Roundup

Grand Jury Reports

The Prentiss County Grand Jury met recently and issued the following report concerning the Prentiss County Courthouse and Prentiss County Jail.

They found the courthouse to be kept in a generally good manner -- but crowded.

They noted that the leaky roof needed repairing and recommended an additional coat of paint outside and replacing the broken brick outside over the door.

The Grand Jury report states "We are familiar with the desire of the Prentiss County Board of Supervisors to acquire the Post Office building and we generally support this. However, we strongly urge that sufficient and adequate parking space be also acquired with it, especially if other county offices are to be moved into the building, as there is presently a lack of parking space for the Courthouse and the Post Office at this time."

The Grand Jury found the county jail to be "very crowded."

They noted that the basement needs cleaning and the broken window in the basement needs to be replaced.

Charged With Murder

Willie Jones and Hattie Toy Stubbs of Baldwin have been charged with the murder of another Baldwin man, John-Man Nevels.

An autopsy revealed that Nevels, who was beaten unconscious, received third-degree burns on his arms and chest, and that he died as a result of the burns.

Nevels died June 13. Nevels, Jones and Stubbs were allegedly involved in an argument at a Guntown residence when the incident occurred.

Gag Order Given

Circuit Judge George Carlson Jr. issued an order Monday barring those involved in the lawsuit filed by former Alcorn County interim sheriff Jack Holt against current sheriff Bill Gant from talking about the case.

New York Times Company legal department representative George Freeman had requested in a letter to the judge that Carlson not issue the gag order because it would "act as a prior restraint which carries a heavy presumption against its constitutional validity."

However, Carlson made the decision Monday in Corinth. Carlson also rescheduled the trial for September after it became apparent during pre-trial motions that both sides in the case were not adequately prepared to meet the previously set date, July 17.

The judge will set an exact date at a later time.

Dr. Sweat Appointed

Corinth Physician Dr. Thomas L. Sweat has been appointed to the Mississippi Health Care Commission to fill the unexpired term of Dan Wilford.

Wilford's term ends June 30, 1987. Secretary of State Dick Molpus made the appointment to replace Wilford, who resigned the position to become president of Memorial Care Systems in Houston, Texas.

Drug Abuse In Prentiss County, Part 3:

Addiction Ordeal For Parents, Too

By ED WOODWARD
Managing Editor

(This is the third installment in a series of articles concerning drug abuse in Prentiss County. Those described in these articles are composites of actual present and former drug abusers and their families. But the incidents described are true. In many cases names and locations have been disguised to protect the privacy of those involved.)

We'll call them Mike and Gloria. They live in Booneville and, with one exception, they are an average middle-class couple with average middle-class problems. The exception is their daughter, Jane.

Jane is 19 and a dialudid addict. She tried marijuana when she was 16. She was riding around with a group of other average kids. One of them lit a "joint" someone had given him and started passing it around.

At first, Jane didn't want to try it. But she couldn't let the other kids think she was chicken.

For the next three years Jane smoked an occasional joint with the crowd. Then, she married Joe, one of the crowd, and they had a child. They continued to attend "pot parties."

They graduated from "grass" to "uppers" and "downers". And, one day, Joe took one too many downers, decided life wasn't worth the effort and hanged himself.

Jane went downhill from there. Like any addict, all she needed was a hook to hang her guilt on. And she was sure she was the reason Joe had killed himself. She joined the local drug culture and began doing the most currently popular thing, shooting up dilaudid.

"I really don't know when Jane and Joe got on drugs," said Gloria. "I really didn't know much about it, how they do, and all that. But I have learned."

"The week before Joe killed himself, he had started to go to Corinth to Haven House for some counseling. And I think he got picked up twice (by the police) that very week. I think they had both been high all night. And, on Wednesday morning he hanged himself," she said.

"I don't know what all they were taking then. But I know dilaudid turned out to be Jane's problem," Gloria said.

She said Jane got through the funeral with few problems. "I thought, maybe, she was going to be okay. She even went for counseling a time or two."

"But then she got to meeting up with some of these pushers and addicts, which she already knew, anyway...I didn't know she knew them. But she did...And they just sorta moved in with her. And that's when I had her committed to Whitfield.

"She wasn't taking care of the boy. So I got him and she went to Whitfield," Gloria said.

"She stayed down there a few weeks, and we went to see her and we thought she was better. And so did the doctors. But she wasn't."

"Nobody knows how they can fool you...how they can lie. They'll do anything to get a fix, or a drink, whatever it is they're addicted to," she said.

"So, she came home. And she stayed straight maybe a month or so. Then, it started all over again," Gloria said.

"She started running with a car

Little Soldier Boy

This unidentified youngster was a participant in the re-enactment of the Battle of Brice's Crossroads Sunday afternoon near Baldwin. Although women and children did not participate in the actual battle re-enactment, they did help set up authentic camps and wore appropriate attire of the period. For more pictures of Sunday's activities, please turn to Page 5. (Photo by Suzann Sims)

August 6 Qualification Deadline

Five PCEPA Board Seats To Expire

By ED WOODWARD
Managing Editor

The terms of five members of the Prentiss County Electric Power Association Board of Directors will expire this year and all five will be running for re-election, according to PCEPA General Manager Ronny Rowland.

Rowland said he could not say "offhand" which directors' terms do expire and what areas and posts they represent. But he said that five posts will have to be filled.

He said the annual members meeting, at which the election will take place, will be on Friday, Aug. 31, at the PCEPA offices. The by-laws of the cooperative set the date as the last Friday in August.

This means that anyone wishing to run for one of the posts would have to file his nominating petition with the board secretary, Rowland, no later than Aug. 6.

Qualifications, according to the by-laws, are that "No person shall be eligible to become or remain a director of the Cooperative who:

"(a) is not a member and bona fide resident in the area served by the Cooperative and in the area he represents ...; or

"(b) is in any way employed by or financially interested in a competing enterprise or a business selling electric energy or supplies to the Cooperative; or

"(c) is in any way employed by or financially interested in an enterprise or business whose primary function is closely related to electric power distribution, including but not limited to electricians, electric wiring contractors, electric appliance sales or repair, or sales of electrical equipment or supplies; or

"(d) holds a full time elective public office in connection with which a regular salary is paid."

The by-laws also state that if both a husband and wife hold a joint membership in the Cooperative, either one, but not both, may be elected a director.

Any member of the PCEPA who meets these qualifications can petition to become a candidate for director, Rowland said. To do this, a petition must be submitted to Rowland before August 6, 1984.

The petition must contain a signed request for inclusion on the ballot signed by the candidate and indicate the Post the petitioner wishes to be a candidate for.

The petition must be endorsed by not less than 25 members in good standing of the PCEPA, Rowland said.

A quorum of 15 percent of the PCEPA's members must be present at the Aug. 31 meeting if any new directors are to be elected.

According to the by-laws, "In the event a quorum is not present...the present Directors, who are candidates for re-election, shall continue to serve as Directors for another term..."

Rowland said there are presently

Grand Jury Indicts Two For Arson

By ANGELA SMITH
Staff Reporter

The Prentiss County Grand Jury has returned 17 true bills including two indictments for attempted arson.

Wayne Michael and Vance Michael were indicted on a charge of attempted arson and burglary of a residence.

The indictment states that the men poured gasoline throughout the house and on quilts and blankets and placed cans of gasoline in various areas of the house" belonging to R.C. Green.

James Q. McGee and Darrell Chambers were indicted on a charge of burglary and larceny of a building belonging to Tidwell and Associates Construction Company.

Chambers and McGee were also indicted for grand larceny in connection with the theft of three batteries from Tidwell and Associates Construction Company.

Danny Hamm, Margie Burrows, and Geneva Kay King were indicted for strong armed robbery in connection with the theft of $1,400 from Ben Smith in March 1984.

Robert Shumpert and Shirley Lynn Ragin Stubbs were indicted for burglary and larceny in connection with the break-in of Robert's Grocery on March 28, 1984.

Henry Tyes was indicted on a charge of aggravated assault. He allegedly cut Robert Lee Burress with a knife.

Four indictments were returned against Lee Curtis Gamble. He was indicted three times for burglary and larceny in connection with three separate break-ins at By-Pass Quik Stop. His other indictment, burglary and larceny of a residence, was for the theft of a pump shotgun from the home of James Bennett.

BIBLE QUESTION BOX

QUESTION: Mr. Hogland, what is the meaning of Jacob's ladder as revealed in the Bible?

ANSWER: We have the story of Jacob's ladder in (Gen. 28:10-22). Jacob dreamed about a ladder which was set upon the earth but extended all the way to heaven. Angels of God were ascending and descending upon it. I am not sure that anyone knows all that might be intended by this revelation but I offer some suggestions. The name Jacob means supplanter. If one studies the Bible he will find that Jacob fulfilled that role. His name was later changed to Israel, meaning prince of, or having prevailed with God. The promise of the savior was renewed through this patriarch and it could mean that the link between God and man or heaven and earth. Speaking of heaven being open, in (John 1:51) we have, "Verily, verily, I say unto you, hereafter ye shall see heaven open and the angels of God ascending and descending upon the son of man." It must be understood that the only way to heaven is through Christ. He is the way, the truth and life. This dream does not teach many ways to heaven. Jesus tells us that "strait" and "narrow" is the way that leads to life and few will find that way. The gospel (Rom. 1:16) is God's power to save and we must obey that gospel in order to be saved.

Area Teachers Join Computer Age In Recertification Class At Northeast

Teachers who may have earlier felt threatened by the idea of computers in the classroom went home more knowledgeable about the computer's role in education after completing a 45-hour class offered by Northeast Junior College.

The class was set up by Northeast to offer instruction in computers to teachers who are working on recertification. The teachers earned three hours of college credit toward recertification while at the same time getting hands-on instruction in the educational applications of computer technology.

Opal Melvin, NEMJC's Computer

Literacy Coordinator, said all teachers must renew their licenses either every five years or ten years, depending on whether they have bachelors or masters degrees. She said at least one of the required courses can be obtained through an in-service program like the one teachers just completed at Northeast.

