Roundup

Jobless Rate Up

The jobless rate for Prentiss County edged up slightly at mid-June. Charles Smith, Manager of the Mississippi State Employment Service, said the rate of unemployment for the county was estimated to be 9.8 percent of the civilian labor force, or 1,200 individuals.

This rate compares to 7.7 percent last month and 13.9 percent one year ago. The number of county residents employed was estimated to be 11,100, 230 above the previous estimate and 410 above the figure for June, one year ago. The civilian labor force rose to 12,300 at mid-month, 520 more than in May but experienced a drop of 110 from one year ago.

Manufacturing employment in the county at 3,110 rose by 60 from last month and 130 over one year ago. Those employed in nonmanufacturing jobs were estimated to be 4,090, compared to 4,010 last month and 3,890 in June, 1983.

New Phone Books Out

South Central Bell has announced that delivery of the new Booneville telephone directory will begin on August 2.

This year's directory cover features a color photograph of the State Capitol.

To conserve paper and reduce cost, South Central Bell will continue its practice of distributing one directory per household.

District Manager Tom Bailey asks that customers allow at least a week for completion of deliveries. Anyone who hasn't received his new directory by August 10 can arrange to receive one by calling the Residence Service Center at 961-2288 or Business Service Center at 1-960-3010.

Highway Repairs

According to L.G. Summerford, district engineer for the State Highway Department, a level and seal project for 4.8 miles of State Highway 30 between Highway 25 and the Natchez Trace Parkway will be underway next week.

Motorists are encouraged to travel with care in the area, or seek an alternate route, Summerford said.

He said the project will smooth out unlevel spots and repair cracks in the existing pavement and described the work as "the use of a mixture of liquid asphalt and crushed stone which will seal the cracks and prevent additional damage to the roadbed."

Summerford said economics require the use of this procedure over actual resurfacing since asphalt costs approximately $30 a ton, while crushed stone is approximately $3.50 a ton.

Firefighter Week

Governor Bill Allain has proclaimed the week of Aug. 4-11, as "Fire Fighter Appreciation Week" in Mississippi.

The proclamation, initiated by the Muscular Dystrophy Association which has received support from fire fighters for the past 30 years, recognizes that fire fighting has long been known as one of the nation's most hazardous professions.

Drug Abuse In Prentiss County, Part

Counselors Know True Scope Of Abuse

By ED WOODWARD
Managing Editor

Once a drug or alcohol abuser has been detoxed and has undergone intensive treatment, he or she still faces a long term, possibly even a lifetime, of psychological counseling and group therapy programs.

As Dr. Jerry W. Sheffield, himself a recovering drug addict, has pointed out, "Once an addict, always an addict." The abuser is never considered cured, only recovering. This is the premise of all group self-help organizations like Alcoholics Anonymous, Narcotics Anonymous, Al-Anon or Families Anonymous.

Some substance abusers may seek help themselves through groups like AA. Others may be committed through the Chancery Court, either voluntarily or involuntarily, to a hospital that offers help to drug abusers. And others may have no choice. But eventually the addict must get help or die.

So, the people most apt to know the true extent of the drug abuse problem are the counselors who work with addicts every day.

"Right now, about 80 percent of all inmates coming in have had past alcohol or drug related problems," said Ed Hargett, administrator of the Drug and Alcohol Center at Parchman State Penitentiary.

"To break that down, those with an alcohol problem alone make up 26 percent (of all new inmates), inmates with a drug problem alone make up 15 percent, and those with both problems make up the remaining 39 percent," Hargett said.

"By alcohol or drug related, we mean that they were under the influence at the time they committed the crime, or they're here for sale or possession," he said.

Hargett's records also indicate that 53 percent of all parole violations are alcohol and drug related. "They commit another offense while under the influence," he explained, adding that 65 percent of probation violations are also alcohol-drug related.

Hargett claims a good success rate with his inmate program. "Only 10.2 percent of the people who participate in our program...will return to Parchman," he said, adding that the general return rate for all inmates is 34.7 percent.

"I think this shows the people going through treatment are more likely to stay out than the average inmate," Hargett said.

"One thing I've found out, with the percentage of people we have here with alcohol and drug problems, and with the percentage of parole and probation violations that are drug-alcohol related...I do believe that the single most contributing factor to criminal behavior is substance abuse," Hargett said.

