Juvenile Escapes

While juvenile court was being held Tuesday morning at the Prentiss County Courthouse, one of the juveniles appearing in court escaped from law authorities in the courtroom and ran almost to the Prentiss County Co-Op on Smith Street before being apprehended.

The youth, who is about 16 years old and from Booneville, had previously been charged with burglary and had spent time in a training school.

He was arrested on theft charges again and ordered to return to the training school by the youth court judge.

Shortly after being sentenced the juvenile ran from the courthouse. He was apprehended on Smith Street by Fifth District Constable Tommy Smith.

Smith, who had been in the courtroom a few minutes earlier, had just gotten into his car and was leaving the courthouse when he saw the juvenile running away.

The juvenile was then taken to the city jail.

Murder Trial

A Rienzi man charged with the murder of his father will face trial in Alcorn County Circuit Court Wednesday, July 25.

Michael Moore, 24, will face trial for the Dec. 31, 1983 murder of his father, Ernest Moore of Rienzi.

The body of the elder Moore, 45, was found floating in the Tuscumbia Canal on Jan. 3. Moore reportedly died from a .22 caliber gunshot wound to the chest.

The younger Moore fled the state but returned Jan. 14 and turned himself in to the sheriff's department in Alcorn County.

Northeast Orientation

Northeast Mississippi Junior College will conduct the first of two orientation sessions for incoming freshmen and transfer students July 23-24. The second two-day sessions will be July 30 and 31.

College officials have planned each of the sessions to accommodate specific majors, J. Connie Drown, director of Counseling said.

Arrival time for each of the orientation sessions is between 11:45 and 1:30 p.m. on the first day. All incoming students should report to Estes Hall for dorm assignments and a schedule of activities.

For additional information, contact the counseling center at 728-7751, ext. 235.

Baldwyn Construction

Construction should start soon on the new Mesker-Clark factory in Baldwyn, according to Mayor Merle Rowan, who said Jesco Inc. of Fulton, will be building the new industry once site preparation is completed.

"We are waiting now for the grade stakes to be set," he said, adding that site preparation will be a joint city-county project.

The acquisition of Mesker-Clark, a door manufacturer, fills the remaining land in the Charles M. Gordon Industrial Park, Rowan said. He said Baldwyn's other new factory, Southern Diversified Industries, a manufacturer of plastic products, has now begun production in its new facilities.

Drug Abuse In Prentiss County, Part 4:

Most Crime In County Is Drug Related

By ED WOODWARD
Managing Editor

"Most of the theft that is going on in the county is drug related, in the biggest percentage of house break-ins and in the car thefts," said Sheriff W.V. Horn.

"Probably 75 to 90 percent of the boys and girls that we catch stealing, writing checks and getting into trouble in other ways are on drugs," said Booneville Police Chief John Lambert.

And, though Baldwyn Police Chief Johnnie Conlee said he feels he has the problem under some control, he agrees on an important point: "A drug addict has to have his drugs.

"Regardless of how they go about getting the money, after they get hooked on it so far, they don't care how they get it," said Chief Conlee.

"A drug addict will do anything for money," he said. "When they get addicted on drugs, they'll do anything to get the money to buy what they need. And that includes stealing, even from their own mother," Conlee said.

All agree that dilaudid is the most used drug and that it is being imported into the county.

"I've got some ideas where they're getting it," Sheriff Horn said. "But, as small as our staff is, I can't follow them to where they're brought from.

"I've got a lot of leads...this and that...I've got my shirt pocket about full of names of people who are using it, or that I think are selling it. But, we've got to catch them either with it on them, or catch them in an actual sale.

"And they know us," Sheriff Hora said. "They're not going to buy from us. And the narc agents, I believe...don't hold me to the figure, but I've been told that there are only 41 for the 82 counties statewide.

"That's half an agent per county, if it's so. So, we don't have enough of them to really do any good."

Chief Conlee attributes his control of the drug problem to the help of state narcotics agents. "I guess the narc boys do the best they can with what little money and staff they have. I know they've helped us around here and we've broke a lot of it," he said.

Chief Lambert said many abusers go directly from his custody into a drug program. "A lot of times, when we bring some of them in here and talk to them about something they've done, they'll try to get some help for their drug problem.

"That's what I'm hearing," he said. "When my men bring them in, that's who they call, somebody to help them with their problem."

But Lambert admits the cries for help are not always sincere. "They know they can get out of jail that way. But I understand some doctors are working with them, trying to help a lot of them," he said.

Lambert also thinks narcotics agents could be of some help if they were available. "They're selling it. They're selling it around here. And I'm going to try to get some narc agents up here as quickly as possible.

"There's no question we have a problem. And the people who don't think we have a problem have undoubtedly never been in law enforcement," Lambert said.

"I had a young girl tell me one day, she said, 'When I was on dilaudid there was nothing I wouldn't do to get another fix,'" Sheriff Horn said.

"She said, 'All you're doing is,

Creek Dragging Nets Two Stolen Autos

By ANGELA SMITH
Staff Reporter

Two stolen autos were found in a creek south of Rienzi on the Prentiss-Alcorn County Line Road Thursday of last week.

The Prentiss County Sheriff's Department and the Alcorn County Sheriff's Department dragged the creek because they had information that a late model vehicle was recently put in the creek, according to Prentiss County Sheriff W.V. Horn.

Sheriff Horn has also had reports that three-wheelers may have been dumped in the creek.

One of the cars pulled from the creek was a 1977 Vega station wagon which was stolen from John Pendergraph of Vina, Ala., in March 1983. The car's motor and transmission had been stripped.

The other car found was a 1977 Buick Regal which was missing the motor, transmission and front cap. That car's owner had not been identified as of Tuesday. It is estimated that the creek is around 21 feet deep, Horn said. This particular site has been a well known dumping area for stolen cars which have been stripped, Horn said. Stolen cars have been pulled from this creek for several years, he said. It has been several years since the creek has been dragged for stolen cars. Former Sheriff John McCauley attempted to drag the creek last year but was unsuccessful in snagging a car. No divers were used at that time.

Sunflower Group Meets With City Board

By ED WOODWARD
Managing Editor

Efforts to acquire sidewalks for the Sunflower Community continued at the July meeting of the Booneville Board of Aldermen, Tuesday, July 3.

Attending the meeting to voice their support for the project were Bro. Prentiss Harris, pastor of the Spring Hill Baptist Church, Billy Williams, Bonny Williams, Kendra Williams, John McDonald, Artisha McDonald, Jesse Humphrey, Robert Swinney and Mac Hans.

Harris and Lewis Ragins had originally approached the board regarding the need for sidewalks at its June meeting.

Mayor Charles Crabb had announced that a resolution had already been prepared authorizing him to request Community Development Block Grant funds for such a project.

The project would cost between $140,000 and $150,000 with the city providing 25 percent and the CDBG providing the remaining 75 percent. Sidewalks would be constructed in the area bounded by Lake, Smith, Triplett and Church Streets in Sunflower, plus Mimosa Drive and the subdivision behind the Park Lane factory.

Crabb announced that a public hearing on the request would be held at the July 3 meeting and suggested that Harris attend that meeting.

Harris said the group attending the July 3 meeting presented the board with nine letters requesting the construction of sidewalks in the community and describing the dangers created by their absence. "Of course, it was a public hearing. And, basically, what we did was make another presentation stressing the need for sidewalks in the area," Harris said.

He said there have been six pedestrian-auto accidents in the area in 19 years, with four of the accidents occurring on Sunflower St.

In July 1965, Charlie C. Winston was struck by a car and killed. And in March 1971, Lisa Williams was struck on Smith St., Harris said.

Then began a series of accidents on Sunflower St. In November 1976, Robert Hargett suffered a broken leg when struck by a car. In September 1978, Lawrence Pierce was hit by a car on the corner of Sunflower and Lake Streets. Carlos Hastings was struck in January 1981. And Eddie Jumper Jr. was hit while walking on Sunflower St. in October 1983.

"One of the people who was there was Artisha McDonald. She lives out in the county. But one of the reasons she was there is that she was one of the drivers who hit a person in the Sunflower area,"

Ruby Inman

'I don't think you can teach anyone without loving them.'

By ANGELA SMITH
Staff Reporter

It has been said that Mrs. Ruby Inman has influenced the lives of many people.

As a school teacher and Sunday School teacher she has had the opportunity to make many friends in Prentiss County.

When someone mentions to Mrs. Inman about the lives she has influenced, she quickly says, "Those people all influenced me, too!"

Mrs. Inman, 84, began teaching Sunday School classes when she was a teenager attending Osborn Creek Baptist Church. "And I haven't quit," she smiles, adding that perhaps she was too young when she began teaching.

Those who know Mrs. Inman and her knowledge of the Bible might find it hard to ever believe there was a time when she might have considered herself too young to teach.

Today Mrs. Inman teaches an adult women's Sunday School class at Thrasher Baptist Church. She and her husband, Troy, a deacon at the church, have lived in Thrasher 46 years and attended church there for the same amount of time.

