular interest our transportation costs. Prentiss County spent $65,876.94 for LP gas in buses, $12,715.29 for regular gas, and $5,522.18 to the State Tax Commission for tax on LP gas.

These figures make me question the feasibility of LP gas for our buses. The board is considering other alternatives, such as new diesel buses, or used buses which burn regular gas to replace some of the 1960 and early 70-model buses we now have.

Estimated repairs to put our buses back on the road next year are $30,000. Of this amount it will take about $3,000 to repair seat covers on 60 percent of our buses. These seats were ruined by the use of knives.

Our featured board member this week is Mr. Harold (Pete) Woodruff. Woodruff presently serves as President of the county school board. He lives in Wheeler and attended Wheeler High School.

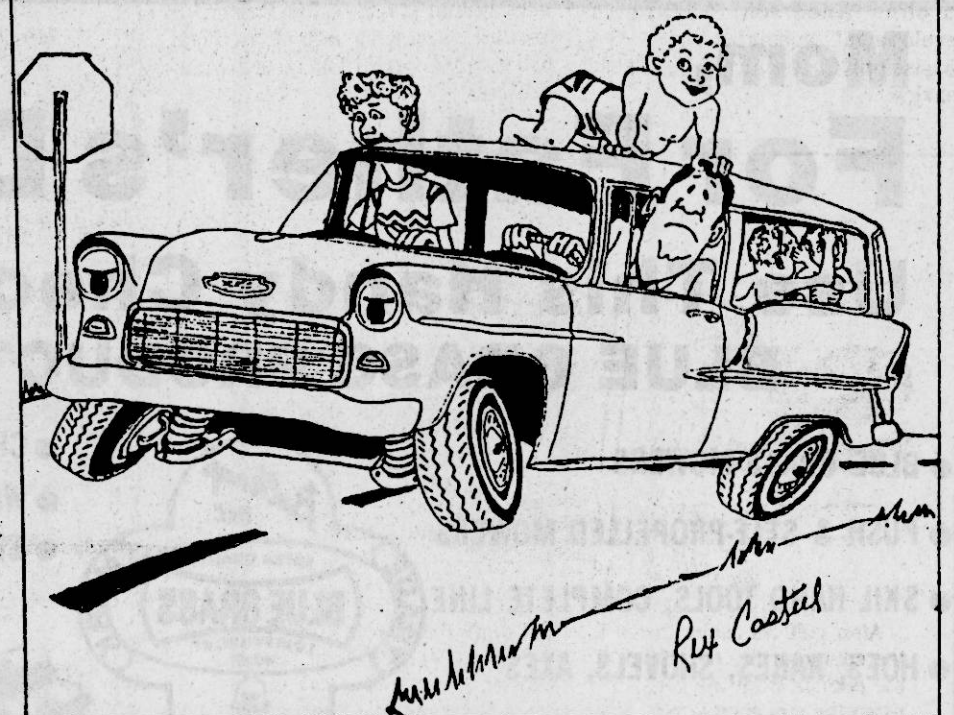

Woodruff is married to the former Moiese Glover. They have three children: Pat who is married and the mother of two children. She lives in Columbus. Their sons are Bill who works for Glover Upholstery Shop in Baldwin and Richard who is employed by Glover Body Shop in Baldwin. Woodruff worked for 12 years at Booneville Hardware and 12 years at Windham Ford. He is now employed by Reynolds Handy Pak Mart in Baldwin. The Woodruffs attend Wheeler Methodist Church.

That Yankee From Yonder

By Ed Woodward

Managing Editor

People have been putting down Indiana Jones and the Temple of Doom as too violent for children. But, after seeing it I'm still trying to figure out these objections. Apparently, these people don't remember their own childhoods and are simply describing their own adult reactions.

Like Raiders of the Lost Ark, Indiana Jones is a fun film in the tradition of the old movie serials with one cliffhanger after another and so much action you watch the entire movie from the edge of your seat while holding your breath.

In Raiders, we saw Indy covered with giant tarantulas; we saw a spray of blood when a man backed into an airplane propeller off-camera and we saw one man melt and another explode on camera. And nobody complained that it was too violent or intense for kids. Everybody loved it.

The comparable scenes in the sequel involve giant roaches, a bloody millstone that has crushed a bad guy (once again off-camera) and a man bursting into flame as he is lowered into a lava pit. Saturday morning TV is more horrifying and disgusting.

I think the main objection is to the non-stop action that leaves the viewer little chance to breathe. From the opening fight in the Shanghai nightclub, to the final battle, on a rope bridge spanning a chasm over a river full of crocodiles, there is less than ten minutes of non-action.

Kids love it, no matter how old we are. But those with no kid left in them probably can't hack it. So they put the film down as unsuitable for kids.

Kids seem to be better able than adults to separate fantasy from reality. Jason was not bothered in the least by the film. But Sara left bruises on both of us by grabbing our arms and legs whenever something horrifying or exciting happened.

Jason slept like a baby after seeing the movie. I was the one who woke up several times during the night, still tense.

Mom would never let me see horror movies when I was a kid. She said they might give me nightmares. She didn't know I was a horror junkie with a collection of Poe, Lovecraft, Machen and Dunsany and a stack of Tales From the Crypt comic books hidden in my room (Now it's Stephen King and Peter Straub).

When I was finally allowed to see my first Frankenstein film I was actually disappointed. I wasn't scared. In fact, I had a tendency to feel sorry for both Larry Talbot and The Monster, if not for old Dracula.

Now I know it was Mom who had the nightmares after seeing those wonderful old horror films. I was the one who realized they were not for real.

And I don't think kids, today, are bothered by such things. They're a lot more sophisticated than most of us were at that age, and a lot of us are now.

40% Of State's FmHA Loans Delinquent

By LORRIE MAYNARD
Ole Miss Journalism Intern

Last year in Mississippi, the Farmers Home Administration foreclosed on 91 farms. The number would have been 129 but other lenders had prior liens on the properties.

Dan Maddox, assistant state director of FmHA, said, "Forty percent of the state administration's loans have been delinquent for a year or more. We're carrying folks for longer than we used to."

Dr. Paul Oliver, associate professor emeritus of economics at The University of Mississippi, said he expects the rash of foreclosures and farm failures to continue. The reasons are oversupply of farm products and farmers' inefficiency. Government farm programs won't remedy the problems, Dr. Oliver said, because the programs are based on social policy, not economic policy.

No federal farm programs have ever been economic, he said. From the first program proposed by Franklin Roosevelt in the Depression, to last year's $20 billion farm bail-out, government policy has been to preserve the family farm as a "hallowed institution."

"Government price-support programs can't offset farm failures because of the imbalance they create in farm supply and demand," he said. "Three and a half million farmers now produce more food than Americans can eat. As long as the supply of food exceeds demand for it, farm prices will remain low, while farm costs continue to rise in all areas."

For example, the price of farm machinery has nearly quadrupled since the 1960s. A tractor bought in 1950 for $1,250 might sell now for $10,000. Big, highly efficient tractors sell for as much as $100,000.

"In farming these days, the key word is efficient - which translates into big," Dr. Oliver said. "In order to get efficient you have to get big. Or you have to get out."

More efficient farming and farming on a bigger scale are the answers to farmers' two basic problems: poor management in farm practices and undercapitalization. Increasing the size of a farm, Dr. Oliver said, achieves "economies of scale." In simpler terms, overhead is spread over more units, reducing costs.

This means using a 100 horsepower tractor to plow 100 acres is more efficient than using a tractor with a 30 horsepower engine. The big farmer can afford the costs of the bigger machine. Because he can afford it, he spends less time and money plowing his fields than the small farmer who must settle for a less efficient machine.

The idea of buying a bigger tractor and more land is ironic to the man struggling to pay the cost of last year's planting. Even if his farm wasn't mortgaged to the hilt, and many are, land prices have risen almost as fast as equipment prices.

Farmland that sold for $60 an acre 20 years ago sells for $600 to $1,500 and acre today. According to the most recent Census of Agriculture in 1978, farms in Mississippi average 256 acres.

To reach optimum size, Dr. Oliver said, a farm should expand to at least 1,200 acres. The average farmer, then, needs to finance an additional 900 acres or so of land. At today's land prices and finance rates, he needs to borrow a half-million to a million dollars at about 16 percent interest.

No one seems to have the answer to farm capitalization problems. The Farmers Home Administration and Farm Credit Association are lenders of last resort for about 12 percent of all farm operations, lending money below market rates to farmers who have been denied credit elsewhere. And the 50-year-old price support program was designed to help build capital by assuring minimum prices on farm commodities.

These capital building measures have not offset rising costs of supplies and borrowing money. Profits that might have been used for expansion and new equipment have frequently been needed to pay interest on existing debts.

"It has been said," Dr. Oliver observed, "that economics is the dismal science. When the market system is functioning properly, it punishes inefficiency."