As a mental health worker at Timber Hills Mental Health Services in Booneville, most of the addicts Jerry Christian sees are seeking help on their own; though some are sent to him by the Chancery Court now that the state hospitals have a mandatory waiting list.

Christian has discovered that the greatest hindrance to the success of a program like the one at Timber Hills is the refusal of so many people to believe there is a problem.

"I don't know why the people tend to be so blind to the facts, because we do have a problem in this county," he said. "The churches even play it down, which I think is highly regrettable."

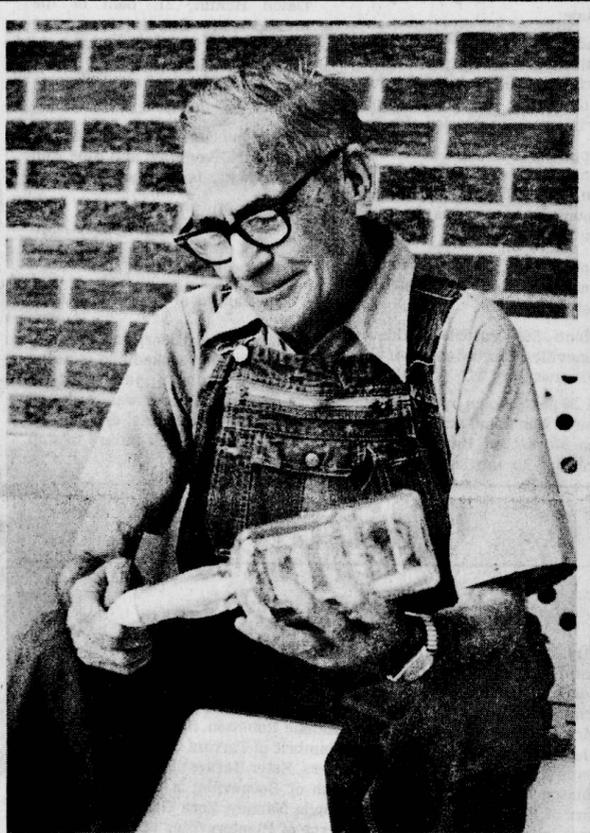

Christian said he is quite often called to area hospitals to talk with drug abusers who have attempted

Prentiss Personality

WHITTLING TREASURES - Happy Vanstory's life-long hobby has been whittling. He has made from wood such items as a bulldog, pig, pistol, shoe, chain, lamp stand, and horses and wagon. One of his most popular items is a chair in a bottle.

Happy Vanstory: Whittling Away For 66 Years

By ANGELA SMITH
Staff Reporter

Happy Vanstory of Thrasher can transform blocks of wood into treasures - simply by whittling.

"Whittling is my hobby," he says. "I've been whittling all my life. I can sit and whittle all day long."

In fact, Happy says he had rather stay home and whittle as go anywhere.

"I've been fishing three times and to about a dozen ballgames. I don't know anything about cards and I can't play pool. Some might call that curious. But I'd just rather whittle."

THE FIRST thing Happy made was a little car with wheels when he was about six years old.

"I had a string tied to it and was pulling the car behind me when a man asked me if I would sell it. I was going to ask a nickle for it when he offered me a dime," Happy remembers, laughing.

Since then Happy has made many items - one of the most popular of which is a chair in a bottle.

"Once I took a couple to Oklahoma and visited a penitentiary. I saw an old man making those and I thought if he could do that, so could I. So I tried, and the third time I got it right," he grins.

That was in 1927. Since then the 72-year-old whittler has made so many of them he has lost count.

But putting a chair in a bottle is something he says he can't do every day. "You have to have good steady nerve to do it and patience," he says, adding that "No two bottles are exactly the same. I have to measure the inside of each one."

And he uses only square bottles. Sometimes the only square bottles he can find are whiskey bottles. Occasionally he comes across an "old-timey" bottle which is good since he says he would hate to put a chair in a whiskey bottle and give it to the preacher's wife.

The chairs he puts in the bottles have cushions made of embroidery thread - which he makes, also.

One "chair in the bottle" Happy made was given to the late Dr. A.V. Dixon. Dr. Dixon kept the "chair in a bottle" in his dentist office for about 42 years, Happy said.