She credits much of her Biblical knowledge to the fact that when she was in the ninth grade she took a Bible class at Union University.

The class was only open to college students and preachers. But Mrs. Inman's pastor, Dr. G.M. Savage, a native of Hinkle Creek, was the president of the University. He knew how badly she wanted to take the class so he talked to the Dean and she was able to take the class.

Drugs

when you get a fix, you're figuring out how you're going to get your next one."

"They'll do anything to stay on it," Horn said. "I could tell you some things you couldn't print... things that, to my knowledge, aren't going on in this county...yet. But they do go on a lot of other places. "Some of the people induce the young ladies to...you know...with pills," he said.

Though none of the officers has any current statistics available, none is optimistic about the percentages.

"We have to work with all the kids," said Chief Lambert. "We have a college here. And anytime you have a college, that's going to make your drug problem a little bigger...At least, that's what I understand from things I've been told and things I've read.

"So, I would guess probably at least 25 to 30 percent of our young people under 25 are using drugs of some kind, or alcohol," Lambert said.

"Now, that's just a guess," he said. "Our very best kids, I don't know their names. But, the kids who are subject to get into stuff like that, just about every one of them that we get over and over is taking drugs or smoking 'grass' or something like that.

"I think we've had them in here as young as 14 on drugs," Lambert said. "And we've had them up to 25. And I understand there are a few around older than that who are on drugs.

"Fourteen is the age when boys and girls want to get out and run around. But, most of the time, Mother keeps the girls a lot closer to her than she does the boys. It's hard to keep a boy rounded up.

"'Grass' is the biggest thing with the younger people. But there are some who are using the hard stuff already," said Chief Lambert. "And I'd say, from 20 to 25, you hardly ever catch them with 'grass' on them. It's either some kind of pills, or tablets."

"From 12 years old, on up, some of them are smoking marijuana. And, from then, on to 30 years old, they're on the hard stuff," said Chief Conlee.

"If you got into law enforcement you'd be surprised at the teenaged girls who are doing this stuff. And it's not only single ones. It's the married ones, too.

"And I know of some who've been caught stealing hub caps, stereos and things like that," Conlee said.

"They get them started off on marijuana. Then, if they ever get to the strong drugs it's hard to get them off it. And they'll do anything in the world to get that money," he said.

"There's no way to come up with an exact figure," said Sheriff Horn. "But it's fairly extensive.

"Right now, dilaudids are the going thing. You've got some that're on 'pot'...you know, mild dope. But there are a lot of them on dilaudid. And I've got no way of giving a figure.

"They get the young people started on a little 'pot'...smoking just a little," Horn said. "Then one or two little lighter pills, then they pop them a little dilaudid. And, if they can get them on that, once they've shot it up, they're gone.

"There's a lot more than we'd like to admit on it. And they're 16...18...on up," he said. "And it's dangerous. It's a synthetic morphine. And it just messes a person up...period. And there's not many that get on it who are lucky enough to get off of it."

"We're catching them pretty regularly," said Chief Lambert. "We're not catching them like we were when we first took office. And I believe...I can't help but believe that the department and I have really cut down on drugs.

"But we had a boy in here six or eight months ago, just after we quit catching so much. I knew he was a thief and I'd heard he was on drugs," Lambert said.

"And I asked him if I'd helped slow down drug traffic since I'd been chief...was there still as much as there was in July of '81?"

"He said, 'It's just as much.' And I said, 'Well, I'm not catching them.' He said, 'They're just hiding it better,'" said Chief Lambert.

"But, all kinds of stealing, when we run it through we find the people are on drugs. We haven't caught anybody who is actually bringing in drugs for the purpose of getting addicts to steal for them. But it's very possible someone might be doing that.

"If anybody will go out and steal, they're subject to anything. And 90 percent of the ones we pick up around here for stealing are on drugs," said Chief Lambert.

BIBLE QUESTION BOX

QUESTION: Mr. Hogland, would you comment some on John 8:31, 32?

ANSWER: The text says, "If ye continue in my word, then are ye my disciples indeed; ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free." About the only comment I can make on this text is that the first part tells us we must CONTINUE in the word and that the Truth will indeed make one free. The preaching of the truth, or word is the means or power by which God has chosen to save the world. In (1 Cor. 1:18) Paul says, "The preaching of the cross is to them that perish foolishness; but unto us which are saved it is the power of God." He also tells us that the gospel is God's power to save (Rom. 1:16). There are at least three reasons why one should study the truth. First, the scriptures reveal the mystery of God. That is the plan which was hidden from man for hundreds of years but was made known by the coming of Christ and the apostles. Second, the scriptures completely furnish us with all things which pertain to life and godliness (1 Pet. 1:18, 19). Third, it will be the word of God which will judge us in the last day. Every creature will stand before God to be condemned according to the life he has lived (Jno. 12:48; 2 Cor. 5:11; Heb. 5:8, 9 and Rom 6:23). The truth will indeed make you free from sin but notice you must also continue in his word.

Sends Childers $32,000 Bill

By ED WOODWARD
Managing Editor

State Auditor Ray Mabus now says Prentiss County Tax Assessor-Collector Danny Childers owes the state over $32,000.

In three letters sent to Childers by Mabus the auditor is demanding that Childers repay $32,083.22 in penalties he says Childers failed to collect on delinquent auto license taxes.

The total amount includes the $6,083.56 Mabus initially demanded. The auditor alleges that Childers did not collect penalties assessed to persons who fail to renew their motor vehicle license tags on time and failed to require them to sign affidavits stating the vehicles had not been on the road.

Though Mabus' office has refused to comment on the content of the new demand letters, the Northeast Mississippi Daily Journal reported Wednesday that Childers had acknowledged receiving them.

Childers was unavailable for comment to The Banner-Independent at press time. But his attorney, Thomas Keenum was quoted in the Daily Journal article.

"We don't know how we are going to address this," Keenum told the Daily Journal Tuesday. "We have not had adequate time to examine the demands and we are trying to determine on what basis the demands were made and how they arrived at the figures."

Mabus is demanding 0.5 percent interest computed monthly in addition to the $32,083.22. He is giving Childers 30 days to respond.

Childers originally agreed to pay the auditor's first demand for $6,000. But he rescinded his agreement after learning that he was to be audited further. The new demands are the result of that further audit.

Keenum told the Daily Journal he does not feel Childers has to repay the money. "Every tax collector in the state has a different method of collecting these types of taxes," he said.

"What it's probably going to boil down to is a matter of interpretation (of state law)," Keenum said.

Qualifications For PCEPA Board Candidacy Explained By Manager

By ED WOODWARD
Managing Editor

Prentiss County Electric Power Association directors whose terms will expire this year are L.C. Wright, Russell B. Hill, Edwin Brown, Brit Barron and James M. Jones.

According to PCEPA Manager Ronny Rowland, all five have indicated they plan to run for reelection, though any PCEPA member who meets the qualifications outlined in the PCEPA's By-Laws and lives within the areas served by the incumbent directors can run against them for the post.

Wright represents Area One-Post One, Hill represents Area Two-Post One, Brown represents Area Five-Post Two, Barron represents the city of Booneville-Post Two and Jones represents the city of Baldwin-Post One.

The areas, which roughly duplicate the boundaries of Prentiss County's five Districts at the time of the signing of the present By-Laws, are shown on the map accompanying this article.

According to Rowland, members who live in adjoining counties in areas served by the PCEPA are also eligible to run for the posts if they live within the area in question.

"And as far as I know, a member who lives in Booneville or Baldwin may run for either the city or the appropriate area post," Rowland said.

To qualify, a member must submit a petition to Rowland by Aug. 6 and meet the qualifications outlined in the By-Laws. The petition must contain a signed request for inclusion on the ballot and an indication of the post the candidate is running for. It must be endorsed by a minimum of 25 members in good standing of the PCEPA.

The candidate must be a PCEPA member residing within the area served by the post he or she wishes to fill. The candidate may not be employed by a competitor of the PCEPA or a company doing business with the Cooperative.

He or she cannot be employed, or in any way hold any financial interest in a business whose primary function is closely related to electric power distribution. Such jobs and businesses would include electrician, electric wiring contractor, electric appliance sales or repair, electric equipment supply sales or repair and similar jobs.

The candidate may not hold a full-time elective public office.

If more than one member of a family holds a joint membership only one can be elected a director.

A quorum of 15 percent (approximately 1560) members must be present at the Aug. 31 members' meeting if any new directors are to be elected. According to the By-Laws, if a quorum is not present, the incumbent directors will automatically be re-elected to full terms.

There is some question as to whether the meeting room at the PCEPA building would hold enough members to constitute a quorum. But Rowland said, if he learns enough people plan to attend the Aug. 31 meeting, a large enough meeting place will be found and its location will be announced in advance.

Weatherization Training Session Given

A Weatherization Training Session was held recently at the Booneville Elderly Day Care Center.