"The teachers attended seven and a half days of class from nine to five," Melvin said. "Response by those who participated was really good. I think the most important thing they learned was that computers could never replace teachers, but they can make a teacher's job much easier and effective."

Obviously, Melvin and instructor Tony Farrara got the point across as one teacher said the program was "A great class. I learned more than I did in an entire semester (in another class)."

Melvin said the group covered dealt with programming in three computer languages. BASIC is a universal language in micro-computers, while PILOT is strictly designed for educational uses. LOGO specializes even further in that pre-school and elementary students reap most of the benefits of the language.

"We believe in hands-on training with computers," Melvin said. "The more comfortable they become with the computer, the more productive they can be with one."

"After becoming familiar with their computers, the teachers learned about educational applications of the computer, computer assisted instruction and computer management instruction."

Computer assisted instruction simply shows what the computer can do to help the student, while computer management demonstrated how the computer could make the teachers' preparation for class easier.

Swimming Not Allowed At Bay Springs Lock & Dam

By ED WOODWARD
Managing Editor

There is no designated swimming area at Bay Springs Lake, according to Jerry Purcell, resource manager at the Bay Springs Lock and Dam.

Purcell said that, though many people have been using an area at the west end of the dam for swimming, the Corps of Engineers has never authorized such activities there.

Purcell said picnicking, boating and fishing are permitted in the area. But swimming is forbidden because the Corps has not cleared the area of hazards to swimmers and no rope buoys have been installed, as is done at a Corps designated swimming area.

"It is just a road end," he said. "It is where old Route 4 used to run. We installed the parking lot for the lock and dam dedication. It was never meant to be a public area."

Purcell said that, because of the toilet facilities, parking lot, fishing dock and the sloping shoreline, people apparently automatically assumed it was a beach area.

"It is not presently an authorized swimming area. And there are no future plans for it to be designated as one," he said. "The Corps does not have the money to either improve or maintain it as anything other than what it is, a road end."

Asked about rumors that the area had been closed to swimmers because of a snake infestation, Purcell said this was not so.

"There are snakes, but no more than you would find anywhere else around the lake. Snakes had nothing to do with our closing the area to swimmers. Swimming was never allowed there in the first place," he said.

Drugs

thief. He was living with her. She'd drive him to look for cars; he'd steal them and bring them back to her house. They were stripping them behind her house until I reported that and put a stop to it."

She said she continued to keep Jane's son with her so he wouldn't be exposed to the situation.

"We had raised three children," Mike said. "This was what I would consider a happy, normal, middle-class home. Of course, as each family has its problems, we've had our share of them, misunderstandings and whatever."

"But there was nothing in Jane's upbringing to cause her to be despondent or drawn away from either of us. And up until that time I guess I thought that I probably had a model family," he said.

"The kids and I were always very close. They were just footsteps within one another...stepping stones, you might say. And Jane is the oldest. I still think she married too young, not mature enough at the time."

"But Joe was a good-hearted boy. He had a lot of good potential if he had only developed it," Mike said.

He said, when Bill moved in with Jane after her release from Whitfield, he investigated his background. "I found that he had been in and out of mostly minor misdemeanor stuff. And I found out that there had been some marijuana involved here and there."

"I talked to him so he knew what I stood for. Gloria and I are both Christian people. A lot of people use religion for a lot of different things nowadays. But we use it for our own personal selves and salvation. But we do have our standards and our morals. And drugs are totally against them," Mike said.

He said, though Jane had a Christian upbringing, nothing had been forced upon her. "I knew what that could do. We wanted to allow the kids some freedom to experiment so they wouldn't sneak and do it. We'd rather know what's going on than to wonder," he said.

Mike said it was Bill who informed them that Jane was using dilaudid heavily again. "As we were preparing to celebrate Christmas they came over. I noticed she was acting funny. And, after a while Bill said he wanted to talk to me outside."

"He was nervous, and he said, 'We have a problem. Jane is hooked on drugs again. And so am I.'"

"To me it was like the end of the world," Mike said. "I asked him how bad it was, and he said, 'Bad.' So I asked him what he wanted me to do. And he said, 'Get Jane some help.'"

Mike and Gloria admitted Jane to Whitfield two more times. She is now living in another state with a relative, undergoing counseling and working.

Bill is in another hospital, undergoing treatment. When a friend of his was killed while stealing a car, he decided to ask for help.

Mike and Gloria now have permanent custody of Jane's son. All three are undergoing counseling because of the scars left by the ordeal. Mike and Gloria are also broke, having used up their savings to help Jane.

"We've received quite an education," Mike said. "If a parent will just pay attention, they will notice a problem like this before it gets too bad. Watch their eyes. Pay attention to their attitude."

"If parents will just listen to what their kids are saying, a lot of times a child can say more by his actions than by words. And, should parents find that their child is using drugs, they shouldn't be condemning them."

"They're already down there as far as they can go emotionally. And they probably feel bad enough about themselves as it is. Show them compassion and love and support in every way you can," Mike said.

"I know several people who just wouldn't understand if their child got on drugs. All they would do is preach to them, instead of giving them love and understanding. And that's not the answer," he said.

approximately 10,400 members of the PCEPA. Therefore, 15 percent would be approximately 1,560 members.

The by-laws also state, "In case of a joint membership, the presence at a meeting of either husband or wife, or both, shall be regarded as the presence of one member."

This means that only one person from each member household will count toward the 1,560 necessary to actually hold an election for new directors.

Though the meeting would be held in the meeting room in the basement of the PCEPA offices, it is not known if the room will accommodate 1,600 people.

Jackson were both indicted for possession of more than an ounce of marijuana.

Paul Bishop was indicted on a grand larceny charge in connection with the theft of one set of T-tops from a 1984 Buick Regal belonging to Betty Stevens.

Cherie Huguley was indicted for uttering a forged instrument, a check for $35.

One indictment remains secret until the person named is taken into custody by law authorities.

The Grand Jury met June 13-14.

CAN THE COMMON MAN INTERPRET THE BIBLE?

Thousands of people believe that the common man cannot interpret the Bible. They have been taught that the church is the living authoritative interpreter of the Bible. Those who believe and teach this theory, appeal to II Peter 1:20-21 as their proof text. This passage does not refer to the learner or reader, but speaks of the prophets who brought the prophecies. II Peter 1:20-21 teaches that the writers of the Bible were not permitted to write their own ideas and opinions, but wrote as they were guided by the Holy Spirit.

The Bible teaches that the common man can interpret the scriptures for himself. Paul commended the Bereans because they readily received the word and searched the scriptures daily to see if those things were so. (Acts 17:11) Man is commanded to study the scriptures in order to be approved of God and to rightly divide the word. (II Tim. 2:15) Paul told the Ephesians that when they read, they could understand his knowledge in the mystery of Christ. (Eph. 3:4) The admonitions to the church is the living search, study and read the scriptures are useless unless man can interpret the Bible. If the common man cannot interpret the Bible, God has asked the impossible when instructing us to rightly divide the word. We would have no faith in God if He commanded the impossible.

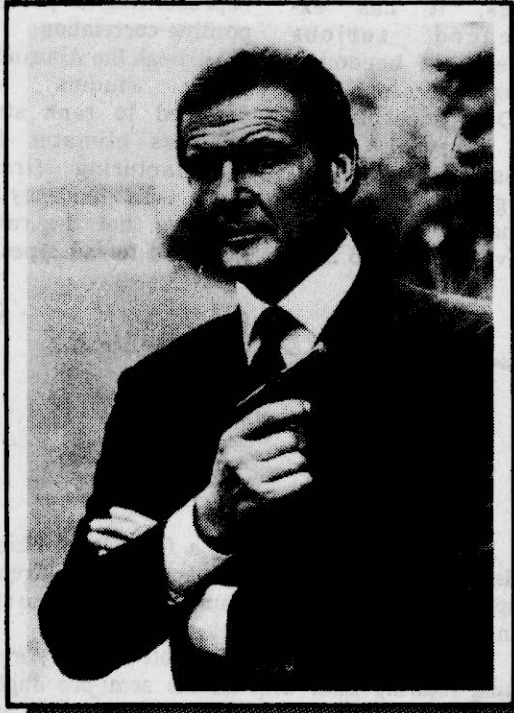

Religious division exists largely because people in general let someone else do their studying and interpreting for them. It is a rare thing to find people who study the Bible for themselves. Do you study the Bible for yourself or do you depend upon someone else to study and interpret it for you? Can you give Bible proof for what you are religiously or would you have to consult your preacher? The only way to be sure you are right religiously is to study and interpret the Bible for yourself.

Visiting The Ol' Swimmin' Hole

By ED BLAKE
Mississippi Farm Bureau Federation

Mississippi's favorite swimming holes will get the season's biggest work-out this week as thousands of Mississippians plan July 4th holiday outings in hundreds of out of the way places -- particularly in south Mississippi where most of the creeks and rivers carry cold springwater along sand and gravel lined streambeds to the sea.

Last week I sought out one of these preferred swimming holes located on Topisaw Creek in eastern Pike county at the Highway 44 bridge. There I donned swimming trunks and climbed down a steep embankment to join the youngest and oldest of that day's swimming hole crowd.

For the rest of a pleasant though hot late afternoon I visited with the folks there and photographed youngsters as they swang from a bank on a cable to dive into the stream -- each performing various acrobatics en route the water's surface according to their acquired skills.

Then, I swam in the cool, refreshing stream myself and stopped to talk to local citizens who were looking forward to the big July 4th crowd.

Seven cars and pickups and one motorcycle were parked beside the stream on that summer afternoon as thunderheads formed overhead to erupt into a gentle refreshing shower moments after I left.

Topisaw Creek is similar to many other favored swimming creeks of the southern part of this state. There's no mud in the streambed. The waters flow cool, and occasionally cold, past beautiful embankments ornamented with trees, shrubs and vines typical of these southern counties.

Before my first venture into the water I stopped to talk with several young couples who divided their time between enjoying the contents of a portable cooler that sat beneath a shade tree, and laying sprawled on the sandbar soaking up sun, or venturing into the gently flowing stream from time to time to cool off.