Happy has made one sailboat in a bottle, but that proved to be more difficult than building a chair in a bottle, he said.

He tries to explain to visitors how he manages to get a chair in a bottle - but the more he tries to explain it, the more confusing it sounds. So it seems best to simply accept the fact that Happy can really build a chair in a bottle.

Other items that Happy has whittled from wood include a large black and white bulldog; a sow with four piglets (which he made 45 years ago); a pistol so real it looks like it could shoot; a lace-up shoe which doubles as a pencil holder; and a wooden silver-colored chain with the letters '1934' - the year he whittled the chain.

He has never had any formal training in his hobby - he was simply born with the talent.

County Board Postpones Pupil Transfer Refusals

By ED WOODWARD
Managing Editor

According to J.W. Greene, Prentiss County school superintendent, the county school board has decided to delay its decision to refuse release of students to other school districts until the 1985-86 school year.

Greene had stated in his column, "County School Report," in the July 26, 1984 issue of The Banner-Independent that such refusal would begin this school year for all first grade students.

But, he said, response from several parents prompted him to call an open meeting between parents and the county school board in the courthouse Monday night, July 30.

"In general...the parents that were here apparently thought we never gave them enough time to prepare for the baby sitter situation," Greene said.

"Maybe they have kids already in school, and their baby sitter is here in town, and they would not have time to rearrange things before school starts."

Greene said, though he had stated in his column that the release refusals would apply only to first grade students this year, many parents thought it would apply to all grades.

He said the board's intention was to begin with the first grade this year, and include an additional grade each year thereafter.

He said he presently has received four transfer requests for first grade students. "But there were two or three here...who had not yet asked for transfers who said they have children in the first grade," he

Bay Springs Landowner Is PCEPA Board Candidate

Cecil Smith, the landowner who earlier this year unsuccessfully asked the board of directors of the Prentiss County Electric Power Association to reconsider charging him a deposit of $1,000 per pole, or an estimated $18,000, to extend service to an area he is developing on Bay Springs Lake, has qualified for the upcoming PCEPA board election. Ronny Rowland, PCEPA manager and board secretary, verified to The Banner-Independent Tuesday afternoon that Smith had qualified for the Area Five, Post Two position on the board.

That post, one of five to be filled in the Aug. 31 election, is currently held by Edwin Brown, who has qualified for re-election.

Smith needed the endorsement of 25 members in good standing of the PCEPA. He qualified with 30 verified signatures, according to Rowland.

Directors whose terms expire this year include Brown, L.C. Wright, who represents Area One-Post Two; Russell B. Hill, Area Two-

Post One; Brit Barron, City of Booneville-Post Two; and James M. Jones, City of Baldwin-Post One.

Rowland said other persons had recently picked up petitions but had not yet returned them to him. He would not identify them. The deadline for qualifying by submitting a petition with 25 verified signatures to Rowland is Monday, Aug. 6.

The election will be held at the annual members' meeting on Aug. 31 at a location to be announced by Rowland. A quorum of at least 1560 members must be present at that meeting for the election to take place.

BIBLE QUESTION BOX

QUESTION: Mr. Hogland, since God knows everything, don't you feel that God had something to do with the action of Adam and Eve in the garden when they disobeyed God?

WARD HÖGLAND

ANSWER: It is clear in the second and third chapters of Genesis that man was faced with a real choice. There is nothing in the text to indicate that Adam and Eve's wrong choice was the will of God. We do not see a puppet or automaton with no independent will, nor do we see a will determined to do good with an omnipotent energy preventing change. The command was given in lucid form and the privilege of continuing in their blissful state is implied in the text. There is a vast difference in God knowing something and in tampering with man's volition. God knew through the prophets that Christ would be born in Bethlehem but he did not force Joseph and Mary to go there. God knew that Christ would die on the cross but he did not force Christ to do this. Christ did this of his own choice as is taught in Jno. 17. Adam by his constitution was a free moral agent, a self-determining being. He had a capacity for performing moral action, just as all responsible people have today. The Bible says, "choose ye this day whom ye will serve - but for me and my house, we will serve the Lord" (Josh. 24:15).