The training was provided by Tennessee Valley Authority representatives Carl Tice and Eddie Gray and The Governor's Office of Energy and Community Services workers Eddie Ramsey, Project Director, and Jay Kimbrough.

The Booneville Elderly Day Care Center was selected as the facility to be weatherized through a survey conducted by TVA and Northeast Mississippi Community Action Agency.

The materials used for weatherizing the county building was purchased by TVA.

The CAA weatherization crews are trained by TVA and the GOECS. The crews are trained by on-site training as they weatherize a facility - this includes no cosmetic improvements, only protection from air infiltration.

representative, Kenneth Huddleston.

The weatherization program for the poor was started by the CAA for Alcorn, Prentiss and Tishomingo Counties in 1979. The program started in Marshall County in 1982.

The weatherization program is funded by the Department of Energy, Health and Human Services through the GOECS. The executive director for the local agency is Barbara Pike. Director of program operations is Kenneth Huddleston.

The administrative office is located in Corinth and has community outreach centers in Prentiss, Alcorn, Tishomingo and Marshall Counties.

The weatherization program is designed to provide long-term energy conservation by weatherizing homes via underpinning, caulking, weatherstripping, insulating and installing storm windows.

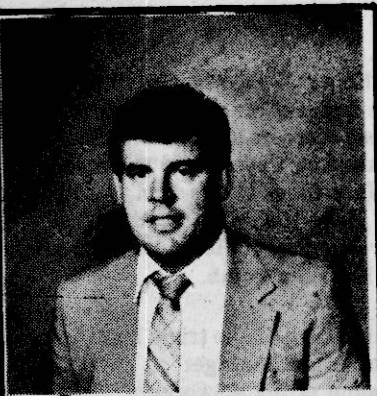

Preference is given to the handicapped and elderly. To be eligible, individuals or families must be at or below 125 percent of the federal poverty level.

The program allows up to $1,000 per home, of which not more than $600 of the total can be used for materials.

"For the elderly and handicapped this is an invaluable program," said Huddleston.

Approximately 70 homes in Prentiss County have been weatherized during the past year by the Northeast Mississippi CAA, a federal agency to aid the poor, elderly and handicapped.

In the four county area covered by the Agency, over 600 homes have been weatherized, said CAA

THE CHURCH IN POLITICS?

When Jesus was at the height of His popularity, the people tried to make Him king (John 6:15) but He said, "My kingdom is not of this world" (John 18:36). He taught His disciples to pay taxes and be good citizens but they were also taught not to become entangled in the affairs of this life (2 Tim. 2:4).

Christ taught that His kingdom was a spiritual kingdom with spiritual aims (John 18:36, 37). He did not seek to control men by military or political compulsion. His was a conquest of the heart. "Seek ye first his kingdom, and his righteousness" (Matt. 6:33) "If ye love me, ye will keep my commandments" (John 14:15).

When a church dabbles in politics, or worse, becomes politically powerful, it is functioning in a way the Master never intended. It is fundamentally contrary to the spirit of true Christianity for the church to function as a political power. The church has a higher and holier mission, that of spreading the gospel (Matt. 28:19-20).

It is common knowledge that at least one very large church is extremely active in the political field. In countries where one church is dominant and politically powerful, other religions have a difficult time. Their efforts are severely restricted. Religious freedom, as we know it, is unknown in such situations.

Our forefathers recognized this fact. After being persecuted by political-religious groups that made life intolerable in the old world, they came to these shores and set up a new nation where church and state were completely separate, each functioning within its own sphere. The church has one function; the state another (Rom. 13:1-7).

If we remain true to the principles of God's word, and remember the aims of our forefathers, we will keep the church out of politics and keep politics out of the church.

Legislation May Have Effect On Farmers

By ED BLAKE
Mississippi Farm Bureau
Federation

Back around the midpoint of the 19th century two pioneer families far out in the West were startled with the arrival of railroad building crews and their goings on. One back-country family in particular failed to comprehend just what a train was, and reports of a long iron monster roaring through the plains near their house nearly scared them out of their wits.

But time moved on, and with little warning one day the skeptical and unwitting settlers heard a loud roar and saw fire belching from the mouth of the first locomotive that cannonballed past their homestead.

The next day the other pioneer family passed by and saw a wagon hitched at the front porch of the skeptics, and it was obvious that the family was moving out. Pioneers always were anxious about their neighbors, so these stopped immediately to find out why their neighbors were leaving.

The abashed skeptical family told about the terrible thing which they had seen with a big eye, a long black tail, belching fire and smoke, and bellowing every foot of the way, that barely missed their house the day before and left the ground shaking under them. They said they were getting out before another one like it came along.

The more knowing family smiling told them not to worry, that it had gone on its way and certainly no harm had been done to them or anybody else, so why get all upset?

"Well, the pioneer woman more accustomed to sidewinders than modern contraptions exclaimed, "that thing came through head first and stayed that way. But if it had decided to come through sideways it would have wiped us off the face of the earth!"

Just an old train joke, mind you, but farmers of late are reminded of it as Congress considers and debates pending legislation far broader and more sweeping than anything yet coming out of Washington threatening to sweep farmers into conformity or out of its path. The bill, quickly approved in late May by two House committees, is aimed at overturning a February Supreme Court decision.

The court rule, in the case of Grove City College vs. Bell, is that Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972, which prohibits sex discrimination in any education program or activity, applied only to specific programs of an institution receiving federal aid, and not the entire institution.

Some angered members of Congress have drafted H.R. 5490 and S. 2568 to overturn the decision. They apparently favor a very sweeping, sideways approach through American public life with the measure which would affect not only the program centers receiving federal aid but the institutions as well.

For farmers this means that they likely would be affected by the measure as recipients of various forms of farm program assistance.

Most farmers participate in various government funded programs as a routine part of their business each year.

In opposing board extension of federal authority through this bill, American Farm Bureau president Bob Delano has written Congress cautioning them of the blanket effect it would have on U.S. farmers.

The farm leader pointed out that broadening of the interpretation of who receives support from government programs could cause farmers to find themselves defendants in thousands of lawsuits arising from employment practices, credit, marketing and other activities.

According to the administration, the bill goes beyond overturning the Grove City decision, and amends other major acts such as the 1964 Act which prohibits discrimination on the basis of race, the 1973 Rehabilitation Act which prohibits discrimination against the handicapped, and the 1975 Age Discrimination Act.

President Reagan has said the legislation is so broad that he may veto it. However, the fact that this is an election year is further cause for concern.

Ponderings

By Angela Smith

Staff Reporter

I'm all shook up. Thanks to my road.
The gravel road I live on, along with others in the first district, has recently been ditched.
Everyone knows the roads have to be ditched or the rains will wash gullies down them.

I'm not complaining about the ditching but I am complaining about the condition the road is in now.

It looks like the job was halfway done. Some of the debris dug from the ditches is in the middle of the road. But most of the debris is on the sides of the road.

If a driver manages to miss running over debris, he can't miss the rough spots in the road that weren't graded out after the road was ditched.

After it rained, which was shortly after the road was ditched, my road became a one-lane road. Now that the road is dry, there are still places where two cars can't pass each other. Or if they try to, one car is going to be traveling on some very rough spots.

If my supervisor travels my road and others in his district like it, I wonder what he thinks as he bounces over them. Does he think this is the shape a road should be in?

The first district covers a lot of territory.

I know money, manpower, equipment and time are limited. So is patience.

I keep hoping my road will get better. I know it will never be a super highway. I wouldn't want it to be. I'd be happy if it was graveled and graded more often. I'd be even happier if it was blacktopped, but my supervisor has already told me that isn't likely to happen. Other roads which have more traffic will be blacktopped first.

There is one good thing. At least this isn't horse and buggy days. If a horse went down my road, he would probably be scared of a tire that's sticking up in a hole in the bridge.

Roads are like a lot of other things in life. If it's good, there usually isn't much of anything said. But if it's in the least little bit bad, there are going to be complaints.

County Lunchroom Centralization Approved

By J.W. GREENE
Prentiss County
Superintendent of Schools

As we have previously reported, the centralization of lunchrooms for the county has been approved by the school board. This action was prescribed by the State

Auditor in agreement with the State Department of Education whose people are assisting us with the centralization process.

It is my hope that our lunchrooms will operate more efficiently and economically and will provide better food service for our children, which is the purpose of lunchrooms in the first place.

At the recommendation of the Food Services Division of the State Department, the Board has employed Mrs. Diane Akers of Hills Chapel to coordinate this program along with the lunchroom managers and the County Superintendent.

It is the intent of the Board that each lunchroom still have an account of the monies they rightfully deserve. This calls for six times more bookkeeping, but the Board and school officials feel that each school should have an account of earned monies.

The County Health Department has reported a shortage of storage space at the lunchrooms at Thrasher and Jumbertown and suggested that these problems be eliminated. Also, according to health department regulations, all garbage containers must be on asphalt or concrete.