Matt Carley and Richard Bussell of Jayess, two young men active at the swing when I arrived, pleasantly welcomed this writer to join them and proceeded to display the art of swinging out from a platform to drop off over the water with mostly improvised acrobatics before they hit the water. Richard was adept at the skin-reddening "belly buster" dive.

Lithe young Sonya Hilton of Osyka had what it took to stand her own in the competition with the boys of all ages, and she did it with considerably more grace.

I had gotten pretty hot standing in the sun on the steep bank photographing the young divers, so I laid my camera down and started across the Topisaw. In midstream I came across Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Jones of Walthall county to the east. We stood in the neck deep water on Mrs. Jones and talked for a spell. Mr. Jones suffered a stroke about a year ago. The vigorous appearing oil field worker who moved to Mississippi from Louisiana had found himself partly paralyzed from the stroke, but a month later was swimming in the Topisaw which he considered the best therapy he could have. He and his family swim regularly in the local stream to which he feels indebted for some measure of his continuing recovery. Mrs. Jones described the happiness her family had found in south Mississippi.

"You should be here and see this place on the Fourth," Jones said. "The people will be here by the hundreds and the sandbars will be full. People will come and bring their food and spend the day right here."

I recalled another fourth at another favorite swimming hole years ago. My son and I were returning from the coast after a two-day motorboat trip down the Leaf and Pascagoula Rivers to the Mississippi Sound. We drove past a swimming hole in George county and simply had to stop and join in the fun, and ended up sharing a picnic lunch with the hospitable crowd.

Black Creek, a favorite canoeing stream between the Hattiesburg area and the Pascagoula River, is another stream in this state equally preferred for swimming.

Also a favorite for canoeing is Okatoma Creek in Covington county with its scenic rapids and white water near Seminary.

Ponderings

By Angela Smith

Staff Reporter

When I first saw the Old Freewill Church several years ago I thought it was one of the best landmarks in Prentiss County.

It is located near Altitude on a road, that unfortunately for the church, has no houses on it.

Perhaps if there had been houses nearer the church it wouldn't be in the shape it's in today.

I think when I first saw the white frame church they were still having services there. The one-room church was filled with wooden pews, a piano and a speaker's podium.

The church was beautiful in its simplicity -- wooden floors, walls and ceiling.

I don't know when they stopped having services there.

This past weekend I revisited the church.

And to my dismay things had changed.

All the windows of the church had been broken out. Both doors had been damaged. The back door was even partially off its hinges.

The four panels in the front door appeared to have been kicked in -- leaving only a shell of a door.

The lock on the front door looked to have been shot. The doorknob on the back door was completely missing.

Many of the pews were missing. One of the remaining pews had been put through a window.

Rocks, which had been thrown through the windows, were scattered across the wooden floor.

It was one of the saddest sights I have ever seen.

RECENTLY there had been rumors about the church being haunted. It was told that a person could close the church door, and the door would reopen -- even if something was placed behind the door to keep it from opening.

I think that's one reason people had been going there -- to test the ghost story.

Testing a ghost story is one thing. But that doesn't explain all the broken windows. Or the front door being destroyed. Or the pew being put through a window. (It appeared most of the destruction had been done recently).

There is such a thing as having fun. But when someone deliberately destroys private property -- especially a church -- that's taking things much too far.

I don't know who, or possibly what church group, owns the Old Freewill Church. But I wish something could be done to preserve what is left of the church.

If the windows were boarded up it would protect the inside of the church from the weather.

But knowing people, someone would tear the boarding down.

Critical Measures Passed During Special Session

By SENATOR JOHN WHITE

The measures passed in the recent special session of the Legislature were, in my opinion, necessary to meet the current critical financial needs of the state and will prove beneficial to the state in the long run.

The revenue package which was adopted is basically the position the Senate has maintained throughout the regular and the special session. The Senate has consistently held to the position that the state's finances need to be stabilized and not just dealt with on a yearly emergency basis. I believe that the package adopted will go a long way in accomplishing this.

Let me emphasize that the revenue package does not increase taxes. It simply continues those which we currently have but which would have expired had action not been taken.

The main provisions of the package are:

1. The six percent sales tax is made permanent. It would have dropped to five and one-half percent on July 1 and to five percent in 1986 had action not been taken.

Let me also emphasize here that if at any time it is determined the taxes are bringing in more money than is needed, taxes can and will be lowered. Extending these taxes does not mean that budgets will just automatically be increased to spend all money.

The Legislature will continue to make our state agencies hold the line on spending to give the most services to our taxpayers for the least cost.

2. The present corporate and individual income tax rates are made permanent.

3. A special working cash balance fund of $31 million to be placed in the state treasury is created and will be used to pay bills during periods when the state general fund is experiencing cash flow difficulties. To fund this, about $2.5 million from state income tax collections will be put into the fund each month for one year. Monies not needed for expenditures will be invested.

4. The bill reiterates the Legislature's intent to fully and timely support the 1982 Education Reform Act.

Extending the taxes created funds to increase appropriations for several state agencies which were deemed in critical need.

Some of these include: $6 million for the state universities and colleges; $2.8 million for the mental health program; $5 million for repair and renovation of state facilities; $2 million for the University of Mississippi Medical School and $2 million for the Teaching Hospital; $4 million for the new Mississippi Institute of Technology Development; $100.00 for planning the proposed Governor's School for the Gifted and talented; $500.00 for the freshwater shrimp program of the Agricultural and Forestry Experiment Station; and $1.8 million for the state's junior colleges.

The House of Representatives passed a proposal calling for a study of the state's universities to see if any programs or facilities should be consolidated.

The State College Board was polled and the majority agreed to conduct a study presenting facts and figures about the universities, but making no recommendations regarding consolidation. The Senate and House accepted this pledge to do the study and removed the proposal requiring the study from the universities appropriation bill.

As a final note, the special session was financed out of contingency funds and no additional appropriations was required to pay for the special session.

See you next year.

Wrong Data Measuring State's Business Climate?

By JAMES W. PARK

(Editor's Note: Bill Minor is on vacation for the next two weeks. Dr. James Park, professor of economics at Belhaven College and a noted Mississippi economist is filling in as guest columnist.)

As a part of its development strategy, Mississippi has maintained for years that it provides an excellent climate for business. This view is supported by several studies ranking the 48 contiguous states by business climate.

Mississippi was ranked as having the 12th best business climate by the Fantus Corp. in 1975, 9th by the California Department of Finance in 1977, 1st in 1979 and 1980, 6th in 1981, 9th in 1982, and 7th in 1983 by the Alexander Grant Co.

However, this State was ranked 26th in 1983 and 40th in 1983 by Inc. magazine.

Although Mississippi's business climate has been ranked high in most studies, it has experienced serious problems in becoming developed economically. U.S. Department of Labor data reveal that Mississippi manufacturing employment declined by 29,200 during the five-year period from December, 1978 through December, 1983.

The high ratings of this State's business climate by Alexander Grant Co. result, to a large extent, from low wages, a small percentage of union employees, few fringe benefits, low unemployment benefits, low taxes, and low state expenditures per capita. In the 1979 study, 6 of the top 10 states were in the South.

In 1979, the year Mississippi's business climate was ranked 1st, Texas was ranked 22nd by the Alexander Grant Co. While manufacturing employment has declined in this state since 1979, it has increased by 36,100 in Texas.

There does not appear to be a strong statistical relationship between business climate ranks in 1979 and ranks of the 48 contiguous states by the number of manufacturing jobs gained or lost from December, 1978 through December, 1983.

The Spearman coefficient of rank correlation is only .47, with 1.0 representing a perfect positive correlation.

Although the Alexander Grant studies are designed to rank state business climates for manufacturing firms, there is a tendency to perceive that the ranks are valid for all types of business activity. This may not be the case.

Statistics published by the U.S. Department of Labor show that during the past five years total employment in Mississippi, excluding the agricultural sector, declined by 34,800.

However, according to data published by he Mississippi Department of Economic Development, this organization helped bring 61,774 jobs to Mississippi from 1979 through 1983. It would seem, then, that this State lost about 97,500 jobs even though it had high business climate ratings.

During the past five years, California's total non-agricultural employment rose by 567,100, although its business climate was ranked 36th in 1979, 45th in 1980, 26th in 1981 and 1982, and 30th in 1983.

Texas, with a rank of 22nd in 1979, gained 855,700 non-agricultural jobs, more than the total number of jobs existing in Mississippi. Texas was moved up to 6th place in 1983 by Alexander Grant.

The coefficient of correlation between the 48 states ranked according to business climate in 1979 and their ranks by gains or losses in non-agricultural employment for the five-year period is only .19, suggesting a weak relationship between the two sets of data.

Inc. magazine ranks the business climates of states according to five factors: capital resources, labor, taxes, state support, and business activity. The Inc. ratings are designed to apply to small businesses but are perceived by some to be universal.

The top ten of the Inc. list for 1983 are Texas,

California, Colorado, New York, Minnesota, Florida, Massachusetts, New Mexico, Connecticut, and New Jersey. Six of these states are among the top ten states in terms of jobs gained in the past five years.

Except for Florida with a rank of 6th and Virginia with a rank of 13th place, the Southern states received ranks below 20.

South Carolina was ranked last.

Mississippi's 40th place in the 1983 Inc. business climate ratings stem largely from a shortage of financial resources, lack of state support for small businesses, and a low level of business activity. There is also a low correlation between the

That Yankee From Yonder

By Ed Woodward

Managing Editor

Fishing was somewhat of a flop last weekend despite what The Banner-Independent's intrepid sports writer and fishing columnist may have to say in his own column this week.

In fact, I went fishing with Scott Saturday morning figuring that, with all his semi-pro angler contacts, he would know the best places to go and the best baits to use (That reminds me. Scott wanted me to thank all the readers who have been writing in with questions for his column. So, thanks, Mrs. McKinney and Miss Chittom.)

He picked me up about 6:15 Saturday morning and drove us to a spot on Bay Springs Lake that I decided was the actual location of off yonder.

It was a great fishing spot, fantastic for perfecting one's left-handed, sidearm, backhand cast. Believe me, that was the only possible way to cast without wrapping one's line around one of the trees that stood two to three feet apart or over a low-hanging limb.