New Lung Association Asthma Handbook

If you sometimes have trouble breathing because of asthma, the Mississippi Lung Association has a new booklet for you and your family. The 28-page book was written for adults who have asthma. Most teenagers who have the disease will find it equally interesting and informative.

Mrs. Mary Jane Green of Grenada, MLA president, says the new educational material provides a better understanding of asthma plus self-help suggestions to help the patient prevent and control asthma episodes.

"Asthma affects about seven million adults and children in the United States. Asthmatic episodes make breathing difficult and cause wheezing, coughing, rapid breathing or 'choking' for air."

The new booklet is designed to help asthma patients administer their prescribed medicines correctly, avoid factors that trigger their asthma episodes and know when to call for medical help.

The book is also an excellent tool for physicians and other health care personnel to help answer patients' questions.

Some of the topics covered in the booklet include information on what can trigger an asthma episode, how to control the episodes, how diet affect asthma patients, what different kinds of medicine for asthma are being used, how to deal with second-hand smoke and in general, how to live better and feel better, even with asthma.

The book is available, free of charge upon request, as a service of your "Christmas Seal Association."

Anyone interested in receiving "The Asthma Handbook" or other asthma educational material should contact the Mississippi Lung Association, Post Office Box 9865, Jackson, Miss. 39206 or telephone 362-5453.

Drugs

suicide. "Most of them are not successful. But a lot of them end up with chronic mental problems after they have been on drugs for so long...depression, drug-induced schizophrenia. And they'll never function normally again for the rest of their lives," he said.

"They become permanently brain damaged and they end up with all kinds of mental problems.

"But I would say 75 percent of the crime that happens in this county is drug related," he said. "And, as long as drug abuse was confined to the poor whites and the black community, it was all right.

"But, with dilaudid, we're getting into the middle-class and the upper-class...So, suddenly there is no problem. It's smoothed over, hidden...even though it's actually a severe problem," Christian said.

"But people are insisting there is no problem because a lot of them know that their kids are involved in it. So, they say, 'We don't have a problem,'" he said.

"What happens in a lot of cases is that the kids, when they get to 12 and 13, start experimenting with marijuana. And they go from that to dilaudid and mix it with alcohol, which they've already been trying.

"But, you see, a lethal dose for me may not be a lethal dose for you because of your body size and weight. And that's what teenagers don't understand. And this person will say, 'Well, I tried this and it didn't hurt me.' But this next person may try it and it may kill them," Christian said.

"And, if something isn't done it could be devastating for a small community like this," he said.

Christian said Timber Hills has been assisting the Prentiss County Schools with an anti-drug abuse education program. But, he said, the Booneville City School Board is apparently not interested in receiving similar help.

"We have offered it several times and we have never received any reply. But word has filtered back to me that they don't think they need any help because they don't think they have a problem," Christian said.

Haven House in Corinth offers an intensive program for substance abusers from the four counties in the northeast corner of the state, according to Larry Cox. "We are a part of Timber Hills, and we are the alcohol and drug unit serving those four counties," he said.

Cox, a recovering alcoholic himself, is a counselor at Haven House. "We, naturally, are dealing with alcohol (emphasis Cox's) and other drug abuse because alcohol is a depressant and an addictive drug.

"It's the most abused drug in the country, and it's the third biggest killer in the country, right behind cancer and heart disease," Cox said.

He said alcohol related deaths include auto accidents, murder, suicide, family abuse "or, if the person has been using the drug for a long, long time, he can either die in DTs, alcoholic convulsions or other drug withdrawal side-effects.

"And, I'm not sure of the actual percentages, but I think the greater number of those killed by drinking and driving are young people between the ages of 16 and 24," Cox said.

He said many young people are abusing both alcohol and hard drugs. "With people under 30 or 35, it's not uncommon to have a person who is dual-addicted, dual-dependant or at least a dual-abuser, or maybe a poly-abuser.

"We've had several young guys come in here and call themselves 'garbage-heads', meaning they would take anything at all if they could get their head bent out of shape with it...Alcohol, and maybe 'speed' or amphetamines, heroin, cocaine, marijuana, dilaudid...anything they could find.

"A lot of young people are using preludine, which is an upper, or qualudes, which are downers, dilaudids...a lot of these things they are melting down, mixing with water and injecting are very, very dangerous.