If inefficient farming practices continue past the farmer's ability to finance them, the punishment is foreclosure. It is a punishment doled out with increasing frequency. In 1921, about 50 percent of all Americans lived and worked on farms. Today, less than four percent of the population farms for a living.

Many remaining full-time farmers have large-scale operations, but a significant number succeed on small farms. How do they do it? Dr. Oliver smiles and says, "A sure-fire formula is to inherit lots of money."

That's the easy way. Other ways involve study and hard work. Approximately 62 percent of Mississippi farmers and their wives have other jobs to bring in more money. Renting land is a solution to high land prices for 38 percent of the state's farmers. Specialization - concentration in one area of farming - saves money by requiring less equipment. Fundamental to these capital-producing measures though is the knowledge to apply them.

"If you want to farm," Dr. Oliver said, "go to school. Take finance, marketing and economics. Learn management. Because the days when you can farm with 40 acres and a mule are long gone."

4-H Annual State Congress At MSU

Prepared to demonstrate their skills, Mississippi 4-H'ers and their adult volunteer leaders will gather at Mississippi State University June 19-21 for the annual State 4-H Congress.

"This event offers delegates a chance to share ideas, participate in contests and experience many learning opportunities," said Caroline Anderson, 4-H youth development specialist with the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service.

"These 4-H'ers, representing the state's 178,000 4-H members, are among the most outstanding youth in the state," she said. "While at Congress, they will have an opportunity to demonstrate the results of their practical learning experiences through participation in more than 50 different contests."

The 4-H program, the youth educational phase of the Extension Service, uses a variety of methods to involve youth in worthwhile projects.

Brown Shoe Manager Celebrates 25 Years With Company

By ANGELA SMITH
Staff Reporter

Alton L. Phillips has been working with the Brown Shoe Company for 25 years.

He has been plant manager at the Brown Shoe Company in Booneville for five years.

Phillips, a native of Lexington, Tenn., began working at Brown Shoe in Lexington in the "lasting room" as an operator on a toe lasting machine.

His next job was working in the fitting room as a foreman trainee. He later transferred to Savannah, Tenn., as a fitting room foreman in 1966.

In 1971 he transferred to Selmer as an assistant supervisor. He came to Booneville as plant manager in September 1979.

He and his wife, Joann, who have been married 22 years, have two children, Jonna and David. Both are students at Northeast Junior College.

WHEN PHILLIPS first began working at Brown Shoe in Booneville, the company was producing 4,500 pair of shoes per day and had about 365 employees.

Now the company produces 5,500 pair of shoes per day and there are approximately 428 employees on the payroll.

"Our goal is to produce more pairs of shoes with the same amount of people so our productivity can go up," Phillips said.

"I am proud of the Booneville plant and the employees we have here," Phillips said. "They are fine and dedicated. That's what Brown Shoe Company is all about. We're a people business."

Rienzi News

By VIOLA PRESLEY
Correspondent

Mrs. Louis Meinardi has returned from a visit with John, Jan and Jessica Meinardi in West Palm Beach, Fla. This was Mrs. Meinardi's first visit with Jessica.

A large number of friends called at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Harwood (the former home of Mrs. Truman Smith and the late Mr. Smith) Friday night to welcome them into our community. A housewarming was enjoyed and the many delightful gifts were happily received. A display of refreshments was served those acting as hostesses.

Mrs. Mary McCord, librarian at the Rienzi Public Library, continues to call attention to the Summer Fun Program. Mrs. McCord states that a child who reads at least six books during the summer vacation period will be better in school at the beginning of the fall session. Also that a child who reads twelve books during the summer will do twice as well in school at the beginning of the fall session.

With this in mind, the Rienzi Public Library would like to remind parents and boys and girls about the Summer Reading Program which will begin June 19 and continue until July 24. The library will offer enjoyable learning experiences, story telling and creative activities. Leslie Johnsey of Ramer, Tenn., was a guest Friday night of her grandparents. Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Johnsey, Jr.

Friends of Mrs. Hubert Doty are happy to know she is recovering from a recent illness which has kept her at home for the past two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Eldridge and Randall Eldridge spent the weekend in Meridian with Mr. and Mrs. Gary Eldridge and Todd Eldridge.

Library Notes

By LEE DAVIS
Librarian
George E. Allen Library

Samuel D. McIlwain, who spoke at the formal dedication of the George E. Allen Library, Oct. 23, 1976, presented two signed presidential portraits to the Allen Library Monday, June 11. One is a painting of Franklin Delano Roosevelt holding Falla, his famous pet, and the other is a large framed photograph of Harry S. Truman. These will join the great and near great friends of George Ed Allen whose pictures line the walls of the memorial room to the man whose legacy made our library a reality. Mr. McIlwain, now in private law practice in Washington, D.C., recounted incidents from his long association with Mr. Allen. Their mutually treasured relationship began in 1935. Through Congressman Pat Harrison, young Samuel McIlwain began working in Mr. Allen's office as a summer job earning money for entry into law school. Mr. Allen persuaded the young man to "learn by doing" with him and attend night school. Mr. McIlwain has his degree from the National Law School of George Washington University. As Allen's assistant, Mr. McIlwain helped work on such projects as the first March of Dimes of which Mr. Allen was the driving force. It grew out of the President's Birthday Ball whereby the president suffering from infantile paralysis aided the foundation working for its alleviation. Over half a million dollars was sent into the White House! Half a million dollars in dimes congested

White House mail but it was the first means of working toward the Salk discoveries. George E. Allen started to Hyde Park with a certified check for this sum. He handed it to President Roosevelt after hitchhiking the last several miles because of a flat tire. George E. Allen was the executive director and Samuel McIlwain the assistant director for the Works Progress Administration and its companion youth program, the N.Y.A. In his autobiography, Mr. Allen describes the number of refusals and the treatment he received trying incognito to see how hard finding a job really was. Services rendered their country during World War II intervened before their next mutual venture as director and assistant director of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. These were happy memories for Mr. McIlwain. Mr. Allen tells us about himself and about the five presidents with whom he worked in Presidents Who Have Known Me. You'll enjoy this autobiography.

UNDERSTANDING OPTICAL ERRORS

Millions of people wear corrective lenses. The great majority of them are prescribed to correct the four most common types of optical errors: nearsightedness, farsightedness, astigmatism, and presbyopia. Still, there persists a good deal of confusion and misunderstanding concerning these problems.

To begin with, THESE ARE OPTICAL ERRORS NOT EYE DISEASES. Eyes that are nearsighted, farsighted, astigmatic, or presbyopic are not unhealthy, nor are they any more subject to eye disease than eyes without optical error. Since they are not diseased, they do not have to be cured, merely corrected.

The correction for optical errors is corrective lenses - either glasses or contact lenses - which will allow perfect or near-perfect vision when in use. There is no reason to be happy about having an optical error requiring correction, but it's certainly no cause for anxiety and self-doubt.

For answers to your specific questions regarding vision, call The Booneville Vision Clinic. 728-3446

Two Northeast Students Awarded Ole Miss Scholarships

Nathan Baldwin and Jeff Green, two former Booneville High School students, have received scholarships to the University of Mississippi.

Each has attended Northeast Junior College for the past two years and has been active in the school's Phi Theta Kappa and Society of Student Scientist's programs.

Baldwin, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gayle Baldwin, is majoring in pre-medicine and plans to attend the University of Mississippi Medical Center in either one or two years.

During his two years at Northeast, Baldwin maintained a perfect 4.0 average, and has claimed the CRC Press Award for Outstanding Freshman Chemistry Student at Northeast.

He was also elected Most Intellectual and Most Likely to Succeed his senior year at Booneville High School and was the Valedictorian and Star Student of his graduating class as well as a Governor's Scholar. He graduated with the highest grade point average yet to be attained at Booneville High School.

His future plans include returning to Booneville for a private practice of medicine though he has not ruled out the possibility of scientific research.

Green, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Troy E. Green, plans to major in chemical engineering at Ole Miss.

While at Northeast, he was named to Who's Who Among American College Students.

Besides being a member of Phi Theta Kappa, he was active in the Math and Engineering Club. While attending Northeast, he consistently made the President's and Dean's List.

While at Booneville High School, Green was elected Mr. FBLA and was named to the Hall of Fame.

Public Radio In Mississippi Will Be Fully Operational By Mid-Summer

Public Radio in Mississippi the eight-station statewide public radio network under the Mississippi Authority for Educational Television, will be in full operation by mid-summer, weather permitting according to Linda Carr Flentje, Director of Radio.

"Seven of our stations are now in full broadcast schedule with only the Jackson station remaining to go on-air. It is pending the completion of our transmitting tower in southwest Jackson and installation of broadcast equipment at the Jackson studios," Flentje said.

Booneville's public radio station, WMAE-FM, 89.5 Mhz, is currently receiving programming via microwave from temporary studios in Jackson.