I arrived armed with worms, crickets and a tackle-box full of jigs, spinners, lures and crank baits. But, figuring I would take advantage of Scott's expertise, I asked him what he planned to use for bait.

He reached into a paper bag and pulled out a large sponge and a bottle of red gunk that he said was guaranteed to lure fish.

We spent four hours there in the boondocks and the only thing Scott's red gunk lured was mosquitos. The sponge did come in handy for wiping my hands after baiting my hook with a worm, though.

Our total catch for the morning? Three bream weighing approximately one ounce each.

But, undaunted, I set out with Sara and Jason Saturday evening, still determined to catch some fish. I should have known better.

What I caught was three hours of untangling Jason's line and baiting Jason's hook, while getting not even a nibble on my own line.

Sara caught one junior-sized crappie while fishing for catfish.

And Sunday was a total disaster. Between the three of us (Bubba is at the age where it is an embarrassment to be seen with his family, so he didn't go along.), we managed to use up 100 crickets and a box of worms, lose two beetle-spinners and irreparably tangle the lines on two rods, while catching three more bream.

And would you believe I actually plan to go fishing again on the Fourth? Now, that's dedication, isn't it?

At the Crossroads

Civil War buffs from about 10 states participated in a re-enactment of the Battle of Brice's Crossroads Sunday afternoon following a weekend of events leading up to the skirmish.

The actual battle, fought on June 10, 1864, saw the Confederate troops of General Nathan Bedford Forrest defeat the Union troops of Brig. Gen. S.D. Sturgis, despite the fact that the Confederates were severely outnumbered.

Of the 8,000 Union troops engaged in the original battle, 223 were killed, 394 wounded, and 1,623 were reported missing. The Confederates, with 4,800 cavalymen, sustained 96 killed, 386 wounded, and 492 missing.

The Confederates reportedly captured enough equipment from the Union forces at the Battle of Brice's Crossroads to prolong the war in Mississippi, Alabama and Louisiana by six months.

HOW CONTACT LENSES WORK

For some people there is still mystery and misunderstanding concerning contact lenses. Among other things, they wonder how they stay in place and why they don't damage the eye. The following explanation should help.

Contact lenses float on a layer of tears in front of the cornea and are held in place by surface tension. Because the lenses are not directly in contact with the cornea, they do not interfere with its supply of oxygen. The tissues of the cornea are also strong enough not to be effected by the weight of the extremely light lens floating above it.

In the event that the lens were to slide off the cornea, the conjunctiva would prevent it from moving to the back of the eye. In addition, both the conjunctiva and the sclera are sufficiently resistant so that they will not be damaged in any way by a wayward contact lens. Properly fitted and cared for, contact lenses are extremely safe and comfortable.

Phone Bills Now Easier To Read

South Central Bell customers should find bills received after July 1, 1984, easier to understand, thanks to some changes in how the charges are listed.

Since the break-up of the Bell System on January 1, 1984, phone bills sent out by South Central Bell have included several companies' charges. Charges for leased AT&T telephone equipment and AT&T long distance calls, for example, are included in the same bill with South Central Bell charges.

"All this information made for a longer bill," said Tom Bailey, District Manager. Before divestiture, one company handled all the telephone service.

"The new bill has an address or bill page that shows the total amount due. Following the address page, a summary page will provide the current charges for each entity included in the customer's bill, such as South Central Bell, South Central Bell Advanced Systems, AT&T Information Systems, and AT&T Communications," according to Bailey.

These new bills are also divided into sections by each entity that serves the customer. All of the pages reflecting South Central Bell charges will be numbered and grouped together, for example.

"Having detailed bills should help customers understand the changes in our industry and should make them better informed consumers," said Bailey. "We hope our new format will make future bills easier to read and understand."

Continental Singers & Orchestra

Contemporary Christian Music Concert At First Baptist Church

The "Continental Singers and Orchestra," currently on their yearly 75-day summer tour, will present a live concert of contemporary Christian music on Thursday, July 12, at 7:30 p.m. at the First Baptist Church in Booneville.

This year's concert theme is "Come Love The Lord." This program will feature a variety of Christian songs and hymns.

The 24 vocalists and 11-piece orchestra are selected by audition from thousands of high school and college-age young people across the nation and in foreign countries.

The program has proven so popular among young performers wanting to join the tours that they have grown from one group in 1967 to seventeen groups this year.

Traveling from 100 to 500 miles seven days a week by bus, boat, and plane, they will perform nightly during the summer tour.

Delta State University To Hold Summer Registration July 9

Registration for the second term of summer school at Delta State University will be held Monday, July 9, in The Union building.

James Donald Cooper, registrar, said students should report for registration according to the following schedule: Graduates, 8-10 a.m.; Seniors, 10-11 a.m.; Juniors 11 a.m. to 12 noon; Sophomores, 1-2 p.m.; Freshmen, 2-3 p.m.; and all students who apply for admission on registration day, 3-4 p.m.

Entering freshmen who have not taken the American College Test (ACT) should report to Room 301 of The Union at 8 a.m., Monday, July 9, and be prepared to take the test, Cooper said.

Also required for entering freshmen is the Nelson-Denny Reading Test. Freshmen who have already taken the ACT will take the Nelson-Denny at 11 a.m. in Room 301 of the Union, while freshmen taking the ACT in the morning will take the Nelson Denny at 1:30 p.m. in Room 301.

The fee for taking the ACT is $10, and students taking the Nelson-Denny should bring two No. 2 pencils with them.

Students who are enrolling in a workshop only should register on the day the workshop begins by reporting to the building where the workshop is scheduled to be conducted.

Classes for the session will begin Tuesday, July 10 with Friday, July 13, the final day for registration and schedule changes. Final examinations for the session will be Aug. 9-10.

Commencement will be Friday, August 10.

Wear Appropriate Clothing To Stay Cool During Summer

By BETH DUNCAN
Clothing Specialist
Mississippi Cooperative
Extension Service

The hot Mississippi months are here and almost everyone's primary consideration is how to keep as cool as possible.

Evaporation is the main means of body heat loss that keeps bodies cool on hot summer days. Evaporation can be helped by the clothes we wear.

If the clothes worn permit moisture to be absorbed, the fabric will feel cooler. But if moisture sits on the surface of the fabric, people will feel hot and clammy.

Fibers that absorb body perspiration and allow it to evaporate are cotton, linen, silk, wool and rayon. People feel cooler when wearing garments made of these fibers. Most synthetic fibers are not absorbent and will have a tendency to make people hot.

Other considerations are fabric construction and texture. Loosely woven or knitted fabrics allow for ventilation. Light weight fabrics are more comfortable than heavy ones. Smooth textured fabrics are cooler than rough ones. Shiny fabrics are cooler than dull ones because they reflect light.

The colors worn are important. White and light colors reflect the sun's rays and wearing these colors keep the body cooler. Black and dark colors absorb the sun's rays and wearing these colors make people feel warmer.

Cool colors such as blue, green or purple create a psychological feeling of coolness, while warm colors such as red, yellow and orange create a psychological feeling of warmth.

The design and fit of the garment are important for dressing to keep cool when temperatures are high. Loose fitting garments are cooler than tight ones. Air circulates better when garments have large necks, armholes and legs. Loose fitting garments with no waist line are cooler than fitted ones.

Unlined garments are cooler than lined ones. Wearing one layer of outer garments instead of two or more layers keeps people cooler. Shirts and blouses worn outside skirts or pants instead of tucked in is cooler.

Short-sleeved shirts and blouses are cooler than long-sleeve ones, but the coolest of all are sleeveless dresses or shirts. If sleeves must be worn, full flowing sleeves without cuffs are cooler than straight sleeves.

Skirts and dresses are cooler than pants. If pants are worn, unbelted pants are cooler than those with belts.

Don't forget to consider the undergarments worn. Select undergarments that are 100 percent cotton or part cotton for greater comfort. Half slips are cooler than full slips. Socks that are part or all-cotton are absorbent and therefore cooler. For greater comfort and coolness, wear cotton sport socks with athletic shoes.

If wearing a synthetic shirt or blouse, comfort can be improved by wearing a cotton undershirt with it.

Accessories also can contribute to comfort in hot weather. People who are going to be in the hot sun should wear a hat of open straw or ventilated holes or carry an umbrella.

In summary, summarize a wardrobe by selecting fibers and finishes that are absorbent, open or loosely woven or knitted fabrics, smooth textured fabrics, light weight fabrics, light and cool colors, loose fitting garments and absorbent undergarments.

By LADY BLUE SURF

Vacation time's a coming! Ole Man River is calling. Most of our folks are headed toward the water for the weekend or week. Telephone Man is getting ready for summer camp at Shelby on the 5th.

There will not be a social on July 7 due to the holiday.

An officers meeting will be held on the 12th and a business meeting on the 17th. Roll call sheet will be redone at these meetings.

White Girl's mother has been a patient in our local hospital all week but was taken to Aletha Lodge on Thursday.

Happy birthday to Lady Blue on July 8.

Blue Surf, Little Blue Wave and myself enjoyed a visit with Honeycomb. She served us some delicious homemade peach ice cream. Needless to say, she took the calories out!

We again remind each of you to be thinking about who you are to nominate for officers for another year at our business meeting. The election will be held in August.

We want to wish Lady Q best wishes on her visit to a new doctor this month. They are to discuss her case and decide if she can have her 14th surgery since her wreck.

We are to discuss at our next business meeting about places for the club members to meet and eat for our August social. Officers are checking several places and will compare prices on food.

Each person will pay $2 and children under 12, $1. The club will pay the rest. You may bring a guest, but you must pay for his meal yourself. A place will be reserved probably on Saturday night about 7:30 or 8.

Blue Surf and I want to thank the members for letting us serve you this year and we appreciate all the help from the officers and club members. Without all of us working together, we could not have a good club.

Until next week, stay well, be happy and attend the church of your choice.

Attends Fall Preview At MUW

New students who will be enrolled at Mississippi University for Women this fall previewed campus life at the university recently during the annual summer orientation program.

Among those attending was Crystal A. McElroy of Booneville.

Two more orientation sessions are planned this summer by the Office of Student Affairs.

Campus tours, academic advisement and visits to campus offices to finalize admission procedures were on the summer orientation agenda. A tour of Callaway Residence Hall was also held.