"We've gotten notification from some federal agencies, and warnings from our house pharmacist that it's exceedingly dangerous, now, because the binding agent in some of these pills is talc and it will not break down," Cox said.

"It can settle in the eyes and blind a person, or hit their heart or other vital organs," he said.

"It's a special danger to people who are buying street drugs or even prescription drugs and trying to inject them. They're really taking some drastic chances with their lives," he said.

"And I feel fairly certain from discussions with people who are users that I've dealt with over the last three-and-one-half years that drugs other than alcohol are very accessible in this area. You can buy anything in Northeast Mississippi that you can buy on the streets of Detroit, New York or San Francisco.

"It might be a little more difficult to get, but you can get it. And it is used, and abused, in Prentiss County...these four counties...and all across the state," Cox said.

Vanstory

But Happy has been given some "whittling advice" over the years. Such as "When whittling a dog, take a block of wood and cut off all that doesn't look like a dog."

Happy says he can pick up a block of any kind of wood to use for whittling, but he uses poplar wood the most.

"I CAN SEE whatever I'm going to make as plain as day before I start," Happy says. "If I couldn't, there wouldn't be any need to start."

Another item that Happy has made is a red wagon and a pair of black horses. Every detail has been built to scale. The horses have collars and a full set of harness, blinders, and bridles. The wagon even has a springboard seat and a brake that works.

"I made the wagon so my grandkids could know what a wagon and team looked like and how we used to get from place to place."

Happy has also made at least 100 tiny rocking chairs that can be used as pincushion and thread holders. He likes to give those to friends.

HAPPY WAS born in Jackson, Tenn. His family moved to Rienzi when he was one year old. When he was 11 they moved to Booneville.

His father, Jack, ran a blacksmith shop -- so Happy spent a lot of time shoeing mules.

"That was too much work," he grinned, "so I became a brick mason." He worked at that for about 43 years before retiring. He also did carpentry work and worked at the Booneville hospital for seven years, building furniture there.

He and his wife, Kittie Mae, will observe their golden wedding anniversary Dec. 22. They have two children, Ann Goff of Booneville and Tommy Vanstory of Corinth. Their grandchildren are Mary Vanstory and Amy Goff. Happy and Mrs. Vanstory attend Thrasher Baptist Church. He led the singing there for about 20 years.

IT MAY surprise some people to know that "Happy" isn't Happy's real name.

His real name is Elmer. When he was 20 his brother, Walker, who was 10 years younger than Happy, outweighed him 75 lbs. and was also taller than he was.

At that time there was a comic strip that featured the characters "Happy" and "Hooligan."

"The little short one was Happy and people started calling me that and they called my brother Hooligan," he said.

And ever since then the brothers have gone by those names.

"I used to bet people they couldn't find out my real name," he laughed. Of course now that his real name has appeared in the newspaper, he points out that those bets are off.

He guesses that outside his family, there were probably only three people who knew his real name -- Cora Davis, Oattie Massey and Clay Perry.

In addition to his whittling skills, Happy has also been known to make "snow sculptures."

Around 1958 he made a full-size "snow horse" in his front yard. "The horse even had a bridle on it," he recalls. "People who are grown now will probably remember having their picture made on that horse when they were kids."

Concerning future whittling plans Happy hopes to make an old-timey T-Model Ford.

"I get so much pleasure out of making these things," Happy said referring to the other items has made. "But after that I like to give them away. I've given away a lot more than I've sold. I don't get pleasure out of keeping them -- just making them."

AUTHORITY IN RELIGION

What is man's source of authority in the realm of religion? In every walk of life, there is a need for a standard of authority to avoid confusion. An appeal to different sources of authority in religion has resulted in religious confusion. For authority in religion, people have turned to Moses, John the Baptist, tradition, feelings and various other sources.

During the Old Testament economy, God spoke through Moses, but now He speaks to us through His Son. (Heb. 1:1, 2). In Matt. 17:1-5, we learn that we are to hear and respect His Son. Jesus teaches in John 12:48, that his words will judge us in the last day. The words of Christ are found in the New Testament, so we must turn to the New Testament for authority in religion. It is a safe guide in religion because: (1) it is inspired of God. (II Tim. 3:16, 17, II Peter 1:20-21), (2) it is the perfect law of liberty. (Jas. 1:25, I Cor. 13:10), (3) it is complete. (II Tim. 3:17, II Peter 1:3).