According to Flentje, over 3000 listener responses have been received to date. "All comments indicate that our programming is indeed serving as a listening alternative and is right on target. Program Guide requests will be filled within the next four weeks so that our listeners will then have a complete schedule for our 126-hour weekly broadcasts."

Public Radio in Mississippi was established by an act of the Mississippi legislature and is a division of the Mississippi Authority for ETV. Programming will be a combination of the nationally recognized National Public Radio offerings, plus syndicated programs as well as locally produced segments by the PRM staff.

Approximately 70 percent of the non-commercial radio network's format will consist of classical and performance programming, including Saturday afternoon Metropolitan Opera performances.

Secondarily, the schedule will be devoted to public affairs programming with the remainder comprised of jazz and radio drama.

"The statewide interest generated from this project is probably the most enthusiastic I have seen in my years in public radio. PRM is a medium which all Mississippians can grasp 18 hours a day, 7 days a week, anytime, anywhere," Flentje said.

A PUBLIC NOTICE

Regarding the change over in garbage and yard trash collection for the City of Booneville.

On May 22, 1984, the Mayor and Board of Aldermen entered into an agreement with RSI (Refuse Systems, Inc.) of Corinth, Mississippi, to collect and dispose of all residential and commercial garbage and yard trash in the City of Booneville.

- (1) All household garbage must be put in an approved plastic bag(s) and placed within 5 feet of the street, accessible to RSI employees, outside any fence or other property enclosure. If desired, garbage bags can be placed at the street inside suitable garbage cans. However, garbage must be bagged!!!
  - (2) Yard trash must be placed in a uniform manner along side household plastic garbage bag(s) and must meet certain requirements for collection.
    - a. Yard trash will be picked up along with household garbage on your scheduled pick up day.
    - b. Yard trash, trimmings, leaves, etc. will be accepted in plastic bags or suitable disposable containers or cardboard boxes.
    - c. Tree limbs and trimmings must be bundled in lengths not to exceed 5 feet in length.
    - d. No single item can exceed 75 pounds in weight.
  - (3) RSI will not be responsible for picking up debris resulting from construction, remodeling, demolition, etc. or waste resulting from professional tree trimmers or landscapers. It will be the responsibility of the contractor to dispose of said debris, or to contact RSI for removal at a negotiated rate.
  - (4) Waste material of a hazardous nature will not be collected or disposed of by RSI.
- The monthly charge for residential garbage on yard trash collection and disposal will be $4.00 per residence and billed on your City Utility Bill.

COMMERCIAL COLLECTION

Commercial collection will consist of businesses, offices, apartments, etc. and will have two categories: Light Commercial and Heavy Commercial.

(1) Light Commercial Customers, those establishments generating 1½ cubic yards (300 gallons) or less of trash per week will be serviced by RSI with two (2) pick ups per week.

a. Trash will be collected in acceptable plastic bags or disposable containers, placed outside the establishment near the street or at an acceptable alternate location easily accessible to RSI's truck.

Light Commercial Customers will be billed $8.50 per month on their City Utility Bill.

Sawmills

pulled by mules, although some neighbors still used oxen. At the sawmill all of the log handling was done manually using mules or oxen when sheer power was needed.

But many chores could be handled using basic principles of mechanical advantage, such as modern students learn in physics classes and old-timers learned from those before them that passed techniques down from generation to generation. Cant hooks supplied leverage to turn logs over, while principles of the inclined plane, pulleys, and gravity were used to raise and lower logs while loading or transferring them.

The sawmill was a small one located on a hillside not far from our farm. Many small rural mills were known by such names as peckerwood, man killer, or groundhog mills.

I stood totally fascinated as the sawers and their helpers rode the carriage feeding logs through a large circular saw that ate its way through four side slabs to square the log and then cut the squared log into boards. Men stood by to grab the boards as they came off the saw.

My father paid for the sawmilling by sharing a percent of the boards with the owner of the mill. The rough sawn planks were for flooring and walls of our barn, and were mostly about a foot wide. He had some sawed only about four inches wide for the battens in board and batten exterior construction.

The boards were loaded on the wagons immediately and hauled to the barn site at the farm. Two-by-fours, sixes, and eights were loaded for framing, rafters and joists.

Building the barn is another story in itself. Last week this writer visited the Cathey-Williford-Jones Lumber Co. sawmill at Bentonia to observe changes in sawmilling over the past generation. I was shown around the plant by manager Gene Gooch.

On the yard logs were brought in by trucks from area farm woodlands primarily in Yazoo and Madison counties and unloaded. For milling they were hoisted onto a conveyor one at a time by an end loader. Each log rode a steel conveyor to the second floor level where it was debarked.

No old time cant hooks were around for log turning. Each log was conveyed mechanically into sawing position. It took about ten seconds for a band saw to rip through the 16 foot logs and return.

There was a control room looking out on the two saw carriages which operated with clock-line precision. First the four side slabs came off the log, same as a generation ago. Then the log was cut into boards, the same as in past times except faster and with very little man labor involved.

Conveyors shuttled the slabs away en route to a chipper. Bark and sawdust were used as the fuel to provide steam power for operation of the mill at less than ten percent of the cost of electric power.

Other planks were relayed to dimensioning saws. Mechanically they were sorted by size and grade and dunked into a solution of fungicide and pesticide to prevent deterioration during the period they were in drying stacks on the yard.

On the yard it takes considerable time to dry the stacks of boards. The time varies according to the temperature and dryness of the air and the end use of the lumber. The mill also operates two huge kilns where the drying process can be reduced to about ten days. Outside the main mill building a screaming sound lets you know you are near the planner which puts the smooth finish on lumber.

Gene Gooch, who has been in the sawmilling business for 20 years after following in his father's and grandfather's footsteps, says the biggest change in modern sawmilling is the switch to labor saving equipment. Labor costs at the mill today are half of what they were 20 years ago.

The Bentonia mill specializes in hardwood lumber which is used mainly in flooring and furniture making. Gooch reports that the current market is better for hardwoods such as red oak, white oak and ash because of the beauty of the grain in furniture and flooring.

The market is not as good for the smooth grain woods such as sycamore, poplar, gum, and cottonwood. These woods virtually have no grain design and are used primarily for upholstered furniture framework or painted woods.

Gooch indicated that there is a lot of waste in the sawmilling process. That is because trees grow round instead of square, and a sizeable slab of bark and wood must be removed to square the log before it can be sawed into quality heartwood lumber.

This mill sells some of its slabs as chips.

Production volume has become increasingly important in modern sawmilling.

No longer do farm wagons enter the millyard with a few logs to help the farm cashflow at a critical time.

Gooch said that with today's trucks, loaders, and other equipment used in modern harvesting and hauling timber, it is not considered economically feasible to harvest less than 40,000 to 50,000 board feet at a time.

Converting this to logs and trees, for better understanding, an average log size is about 120 board feet. So the minimum feasible harvest unit, Gooch said, is about 375 logs. A typical forest tree of merchantable size contains two or three logs so we're talking about approximately 150 lofty oak trees.

The farmer's share, based on a standing timber price of from $125 to $145 per thousand board feet for bottomland hardwoods from the Yazoo and Big Black River area, turns out to be about $16.20 per standing log, or perhaps $40.50 per tree for a total farm value sale of about $6,075 based on these averages used.

And that's a lot different from Grandpa's day, too!

Thefts

283 cars were stolen in District 4 in 1981 (10.3 percent of the total).

According to sheriff's department records published in The Banner-Independent in 1983, 51 vehicles were stolen in Prentiss County. Of this number the reports indicated that at least six vehicles had been burned; and two were found in running condition. Of the 51 vehicles stolen, 27 were autos and 24 were pickups.

In 1982, sheriff's department reports published in The Banner-Independent show that 24 vehicles were stolen in Prentiss County. There were 12 pickups and 12 autos stolen and at least one auto was found burned.

As of the end of May, the Prentiss County Sheriff's Department reported that nine vehicles had been stolen this year. Of this number, four were pickups and five were cars. Five of the vehicles had been recovered and they had been burned and stripped.

RECORDS FROM the Booneville Police Department show that 25 vehicles were stolen in the city in 1983 (15 pickups and 10 cars). Of that number two vehicles had been stripped, and two were recovered in running condition. (It is possible that more autos were recovered. However, if so, it was not noted on the theft reports).

Booneville Police Department records show that in 1982 ten vehicles were stolen - four pickups and six cars. One was recovered in running condition; one was burned; and one was recovered but the condition was not listed.

In 1981, records from the Booneville Police Department showed that no cars were stolen in the city during that period; but one pickup was stolen. An 18-wheeler tractor was stolen but was recovered.

As of the end of May eight vehicles have been reported stolen in the city - four pickups and four autos. One was found burned and stripped and one was recovered in running condition.

Booneville Police Chief Bobby Lambert, who took office in July 1981, believes that auto theft in the city is down.