The 1984 fall semester will begin Aug. 26 with the opening of dormitories. Orientation will be held Aug. 27-28. Registration for classes will be held Aug. 28 and 29, with classes beginning Aug. 30.

Attend Pre-College Conference At Ole Miss

Booneville residents Susan Glenn Storey and Mitchell Alan Morgan attended the third 1984 pre-college conference at The University of Mississippi.

Counseling and Pre-registration Conferences for entering freshmen and transfer students serve as an orientation to campus life and also allow students to register for the fall term.

The sessions are sponsored each summer by the Student Counseling Center at Ole Miss.

County Agent's Notes

By CLIFFORD J. HAMPTON
County Agent

As soybean crops develop, insects may become a major factor in production. Prentiss County farmers should look for green clover worm infestations now and soybean looper and velvetbean caterpillars as the season progresses.

Despite the different times these three insects attack plants, many farmers confuse them because they are similar in appearance.

Early in the season it is usually good to have a few of these worms in your fields to attract beneficial insects.

The green clover worm usually will be the first foliage-feeding worm to attack soybeans. It is uniformly pale green with white stripes running along the sides.

Although this pest makes the same looping movement as the soybean looper, it has three pair of prolegs, as opposed to the soybean looper's two pair.

The green color worm is also similar to the velvetbean caterpillar because it makes similar vigorous movements when knocked to the ground. However, the velvetbean caterpillar has four pair of prolegs.

The velvetbean caterpillar generally attacks soybean crops in mid-season and late season. It varies from light to dull green with white lines running the length of the body.

However, the lines on the sides of this larva are usually much broader than those on the green clover worm or looper. It also has a yellowish or orange head and four pair of prolegs.

A later season pest is the soybean looper. The looper may occur in large numbers. Infestations are generally heavier in late planted beans.

The soybean looper moves with a looping movement when it crawls. It is light green with thin white lines running the length of the body on the sides and top. The body tapers toward the head and has two pair of prolegs.

If bean plants are not blooming or filling pods, apply insecticides when eight or more worms at least one-half inch long are present per foot of row or when 35 percent foliage loss has occurred.

For recommended insecticides and further treatment instructions, contact the Extension office.

Orchard Maintenance

To insure good yields from your fruit trees, proper care is essential. Spray peaches, plums, bunch grapes, pears and apples according to a recommended schedule available at the Extension office.

Thin peaches plums, apples and pears if your trees are overloaded. Thin when fruits are three-fourths inch in size and before the seed begin to harden.

Thin peaches four to six inches apart and apples or pears six to eight inches apart.

Prune and train young fruit trees by removing suckers from trunks and by thinning branches throughout the growing season.

For more information concerning soybean pests or orchard maintenance, come by the county Extension office on 404 East Church St., or call 728-5631.

ASCS News

By C.E. CALVERT
County Executive Director

Farmer elected ASCS Committee Members from Prentiss County met Tuesday, June 26, in Tupelo with committee members from 18 other counties in this area, where they were briefed on the status of farm programs administered by the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Services (ASCS).

In each county the three-member ASC County Committee is responsible for setting policies and overseeing the administration of the farm programs. Here in Prentiss County, the County Committee is composed of Jerry Floyd, Chairman, from the Blackland-Oak Hill community, Roy Green, Marietta Community and Bobby Ryan, Wheeler Community.

County Committee Members present at the meeting in Tupelo heard Mack Thompson, a member of the Mississippi State ASCS Committee from Benton County, comment on the responsibilities of the State Committee in setting policies for statewide program implementation.

He noted that the Dairy Refund Program, which was implemented last spring, had been widely accepted by south Mississippi dairymen as evidence by strong participation in the program. He also commented on the Payment-In-Kind Program which was put into effect in 1983 as an one-time program to help eliminate surplus government stock of basic commodities which serve to depress market prices.

He said that "Farmers are now reaping the benefits of the PIK Program through higher prices of every one of the basic commodities grown in this area."

County Committee Members and County Executive Directors who were present, heard T.M. Barron, State Executive Director in Mississippi, and State Office Specialists discuss the various farm programs which are in effect. They outlined ways in which County Committee Members could help deal with farmer's problems in administering these programs. The State Director emphasized that local ASCS committees and County Office personnel must be responsive to the needs of the local farmer.

This means that every farmer is entitled to adequate information concerning farm programs in order to decide whether it is to his advantage to participate and must also be given prompt, courteous and efficient service when he visits the county office.

Representing Prentiss County at the Tupelo Meeting were Jerry Floyd and Bobby Ryan, County Committeemen and C.E. Calvert, County Executive Director.

USDA Announces Preliminary Payments Made Under Milk Diversion Program

The U.S. Department of Agriculture today said milk diversion checks for the January-March 1984 quarter that were paid, cashed and processed through mid-June totaled just over $136 million. This is about 73 percent of the payments USDA expects to make for the first 3 months of the 15-month program.

USDA projects that dairy price support purchases by the Commodity Credit Corporation will be 10.9 billion pounds, milk equivalent, for this marketing year, a decline from the 16.6 billion pounds last year. The cost of purchasing the 10.9 billion pounds this year will exceed $1.5 billion.

The Dairy and Tobacco Adjustment Act of 1983 authorizes price support reductions of 50 cents per hundredweight on April 1 and July 1, 1985 next year if CCC purchases for the following 12 months will exceed 6 billion and 5 billion pounds, respectively.

Deductions from producers for milk marketings beginning Dec. 1, 1983, totaled about $277 million through mid-June. At this time deductions exceed payments, but USDA estimates that over the life of the program deductions and payments will be nearly equal. Thus, the $10 per hundredweight diversion payments are funded almost entirely from 50-cent deductions from the industry.

USDA said milk production gains have ceased following almost 5 years of monthly gains over year-earlier levels. Production on a daily average basis for January through May was down about 1.9 percent from a year earlier.

In addition to the diversion program, other factors contributing to the decline include higher feed costs, an improving economy which provides additional non-dairy alternatives and expected lower milk support prices in the future.

Mississippi farmers received $1,969,000 in diversion payments for participation in the diversion programs for the January thru March 1984 quarter.

Shrinking Milk Supply Could Mean Higher Prices This Fall

The nation's milk supply continues to shrink and the reduced supply could mean higher milk prices this fall.

U.S. milk output has dropped four straight months and for the year is one percent below 1983 levels, said Dr. David Trammell, head of the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service Marketing Department.

At the same time, consumption of milk in the United States may be up five percent in 1984 as a result of a drop in the farm price of milk and an intensified national milk promotion program.

"The oversupply of milk is beginning to decrease," Trammell said. "Production per cow is declining, influenced by higher feed prices and lower levels of feeding."

The nation's total number of milk cows also has begun to decline as producers elect to cull slaughter cows rather than keep them in the milking herd.

The drop in milk supplies is a signal that the dairy diversion program enacted earlier this year to reduce milk surpluses and government payments to dairy farmers is working.

Trammell said government milk purchases under the Commodity Credit Corporation dropped 34 percent from January to May. Under the milk diversion program, the government pays farmers not to produce milk.

Demand for milk also is strengthening as commercial sales were up more than 10 percent in April above year-earlier levels.

Trammell said the nation's shrinking supply of milk could drive milk prices higher by this fall.

"Although farm milk prices have dropped, retail prices have increased slightly while other food prices have risen at a faster rate," Trammell said.

The larger increase for other foods - four percent compared to .5 percent for milk - has made dairy products more competitive with other foods, resulting in increased milk consumption.

Consumption of dairy products for the first four months of the year was up six percent. Overall, milk consumption could be up five percent in 1984, Trammell said.

A national dairy program financed by dairy producers also is having a positive impact on consumption of milk products. Participating dairy farmers pay 15 cents for every 100 pounds of milk they produce to finance the nationwide program.

Trammell said dairy producers in Mississippi may choose to divert 10 cents of the fee to the American Dairy Association of Mississippi, which would benefit producers by promoting dairy products in the state.

Soybean Oil Choice To Improve Pesticide

Soybean oil continues to be a good and legal choice for use as a pesticide adjuvant, according to Dr. Larry Beauregard, Associate Director of Soy Oil Programs for the American Soybean Association.

"A recent ruling by the Environmental Protection Agency which restricts the use of non-labeled materials as pesticide diluents has caused some confusion," Beauregard said. "But this ruling doesn't apply to vegetable oils used as crop adjuvants."

He explains that adjuvants and diluents are not used the same way in pesticides.

"An adjuvant, often referred to as a crop oil concentrate, is a material added to a pesticide mixture to improve the pesticide's performance. It modifies characteristics such as spreadability or droplet size.

"A diluent, often referred to as a carrier, is a material used to dilute a concentrated pesticide to field use strength."

The EPA policy ruled that diluents must be labeled for a specific pesticide to be used legally. If a pesticide does not specify a diluent, water must be used. The policy clearly states that the ruling does not apply to additives, adjuvants or surfactants.

Beauregard said if farmers understand the policy's restrictions, there should be only limited effect on soybean oil's use as a crop spray, since most farmers use soybean oil as a crop oil or adjuvant.

Home Economist's Notes

By PATTY K. ROBINSON
Extension Home Economist

One of the most popular vegetables in the American diet is the green bean. Green and yellow wax beans can easily be preserved at home by canning, freezing, drying and even pickling.

Select young, tender beans for home food preservation. Over-mature beans will be tough and stringy.

Wash the beans thoroughly, then cut them if desired. Beans can be preserved whole, cut into one or two-inch pieces or sliced French-style.

Canning with a pressure canner is the most common method of preserving beans at home.

Only pressure canning produces temperatures high enough to kill harmful bacteria that can grow in low-acid foods. If processing is inadequate, the bacteria will survive and produce a toxin as they grow. This toxin could be present even though the canned vegetable looks and smells normal.

For an added margin of safety, home canned vegetables should be boiled for 10 to 20 minutes before tasting. This heating destroys any toxin that may have formed.

When freezing beans, it is important to blanch them. This short heat treatment destroys the enzymes which would otherwise cause undesirable changes in flavor, texture and nutritive value during storage.