Since the Board of Supervisors no longer pays for garbage disposal service, each school is expected to make this improvement and also pay for the emptying of the containers. Refuse Systems, Inc. will be

Dear Editor:

I would like the public to know how they are being treated by their power company.

We at the Prentiss County Rescue Squad received our electric bill and I couldn't understand how they came up with the amount we were charged. So I asked the meter reader how much it is a kilowatt and he told me approximately five cents.

We had only used 80 kilowatts, which should have come to $4 at five cents a kilowatt. But they had charged us $11.61. And I knew that didn't figure out. So, I called Mr. Rowland at the PCEPA and asked him to explain it.

He said there is a surcharge of $7 plus sales tax for a commercial building like ours, and $3 plus tax for a home building. He said that was added to the five cents a kilowatt hour.

I asked him when they started that and he said he thought it had started last July. I asked him if the public had been notified when they started it, and he said he didn't know.

I tried to tell him the rescue squad was not a money making organization. We use all volunteer workers and we have to beg people for donations so we can keep the rescue squad going. And I told him it sounds like the power company is just trying to see what they can get out of everybody.

I am writing because I think the members of the power company would like to know just what their power company is doing. They are adding $7 to the bill on our rescue squad building whether we use any electricity or not. And they're adding $3 on a home the same way. And I feel like all the members should know that since it isn't explained on their bill. Sincerely,

Owen Hare
Secretary, Prentiss County Rescue Squad

That Yankee From Yonder

By Ed Woodward

I am an old movie buff (In this case, "old" is an adjective modifying movie). There are obviously a lot of us because the movie with the all-time largest TV audience is not Gone With The Wind or Star Wars, but Casablanca, which has the largest audience because it has been shown on TV more times than any other movie.

I'm not sure what the second most shown film is. But I suspect it is The Batling Bellhop, a real classic that stars Edward G. Robinson, Humphrey Bogart, Bette Davis (In a singing role), Mona Freeman and Wayne Morse.

You've seen it if you watch any late-night TV at all. It's the original version of Kid Galahad.

Another reason I'm positive there are so many old movie buffs around is the way old flicks are used in movies like Gremlins or copied in films like the Indiana Jones series.

Gremlins, for instance, uses a set that is almost an exact copy of the set from Frank Capra's It's A Wonderful Life (This is not a first. The laboratory set in Young Frankenstein was the actual original set where Colin Clive first constructed the Creature in the original Frankenstein).

The resemblance is not accidental because both Joe Dante, the director of Gremlins, and Steven Spielberg, the producer, are old movie buffs. Dante, especially, likes to use old films for plot reference. In Gremlins, he also uses Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs and the original Invasion of the Body Snatchers, as well as an old Clark Gable auto racing film I couldn't identify.

In another Dante film, The Howling, which was a werewolf movie, he had his characters watching the original The Wolf Man on TV. And, in another scene, the Who's Afraid of the Big Bad Wolf cartoon was on the tube.

Some people think I am a fanatic when it comes to old movies. There are some I have seen dozens of times and will watch again when they are shown.

Within the last month I have watched classics like The Hustler and Three Faces of Eve. And last Friday I watched one of my all-time favorites for probably the 30th time - The Day the Earth Stood Still - which, by the way, featured Father Knows Best's Billy Gray as Patricia Neal's son and Frances Bavier, Aunt Bea on The Andy Griffith Show, as a boarder.

It was directed by Robert Wise, who also directed West Side Story, The Sound of Music and Star Trek I, and featured a music score by Bernard Herrman, who also wrote the music for Psycho and The Birds. I have lost track of the times I have seen The Big Sleep, To Have and Have Not, Shane and my all-time favorite Dr. Strangelove, or How I Learned to Stop Worrying and Love the Bomb.

As you can tell, I am also a movie trivia buff. And I'm afraid this does sometimes get on people's nerves, especially some of my co-workers.

It is not uncommon to hear the following conversation around the office:

Angela: Ask us a trivia question, Ed.

Ed: Okay. Who played Boo Radley in To Kill a Mockingbird?

Angela: Roddy McDowell?

Ed: No. Robert Duvall. Can you name three classic movies directed by Don Siegel, Ken?

Ken: No.

Ed: They were Invasion of the Body Snatchers, Flaming Star and Dirty Ha...

Norma: Aaaaaauuuuuuggggghhhhh!...Stop it! You're driving me crazy!"

handling this service for all our schools.

Two new principals are joining the Prentiss County School District staff this term. Dr. Jimmy McCalla has moved into the Thrasher community to serve as principal of Thrasher School. Dr. McCalla attended Northeast Jr. College and Mississippi State University where he received his doctorate in School Administration. Before coming to Prentiss County Dr. McCalla was principal at McLain Attendance Center and Superintendent of Education for the Richton Separate School District for five years.

He also coached and taught in Alcorn County for a number of years.

He is married to the former Barbara Richardson of the Jacinto Community, and they have two children.

Mr. Kenneth Chism will be the new principal for Wheeler School. Mr. Chism is originally from Baldwin. He attended Itawamba Junior College and Delta State University. He received his Masters Degree from the University of Tennessee at Martin and has done further graduate work at Arkansas State University.

He was principal at Pearl High School in Pearl, Arkansas, before coming to Wheeler.

His experience also includes five years at Tyronza, Arkansas as principal and three years as coach in Lake County, Tennessee.

Mr. Chism is married to the former Carol Pitts and they have three sons.

I want to welcome these two men to our school district and I look forward to working with them this year.

Our featured board member this week is Larry Cosby of District 1. Cosby graduated from Thrasher School in 1963 and attended Northeast Junior College. He is owner and operator of Booneville Trucking Repair Service.

He is also a 32nd degree Mason and Shriner and past Master of the Booneville Lodge. He serves as President of the Prentiss County Scottish Rite Association and is also a member of the Board of Directors for the Prentiss County Vocational-Technical School.

Mr. Cosby is married to the former Patsy Crow and they have three children: Suzette, 19, is a student at Northeast; Mitzi, 14, and Jennifer, 8, are students at Thrasher School. They attend the First Freewill Baptist Church where Cosby serves as a deacon.

Charles Garrett, who operates Garrett's Garage and Wrecker Service, used two of his tow trucks to pull the cars from the water last Thursday.

At first, two of Garrett's employees, his son, Steve, and J.E. McClellan, were in a boat and used a three-pronged hook to try to snag the cars underwater. They were successful in snagging one car. Authorities then decided the operation might be done quicker if a diver was used.

In the afternoon a diver, James Horn, who is also Prentiss County Coroner, attempted to attach the hook to an auto but was unsuccessful. Because of the gas and oil fumes in the water he was only able to dive a short time.

The men in the boat then used the three-pronged hook again and were able to snag the second car. A summer rain shower halted further attempts at finding more autos.

Because of the rain, the wrecker became stuck in a field and a four-wheel drive pickup had to be used to pull the wrecker out.

Law authorities planned to search the creek again Wednesday afternoon in hopes of finding more stolen cars.

Sunflower

Harris said.

"Of course, all the time, when you drive in Sunflower, you see people walking on the edge of the streets. And, if two cars pass and people are walking, they have to get over in the ditch or get hit."

Harris said he is aware sidewalks for Sunflower have been sought unsuccessfully in the past. "But, it looks like what happened in the past is that nobody from the community was available to stay on it because, from what I recall, before we had a lot of people who had jobs that required them to be there from eight to five and they weren't able to participate in the meetings.

"This time, we feel we have a group of people on the committee who will really stay with it. And I think the city recognizes that they need to do something in Sunflower and they will do something this time," he said.

Harris admitted that not everyone in the community shares his optimism. "I think there would have been more than nine of us at the meeting. But the general feeling of the people in Sunflower is that they (the mayor and board) are lying.

"Most of them have been through this before. And they just figure, 'What's the use?'" Harris said.

Community Action Agency To Raise Funds With 'Jail Bail'

The Community Action Agency is planning a fund raising day as a means of raising funds to purchase a mini-bus for transportation for the elderly and handicapped in Prentiss County, according to Barbara Pike, executive director of the Community Action Agency.

The mini-bus would be used to bring the elderly and handicapped who live in rural areas in the county to Booneville, Mrs. Pike said.

The mini-bus will cost approximately $19,000.

The agency has received a $10,000 Community Service Block Grant. But it is required that the agency raise the other funding in order to purchase the bus since this grant must be matched by local funds, Mrs. Pike said.

Currently there is a van that transports the elderly to feeding sites in the county.

Once the new mini-bus is purchased, it will operate from district to district to bring the elderly and handicapped who live in rural parts of the county into Booneville. Once the program gets underway, the mini-bus may be taken to Tupelo once a month if the elderly and handicapped have business there.

A schedule has not been worked out thus far. However, the mini-bus will run five days weekly, from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m.

Those riding the bus will be asked to pay 60 cents to come to town and 60 cents to return home. But they are not required to pay this fee, Mrs. Pike said.