"It's not nearly as high this year as it has been in the past," he said. "I hope it stays like this."

Chief Lambert said he thought auto theft was down in the city because "several have been sentenced to the state penitentiary. I believe that's helped a lot."

Drugs and auto theft seem to go hand in hand, Lambert said.

"Just about 90 percent of the people we arrest for auto theft or even for burglaries are on drugs," he said. "The drug problem is our problem."

Prentiss County Sheriff W.V. Horn, who became sheriff in January, agrees with Lambert that many people arrested for auto theft are also taking drugs.

"A big percentage of people committing house break-ins are also taking drugs," Sheriff Horn added.

"I know in my own mind a bunch who are dealing in auto theft. The hard part is proving it - even if you know what they're doing," Horn said.

RECORDS AT THE Prentiss County courthouse indicate that the number of prison sentences being handed out for auto theft is low when compared to the number of autos being stolen.

Since 1980 ten people have been sentenced for auto theft in Prentiss County, according to records in the Prentiss County Circuit Clerk's office.

In 1983 four men were sentenced on auto theft charges. All received suspended prison sentences, but were ordered to make restitution, pay fines, and spend less than two months in the county jail.

In 1982 only one person was sentenced for auto theft in Prentiss County. He received a five-year prison sentence with two years suspended.

In 1981 two people were sentenced for auto theft in the county. One man, who faced two separate charges of grand larceny, received a three-year prison sentence on both charges. The sentence was suspended in both cases. Another man received a five-year prison term with two years suspended.

In 1980 three people were sentenced for auto theft in Prentiss County. One was sentenced to serve three years in prison; one was sentenced to three years in prison, with one year suspended; and another sentenced to three years in prison, with 18 months suspended.

No one was sentenced for auto theft during the February 1984 term of Prentiss County Circuit Court. Five men who are charged with grand larceny in connection with the theft of autos are scheduled for trials during the June term of court.

County Agent's Notes

By CLIFFORD J. HAMPTON
County Agent

How to Deal with fungus Infested Pastures. Samples of tall fescue being sent to the Plant Pathology Laboratory indicate that tall fescue pastures are highly infested with the endophytic fungus, Acremonium coenophialum. Most farmers who have infested fescue are aware of the associated animal problems. The main question now is, if a high amount of the fungus is present, what should be done?

— Grow Legumes with Fescue. Research has shown that annual legumes and perennial legumes such as white and red clovers will reduce the effect of the fungus. Therefore, if you can lime, fertilize, and do a good job of growing legumes, this may be one solution.

— Reduce Nitrogen Fertilization. Research has shown that nitrogen fertilization may increase the problems from the fungus. If cattle remain on highly nitrated fescue into the "summer slump" period, problems may be increased. Also, accumulated nitrated fescue in the fall may give increased "fescue foot" problems.

— Remove Cattle from Fescue During Summer. With drought and increased summer temperatures, the chemicals in the plants caused by the fescue which cause animal health problems are increased. Therefore, cattle should be removed from fescue during this period if possible. Research has shown hot weather, the fungus, and elevated animal temperatures are all related. This may result in animals standing in shade or water much of the time.

— Fungus in Hay and Seed. Hay harvested from fungus infested fields will also contain the fungus. This is also true for seed. Cattle fed infested hay or seed can be expected to have fescue toxicity problems. Severe problems have occurred where animals have grazed infested pasture and been fed infested hay at the same time.

— Reduce Seed Head Development. There is no need for fescue to produce seed unless seed are to be harvested. The seed may contain high levels of the fungus. Also, if fields are to be destroyed, seed should be clipped or removed to reduce future contamination from carry-over fungus infested seed.

— Planting Old Fescue Seed. Some research has shown the fungus will die within one or two years in carry-over seed. However, germination and seed quality also drops and the amount of live fungus will vary greatly depending on seed storage conditions. Therefore, we do not suggest depending on old seed for establishing fungus-free fields.

— Destroying Infested Fields. Research indicated if old infested plants can be destroyed and carry-over seed from these plants are eliminated, fungus-free fields can be established. The fungus does not move from plant to plant and is only transmitted through the seed. Individual animal gains from fungus-free fields have been as much as two pounds per day.

Most researchers feel there is little chance a method will be developed to economically eliminate the fungus in existing fields. Therefore, many cattlemen will be working to destroy old stands and reestablish with fungus-free seed.

— Ways to Kill Infested Plants. Currently, many ways are being researched and tried for killing fungus infested pastures. Some of these are: (1) Plowing the land and planting to annual crops such as soybeans for one to two seasons. Summer annual grasses such as the pearl millets or sorghum sudangrass hybrids may be used. (2) Plowing and disking the fields during the summer to dry out and kill the old plants before fall seeding to fungus-free seed. (3) Using chemicals to kill or help kill the grass. Chemicals such as Roundup will kill fescue, but are expensive. Paraquat will help weaken the grass so that it can be more easily killed from disking. A quart of paraquat per acre applied in late fall or early winter followed by cold weather may kill most of the old fescue. One to two pints of paraquat mixed with two pounds of Atrazine per acre have been used successfully for sod planting crops such as corn in fescue sods. Atrazine will help paraquat kill old fescue, but may affect fall seeding of new fescue if enough Atrazine residue is left in the soil.

One or a combination of the above practices may be used by farmers to help rid pastures of fungus infested fescue. Currently, MSU researchers are looking at several ways of killing fungus infested fescue.

— Fungus-Free Seed. The Mississippi Seed Law will require that the percent fungus be stated on the seed tags on all fescue sold in Mississippi after May 10, 1984. The regulation specifically states:

Tall fescue (Festuca arundinacea) seed offered for sale, exposed for sale or sold in the State of Mississippi shall be labeled with the percentage of Live Fungal Endophyte (Acremonium coenophialum) as determined by laboratory test. The percentage of Live Fungal Endophyte shall be shown on the label in the same area as other quality labeling requirements of the Mississippi Pure Seed Law.

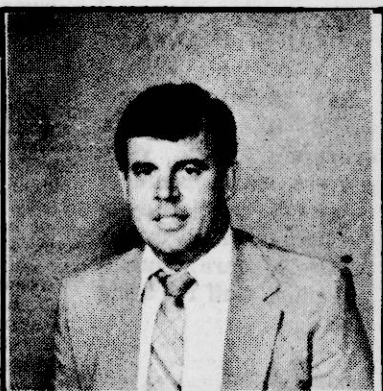

Therefore, make sure to check and save your fescue seed tags as proof of what you seeded.

If seed harvest conditions are favorable, it is expected that most seed dealers should be able to obtain fungus-free seed by fall seeding time.

ASCS News

By C.E. CALVERT
County Executive Director

The removal of grain mortgaged to the federal government before payment of the loan or receipt of release authorization, is considered unauthorized removal and subject to severe penalty.

Farm-stored grain under loan, including wheat designated for payment-in-kind, must not be removed without permission.

Unauthorized removal of reserve grain or grain under regular loan will result in the immediate repayment of the loan, plus interest, plus early redemption charges, if applicable, denial of further loans and possible investigation by the Office of the Inspector General.

Farm program participants are required to notify ASCS if they intend to sell the grain, or if the grain is out of condition and needs to be moved. If the grain is to be used for feed, the loan must be repaid before it is removed from the storage bin.

Some wheat producers will use farm-stored grain loans to satisfy PIK requirements. If these farmers move the grain prior to entitlement date, without permission they will be assessed liquidated damages according to the terms of the PIK contract, in addition to the regular penalty for unauthorized removal of farm-stored grain.

The commodity loan program provides loans to farmers who hold their grain off the market to benefit from price increases that often come later in the season after harvest. The grain under loan is then stored in an approved facility on the farm or in a commercial warehouse.

Farmers Reminded To Report Seed Peanuts

Farmers are reminded to report 1983-crop peanuts retained on the farm for seed or other purposes when they certify their 1984 planted peanut acres.

Seed peanuts are considered as quota peanuts marketed and need to be reported to the Prentiss County ASCS Office on the 1983 peanut marketing card.

To avoid being in violation of the peanut price support program, farmers who did not retain peanuts for seed are required to report the name and address of the person from whom their seed peanuts were obtained, in addition to the amount and type of peanuts.

If peanuts retained for seed, plus 1983-crop quota peanuts marketed, exceed the poundage quota, a penalty will be assessed. We will visit farms for verification of the quantity reported and to determine whether the peanuts retained exceed the poundage quota.

Under the peanut price support program, the number of pounds of peanuts that can be marketed by producers for domestic edible uses is limited through poundage quotas. The Agriculture and Food Act of 1981 eliminated the traditional peanut acreage allotment system, allowing any person to grow peanuts anywhere in the country and market the peanuts for other than domestic edible use. Under previous programs, production was limited to farms with an allotment.

Loans will be available for 1984-crop warehouse-stored peanuts from harvest time through Jan. 31, 1985. Loans on farm-stored peanuts will be available through April 30, 1985.