Frozen vegetables should be stored in moisture and vapor-resistant containers at zero degree F or below and used within 12 months for best quality. When cooking, put the frozen beans in a small quantity of water and heat until tender.

Beans can be dried, but tend to toughen during the drying process. Cutting diagonally, French-slicing, will yield a better produce because the beans will dry more quickly.

As for freezing, it is advisable to blanch the beans before drying. For variations in winter meals, pickled beans might be the answer. Be sure to process pickled beans for five minutes in boiling water to assure a good seal and to destroy any bacteria that might have entered the jar during filling.

Spiced Beets, Green Beans, Or Carrots
¼ teaspoon salt

Three-fourth teaspoon allspice
Three-fourth teaspoon cloves
¼ stick cinnamon
¼ piece mace
1½ teaspoons celery seed
2 cups cider vinegar
1 cup sugar
Green beans, beets, or carrots (about 2 pints)

Tie salt and spices in thin cloth bag. Boil the vinegar, sugar, and spices for 15 minutes. Boil a quart jar for 15 minutes. Remove jar from water and pour in spiced vinegar mixture. Adjust the lid; set aside for 2 weeks.

Remove the spice bag. Cook fresh beans, beets, or carrots (about 2 pints) until tender, but firm. Cool. Peel beets. (You can use canned vegetables and omit this step.)

Heat the spiced vinegar and add ½ cup of the liquid in which the vegetables were cooked. Add vegetable and simmer for 15 minutes. Pack into hot jars, being sure the spiced vinegar covers the vegetables. Remove air bubbles. Adjust lids and process 10 minutes in boiling waterbath canner. Yield: 2½ pints.

Extension Service Announces Opening For 4-H Youth Agent

Applications for an Extension 4-H Youth Agent position in Noxubee County are now being accepted, according to Dr. James R. Carpenter, director of the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service.

The county office for the position is located in Macon, Mississippi. The minimum requirement for this position is an earned Bachelor's Degree in Agriculture from an accredited institution of higher learning, Dr. Carpenter said.

Interested persons should contact the MCES Personnel Office by a letter postmarked no later July 11, 1984. Applications may be mailed to: Mr. Milburn Gardner, Personnel Officer, Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service, P.O. Box 5446, Mississippi State, Miss. 39762. Or call 601-325-3462.

Applications may also contact their local office of the Mississippi Employment Security Commission. MCES is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

Prentiss Conservation District Honored At Competition

Prentiss County Conservation District is the runner-up in a competition sponsored by The Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company in cooperation with the National Association of Conservation Districts.

winner in the 37th annual Goodyear Conservation Awards Program.

The winning districts were judged on their resource conservation achievements by an independent committee of agricultural leaders, according to Ray Oviatt, awards program director.

Plaques also will be presented to the top district and the runner-up at a meeting of the Mississippi Association of Conservation Districts Inc. In addition, the outstanding cooperators with all competing districts will receive plaques.

Outstanding cooperators with Prentiss County CD are Richard and Jimmy Arnold, Wheeler, Miss.

USDA Announces 1985 Wheat Program Provisions

Secretary of Agriculture John R. Block has announced provisions of the 1985 wheat program, including a 20 percent acreage reduction and a 10 percent paid land diversion.

Signup for the program will be Oct. 15 through March 1. The cash land diversion payment will be $2.70 per bushel with 50 percent available at signup. The program also includes a $3.30 per bushel national average loan rate and a $4.38 per bushel target price.

To be eligible for program benefits, producers must limit 1985 wheat acreage to no more than 70 percent of the farm's wheat base. They must also dedicate a certain amount of their eligible cropland to an acreage conservation reserve.

The amount to be placed in this reserve must be equal to at least 28.57 percent of the farm's 1985 planted wheat acreage plus 10 percent of the farm's wheat base.

Land designated for an acreage conservation reserve must have been devoted to a row crop or small grains in two of the last three years except for a summer fallow farm.

The summer fallow rules will be the same as those in effect for the 1984 programs. Those rules provide that the acreage must have been devoted to row crops or small grains in one of the last two crop years.

The 1985 acreage base will be the average of the acreage planted and considered planted to wheat in 1983 and 1984.

Haying will not be permitted on acreage conservation reserve land. However, the acreage may be grazed except during the six principal growing months as designated by state ASCS officials.

Block said he has also approved a standby measure authorizing, in the event of a natural disaster, implementation of emergency haying and grazing privileges. Approval of the emergency privileges would be made as needed on a county-by-county basis.

Offsetting and cross compliance will not apply to the 1985 wheat program.

USDA intends to review the size of the farmer-owned reserve before regular price support loans for the 1985 crop reach maturity. At that time it will be determined whether entry into the reserve will be premitted.

Program contracts signed by participants will be binding and will provide for liquidated damages for failure to comply with program requirements.

Mississippi State Parks A Vacation Bargain

Mississippi's state parks offer some of the best vacation bargains to be found anywhere, according to the Governor's Service Line.

"Because of their proximity, state parks can keep your travel expenses low and, once you're at a state park, you usually can save considerable money on lodging," said Sara Dickson, a Governor's Service Line counselor.

"Cabin rentals, for example, range from $16 to $50 per night," Ms. Dickson said. "And the $50 cabins can accommodate as many as 11 people. All state park cabins are equipped with sheets, blankets and kitchen utensils."

"Most of the 28 parks have camping facilities, and electrical, water and sewage hookups cost $9.50 per day," she said.

Many state parks provide bicycle rentals, boat launching facilities, camp stores, canoe and boat rentals, fishing facilities, lodges-activity buildings, laundry facilities, miniature golf, nature trails, picnic areas, playground equipment, athletic playing fields, restaurants, snack bars, swimming facilities, tennis courts, vacation cabins and water skiing facilities, she said.

Many improvements in Mississippi's state parks were made last year. Approximately $60,000 was spent for landscaping, and a $2 million dam was constructed at Natchez State Park.

"Many of us have been conditioned to think that the greater the distance the better the vacation," Ms. Dickson noted. "I've traveled internationally, and yet some of the best vacations I've had have been in Mississippi."

Further information on Mississippi's state parks and other state services may be obtained by dialing the Governor's Service Line Jackson number, 961-4042, or the toll-free number, 1-800-222-7622.

Soil Conservation

By ED CALVERT
Soil Conservationist
Booneville Field Office

What is the first thing that you would do if you were a carpenter and you were asked to build a house?

The first thing you would probably do would be to get the plans for the house and determine what materials you would need.

If this is true what is the first thing you would need to do if you were a farmer planning for the next year? Again a plan is what you need to start off with first.

In this case a farm plan would be needed. This plan would need to consist of the types of cropping systems you use, anv needed pasture improvements, terracing systems that you would like to add, fencing, ponds and any other improvements for your farm.

To get a conservation plan developed for your farm, all the landowner has to do is to come by the Soil Conservation Service office and sign up as a cooperator with the Prentiss County Soil and Water Conservation District. This will allow a member of the SCS staff to visit and work with you in developing your conservation plan and discuss your needs with you.

In implementing your plan, a three or four month period may be used to spread out the work load. The most important thing to remember is to work toward the completion of the whole plan.

To receive a conservation plan, call the SCS office in Booneville at 728-3544 or come by our office at 107 North College St.

4-H News

By WAYNE LAND
Extension 4-H Youth Agent

If you used your best judgment in buying a product, followed all use and care information and the product does not give you satisfaction, you have the right and responsibility to complain.

Before you begin to complain, however, be sure you have a legitimate complaint. Youth in the 4-H consumer education project suggest these points to remember when complaining.

Go back to the store and talk to the person who sold you the product or to someone in the store's complaint department. Be kind and courteous, but firm. Expect to receive a satisfactory adjustment.

If this fails ask to see the store manager. Again be firm, but polite. Restate your complaint and indicate what you expect to be done. Be positive.

If this fails write the manufacturer. Get the name and address from labels on the product or the use and care booklet. Explain the problem,—being short and to the point. Give all identifying information, such as model number, size, color, cost and where and when the item was bought. Most letters will receive prompt attention. Keep copies of your letters.

If this does not work, write or contact local, state, and national agencies involved in consumer issues.

The Mississippi 4-H consumer education program can help you learn to be a skillful consumer. For information or how to get involved, call the county Extension office.

CHIROPRACTIC CAN HELP NATURE RELIEVE AND HEAL SHOULDER AND ARM PAIN

It should thus be quite apparent that shoulder and arm pain may indicate a more serious condition. But whether the problem is related to other parts of the body or not, the pain can become very debilitating, as those who suffer from such problems well know.

Your Doctor of Chiropractic readily understands the problems involved in a painful shoulder or arm condition. He or she is eminently better qualified to correct these types of conditions than any other kind of doctor. If nerve interference is the basic or contributing cause of your problem, your chiropractor will institute necessary measures to help nature correct and heal the condition.

The chiropractor's minimum of six years of college education plus practical experience have been especially directed to just such problems—problems which involve the spine, nerves, muscles, and joints of the body.

Today's Doctor of Chiropractic first seeks to give you immediate relief from pain, but education and experience always cause him or her to search out the underlying source of your problem and then correct it. This prevents the need for you to take pain pills for relief month in and month out.