The Community Action Agency hopes to have the mini-bus in operation Oct. 1.

IN ORDER to raise funds for the purchase of the mini-bus, the Community Action Agency is planning a "jail bail" for Friday, Sept. 7, beginning at 10 a.m. on courtsquare.

For a minimum of $25, a person can have someone "arrested," and put in jail on courtsquare.

The person who is arrested must also pay $25 and match the amount of money someone pays to have him arrested (up to $100). Those arrested will only pay a fine one time.

Any money donated to the agency is tax deductible.

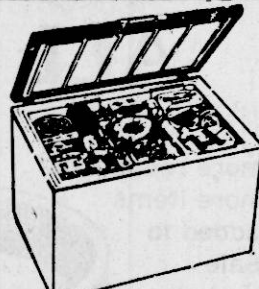

A telephone will be provided in the courtsquare jail in order for those "arrested" to seek funds.

In case someone attempts a "jail break" Prentiss County Sheriff W.V. Horn and Booneville Police Chief Bobby Lambert will be on hand to capture "escapees."

In addition to the "jail bail," a country music band will provide entertainment. There will also be a flea market and refreshments.

"We encourage people to participate in this fund raising day for the mini-bus," Mrs. Pike said. "This is a needed service here but an expensive one."

Mr. & Mrs. Anthony Paul Arnold

Miss Young Becomes Mrs. Arnold By Candlelight

The marriage of Miss Betty Jane Young and Anthony Paul (Tony) Arnold was solemnized in a candlelight ceremony on March 17, at 7 p.m. at the Carolina United Methodist Church.

The Rev. Robert McCoy officiated at the double ring ceremony. The wedding was directed by Mrs. Mae Dean Lambert.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Buster Young and Mr. and Mrs. Edd Arnold, all of Booneville.

Wedding music was presented by Bud Davis, pianist, and Mrs. Sis Koon and Miss Renae Bostick, vocalists.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white English net and chantilly lace. The bodice was fitted with a scalloped neckline and accented with sea pearls and sequins. The long sleeves had a fitted cuff with a bridal point. The skirt had tiers of lace which flowed into a chapel-length train.

She wore a veil fingertip length of imported English net and a crown of sea pearls. She carried a bouquet of white and blue silk roses.

Booneville Residents Enjoy Week-Long Tour Of Switzerland And Swiss Alps

Luther and Louise Moore and Mrs. Kermit (Helen) Jones of Booneville left New York on Saturday, June 2, for a one week vacation in Zurich, Switzerland.

On Monday they started their Swiss tours by escorted motor-coach, visiting towns of Lucerne, Weggis, Vitznau, Rigi, Bern, Interlaken, Spiez, Brienz, Thun, Lauterbrunnen, and Grindelwald.

They rode the cable-car up Mt. Rigi, rode a cog train down the mountain, and took a cruise on Lake Lucerne. Traveling to the capital city of Bern, they spent the night in the Bellevue Pallace Hotel.

"Traveling through the delightful Berese Oberland, the mountains were spectacular," Mrs. Moore said. "An exciting visit was the world-famous wood carving center at Brienz, where we watched the skilled artisans at work hand-carving their items of Linden wood, walnut and maple."

"The waterfalls from the high alps at Lauterbrunnen were incredible," Mrs. Jones said. Going by walkways and elevator up a mountain, they viewed Trumelbach Falls.

Snowflakes were falling when they went up ice and snowclad Jungfrau Mountain, Mrs. Jones said.

"Switzerland has numerous types of flowers blooming everywhere," Mrs. Moore said. "The charming shuttered houses with balconies and window boxes overflowed on each floor level with predominately red geraniums."

The Booneville natives noted that Switzerland is very clean -- no litter anywhere. "There were no billboards, advertising or neon-signs to mar the beauty of the countryside or cities," Mrs. Jones said.

"Many homes were 300 years old but appeared to be in excellent condition. We saw no run-down buildings," Moore said. "The farmhouses were three to five stories high and were large, often housing the barn also, under one roof."

Their guide told them that two or three families lived in each house. There were no window screens anywhere due to the high altitude. They saw numerous castles throughout Switzerland.

"Halfway up the mountain from Main Street, the castle of the Prince and Princess of Liechtenstein was visible," Mrs. Moore said. "Our guide informed us the Prince was in that day because the flag was out."

Returning from Liechtenstein, they traveled through Heidi-Land, home of Heidi in the novel, and viewed the monument to her.

"The majestic mountains, blue lakes and charming villages made this an unforgettable experience," Mrs. Moore said.

While on the trip, Mrs. Jones, a local artist, sold some of her watercolor paintings in Zurich, Switzerland, as well as to tourists from Rome, Italy, Saudi Arabia, Castro Valley, California, and New York.

ANOTHER GUIDED tour took them through Schaffhausen across the Rhine River into Germany, where they toured the Black Forest. They spent time sightseeing at the Rhinefalls, the largest waterfalls in Europe, where a castle overlooked the falls from the mountain top.

On another guided tour, they traveled from Zurich and Regensdorf toward Liechtenstein, visiting many villages including Frauenfeld, Herisan, Stein, St. Gallen and Appenzell. There were handpainted designs on the buildings.

Arriving in the principality of Liechtenstein, they visited the mountainous capital city of Vaduz, renowned for its art galleries and

Food Stamp Eligible Rates Raised

On July 1, the eligibility limits for people on food stamps increased by about 3 percent, reflecting changes in the cost of living since last year, according to John W. Bode, deputy assistant secretary of agriculture for food and consumer services.

Under new guidelines, the gross monthly income limit for a family of four will increase from $1,073 to $1,105. The net monthly income limit for a family of four will increase from $825 to $850.

To be eligible for food stamps, a non-elderly or disabled household's gross income must be no more than 130 percent of the poverty line. The household's net income (income after allowable deductions) cannot exceed 100 percent of the poverty line.

Congress requires USDA to update these guidelines annually to adjust for changes in the Consumer Price Index, Bode said.

Following are the gross and net income limits effective July 1 for households of various sizes.

Gross Monthly Income Eligibility Standards Household Size

DREAM To Offer Drug Abuse Seminar For Employers

Mississippi's businessmen, professionals, industries and government agencies are losing money. Many are not aware that a piece of their profits is missing. Others don't understand why.

Nationally, productivity losses total nearly 60 billion dollars per year due to this "hidden cost" - drug and alcohol abuse.

On July 17, Drug Research and Education Association in Mississippi is offering a four-hour seminar at the Holiday Inn Downtown Jackson, 9:00 a.m.-1:00 p.m., designed to help Mississippi businesses and industries regain their lost profits.

The seminar will be conducted by Charles Pendleton, nationally renown consultant to business and industry on the problem of drugs and alcohol in the workplace.

DREAM's Director June Milam said "You don't have to be a major employer to benefit from the seminar. Small businesses that have key employees with drug and alcohol problems are often affected the hardest."

She said government agencies should not consider themselves immune. "This seminar is for anyone who is operating on a budget and is concerned with their profit and loss margin."

For more information on the seminar contact DREAM, 1991 Lakeland Drive, Suite B, Jackson, Miss. 39216 or phone 362-9329.

County Agent's Notes

By CLIFFORD J. HAMPTON
County Agent

July and August can be the hardest months on the vegetable gardener and his garden; temperatures are high, rains are infrequent, and diseases, insects and weeds are relentless in their efforts to take over. However, these months can yield the greatest harvest for canning and freezing. With the wet spring and resulting late planting, many gardeners are harvesting their first corn and tomatoes. Lima beans and peas are also harvested at this time. You should harvest vegetables when they are at their peak of quality. Corn will be ready 17 to 21 days after silking. Harvest tomatoes before they are fully ripe and certainly before watering or a shower. Don't lose tomatoes to birds and bursting. Cultivate and hoe early in the day to insure death of weeds and to reduce water loss from the soil. A layer of cultivated soil will help reduce evaporation of soil moisture. Mulch with pine needles or sawdust to reduce loss of soil moisture and to keep soil temperatures down. Do not harvest when vegetable plant leaves are wet with dew or from watering. Allowing time for foliage to dry will help reduce foliage disease problems. Harvest muskmelons as the vines begin to separate from the melons. Waiting until full separation may lead to melon loss from cracking and souring. Clean up garden rows as soon as vegetables are harvested and replant with summer and fall vegetables. Set out plants of tomato, pepper and eggplant in July for fall harvests. Start seeding broccoli, cauliflower, cabbage, Brussels sprouts and rutabaga in late July in north Mississippi and on into August for other areas of the state. Continue to plant bush lima beans and Southern peas through July and begin to plant bush snap beans, cucumbers, and squash in August. Water must be available for planting seeds in mid-summer. Irrigate often enough to keep the soil moist and free from crusting during germination and then water as needed to keep vegetable plants growing. Although soil moisture is adequate, some wilting and dying of vegetable plants in hot weather may occur. This may signal the presence of Southern stem blight. This disease and others that may be attacking your vegetables are described along with controls in the Garden Tabloid. Watch for stink bugs, blister beetles and other vegetable damaging insects. Controls are listed in the Garden Tabloid. Pumpkins and winter squash planted around early July need watching for squash bugs, stem borers and downy mildew. Pumpkins for Halloween must be planted by early July.