Further details on seed peanuts may be obtained from the county ASCS office.

Hold Our Topsoil (HOT) Field Day

Farmers, landowners and conservation leaders have announced plans for an Area HOT (Hold Our Topsoil) Field Day Aug. 23 at the James Creek Ranch near Aberdeen in Monroe County.

This Field Day will demonstrate practical soil conserving practices, systems and methods farmers can use to reduce excessive soil erosion in our part of Mississippi. Dalton Garner, a farmer near Booneville, who is Area IV Vice President, Mississippi Association of Conservation Districts, is Chairman of the Area Steering Committee that is planning the Field Day.

"Erosion is taking a high toll of our valuable topsoil throughout our region, and we must reduce our erosion losses if we are to maintain our farm production," Mr. Garner said recently.

Soil Conservation Service officials say erosion losses average 11 tons per acre per year (equal to two 5-ton dump truck loads) from cropland in Northeast Mississippi. There is more than 3 times the amount we can stand to lose and maintain production.

The Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) is supporting this Field Day, and we urge every farmer and landowner to make plans now to attend. Contact our office if you need more information for this important Field Day. Don't forget the date -- Aug. 23!

Crop Reports Needed

Farmers participating in 1984 programs are reminded that acreage reports are due at the ASCS office by July 15, 1984 on plantings of cotton, corn, grain sorghum, and peanuts to qualify for program payments. Producers of soybeans and other non-program crops should be reported for history purposes.

Failed Acreage

Farmers planting program crops that fail due to natural disaster are reminded to visit the county office before destroying evidence of the crop planted. Failed acreage if properly reported will qualify for deficiency payment.

Farmer-Owned Reserve Corn & Oats In Release

All corn and oats in the farmer-owned grain reserves will remain in release status through June 30, according to Everett Rank, administrator of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

Rank said the decision on the reserve commodities was made following a review by USDA's Commodity Credit Corporation of average market prices, as reported by USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service, adjusted to reflect the market price received by farmers.

On June 1, the adjusted price for corn was $3.41 per bushel, 26 cents above the release level of $3.15 for reserve IV corn and 16 cents above the release level of $3.25 for reserve V corn.

The adjusted price for oats was $1.93, 28 cents above the release level.

For reserve IV and V corn loans, storage payments stopped and interest resumed on May 1. Storage payments stopped and interest resumed Feb. 1 for oats.

Home Economist's Notes

By PATTY K. ROBINSON
Extension Home Economist

Cabbages are plentiful this season and you may want to preserve that cabbage for later use. You can do this by making sauerkraut or freezer saw.

Sauerkraut

Cabbage - About 50 pounds
Salt, pure granulated - 1 pound (1½ cups)

Remove the outer leaves and any undesirable portions from firm, mature heads of cabbage; wash and drain. Cut into halves or quarters; remove the core. Use a shredder or sharp knife to cut the cabbage into thin shreds about the thickness of a dime.

In a large container, thoroughly mix 3 tablespoons salt with 5 pounds shredded cabbage. Let the salted cabbage stand for several minutes to wilt slightly; this allow packing without excessive breaking or bruising of the shreds.

Pack the salted cabbage firmly and evenly into a large clean crock or jar. Using a wooden spoon or tamper or the hands, press down firmly until the juice comes to the surface. Repeat the shredding, salting, and packing of cabbage until the crock is filled to within 3 or 4 inches of the top.

Cover cabbage with a clean, thin, white cloth (such as muslin) and tuck the edges down against the inside of the container. Cover with a plate or round paraffined board that just fits inside the container so that the cabbage is not exposed to the air. Put a weight on top of the cover so the brine comes to the cover but not over it. A glass jar filled with water makes a good weight.

A newer method of covering cabbage during fermentation consists of placing a plastic bag filled with water on top of the fermenting cabbage. The water-filled bag seals the surface from exposure to air, and prevents the growth of film yeast or molds. It also serves as a weight. For extra protection, the bag with the water in it can be placed inside another plastic bag. Any bag used should be of heavyweight, watertight plastic and intended for use with foods.

The amount of water in the plastic bag can be adjusted to give just enough pressure to keep the fermenting cabbage covered with brine.

Formation of gas bubbles indicated fermentation is taking place. A room temperature of 68 degrees to 72 degrees F. is best for fermenting cabbage. Fermentation is usually completed in 5 to 6 weeks.

To store: Heat sauerkraut to simmering (185 degrees to 210 degrees F.). Do not boil. Pack hot sauerkraut into clean, hot jars and cover with hot juice to ½ inch of top of jar. Adjust jar lids. Process in boiling-water bath, 15 minutes for pints, and 20 minutes for quarts. Start to count processing time as soon as hot jars are placed into the actively boiling water.

Remove jars. Set jars upright, several inches apart, to cool.

Freezer Slaw

Vinegar Mix: 1 cup vinegar, ¼ cup water, 2 cups sugar, 1 teaspoon celery seed and 1 teaspoon mustard seed. (Bring to a boil. Cool.) 1 large head cabbage (shredded), 1 onion (finely chopped) and 1 green pepper (chopped). Sprinkle with 1 tablespoon salt. Let stand 1 hour. Squeeze out liquid. Pour cold Vinegar Mix over. Pack in containers. Freeze. Variations: Can use less sugar, 2 carrots instead of or with onion and green pepper.

Q: What causes dark kraut?

A: Darkness in kraut may be caused by: Unwashed and improperly trimmed cabbage; Insufficient juice to cover fermenting cabbage; Uneven distribution of salt; Exposure to air; High temperatures during fermentation, processing and storage; Long storage period.

Q: What causes rotten kraut?

A: This condition in kraut is usually found at the surface where the cabbage has not been covered sufficiently to exclude air during fermentation.

Q: What causes pink kraut?

A: Pink color in kraut is caused by growth of certain types of yeast on the surface of the kraut. These may grow if there is too much salt, an uneven distribution of salt or if the kraut is improperly covered or weighted during fermentation.

Q: What causes soft kraut?

A: Softness in kraut may result from: Insufficient salt; Too high temperatures during fermentation; Uneven distribution of salt; Air pockets caused by improper packing.

4-H News

By WAYNE LAND
Extension 4-H Youth Agent

While many teen-agers are dieting during swimsuit season, they tend to avoid whole milk because they think it is fattening. Teen-agers need reminded that milk contains some very important nutrients to their good health and should not be eliminated from their diet.

One of the most abundant nutrients found in milk is calcium.

Two glasses of milk provide almost 75 percent of a young person's daily calcium needs.

In the 4-H dairy foods project, youth learn what calcium does for their good health. Since June is Dairy Month, 4-H'ers are saluting milk and milk products.

Comparing the nutritional content and calories of whole milk to other foods, milk is tops. Twelve fluid ounces of a cola contains 145 calories while one eight-ounce glass of milk contains 160 calories. Yet comparing the nutrients in the milk to the empty calories of the cola, milk drinkers come out ahead.

As for the calorie content, an eight-ounce glass of milk has just as many calories, and often less, than other foods we eat daily.

Common foods and their calorie content compared to milk are: three-ounce broiled steak, 330 calories; three-ounce cooked pork chop, 260 calories; three-ounce lean hamburger, 185 calories; hamburger bun, 120 calories; one hot dog, 170 calories; hot dog bun, 120 calories; one cup of cooked lima beans, 190 calories; one piece of cheese pizza, 185 calories; eight-ounce glass of milk, 160 calories; 10 french fries, 155 calories; one-half fried chicken breast, 155 calories.

For more information on milk and milk products, contact the Prentiss County Extension office.

Timberline

By ROBERT THORNTON
Mississippi Forestry Commission

Not too many years ago, many people were ready to toss the idea of wooden building materials onto the scrap-heap of obsolescence; everyone's idea of Utopia was a brick home furnished with plastic and metal furniture.

Even when wood was used (and more was used than most people realized) it was disguised to look like something else. Synthetics were the rage - the wave of the future.

But things quickly changed - for the better for states such as Mississippi with forest-based economies.

People grew tired of the cold artificiality of synthetic materials, and returned to the warmth of pure, undisguised wood. We even began to see plastic and aluminum disguised to look like wood!

The energy shortage proved to be a boon to wood products, for they can be produced with much less energy than synthetics, and the natural insulating qualities of wood became more important in an energy-scarce society.

The wood resurgence was boosted by many new wooden materials, preservatives, and building techniques developed by forest technologists.

"So, how's the forest industry doing?" you might ask. It's alive, well and growing!

Consider the following figures for the industry in 1983:

Production in the paper industry reached an all-time high of 64.8 million tons. This was 4 percent over the previous high in 1981.

The use of firewood in the nation increased 400 percent from 1973 to 1981.

The nation's wood panel industry set a record of 20.36 billion square feet in 1983. The industry expects to attain 22 billion feet in 1984.