VACATION TERM, 1984

IN RE: THE LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT OF CATHERINE B. LECROY, DECEASED
NO. 10,894

SPECIAL COMMISSIONER'S NOTICE OF SALE

BY VIRTUE OF THE DECREE signed June 15, 1984, by the Honorable Fred P. Wright, Chancellor of the Chancery Court of Prentiss County, Mississippi, and exhibited in record in the above-styled and numbered cause on June 15, 1984, at 4:00 o'clock P.M. in Minute Book 52, pages 849-853, I, Phillip Cole, Special Commissioner, do hereby give notice of public auction sale of the hereinafter described real property to the highest and best bidder for cash, certified check or money order, issued by a bank or financial institution licensed and doing business and authorized by law to do such business in the State of Mississippi: the sale of said real property to be in whole and not in tracts, to be held at the Front (West) Door of the Prentiss County Courthouse in Booneville, Mississippi, on the 13th day of July, 1984, between the hours of 11:00 o'clock and 4:00 o'clock P.M., with said sale being subject to a Report of said Sale being made to the Court on confirmation, to be held on July 20th, 1984, at 10:00 o'clock A.M. before the Chancery Court of Prentiss County, Mississippi, in Vacation, at the Tishomingo County Courthouse in Iuka, Mississippi, whereupon, after confirmation, I, as Special Commissioner, shall convey by Special Commissioner's Deed the hereinafter described real property, conveying only such title or interest as I may have therein; said real property being more particularly described as follows:

TRACT NO. 2, PARCEL NO. 5: The Northwest Quarter of Section 23, Township 5, Range 6; containing 160 acres, more or less.
ALSO, TRACT NO. 4, PARCEL NO. 15: The North Half of the Northwest Quarter of Section 20, Township 5, Range 6 East, containing 80 acres, more or less.
ALSO, TRACT NO. 5, PARCEL NO. 16: A part of the Southeast Quarter of Section 28, Township 5, Range 6 East, described as follows: Commencing at the Southeast corner of the Northwest Quarter of the Southeast Quarter and run West 17 1/2 rods; thence North 50 1/4 rods to the Old Bryant Public Road; thence in a Southeasterly direction with said road to the East boundary of the Northwest Quarter of the Southeast Quarter; thence South 43 rods to the point of beginning; containing 3 acres, more or less.

ALSO, TRACT NO. 6, PARCEL NO. 14: Part of the Southeast Quarter of Section 26, Township 5, Range 6 East, described as follows: Beginning on the West boundary of said Quarter at a point 30 rods North of the Southwest Corner of said Quarter and run East 4 1/2 rods, more or less, to the center of Sand Creek; thence in a Northwesterly direction with said creek as it now runs a distance of 40 rods, more or less, to the West boundary of said Quarter; thence South 34 rods, more or less, to the point of beginning; containing 5 1/2 acres, more or less.

Inc. ratings and states ranked by jobs gained or lost during the past five years.

Although a good business climate may be desirable for stimulating industrial growth, it apparently is not enough. The percentage decline in non-agricultural employment in Mississippi from December, 1978 has been greater than that of any other Southern state.

Most experienced gains. Furthermore, the drop in Mississippi manufacturing employment has been greater, on a percentage basis, than that of any other Southern state.

Perhaps Mississippi should attempt to discover the factors other than business climate that are necessary for attracting jobs.

Swimmin'

The Bouge Chitto of southwest Mississippi also has strikingly beautiful rapids and white water southeast of McComb.

The location of good swimming spots is not hard to find south of Jackson. If it's been some time since perch pecked at your skin, or you've tried to sit still as the rush of clear, cool water spun you around on the sandy bottom of a stream as you sat in the water eating watermelon -- then maybe it's about time you headed into the boondocks of south Mississippi for a good ol' fashioned Fourth of July picnic and swimming party.

It is always best to first visit with local people, however, and choose known swimming holes to avoid possible hazards. Remember that spring floods rearrange sand and gravel deposits in streams so streambed conditions may be rearranged between visits. Shallow places may be made deep and last year's holes may now be shallow.

A growing event in east Mississippi for the Fourth of July is a tube-floating event on the Chunky River between I-20 and Dunn's Falls southwest of Meridian where a stream creates tiered waterfalls down a rocky course over 40 feet in height.

This rare fun -- it's all yours in rural southern Mississippi!

State Needs Coordination In Use Of Tenn-Tom

Now that the political struggle to complete the Tennessee-Tombigbee Waterway is over, the economic struggle to take advantage of the 232-mile public works project begins, and one University of Mississippi researcher worries that the state may be too poorly organized for it.

"The benefits will be realized by those state, county, and municipal governments which are equipped by knowledge and organization to enter this phase of the political struggle," said Dr. Robert McArthur, professor of political science and governmental research.

In previous studies conducted through the University's Bureau of Governmental Research, Dr. McArthur has seen too often how uncoordinated efforts and ruinous "turf battles" have cost Mississippi economic benefits.

He is encouraged that Gov. Bill Allain mentioned the need for a statewide coordinated effort to attract industry on the Waterway in his inaugural address, but he knows that much work has to be done.

"Unless the situation changes," he said, "Mississippi's local governments may engage in disastrous competition among themselves for industrial development and commerce along the Waterway, and we'll lose out to other states in long-term collective benefit. There needs to be state-level leadership and coordination. Nothing is gained if towns and counties fight it out with one another and boards of supervisors throw up their hands in frustration."

There is no such plan at present, said Dr. McArthur, and he believes it will be difficult to produce one. He points out that numerous agencies over several gubernatorial administrations have worked hard to get continued federal funding to complete the Waterway, and have tried to spread the benefits of construction jobs among various localities and minorities.

These agencies include the Governor's Office of Planning and Policy, the Department of Energy and Transportation, the Board of Economic Development, the Mississippi Research and Development Center, and the Tombigbee River Valley Water Management District. The state has gained greatly from these efforts during the construction phase.

But Dr. McArthur feels the state has been slow in developing a comprehensive framework to work with private industry.

"Private decisions will have the major impact now," he said, "but it would be naive to assume that these decisions won't be affected in a substantial way by decisions made or avoided by public agencies."

"Private developers will take more substantial action in states where public policy is clear and coordinated among all governmental levels," he said.

He sees Mississippi choosing among two alternatives.

"State, regional, and local leaders can unite in an aggressive, cooperative program to develop a plan for maximum economic benefit from the Waterway or these same leaders can defend their turf and maintain the traditional uncoordinated way of making public decisions in Mississippi and let the Waterway take care of itself."

There is great irony in this situation, he said.

"If Mississippi were a wealthy state, perhaps we could maintain our hands-off attitude and leave planning entirely to the private sector. Since we're such a poor state, however, we need to manage every resource carefully."

"It is ironic that wealthy states like New York and California tend to manager their finances for maximum return, while poor states like Mississippi tend to remain uncoordinated and to waste their resources and opportunities. It is not surprising that the rich get richer and the poor get poorer."

Dr. McArthur is hopeful that the economic opportunities afforded by the Waterway will be handled differently.

"Our major deficiency in our quest for economic well-being is not a lack of hard-working people, nor is it basically the result of geographical location or natural resources," he said. "It's a traditional lack of coordinated efficient decision-making. The authority to make timely decisions is dispersed among numerous, often overlapping agencies at all levels. Everybody's responsibility is nobody's responsibility."

"While Mississippians languish in the midst of an internecine struggle among state agencies, regional entities and individual cities and counties, other better-coordinated states get the enterprises we so desperately need."

The state has solid assets, he believes -- a favorable geographical location, plentiful natural resources and a stronger labor force. But those assets don't guarantee prosperity.

Neither does the Tennessee-Tombigbee Waterway, he asserts, unless we can take advantage of it.

PRENTISS MISS HOSPITALITY CONTESTANTS -- Competing in the 1984 Miss Hospitality Pageant are Carol Johnson, Booneville, (left) and Kim DeVaughn, Baldwin. Over 60 contestants from around the state will participate in the pageant, scheduled for July 24-28 on the Golf Coast. The 35th annual pageant is sponsored by the Division of Tourism, Mississippi Department of Economic Development.

SCB Offering Free Installation Of Touch-Tone Service

South Central Bell customers who don't have Touch-Tone service can have it installed free if they request the service before July 31.

Under the offer, any residence or business customer ordering Touch-Tone will not have to pay the usual one-time service charge for having it connected, according to Tom Bailey, District Manager.

The usual service charge is $23.50 per line for residences and $27.50 for businesses, he said.

"The Information Age is bringing a lot of new services, such as telephone banking, and many of those services will work best with Touch-Tone," said Bailey.

To use Touch-Tone service, the customer must have at least one Touch-Tone phone, he said.

"Since not all push-button phones are Touch-Tone, check the FCC registration number. If the telephone works with Touch-Tone service, the number will end in a T or E," said Bailey.

A telephone whose FCC registration number ends in R will not generate the electronic signals used with Touch-Tone, he said.

For more information on getting Touch-Tone service, residence customers may contact South Central Bell at 1-961-2288. Business customers should call 1-960-3014.

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK:

'He Will Show Us The Way...'

By Pat Coleman

Copyright (c) The Upper Room

"Be strong and of good courage, do not fear or be in dread . . . for it is the Lord your God who goes with you; he will not fail you or forsake you." (Deuteronomy 31:6)

My husband and I were going through some serious financial problems. We were going to lose our business and our home. I did not know how everything would ever work out financially so that we and the children would still have a place to live. The Lord Jesus put this scripture verse from Deuteronomy on my heart at that time, and when my husband or I became discouraged we remembered this verse and clung to it.

It took three years and a lot of prayer and believing that Jesus was with us at every turn, but we have now paid off all the money we owed. Jesus has also made a way for us to have an older and smaller home for our family. My husband is currently unemployed, but we have seen Jesus supply our every need and believe He will show us the way every day of our life.

PRAYER: Thank you, dear Jesus, for Your presence and direction. We are grateful for Your care for us. Teach us to trust You more each day. Amen.

The Thought for the Day: Jesus will never forsake us.

Hunting Association To Discuss Clubhouse

A special meeting of all members and landowners of the Earl Wommack Hunting Association has been called for 6 p.m. Thursday, July 12. Plans for finishing the clubhouse will be discussed. The meeting will be at the clubhouse. Club dues for 1984 are also now due.

Eastside Park To Host Dizzy Dean Tourney

The Booneville City Eastside Park will host the Dizzy Dean 13-14 year old District Baseball Tournament July 9 -12. Teams participating in the tournament will be Hill's By-Pass of Booneville, Corinth, Belmont, Verona, Saltillo and Eastside. Monday night's games will be Belmont vs. Hill's By-Pass, Eastside Park vs. Verona and Saltillo vs. Corinth. Games will get under way at 6:00 p.m. "We are happy to be the host team this year and hope for a good tournament," said Park Director Willie T. Jackson

Tennis Tournament Slated In Baldwin

Baldwyn's Latimer Park will host two tennis tournaments in July. The first will be a doubles tournament to be held July 16-21. There is no age limit. There will be no mixed doubles; men or women only. The second tournament will be a singles tournament held July 23-28. The age groups for this tournament will be 13 and under, 14-19 and 20 years and up. Entry fee will be $5 per person in each tournament. Deadline for entry is July 10th. For more information, contact Anthony Stone at 365-3694.