For more information concerning gardens, come by the County Extension Office at 404 East Church St. or call 728-5631.

ASCS News

By C.E. CALVERT
County Executive Director

Program participants are required to report crops and acreage planted on a field by field basis and the uses to be made of these crops and cropland acres to be devoted to conservation uses.

Failure to report by July 16 deadline will result in loss of program benefits. Farmers planting program crops who are non-participants need to certify their crops for future programs.

Farms with a base and none of the crops planted should report by July 16, 1984, to protect the base for future years. In addition to history purposes the acreage reports are necessary for proven yields.

ASCS will randomly check farms to verify that acreage reports are accurate. To be sure of planted acres farmers can request measurement service. Measurement service can be provided at a very reasonable cost and will assure compliance with planting requirements and or conservation use acres.

This is a valuable service not only to producers participating in the acreage reduction and payment-kind programs, but to any farmer who desires an accurate acreage measurement for any reason.

Acreage reports of all spring seeded crops including soybeans and commercial vegetable crops should be filed as soon as possible. Failure to report will cause a loss of all ASCS benefits to 1984 participating farms and could cause the farmer to be ineligible for FCIC IYC insurance on the crops in future years.

Solutions, Not Problems, Are Real Key To Future Of Farming

Getting deeper in debt is not the answer for farmers according to Warner L. Bruner, Jr., President of the Federal Land Bank of New Orleans. "American farmers must move back to profitability and liquidity management," he said. "Production control is one solution," said Jack D. Condra, President of the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank of New Orleans. "We can look at price control on allocated acres or pounds. We can look at government control of supplies. Regardless of the various means of solving the problems, the only real solution is a return of profitability for American farmers," Condra said.

The Federal Land Bank and Federal Intermediate Credit Bank are two of the major agricultural financial institutions providing credit for farmers. These two banks, along with the Bank for Cooperatives, comprise the privately owned Farm Credit System.

Crop Corn Loan & Purchase Rates Issued

The U.S. Department of Agriculture has issued county loan and purchase rates for 1984-crop corn grading No. 2 or better.

The rates are based on the national average rate of $2.55 per bushel announced Sept. 29, 1983.

C. Hoke Leggett, associate administrator of USDA's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, said USDA made some adjustments of county and state Louisiana, Farm Credit loans to farmers and cooperatives totaled nearly 5 billion dollars in 1983.

"Increased commodity prices are necessary if the farmer is going to realize a profit," stated Bruner. "An end to the economic distress of farmers can occur only with higher commodity prices on some sustained basis."

The Federal Land Bank, through its local Federal Land Bank Associations, makes long term, first mortgage loans to farmers. "In the late 70's and early 80's credit was easy to come by," said Harry Dendy, President of the FBLA of Jackson. "Land values were escalating out of sight and we saw farmers substituting inflation for profit. We have found out over the past couple of years that you can't put inflation in the bank."

Dendy said one solution to the farm problem is for farmers to continue to become better businessmen. "More and more we are dealing with farmers that know as much about P and L statements and cash flow as do their peers in the business community," he said.

Dendy also views the continuing education of lenders as a possible solution. "There is no doubt that many ag-lenders became lazy in the good times of the 70's. We can't expect the farmer to be more businesslike than his banker. After we pull out of this, I can promise you that Farm Credit System lenders will be the best lenders in the world."

"The PIK Program helped last year," said Steve Rochelle, President of the Jackson Production Credit Association. "But we don't have that program this year." The Production Credit Associations discount loans with the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank and make short and intermediate term loans to farmers.

Rochelle sees two possible solutions to the financial problems of farmers. "First, farmers have to keep adequate records. Farmers must know their costs to have any reasonable chance to make a profit."

"Secondly, farmers must begin placing more emphasis on marketing," Rochelle said. "All good farmers understand production. We, as lenders, have to help farmers learn to market those crops."

High interest rates, low prices, and droughts have also taken their toll on those businesses that serve farmers; especially farmers' cooperatives.

"The co-ops tend to mirror the problems of farmers," said Jim Toft, President of the New Orleans Bank for Cooperatives, a lending lender to farmers' co-ops.

"Many of our borrowers have begun changing operations," Toft said. The co-ops are retrenching to a certain extent. They are reevaluating their member needs and adopting better business practices."

Toft believes that cooperatives are passing through their toughest period in 50 years. "The co-ops that have made it through this without acquiring heavy debt loads will come out with better management and will enjoy more prosperity."

Toft sees a major role for the Bank for Cooperatives to play in helping solve the problems of co-ops. "We have moved away from being only a lender. We must act more in an advisory capacity to co-op managers and their directors. Our Bank must take the lead in helping the cooperatives develop human resource programs and financial management programs for the future."

Farm programs, higher commodity prices, better farm management, better marketing; all are pieces of the puzzle to help solve the problems of farmers.

"Everyone in farming understands the problem," said Condra. "We in Farm Credit want to get out of the problem business and into the problem-solving business."

SHOULDER & ARM PAIN

CHIROPRACTIC CAN HELP NATURE RELIEVE AND HEAL SHOULDER AND ARM PAIN

It should thus be quite apparent that shoulder and arm pain may indicate a more serious condition. But whether the problem is related to other parts of the body or not, the pain can become very debilitating, as those who suffer from such problems well know.

Your Doctor of Chiropractic readily understands the problems involved in a painful shoulder or arm condition. He or she is eminently better qualified to correct these types of conditions than any other kind of doctor. If nerve interference is the basic or contributing cause of your problem, your chiropractor will institute necessary measures to help nature correct and heal the condition.

The chiropractor's minimum of six years of college education plus practical experience have been especially directed to just such problems—problems which involve the spine, nerves, muscles, and joints of the body.

Today's Doctor of Chiropractic first seeks to give you immediate relief from pain, but education and experience always cause him or her to search out the underlying source of your problem and then correct it. This prevents the need for you to take pain pills for relief month in and month out.

Home Economist's Notes

By PATTY K. ROBINSON
Extension Home Economist

You will get satisfactory pickle products only when you use good-quality ingredients and follow proper procedures. Correct proportions of fruit or vegetable, sugar, salt, vinegar and spices are essential. Alum and lime are not needed to make pickles crisp and firm if you use good-quality ingredients and up-to-date procedures.

Use tested recipes. Read the complete recipe before starting preparation. Make sure you have the necessary ingredients. Measure or weigh all ingredients carefully.

Fruits and vegetables should be selected carefully. Select tender vegetables and firm fruit. Pears and peaches may be slightly underripe for pickling. Use unwaxed cucumbers for pickling whole. The brine cannot penetrate waxed cucumbers. Sort for uniform size and select the size best suited for the recipe you are using.

Use fruits and vegetables as soon as possible after gathering from the orchard or garden, or after purchasing from the market. If the fruits and vegetables cannot be used immediately, refrigerate them, or spread them where they will be well ventilated and cool. This is particularly important for cucumbers because they deteriorate rapidly, especially at room temperatures.

Do not use fruits or vegetables that show even slight evidence of mold. Proper processing kills potential spoilage organisms but does not destroy the off-flavor that may be produced by mold growth in the tissue.

Wash fruits and vegetables thoroughly in cold water, whether they are to be pared or left unpared. Use a brush and wash only a few at a time. Wash under running water or through several changes of water. Clinging soil may contain bacteria that are hard to destroy. Lift the fruits or vegetables out of the water each time so soil that has been washed off will not be drained back over them. Rinse pan thoroughly between washings. Handle gently to avoid bruising.

Be sure to remove all blossoms from cucumbers. They may be a source of the enzymes responsible for softening of the cucumbers during fermentation.

Salt is an important ingredient in making pickles. Use pure granulated salt if available. Uniodized table salt can be used, but the materials added to the salt to prevent caking may make the brine cloudy. Do not use iodized table salt; it may darken pickles.

Vinegar should be a high-grade cider or white distilled type of 4- to 6-percent acidity (40 to 60 grain). Do not use vinegars of unknown acidity. Cider vinegar, with its mellow acid taste, gives a nice blending of flavors but may darken white or light-colored fruits and vegetables. White distilled vinegar has a sharp, pungent, acetic acid taste and is desirable when light color is important, as with pickled pears, onions, and cauliflower.

Do not dilute the vinegar unless the recipe so specifies. To get a less sour produce, add sugar rather than decrease vinegar.

Fresh spices are essential for best flavor in pickles. Spices deteriorate and quickly lose their pungency in heat and humidity. If you cannot use them immediately, store them in an airtight container in a cool place.

Sugar may be either white granulated or brown sugar. White sugar gives a produce with a lighter color, but you may prefer brown sugar for color.