And the sale of pressure treated wood products in 1983 was up 31 percent from the previous year. This was the largest one-year increase ever.

Wood products are going to be around for a long time. And if your timberland isn't fully productive, growing wood to meet future raw material needs of the wood industry, then you are missing a good bet.

Call me, and let me help you make your timber a better investment for the future. The number is 728-6835.

Food Prices

Remain Stable

In April

The consumer price index for food in April was unchanged from the March level (before seasonal adjustment), according to the monthly consumer price index released today by the U.S. Department of Labor. This was the second consecutive month of stable food prices.

Prices for food bought in grocery stores in April fell 0.1 percent from the March level and were only 3.3 percent above April a year ago. In contrast, prices for food in restaurants rose 0.3 percent in April and were 4.1 percent above a year earlier.

Fresh vegetable prices declined nearly a tenth as expanded acreage boosted supplies of lettuce, tomatoes, and most other fresh vegetables. Fresh fruit prices rose as supplies of apples and oranges were drawn down.

SHOULDER & ARM PAIN

CHIROPRACTIC CAN HELP NATURE RELIEVE AND HEAL SHOULDER AND ARM PAIN

It should thus be quite apparent that shoulder and arm pain may indicate a more serious condition. But whether the problem is related to other parts of the body or not, the pain can become very debilitating, as those who suffer from such problems well know.

Your Doctor of Chiropractic readily understands the problems involved in a painful shoulder or arm condition. He or she is eminently better qualified to correct these types of conditions than any other kind of doctor. If nerve interference is the basic or contributing cause of your problem, your chiropractor will institute necessary measures to help nature correct and heal the condition.

The chiropractor's minimum of six years of college education plus practical experience have been especially directed to just such problems - problems which involve the spine, nerves, muscles, and joints of the body.

Today's Doctor of Chiropractic first seeks to give you immediate relief from pain, but education and experience always cause him or her to search out the underlying source of your problem and then correct it. This prevents the need for you to take pain pills for relief month in and month out.

Oak Hill Retains Perfect Record

By SCOTT MCKINNEY
Sports Writer

The surprising team from Oak Hill Baptist Church has extended its record to a perfect 4-0 after the second week of play in the city park's church softball league. Oak Hill won two games this week, beating First Methodist and East Booneville. The "Boys from Blackland" beat First Methodist 15-4 last Tuesday night, then beat East Booneville 11-5 on Monday.

Greg Downs of Oak Hill currently leads the league with a batting average of .857. Downs has 12 hits in 14 trips to the plate - one of the reasons for Oak Hill's recent success.

In the First Methodist game, Joe Downs, Jim Davis, Steve Eaton, and Greg Downs each had 4 hits to lead Oak Hill to victory. Will George and Jim Lindsey had two hits each for FMC. Chris Scott, Greg Downs and Joe Downs all had 3 hits apiece to pace Oak Hill over East Booneville.

Ronald Michael had 2 hits for EBBC and Bobby Jones belted another homerun in the losing effort.

Gaston Baptist Church kept a tight grip on second place by beating Calvary 10-9 last week. Stan Howell, also one of the league's top hitters, stroked 3 hits to lead Gaston.

Concord handed Independent Christians their second loss of the year, a 14-12 decision. Kenneth Greg Beard each had 4 hits to lead IC.

The First Baptist Church Red team also stayed in the thick of the race by defeating Christ United Methodist 14-8. Bobby Manley and Wade Irwin led the hitting attack for First Baptist.

Steve Gaines, Talmadge Finch and Eddie Sorto all had 4 hits as First Methodist downed County Line 16-5 Monday night. The victory was the first of the season for FMC.

Christ United Methodist bounced back from their defeat at the hands of First Baptist to down East Prentiss Monday night 15-13. Sammy Fredrick had 4 hits to lead the winners, while Johnny McKinney had 4 hits for East Prentiss.

Play was scheduled for Tuesday night at the park. However, the results were not available at presstime.

Langstons On Top In Bar Association Tennis Tourney

By GREG SHOOK
Sports Writer

Out of a field of 32 teams, Booneville attorney Joey Langston and his brother Shane of Jackson captured top honors in the Mississippi State Bar Tennis Tournament in Biloxi last week.

Each year, attorneys from around the state of Mississippi gather at the State Bar Convention for lectures on new legislation and how these laws will affect the people.

Then, once the lectures are over, the attorneys adjourn to another kind of court to show their "stuff" with a tennis racquet.

In the doubles tournaments (double elimination) the Langston brothers won five straight matches to take the first place silver cup without a defeat.

In the finals the sibling lawyer-tennis took on ex-college player Mack Cameron and Dan Edwards and won 6-3, 6-1.

"A lot of attorneys down there were ex-college tennis players, which made some stiff competition," Joey Langston said "It was still a good tournament and it gave us a chance to see a lot of attorneys from all over the state."

"Now that my brother is out of law school we hope to play together down there for about twenty or thirty years," he said.

Fishing Roundup

Heat Wave Brings Area Fishing To Halt

By SCOTT MCKINNEY
Sports Writer

The current heat wave has brought the fishing in the area almost to a stand still. The weather pattern over the past two weeks has been very hot days and humid nights. And the outlook calls for more of the same.

All of the area lakes are starting to clear up with the sudden change of weather. At Bay Springs Lake the bottom can be seen in over eight feet of water.

Baldwyn semi-professional angler Danny Comer says the fish have moved to deeper water because of the heat. "The fish are now in the deep, cool water in these area lakes. And now their activity has slowed down, which means the fishing has slowed down," Comer said.

May's rains and thunderstorms made for a great month of fishing. But, the weather this month has not been cooperating with area anglers.

LAKE OUTLOOK - Bay Springs Lake has been very hot for bream fishermen over the past three weeks. And, the sudden warming trend has not affected that fishing.

According to Comer, many bream are being caught at night. "I have never heard of it before. But, that has been the coolest time of the day, so I guess that would be a good time to fish," he said.

Not many reports have been good on bass fishing at Bay Springs. However, the bass fishing should pick up in the months ahead.

Catfish are still being caught on trotlines at Bay Springs. But, not many are being caught by regular fishing methods.

The best bait to use at Bay Springs this week will probably be crickets and red worms.

Sardis Lake is still sporting good bass fishing. Many of the bass are being caught in the backwaters and in the streams flowing into Sardis.

Comer said top water baits will provide the best results for area anglers this week at Sardis due to the dingy water. "The water has not completely cleared up yet at Sardis," Comer said. "It still has a dingy, murky look."

Pickwick has been hot for the jug and line fishermen. Buffalo and carp have been biting lines well at Pickwick. However, the bass and bream have almost quit biting.

Area fishermen hope the fishing on Pickwick will pick up before the upcoming Red Man Tournament.

WEATHER UPDATE - The weather has been very hot and humid for the past three weeks. And the outlook calls for more of the same this week.

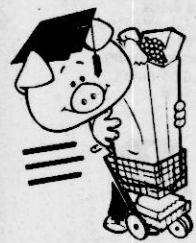

Temperatures will range in the lower 90's for highs and the lower 70's for lows. Also, there is a good chance of afternoon and evening thundershowers all week.

TOURNAMENT NEWS - Nearly 110 fishermen have registered to compete June 17 on Pickwick Lake in the third Mississippi Division event on the Red Man Tournament trail. Tournament officials expect the field to enlarge over the next 10 days.

Anglers from Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Louisiana, Missouri and Tennessee will join Mississippi fishermen on Pickwick Lake. They will be competing for more than $4,500 in total prize money. Anyone interested in joining the field should contact Comer in Baldwyn at 365-5811.

If you have any questions or tips, feel free to drop me a line (without a hook). Address your mail to "Fishing Roundup", The Banner-Independent, P.O. Box 269, Booneville, Miss. 38829.

Until next week, good fishin'!

Wheeler School Releases Jr. High Football Coach

By GREG SHOOK
Sports Writer

Wheeler High School has announced that it has released Chuck Geno, junior high football coach. According to Prentiss County School Superintendent J. W. Greene, Geno had to be released because of a teacher surplus in the county school system.

"During Lex Cain's term in office he had overhired the county by four and one-half units," Greene said.

"A school is allowed so many teachers per-students enrolled," Greene explained. "It was not due necessarily to a lack of funds in the county; but if we overhire teachers, the county will have to pay for those teachers.

"If one school had an extra teacher, all of the schools would be wanting an extra teacher. Then, money would be a factor," Greene said.

Asked if Wheeler would still have a football program next year, Greene said it will be up to the new principal.

"If the school can work with the teachers so that one will be free to coach, they will. But it will be left up to principal," he said.

At press time Geno was not available for comment on his release.

Action On Park Diamonds

The Civitans T-Ball team and the Brown Shoe Little League team both are at the top of their divisions as action at the city park heads into its third week.