Northeast To Offer Lifesaving Class

Northeast Mississippi Junior College Student Activities Director Rickey Gillentine announced this week that the college will be offering a Red Cross lifesaving class starting July 16 at the NEMJC aquatic center. Certified Red Cross instructors Judy Nance and Jennifer Givens will direct the 22 hour class, which will start each morning at 8 and last until 11. Gillentine said that anyone who is interested in taking the course should contact him at the aquatic center by calling 728-7751, ext. 306.

Second Week Of Swim Classes At NEMJC

The second week of swimming lessons at the NEMJC Gaye-Rhoden-Carr Aquatic Center will be starting Monday night, according to Northeast Student Activities Director Rickey Gillentine. Due to a big demand for the lessons, the class has already been filled. However, Gillentine said that some openings were possible for anyone interested. Class time for ages 7-12 is from 1 to 3. The 6 and under age group will meet from 5:30 to 7:30. Anyone interested in the class should contact Gillentine at the Aquatic Center by calling 728-7751, ext. 306.

Her Second Hole In One In As Many Years

Fishing Roundup

Snakes Abound In Bay Springs Lake Area

By SCOTT McKINNEY
Sports Writer

Snakes, not fish, were the big biters at Bay Springs this past week. Although no actual bitings have been reported, numerous fishermen and skiers are reporting that the snakes are out in full stride on the local lake. Wildlife personnel and local game wardens have reported some very large snakes in the area. However, officials say that the snakes should not affect any of the activities at the lake and that fishermen and skiers should not be alarmed. On a more safer side, the bream and bass are really starting to bite at Bay Springs. Baldwin semi-professional Danny Comer said that fishermen are catching 10-15 bass and 30-40 bream on each trip out. However, the editor at the Banner-Independent and myself did not agree with Comer this past Saturday morning. Despite what Ed said in his column this week, it was not all my fault. As a matter of fact, there are still two of my floats hung in a tree thanks to Ed. I'm glad going fishing was all his idea, right Ed? We did find out, however, that the bream are biting in certain areas. And the best bait has been crickets, worms and sponges. According to Comer, the best place to fish is in the streams leading from the lake. "If you have a boat and you can get up in those backwater areas, you'll probably catch a lot of fish," Comer said. Also, many anglers are catching a lot of fish in the lock at Bay Springs. The fishing will continue to be good at Sardis for the next few weeks. Some of the better areas are Hurricane Point, Piney Point and up in the river areas. Around Graham Lake has also been a hot spot for plenty of action. The best bait to use at Sardis this week should be three inch balsa bees. This bait should be fished in about 8-10 feet of water. Also, buzz baits and crank baits should produce some results. WEATHER REPORT - The weather has started to cooperate with area fishermen. The temperatures have decreased, but the humidity has been very high. And the chance of afternoon and evening thunder showers has enhanced the chance of catching fish at all lakes. Area anglers should get good results during the next week, thanks to the good weather. FISHING TIP - Semi-professional Comer said that the bass fishermen should navigate their fishing for the best results. "The best action this week with bass will be in deep water near points or ledges," Comer said. "Try to fish the deep water to shallow water for the best bass results." Remember, if you have a question, tip or comment about any aspect of fishing, feel free to send me your mail. (Thanks for the letters, mom and Toni.) Address your mail to the Fishing Roundup, the Banner-Independent, P.O. Box 269, Booneville, Miss. 38829. Until next week, good fishing and have a safe holiday!

In Girls' Softball Action

Rotary Girls Hold Onto Perfect Record With Win Over Otasco

In girls' softball action, Rotary knocked off Otasco 15-4 last Tuesday night to maintain a perfect 4-0 record on the year.

After a scoreless first inning Rotary came out in the second to score three runs, then came back with a six run third inning.

In the fourth inning Otasco rallied back to score four runs, but Rotary refused to let up, scoring five runs in the fourth and another in the fifth.

Tonja Lathem and Kim Scott, who went 4-4, led the hitting for Rotary. Cristie Cole also had a perfect night, going 3-3.

Laticha Mathis and Lisa Bearden led the sluggers for Otasco, both tallying perfect 2-2s.

In the second game of the night H&W Industries defeated Ethridge

Auto Supplies 6-5.

Etheridge jumped out to a early 5-0 lead. But H&W came out to score three runs in the first and two in the second to tie the game.

Then in the fourth, with two runners on base, Catina Manness, who went 3-3, hit a single to drive in the winning run for H&W.

Other leading batters for H&W were LeAnne Stewart and Hollie

Bonds. Both went 2-3 in the game.

For Etheridge it was Kim Owens and Wendy Micheal leading the hitting, both with 2-2 for the night.

Little League & T-Ball Play

Brown Shoe And Farmers & Merchants Remain In Top Spots

By SCOTT MCKINNEY
Sports Writer

The Brown Shoe and Sonic Little League teams remain undefeated through five weeks of play in the city park's Little League division.

Also, the Farmers and Merchants Bank of Marietta is undefeated and leading the field in the park's T-Ball league.

Bad weather reduced the number of games last week on an already light schedule.

In the only T-Ball game last week, Marietta beat Rotary.

In Little League action, Prentiss Mfg. slipped past Johnson's Lumber 6-5.

Bill Preston struck out seven to pick up the win for Prentiss. Mark Stevens was charged with the loss for Johnson's.

Jason Etheridge, Jere Etheridge, Bronson Tabler and Jason Livingston all had two hits to pace Prentiss. Rusty Slack led Johnson's with four hits as Joey Clark, Bill Sparks and Stevens all had three hits.

Brown Shoe and People's Bank were in the first inning of their scheduled game when a heavy downpour caused the game to be stopped by umpires Mark McCreary and Rob Rogers.

Action was scheduled for Monday night but the results were not available at presstime.

LITTLE LEAGUE

Standings as of Thursday, June 28

Brown Shoe	3-0

Church Softball League

Gaston And Oak Hill Retain Unbeaten Status

By SCOTT MCKINNEY
Sports Writer

Gaston Baptist Church and Oak Hill Baptist Church continue to battle for the top spot in church league play at the city park.

Both teams are undefeated but Oak Hill is two games ahead of Gaston in the win column.

The First Baptist Church's Red team has made a major jump in the league standings over the past week. The team has moved from fifth place to third with one victory over First Methodist and Tusculmbia's loss to Gaston.

Davis and Matt Smith both had three hits to lead Oak Hill to victory. Tony McCreary and Harvey Shook had two hits each for Tusculmbia in a losing effort.

Play was scheduled for Monday night, but the results were not available at presstime.

A PUBLIC NOTICE

Regarding the change over in garbage and yard trash collection for the City of Booneville.

On May 22, 1984, the Mayor and Board of Aldermen entered into an agreement with RSI (Refuse Systems, Inc.) of Corinth, Mississippi, to collect and dispose of all residential and commercial garbage and yard trash in the City of Booneville.

RESIDENTIAL COLLECTION

RSI will begin residential service on Monday, July 2, 1984. Service will be provided to each residence once per week and will include both household garbage and yard trash collection. Your regular pick up day will remain the same at this time.

Based on the new city ordinance the following requirements should be noted:

- (1) All household garbage must be put in an approved plastic bag(s) and placed within 5 feet of the street, accessible to RSI employees, outside any fence or other property enclosure. If desired, garbage bags can be placed at the street inside suitable garbage cans. However, garbage must be bagged.
- (2) Yard trash must be placed in a uniform manner along side household plastic garbage bag(s) and must meet certain requirements for collection.
  - a. Yard trash will be picked up along with household garbage on your scheduled pick up day.
  - b. Yard trash, trimmings, leaves, etc. will be accepted in plastic bags or suitable disposable containers or cardboard boxes.
  - c. Tree limbs and trimmings must be bundled in lengths not to exceed 5 feet in length.
  - d. No single item can exceed 75 pounds in weight.

(3) RSI will not be responsible for picking up debris resulting from construction, remodeling, demolition, etc. or waste resulting from professional tree trimmers or landscapers. It will be the responsibility of the contractor to dispose of said debris, or to contact RSI for removal at a negotiated rate.

(4) Waste material of a hazardous nature will not be collected or disposed of by RSI.

The monthly charge for residential garbage on yard trash collection and disposal will be $4.00 per residence and billed on your City Utility Bill.

COMMERCIAL COLLECTION

Commercial collection will consist of businesses, offices, apartments, etc. and will have two categories: Light Commercial and Heavy Commercial.

(1) Light Commercial Customers, those establishments generating 1½ cubic yards (300 gallons) or less of trash per week will be serviced by RSI with two (2) pick ups per week.

a. Trash will be collected in acceptable plastic bags or disposable containers, placed outside the establishment near the street or at an acceptable alternate location easily accessible to RSI's truck.

Light Commercial Customers will be billed $8.50 per month on their City Utility Bill.

(2) Heavy Commercial Customers, those business establishments, offices, apartments (8 units or more) generating over 1½ cubic yards (300 gallons) per week will be contacted by RSI and provided a commercial front-end loader container(s) and serviced on a scheduled basis by RSI.

Monthly rates for Heavy Commercial Customers will vary according to the size container and frequency of pick up. A service agreement is required. Monthly billing will be on the City Utility Bill.

CARD OF THANKS

We would like to express our thanks to the people who stood by us during the illness and death of our husband and Father, Guy Wood.

We would like to pay special thanks to the neighbors, who were so generous with food, drink and their many services to us during this time. Special thanks also go out to Doctors Hurst and Galloway and the Nurses in B Wing at the Memphis Baptist Memorial Hospital in Booneville. To the relatives, friends, churches, florists, we will forever be grateful. Again thank you.

The family of Guy Wood

CARD OF THANKS

Thanks to the friends of Booneville for their cards, flowers, gifts, goodies to eat, visits, phone calls. Most of all the prayers that brought me through my surgery in Birmingham. Also to Bro. Potts and Bro. Edge. May the Lord bless you,

Loraine McDaniel