Pickles should be processed in a boiling water bath for at least 10 minutes unless a longer length of processing time is specified in the recipe. Begin timing when the water boils.

Q: What causes soft or slippery pickles?

A: These generally result from microbial action, which causes spoilage. Once a pickle becomes soft it cannot be made firm. Microbial activity may be caused by too little salt or acid, cucumbers not covered with brine during fermentation and scum scattered throughout the brine during fermentation. Other causes are insufficient heat treatment, a seal that is not airtight and moldy garlic or spices. Blossoms, if not entirely removed from the cucumbers before fermentation, may contain fungi or yeasts responsible for enzymatic softening of pickles.

Q: Why do some pickles turn dark?

A: Use of ground spices, too much spice, iodized salt, overcooking, use of iron utensils and minerals in water, especially iron, may cause darkness in pickles.

Q: What causes shriveled pickles?

A: Shriveling may result from using too strong a vinegar, sugar or salt solution at the start of the pickling process. In making very sweet or very sour pickles, it is best to start with a dilute solution and increase it gradually to the desired strength. Overcooking or over-processing also causes shriveling.

Bread and Butter Pickle Squash

1 gallon (4 1/4 lbs.) sliced squash
2 green bell peppers, diced
5 medium onions, diced
1/2 cup salt
5 cups vinegar
4 1/2 cups sugar
1 teaspoon ground mustard
1 1/2 teaspoons turmeric
1 teaspoon celery seed
20 whole cloves (in spice bag)
Select small to medium sized yellow summer squash, about 1 to 1 1/2 inches in diameter. Cut squash into 1/4-inch slices and combine with peppers and onions. Stir in 1/2 cup salt; let stand 3 hours. Drain. Mix vinegar with sugar and spices; heat mixture to boiling. Remove spice bag. Pack squash, peppers, and onions into pint jars. Cover with boiling vinegar solution. Adjust lids; process in boiling waterbath canner 10 minutes. Begin counting time as soon as all jars are in boiling waterbath. Yield: about 7 pints.

A recent study by the United States Department of Agriculture has shed some interesting new light on the old problem of soil erosion.

According to the study, as much as 17 million acres of farm land in the Southeastern United States would produce more money for the landowners if it were converted from crop or pasture land to pine plantations.

Erosion on certain classes of soils that are now being farmed averages almost 18 tons per acre per year! If this continues, almost all of the productivity of the soil will be lost.

Tree planting can halt that erosion.

The hill areas of Mississippi contain 5.3 million acres of farm land. 2.2 million acres of this will make more money if converted to pine plantations.

Several thousand acres of Prentiss County land is in this category.

See the Soil Conservation Service or yours truly, with the Mississippi Forestry Commission for advice and assistance in converting this submarginal crop land to pine tree production.

4-H News

By WAYNE LAND
Extension 4-H Youth Agent

4-H'ers don't stop learning when school gets out. They're educated all year 'round by their 4-H leaders.

Leaders hesitate to think of themselves as teachers. They may feel that because they're not being paid, their work isn't educational.

Leaders may also believe that although 4-H'ers are engaged in serious work in a friendly atmosphere, they aren't learning anything because they're outside a classroom.

Buy youth are learning things like values. Although values are probably most effectively conveyed in the ideal family, too many families do not have the capacity to teach them alone and need help from various community sources.

4-H is one of these sources, and 4-H leaders are teachers. Successful leaders establish close personal relationships with the youth they lead.

Good 4-H leaders don't just happen. Leadership is a learned skill, the result of attitudes and understanding, practice and time. A leader has to work hard employing patience, persistence and determination.

4-H leaders develop into teachers when they're able to differentiate between completing the project successfully and helping youth develop. A leader is a teacher when he sees the shadows as well as the highlights and the progress as well as the achievements. A good leader helps 4-H'ers to understand that personal development is one of life's greatest objectives.

But the one who gains the most in the end may really be the leader himself. His selfless efforts helping others improve, understand and develop skills can bring this "master teacher" great satisfaction.

Fishing Roundup

Enid Lake Hot This Week

By SCOTT MCKINNEY
Sports Writer

Enid Lake, west of Water Valley, has been the "hot spot" for bass fishermen this past week.

The bass are biting well on three inch balsa bees and eight inch worms according to Baldwin semi-professional angler Danny Comer.

"The bass at Enid are in schools and the fishermen are catching 25 to 30 without even moving from one spot," Comer said.

Also, the bream are biting well at Enid. Crickets and red worms are still the best baits to use for bream.

For you fishermen who, like me, don't want to travel three hours before you can fish, Bay Springs is still producing some nice fishing.

The bream at Bay Springs are good-sized fish that are schooling and not bedding. Crickets continue to be the best bait to use there.

Bass are also biting well at the lake. Buzz baits and balsa bees have produced the best results for area anglers. Some of the better areas at the lake have been up in the lock and around Jackson's Camp and Wilson Point.

Although the fishing is very good, area anglers are advised to be on the lookout for the numerous snakes being spotted in this lake.

However, most snakes are like humans - they want to get involved with you about as much as you want to get involved with them. And a few snakes probably won't hurt the fishing or other functions available at this fine recreational facility.

Sardis Lake has also been one of the better spots for fishing over the past two months. The bass are staying in deep water at Sardis, with, naturally, deep water baits producing the best results.

Also, Pickwick has started to become a good fishing area. However, most of the fish being caught at Pickwick are being caught on set lines.

FISHING TALES - I can't believe that it has happened to me again.

Last week, on the 4th of July, I decided to try my luck again at the Jackson Camp area. This time, however, I took my brother and a couple of friends instead of my pesky editor. Boy, was that ever a big mistake.

Not only did I not catch any fish, my brother and Mitch Moore caught nearly 15 of the nicest bream I have ever seen.

The other angler on our expedition that day, Steve Gaines, and myself caught a grand total of "0" fish on the day and we missed our 4th of July picnic.

So, this week's fishing tip is don't go fishing with someone who writes about fishing. Actually, I am free if anyone would like to go fishing in their beautiful boat. I might even mention their name in this column.

Semi-pro Comer offered another fishing tip that would probably be more useful to area anglers. The bass are biting a certain color worm during different times of the day according to Comer.

Fishermen should use a darker colored worm in the early morning hours, then switch to lighter colored worms as the day progresses.

The best color during the past few weeks has been the motor oil colored worm.

WEATHER REPORT - The weather has been co-operating with area anglers over the past few weeks. However, reports of the temperature pushing over the 100 degree mark will probably cause fish to move to much deeper water over the next few weeks.

Anglers should fish a little deeper than usual until the temperatures break.

TOURNAMENT NEWS - The Red Man tournament scheduled at Ferguson Lake in Greenville was won by Danny Moore of Corinth. Moore had a total of 22 lbs. to take first place in the event.

The Tupelo Bass club will hold a tournament at Enid Lake this Saturday. Anyone seeking more information should contact Comer at 365-5811.

Remember, if you have a question, tip or comment, feel free to send us your mail. Address your letters to Fishing Roundup, The Banner-Independent, P.O. Box 269, Booneville, Miss. 38829.

Until next week, good fishing!

Hill's Bypass Wins Dizzy Dean Tourney

By GREG SHOOK
Sports Writer

The Hill's Bypass 13-14 year-old baseball team won the North-Half Dizzy Dean Baseball Tournament last week by beating Mantachie in the finals.

Hill's Bypass currently holds a 20-6 record. The team is sponsored by Jordan Industries.

"We have a really good ballclub with a great bunch of kids," said Coach Wayne Hunkapiller. "They all hit the field with a winning attitude.

"I'm very pleased with the way they hustle on the field and show me the desire they have to play," he said.

Hunkapiller praised his pitching staff, which includes David Elliot and Lamont Harvey. Harvey was named the league MVP, he said.

"Our hitters are also outstanding," the coach said, citing top hitter Anthony Hunkapiller.

"We also have good speed with Jay McKinney, who leads the team in stolen bases, and third baseman Tyrone Chandler," he said.

"I really think what makes our team so good is the all around play," Hunkapiller said.

Coach Charlie Kennedy agreed.

"We are a good ballclub right now. And we are hoping to go to the state tournament at the end of the season. And, with a great bunch of kids like this, we believe we will go.

"Our boys are just playing great ball," Kennedy said.

Hill's Bypass is currently playing in the District Playoffs at the Eastside City Park.

NEW BALDWIN PUMPING STATION -- The new pumping station and storage tank for Baldwyn's Charles M. Gordon Industrial Park has been completed and is now in operation, according to Mayor Merle Rowan. Rowan said the pumping station, which was a joint city-county project, boasts both an electric pump and a diesel backup pump for use during power outages. He said the storage tank is 28 feet high and 28 feet in diameter. It has a 300,000 gallon storage capacity. (Photo by Ed Woodward)

Attorney General Warns

Private Pools, Spas Dangerous

The Attorney General's Office Consumer Protection Division has issued an alert to warn owners of residential swimming pools and spas (including hot tubs) of the large number of drownings of young children each year.