The Rotary T-Ball team is also tied with the Civitans, each sporting 2-0 records. Also, in the Little League division, People's Bank and Sonic are tied with Brown Shoe. All three teams have 1-0 records.

In T-Ball action this past week, Rotary dropped Bank of Mississippi 30-16 and the Civitans beat the Jaycees 22-21. Also, Rotary beat the Jaycees 19-18.

There will be no Little League games this week because of several camps that are scheduled for some of the players. However, there was a full slate of games last week.

Sonic beat First Bank 17-0 in one Little League contest last week. Darren Hughes was the winning pitcher, while Chris Roy suffered the loss.

Todd Jones and Josh Tollison both had 2 hits to lead the Sonic attack. James Davis collected 2 hits for First Bank in a losing cause.

In the only other game scheduled last week, Prentiss Mfg. beat Pizza Inn 5-0. Bill Preston got the win, as Kevin Robinson took the setback.

Bronson Tabler and Jason Etheridge had 2 hits each for the winners. Marty Southern and Alan McAnnally both had 2 hits for Pizza Inn.

Little League action is scheduled to restart Monday night at the park.

Summer Girls' Softball Action Now Underway

Last week opened up the summer league girls softball with H & W taking a 6-0 win over Etheridge Auto. But they had to forfeit due to a question of eligibility of a player. Rotary took a 4-3 win over Otasco in the nightcap.

In the first game, H&W scored three runs when Christy Lowery knocked a triple while the bases were loaded.

In the second inning Angie Eaton got the only base hit for Etheridge to no avail.

In the third inning H&W scored three more runs with the help of Jody McKinney's inside the park homer and a two run inside the park homer from Christy Lowery.

In the second game Darla Dallison started things 'off' for Rotary with a two run inside the park homer. Otasco came right back however with a three run homer by Patricia Crawford.

WWII Group Seeking Former Members

The 22nd Bomb Group, 5th Air Force, of the U.S. Army Air Corps is searching for former members who served in the South Pacific during World War II, according to 22nd BG veteran John E. Clark.

"We are trying to contact over 3,000 men and their families we have lost touch with since our South Pacific service during World War II," Clark said.

He said the purpose of the search is to notify the missing members of the group. The reunion will be held from Aug. 29 to Sept. 2, at the Westin Oaks Hotel in Houston, Texas, Clark said.

He said he is looking for anyone who served in the group, whether with the Headquarters Squadron, the 2nd Squadron, the 19th Squadron, the 33rd Squadron or the 408th Bomb Squadron.

Any veteran of the group, family member of a veteran or anyone who knows the whereabouts of a veteran, should contact Clark at Box 4734, Patrick AFB, Fla. 32925, or phone him at (305) 636-5004.

USAF Needs Former Enlistees

The Air Force has critical need for former enlisted technicians in certain high-tech skill positions, according to Senior Master Sergeant William McCormack, area superintendent for Air Force recruiting.

Former personnel who have been discharged from the Air Force within the last five years may now be able to re-enlist if they qualify and if their specialty is on the required skills list, Sgt. McCormack said.

The Air Force specialty codes needed now are: 251XO, 272XO, 273XO, 304X4, 304X6, 307XO, 316XOG, 321XOK, 321X1E, 322X2B, 326X4A-C, 326X6A-B-C, 326X7B-C, 326X8A-B-C, 328XO, 328X2, 328X3, 423XO, 423X1, 423X3, 423X4, 427X5, 431X1, 431X2, 431X3, 445XOG, 553XO.

Former members should contact their local Air Force recruiting office as soon as possible for more information, or call collect (501) 378-6014, Sgt. McCormack said.

$15 Million Available For Farms

Don Barrett, Mississippi State Director for Farmers Home Administration, announced that Mississippi received an additional $15 million for farm operating loans.

Mississippi's original allocation for the entire year was $40 million. Barrett has already received three additional supplemental allocations which, including this $15 million supplemental allocation, brings the total allocations for Mississippi to $85 million.

As of May 4, 1984, FmHA made 2,144 farm operating loans in excess of $80 million. In addition to farm operating loans, FmHA has made 1,307 farm disaster loans totaling $60 million, 100 economic emergency loans for a total of $13 million and 187 farm ownership loans for a total of $11 million. FmHA has issued 24 guarantees for loans to other lenders totaling $4 million.

In addition to Farmer Programs loans, FmHA this fiscal year made 457 Rural Housing loans for single family dwellings totaling $44 million and 35 loans for multiple family dwellings totaling $29 million. FmHA processed 45 Community Programs loans for water and sewer systems in rural areas in Mississippi totaling $13 million. They also processed one Business and Industry loan for $2 million.

The total amount of loan funds disbursed in Mississippi this fiscal year comes to an approximate total of $270 million.

New Mississippi Sheriffs' Girls Ranch Planned

In April the Mississippi Sheriffs' Association announced plans for the expansion of the Mississippi Sheriffs' Boys and Girls Ranches by the establishment of a Girls Ranch to be located in George County.

The acquisition of 90 acres of land near Lucedale through a donation from the Luce Family of Lucedale and Mobile is making the development of the new George County Unit possible.

Association officials explained that a Girls Ranch had been a part of the master plan for development of a network of Ranches all across the State since 1976 when the Boys and Girls Ranches were established and chartered in the State.

A Boys Ranch located in Lowndes County on 320 acres of land was established in 1977. It was the first step taken after the program was organized by the Association.

Since 1977 the Boys Ranch division has served 56 homeless, abused and neglected children from various areas of Mississippi. Forty-three of these are still in care at that Ranch, and of those who have gone out on their own or returned to rehabilitated families only one is known to have had any brush with the law.

The Ranch program of care is viewed as an alternative to juvenile delinquency in which the Sheriffs are able to salvage and rebuild young lives through the influence of a life style that will inevitably lead to good citizenship and responsible character. The same goals, objectives, and philosophy will be employed in the organization and establishment of the new Girls Ranch division in Lucedale.

Bill Benson, Executive Director of the program confirmed that work is now underway on the new 90 acre Girls Ranch site. He indicated this is good news for the Sheriff's Association and for all the people of Mississippi.

Benson said, "If people turn their eyes to an area three miles north of Lucedale on Beaver Dame Road, they will see a cloud of dust rising as we scurry around getting underway with the initial and preparatory steps of Ranch construction and development."

Around June 15 the Girls Ranch Director of Ranch Life and his family will be moving into Lucedale to oversee the new operations in the area.

John Turner, his wife Glenda, and three children have been named as the Resident Directors for the George County Unit. The Turners have been employed by the organization for over two years, in which time, they have served as full time houseparents to ten boys and also as Resident Directors of the Boys Ranch facility in Lowndes County.

The first Girls Ranch home will be named "The Luce Home" in honor of what the Luce Family has done for the organization by donating the necessary property for development.

The funds for this facility are being raised across the State through a major capital campaign in which each square foot of the proposed 5,256 square foot home is being sold to the public for a donation of $25 per square foot. Efforts in this campaign started in May and have already produced about 50 percent of the needed funds or sales of about one half of the total square feet of the home.

People who donate $100 or more (a purchase of four square feet or more) become "Charter Members" of the Girls Ranch. Once all the square feet are sold, eligibility for Charter Membership will be phased out.

Each donor receives a beautiful certificate as a "Deed of Ownership" to the square feet purchased. Anyone who donates $1,000 or more (40 square feet) becomes a "Lifetime Member of the Boys and Girls Ranch Builders Club."

Gifts and donations may be mailed to: The Mississippi Sheriffs' Boys and Girls Ranches, Inc., P.O. Box 1428, Columbus, Miss. 39703. The central office may be phoned at (601) 327-7555.

Corps Of Engineers Offers Erosion Prevention Help

Have a stream running through your property that is showing bank erosion? The Army Corps of Engineers may be able to help.

The Corps has recently published a new, illustrated brochure entitled Stream Protection Guidelines . . . For Landowners and Local Governments that is the result of a seven-year study to examine the causes and cures of streambank erosion.

The 60-page brochure describes existing and new techniques of streambank protection.

While the Corps cannot undertake the erosion control itself without direction and authorization from Washington, the brochure does tell landowners and local officials what remedies they may want to undertake in various situations.

In some cases the work would require a Corps permit and the brochure tells you how to obtain one.

A copy may be obtained from: Map Room, U.S. Army Engineer District, Mobile, P.O. Box 2288, Mobile, Ala. 36628, Area Code 205-690-2631. There is no charge for the brochure.

Countywide Drainage Plans Needed For State

By DR. BOB CHAPIN
Coordinator, Land Use
Center
Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service

steps:

- Retain planner to identify watershed.
- Plot areas subject to flooding

- Inventory channel restrictions that can be removed.
- Note changing land use trends that will affect run-off.

- Develop project plans and adopt needed regulations.

- Set priorities for improvements.

- Fund and construct projects over time.

- Inspect and maintain projects completed.