Do you respect the New Testament as your authority in religion, or do you appeal to some other source? Religious division will vanish when all turn to the same authority. When we stand before Christ in judgment, He will not appeal to the writings of men, but to the Divine standard, the New Testament. Why not turn to Divine authority in religion and make your calling and election sure.

Talk 'O The Town

Street Opinion

QUESTION: The Prentiss County School Board has made the decision to refuse releases of all first grade students to any other school district for the 1984-85 school term. Do you think a child should be able to attend the school of his parents' choice?

FREIDA REED of East Church Street, Booneville: "Yes. I think the parents should be able to make the decision where their children go to school."

KATHERINE PALMER of Route 3, Rienzi: "A parent's choice might not always be the best choice for the child. I think the child should attend school in the district they live in."

BRENDA CALDWELL of South King Street, Booneville: "Yes, I do. You have a right to choose where you want your children to get their education. It would be bad to move just to go to another school."

JOYCE TRANTHAM of Route 3, Rienzi: "I think a parent should have the choice to send their child to the school they think is best. A parent should have that right."

LOUISE MAYO of Route 2, Booneville: "I think the parent should have the choice. I think that's the duty of mothers and fathers to guide a child. Our government and everything has too much control over our life and this is just another example of that."

PAUL SCRUGGS of Washington Street, Booneville: "I believe the parent should have the right to choose the school. Some might not like the school they're going to so they ought to send them to the school they want."

Ponderings

By Angela Smith
Staff Reporter

It's Wednesday morning. By the time you read this I will be in New Orleans.

Shirley Burns, who also works here, and I are going to spend several days with my aunt and uncle, Kate and William Anderson and attend the World's Fair.

Wednesday afternoon I am supposed to take my first flight on an airplane. This will be Shirley's first airplane ride, too. Are we scared? It's like this. I'm shaking so much I had to get someone else to type my column for me.

We will be leaving from the Tupelo Airport - which we've never been to before. There are some people who believe we will never find the airport. Those are the people who won't be getting souvenirs from the World's Fair. Especially if they're right.

Luckily (?) for us, our colleagues are "jet setters" and are quite familiar with flying the friendly skies. So they have tried to be very helpful in reading us for our first flight.

For example, we have been told that we're in big trouble if the stewardess tells us emergency procedures BEFORE the plane takes off.

I was warned I should brush up on my Spanish since our plane will probably be hijacked to Cuba. And this morning I was greeted by Norma with, "Angela, did you see the news this morning about the hijacking?"

Here's possibly the worst joke that's been told here (or anywhere) this week. "If you know someone on the plane named Jack, do not say HI Jack!"

It was even suggested that I take out a life insurance policy and name one of my co-workers as the beneficiary.

That didn't bother me as much as when I heard the sports writers arguing over which one of them would get my office if I didn't come back.

It was suggested that I write next week's column while I'm on the plane. But the publisher said I couldn't borrow his portable computer because "the plane might crash."

I was given advice about how to pack, what to pack and when to pack. I have this uneasy feeling that I've probably left a very important item at home. Although as heavy as my luggage is, it feels like I've packed enough for five people.

When Aunt Kate sees how much I've packed, she may get hysterical thinking that I'm moving in with her.

And speaking of hysterical, it's getting close to time for us to leave for the airport.

So next week I'll tell you about the World's Fair. I hope.

Eyes On Mississippi

Legislative Branches Form Duplicate Committees

By BILL MINOR
Syndicated Columnist

JACKSON, Miss. - You would think sometimes that the Mississippi House and the Mississippi Senate are not part of the same Legislature. Each seems to go its own way, as though it only takes one branch to enact legislation.

The most absurd example of the standoffishness of the two chambers of the Mississippi Legislature is the fact that there are now six House interim committees and four Senate interim committees studying virtually the same things . . . but not together.

Until just a few years ago, if studies were to be undertaken between sessions, they were done jointly. The trend seems to have been growing recently that one branch or the other has gone out on its own to study some particular area.

But nothing like 10 committees, all working separately on issues of concern to both branches, has ever been created in one year.