An estimated 290 children under five years of age drowned in residential swimming pools and an estimated 24 children under age five drowned in residential spas in 1981. Two out of every three victims were under three years of age.

Significantly, residential pool and spa drownings ranked as the fourth leading cause of accidental deaths among children under five years of age in 1981. Only motor vehicle fatalities, deaths involving home fires and deaths associated with ingestions of food and objects were more frequent causes of death.

Near misses are also a safety problem. The Attorney General's Office estimates that in 1983, approximately 1,950 children under age five were treated in hospital emergency rooms as a result of "near drowning" accidents.

About 75 percent of these cases were serious enough to require hospitalization and some "near drownings" resulted in severe brain damage.

The Attorney General's Office stresses the need for constant and close supervision of children around swimming pools and spas. Continual supervision is critical. Available data suggests that the vast majority of children who drown in pools do so in the backyards of their own homes.

In a study (of childhood drownings involving children 12 years of age and under) conducted a few years ago in Dade County, Florida, 97 percent of the pools involved in drowning incidents were either fenced or screened in, with the house itself often forming part of the barrier.

Only 14 percent of these pools were themselves totally enclosed by a protective fence. Sadly, 64 percent of the victims drowned in their own pools while 36 percent died in neighbors or relatives' pools.

Where there were locks on pool fences or screen, 70 percent were either unlocked or malfunctioning. In 23 percent of the cases studied the children penetrated the fence.

The peak times for drownings was between the afternoon hours of 4:00 p.m., and 5:00 p.m.; the peak day was on the weekend.

Attorney General Pittman urges parents to keep toys and other objects that might attract children out of the pool and surrounding areas when the pool is not being used. In case of an emergency, Pittman encourages parents to learn how to perform artificial respiration and cardio-pulmonary resuscitation, keep safety equipment readily available, and post emergency telephone numbers at the nearest telephone. Remember -- the life you save may be your own child's!

Consumers are invited to report incidents of drownings or "near drownings" by calling U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission toll-free at 1-800-638-CPSC. A teletypewriter number for the hearing impaired is 800-638-8270.

For additional information call the Attorney General's Office, Consumer Protection Division at 359-3095.

CHICKEN HUT -- Before becoming a restaurant, the Chicken Hut, located on Highway 45 across the street from Baptist Memorial Hospital, was known as the City Service Station. The service station was converted into a restaurant in 1971. On September 24, 1973, present owner Bobby Windham purchased it. At that time, there were only four employees. In 1977, Bobby expanded the restaurant and added two more employees to his staff to better serve the restaurant's customers.

Mrs. Inman

She was born in Prentiss County but later lived in Bunton, Tenn., and Tunica County before her family moved to Osborn Creek when she was about 12-years-old.

She graduated from the 11th grade at Booneville High School, attended Blue Mountain College two years and received a college degree from Union University where she also did post graduate work. She attended George Peabody College in Nashville for two summers and received her Master's degree from the University of Mississippi.

MRS. INMAN began teaching in 1922 and retired over thirty years later.

In addition to teaching English, she also taught Latin and occasionally history. She was also qualified to teach home economics.

She has taught at all the high schools in Prentiss County with the exception of Jumpertown. She also taught at East Prentiss and Pisgah and one year at Scooba Junior College.

She taught English and literature at Thrasher High School for 20 years and did some substitute teaching after her retirement.

Although she has been retired from teaching 20 years, she still recalls with fondness the students she has taught. In many cases she has taught two generations of families.

When talking with Mrs. Inman it is apparent how much it means to her when a former student sees her and reminds her of some incident that happened during school days.

While Mrs. Inman was teaching at Thrasher she was offered a teaching position at Northeast Junior College. Deciding whether or not to take the job was a difficult decision for her to make.

"I considered going to Northeast," Mrs. Inman remembers. "But one morning I looked at the people in my Sunday School class. I'd known them since they were babies. And it came to me -- why go off and leave these people I love. So I continued teaching at Thrasher."

Even after she retired, students would meet in her home to study. Just as she is able to bring Biblical facts to life, she had the same ability with stories in English literature.

"It just thrilled me to the soul to see the students begin to enjoy English literature," she says, smiling.

"The folks you teach, you feel so close to -- just like your own family."

"AT ONE TIME I felt like I might be a missionary," she said. "But I told Dr. Savage that I just wanted to be one if the Lord wanted me to."

"Dr. Savage said he didn't think I would need to worry about my calling because I could do as much good teaching. He reminded me of the verses in Proverbs 3:5-6, 'Trust in the Lord with all thine heart; and lean not unto thine on understanding. In all thy ways acknowledge him, and he shall direct thy paths.'"

"I've had people tell me my teaching has been a help to them. I hope it has. I don't think you can teach anybody without loving them."

STAYING BUSY is an important part of Mrs. Inman's life.

"I'd rather be outside than inside," she says. "I enjoy having a clean garden. I love to work with things that grow. I delight in lots of flowers."

Mrs. Inman also enjoys sewing, crocheting, and tatting. Even when going places she carries her sewing with her. "Troy says the car won't run if I don't carry my work," she smiles.

Mrs. Inman met her husband while she was teaching at Pisgah. He had finished school. Often a group of people would gather at church to practice music.

He would bring his violin and she played the organ. "When they couldn't do better, they put up with me," she says of her organ playing.

She and Inman were married about a year later. They will be married 52 years Oct. 23. They have two daughters, Martha Williams of Thrasher and Louise Daugherty of Portageville, Mo. They have six grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Along with her mother, Hattie Elizabeth Houck, and grandmother, Martha Ellen Davis, Mrs. Inman credits Dr. Savage as having had a major influence in her life.

He left her with a prayer that she remembers daily as she goes about her work. "Neither let me give nor receive harm."

There have been a good many changes in the Thrasher community since Mrs. Inman first moved there 46 years ago, she says.

"But all in all, we're the same sort of folks. We still care, love and want to share. If people are glad you want to rejoice with them and if they're sad you want to share that, too."

"Life has had so much good for me. My friends are dear."

A HOMEBUILDER THAT OUT-HOMEBUILDS ALL OTHER HOMEBUILDERS

And Has Been For More Than Thirty Years

Just imagine 240,000 homes. That's a pretty good-sized city, right? Well it doesn't top the number of homes Jim Walter has built since 1946 when he started in business, over 30 years ago. Which adds up to NOTHING unless you are looking for a homebuilder. If you are, this information, for sure, is important to you. No one wants to trust an investment as big as it takes to build a new home to a "Johnny-come-lately" ... a "fly by night" outfit that may or, more likely, may not be around when the dust settles.

With Jim Walter, we finance our own. You won't have to worry about the third party that steps in to "buy your mortgage" as soon as the last nail is driven ... one who could care less whether your roof leaks or your doors don't fit, or the foundation cracks or if you just plain aren't satisfied with the workmanship. WE CARE. And we will continue to care because we will be with you for the full term of your mortgage. With builder financing, quality is assured.

10% MORTGAGE FINANCING NO DOWN PAYMENT FOR QUALIFIED PROPERTY OWNERS

We guarantee 10% annual percentage rate mortgage financing to qualified property owners. No points. No closing costs. No balloon notes. No mumbo-jumbo. Your monthly mortgage payment will remain the same every month for the full term. And if you sell your house your mortgage will not change. Your new buyer can continue the same payments at the same rate. You can count on it and we'll save you money ... lots of it ... over most other financing.

So, before you decide on a builder be sure to check with Jim Walter ... one of the world's largest ... one whose parent company is listed on the New York Stock Exchange with assets in excess of two billion dollars and rated by Fortune Magazine among the nation's top 500 industrial companies.

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK:

‘Don’t Forget To Go To Church...’

By Herbert Wood

Copyright (c) The Upper Room

“Let us not hold aloof from our church meetings, as some do.” (Hebrews 10:25, Phillips translation.) Since our daily mail service does not reach our houses until afternoon, I walk or cycle to the local post office and pick up our letters. The young clerks behind the counter are a friendly bunch, and we have some happy exchanges. Toward the end of the week, I start saying to them, “Now, don’t forget to go to church on Sunday.” They accept my well-meaning remark, and if I forget to say it, they chime in, “Don’t forget to go to church!” I hope that my attempts to give “a word in due season” have a good effect. I know that in many places church attendance is low. We seem to think that we do not need God. Yet those of us who do attend church services, listen to God’s word, have fellowship with other Christians, and lay our souls open to the influence of the Holy Spirit, feel deeply humbled in God’s presence. Far from feeling confident that we can do without the help of the Almighty, we need to accept the fact that we need God today just as we always have. PRAYER: Help us, O God, not to make excuses for failing to go to church. May we grasp the fact that You may speak to us through a sermon or a hymn or those with whom we worship. Amen. The Thought for the Day: Worshiping with other believers strengthens us.