Every county in Mississippi needs a countywide plan for drainage. This is particularly noticeable in May when floods hit the state.

Drainage plans must consider water coming in from higher counties and water going out into lower counties. Drainage plans must start with the identification of watersheds.

A watershed is the land lying between two hills on which water flows downward to a stream in the valley below. The smallest watershed is the drainboard flowing into a kitchen sink. The largest watershed affecting our state is the Mississippi River which drains 25 states and five Canadian provinces.

Lowlands are the hardest areas in which to plan drainage, because they are flat and it is difficult to find a place for the water to drain.

As forests are cleared for pasture, cropland and buildings, run-off is increased. Drain channels have to carry more water. Each roadway built across a stream tends to restrict the movement of this increasing supply of water as it passes through culverts, drain pipes and under bridges.

A roadway elevated to protect the road from floods becomes a large dam across drainage channels. Since bridges are costly, they are often not made long enough to allow sufficient water to pass beneath.

In rain storms backwater gathers and floods areas in the waterway upstream from the road embankment. A drainage plan can forecast these problems and suggest provisions for preventing some of the flooding.

To give an idea of how much water falls as rain, look at a half gallon milk carton in your refrigerator. This much water falls on every square foot of ground when one inch of rain occurs. As it flows downhill, it accumulates first in a ditch, then in a stream and finally is discharged from rivers into the Gulf of Mexico.

When about five inches of rain fall in 24 hours, flooding generally occurs. Floods occur because two and one-half gallons of water on an area the size of a sheet of typing paper flowing into a drain channel is more than the average stream can carry in its normal bank.

A county drainage plan identifies and protects major watershed drain channels from manmade obstructions. These obstructions can reduce a channel making it too small to carry a reasonable flow of storm water.

Water problems include flooding, drainage, erosion, bank stabilization and pollution control. A good county drainage plan will try to solve these problems and to protect the watersheds.

Developing a plan of action to improve county drainage has eight

A New Age Of High-Energy Recovery Is Dawning In The Natural Gas Business

he natural gas business is changing.

It isn't the same old blue flame.

Like many other natural gas transmission companies we are contributing substantially to research holding the promise of increasing energy derived from natural gas, thus lowering the cost of this vital energy.

This effort has been so successful that a new age of high-energy recovery is dawning in the natural gas business.

It means many benefits for the consumer, and more than anything else, it means natural gas will remain our premium fuel well into the next century.

It is well known, for example, that it costs three times as much to heat water with electricity. And now, research is producing end-use appliances for both cooling and heating that save as much as 20 to 40 percent in gas bills. Even vehicles that run on natural gas are being developed with an objective of reducing fuel costs by 15 to 20 percent.

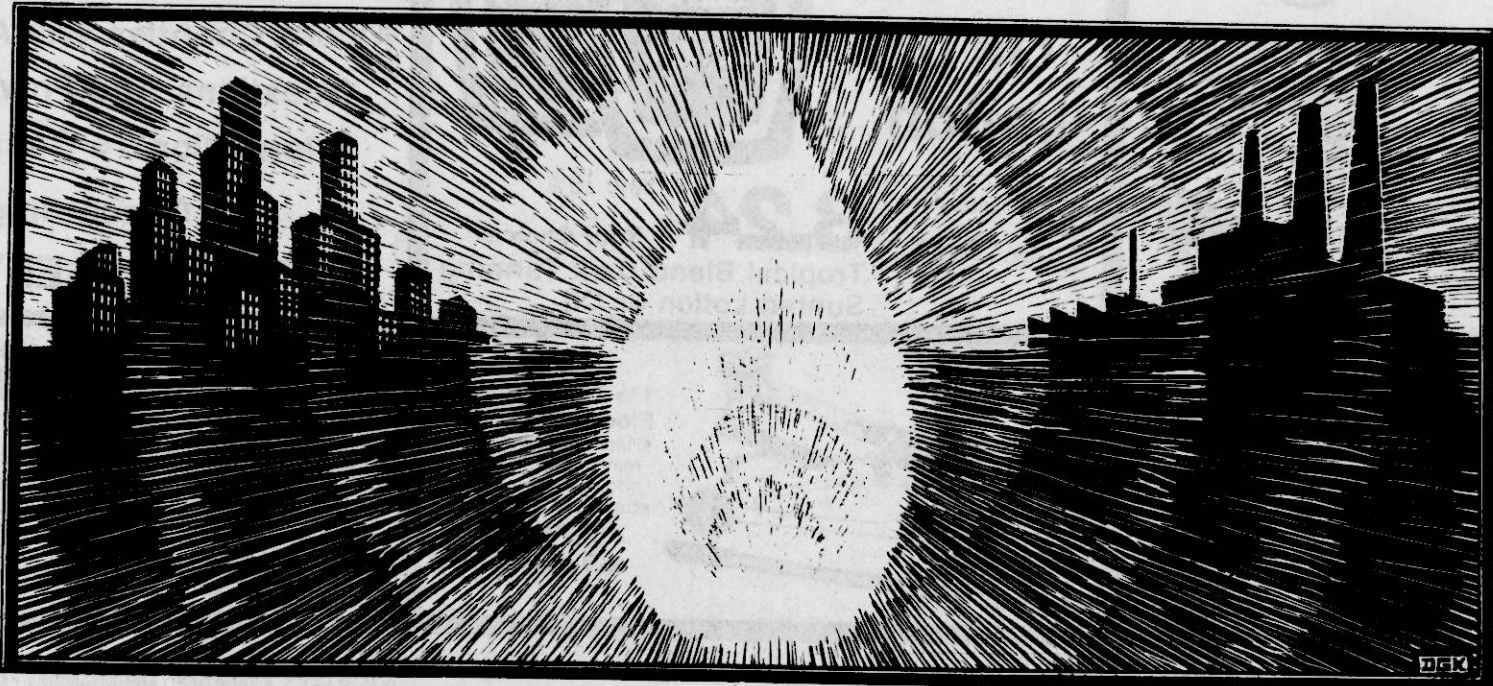

Natural gas has always been our best fuel, the most efficient energy ever produced by man or nature. At United Gas we're making it serve you better.

High Blood Pressure Affects One Of Four

One out of every four adults in Mississippi is estimated to have high blood pressure.

A high prevalence of the disease concerns health professionals, but the real concern is that many people are not aware that they have high blood pressure. Even among those who are aware, there are several million who don't have the disease under control.

The President of the Mississippi Heart Association, Dr. Thomas J. Herrin, said high blood pressure is a peculiar disease because it usually does not have any symptoms and the only way to detect it is by having a blood pressure check during a medical examination.

"A person can look and feel errific and still have high blood pressure. And that's where the risk lies, because uncontrolled high blood pressure can lead to stroke, heart attack and heart or kidney failure. Blood pressure is a good indicator of cardiovascular well-being," he said.

For most ailments, people are in the habit of getting "cured" if they are taking proper medicines. Unfortunately, a majority of high blood pressure cases cannot be "cured," they can only be "controlled." If patients discontinue medication because their blood pressure is back to normal, it is likely to go up again, he said.

"High blood pressure needs lifelong treatment to keep it under control," Dr. Herrin said.

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK:

Dear God, Could I Be Angry At...?

'The Lord reigns, let the earth rejoice. . . ' -- Psalms 97:1

By Charles L. Potts

God is in control of this world and of what happens to his children. This the psalmist speaks loud and clear . . . plus Jesus assures us that God attends the funeral of every sparrow, yet places the value of persons so that he has their hairs numbered (Matt. 10:29-31). God is, therefore, the target of much anger. It's easy to think that if we dare get angry with God, there is the possibility of receiving divine anger in return. Many times we are angry at God but afraid to admit our anger. We need to remember that things happen . . . people die, people move away, people get sick, people get divorces, people get hurt. Scientists tell us that the universe is eight billion light years across the heavens and they are alive with movement and motion and change. The idea that God who made all this . . . and is even now guiding and directing the universe, could fall apart if we get angry with him is ridiculous. Yet sometimes we think such anger would somehow make Him zap us with lightning. We're afraid to get angry at God . . . yet deep inside we feel such because of our loss. Or, the other side of the coin is get angry at the loved one who has died. Yes, it's O.K. to be angry at the person who died. There were times when you were angry with them when they were alive . . . now they have left you to handle everything and make all the decisions . . .

left you alone . . . with children . . . finances a mess . . . and you are lonely. Why not be angry? Grief does not have to be logical. Feelings are real . . . and unless we find constructive ways of releasing anger . . . depression follows. After you deal with your feelings of anger . . . you can better focus on the feelings of love . . . which is better. Jesus asked God, "My God, why has thou forsaken me?" When we go to God and explain how angry we feel about the way life has treated us . . . He listens, understands, accepts, loves and wraps comforting arms around us and wipes away our tears. Listening to our anger is one of God's ways of helping us to regain our sanity and bring healing to our lives.