Actually, the Senate had wanted to work with the House in a joint study of the state's tax structure - the major area now being studied - but the House refused.

It all started when the Senate, responding to a request by Gov. Bill Allain for a comprehensive review of the tax structure and recommendations for reforms passed a resolution creating a joint interim committee which would also include lay persons named by the governor.

Over in the House, the Senate-passed resolution languished in the Rules Committee for weeks with no action. So Senate President Pro. Tem. Tommy Brooks of Carthage went over to talk to the House leadership to find out what the problem was.

There were vague excuses made about not liking the way the committee was made up, so Brooks offered to let the House revise it and the Senate would accept the changes.

Still no action. Then as the end of the session loomed, Brooks made another stab at dislodging the joint tax study resolution. This time, he was told that because money was tight the House leaders didn't think the state could afford the cost. Since the Senate considered the tax study a top priority, it proceeded to adopt a resolution to create a special committee of its own, and Lt. Gov. Brad Dye gave assurances to Governor Allain that the Senate group would work in conjunction with his lay committee.

The way the House reacted to the tax study committee was considered by the Senate a tipoff that the House would not enter into any joint studies, so the Senate adopted resolutions creating its own study committees on health care, workmens' compensation and Pearl River flood control.

Meantime, the House adopted no resolutions to create any interim study committees. But when the 1984 session had adjourned, Speaker Buddie Newman announced he was creating a tax study committee of House members only, with no instructions to coordinate with the Senate.

Newman within the next few weeks announced he was creating five other interim committees, on Pearl River flooding, on higher education, on health care, on court restricting and on highways.

Unlike the Senate committees, the members of the House did not have a vote in deciding what subjects would be studied, how many members would serve on the committees or what the functions of the committees would be.

Only Buddie Newman, using a loose interpretation of a House rule which gives the speaker the power to "appoint members of committees," made those decisions. In years past, until Newman first created a special committee in 1982 on education finance, it had been the custom that interim committees had to be approved by the whole House.

Of course, it must be remembered that legislators don't serve on interim committees without extra pay. The get $40 per diem, plus their expenses at 20 cents a mile for travel.

Letters

Dear Editor:

On Monday, July 23, my car was stolen while parked next to the sidewalk on the east side of the hospital near what is referred to as the back door.

The point I would like to make is this: I think Chief Bobby Lambert of the Booneville Police Department and his force are the most capable and best organized department we could have. After I went down to the police station and reported my car had been stolen, there was not a wasted minute. Everyone seemed to know exactly what to do, with the chief directing them.

It was one of the smoothest operations I have ever seen. The Chief has his department so well organized and well coordinated that I'm sure if we had a bank robbery they would be apprehended before they got very far.

I just wish to commend Chief Lambert, his force, the Mayor, Fire Chief, Sheriff and deputies. I would also like to thank them for a job well carried out. They really laid their lives on the line, as I'm sure they do every day.

I never really appreciated them to the fullest extent before. They were so helpful in every way. Kelly Terry even took me out to where my car was wrecked and then drove me home. Thanks also to Marilyn McKinney for driving me to the police station to report my car being stolen.

Thanks Gentlemen and Lady.
Sincerely,

Mrs. J.R. (Pauline) Counce

Dear Editor,

The following is a tribute to Mrs. Mable Nelson. It was written by Mrs. Wade Lambert and submitted by Greg Geno.

Prentiss County Health Dept. will have a vacancy-tis true.

But no one will attempt to fill Mrs. Nelson's shoes.

Her long-time service is hard to define. There could be many memories that would flash to each mind.

The school children will remember, Not how hard she worked, But yes, indeed, how bad the shots hurt.

Little babies might squirm and begin to cry. But she was so quick and efficient

It was over before the tears met the eye.

Old timers may recall when on her offtime, she'd hop in the truck with her late husband,

As he made the calls, she'd enjoy

His companionship, along with their child, Sara Ann.

Yes everyone will hold a different Memory of this special nurse today,

As all of Prentiss County searches For words to say.

It's hard to say something - for fear you'll leave something unsaid about a public servant who has served as many years in one place as Mrs. Mable Nelson. During those 40 years of tenure at Prentiss County Health Dept., she missed very few days. This within itself denotes how dependable she is. In being dependable she was always consistent - very plain spoken, but tactful when she spoke. She never seemed depressed or down-and-out. Therefore, she was an inspiration to fellow-colleagues as well as to the public.

The elderly, particularly the shut-ins to whom she made home visits, had as much faith in her as they did their family doctor. She very generously helped them with personal needs or any necessity that she could provide-all this was beyond her call of duty. It is no doubt that's why the Health Dept. was often referred to by this sect of people as "Mrs. Nelson's."

While many of us complain about hard work, long hours, job types, or the weather we have to brave to do the job, Mrs. Nelson never complained. She did her job and loved her work. She was a laborer of love. Her silver hair may always be an earthly symbol, but I believe her eternal crown will be filled with gold stars, because of the way her life was shined unselfishly.

Mrs. Nelson, may your future years be blessed in comparison to the way you have blessed others. In so doing we know that you will reap happiness.

That Yankee From Yonder

By Ed Woodward
Managing Editor

Since Angela managed to get away with not writing a column last week, I thought I might try to get away with it this week. But, no such luck, as you can see.

I had a good excuse; I took a short vacation last week.

Angela, however, had no excuse. She just waited until all the paper but the top of the editorial page had been laid out, then announced that she didn't have her column written yet.

Ken and I were both feeling benevolent, so we let her get away with it.

She did claim to have an excuse, now that I think about it. She claimed she didn't have anything to write about. I stifled an urge to ask what else was new. I'm not sure whether Ken stifled a similar urge, or not. Usually he doesn't.

But, really, I don't think not having anything to write about is a good excuse for not writing a column. If nothing else, one can always write a column about not having anything to write about.

I don't have a lot to write about right now because, as I said, I took a short vacation last week. We all loaded up the Pinto Wednesday afternoon and took off for Rose Trail Park in Colbert County, Ala.

I don't have a lot to write about because not a lot happens in Colbert County...especially since it went wet and all the bootleggers had to migrate south to Franklin County's Freedom Hills.

And I have a feeling the area around Rose Trail Park boasted its share of stills when the county was dry, too. It is really in the middle of nowhere, on the east shore of the Bear Creek portion of Pickwick Lake.

The nearest store is at Buzzard's Roost Park, nine curvy, hilly miles away. The nearest town is Riverton, only two or three miles away. But it has no store, just a Methodist Church and several houses. And the nearest towns of any appreciable size, with stores, are Cherokee, Ala., and Luka, both 16 miles away.

I assume the residents of Riverton shop at either Cherokee or Buzzard's Roost. I have no idea what they do for entertainment besides watch the current on the Tennessee River.

The only commodity available in the park is RC Cola from a machine. So, if you want ice, bait, snacks or whatever, you have to go to Buzzard's Roost, Cherokee or Luka.

The only thing Rose Trail Park offers is relaxation and quiet. And it has plenty of both. We were there from Wednesday evening until Sunday afternoon. And there were no more than five camping sites in use the whole time.

So, other than spending Thursday morning trying to find the circuit breaker box in our brother-in-law's pop-top camper, we had a quiet, restful, relaxing four days with nothing to do but fish, read, swim (Sara and the kids. I'm not aquatic) and sleep.

But who wants to do any more than that on a vacation?

And that, Angela, is an example of how one writes a column when one has nothing to write about.

Berryhill Free On $50,000 Bond After Court Fight Over Defense Motion

After one unsuccessful attempt by his attorneys to force Alcorn County Sheriff Bill Gant to sign a property bond for his release, Bob Berryhill, 49, Rienzi, was released on $50,000 Tuesday morning.

Berryhill was arrested Tuesday, July 24, by Sheriff Gant and state investigator David Huggins at the intersection of U.S. Highways 45 and 72. He was charged with possession with intent to deliver a controlled substance.

According to Huggins, the arrest was made after "our information led us to believe that there might be something going down."

Sheriff Gant told The Daily Corinthian his office had received an anonymous tip that Berryhill would be traveling through Corinth with a large quantity of dilaudid tablets.

Dilaudid is the drug reported to be the most abused drug in Prentiss County, according to recent research by The Banner-Independent.

It has also been linked by area law enforcement officials to the prevalence of car theft in the area. Its reported "street value" is $55 to $60 a tablet.

Huggins told The Banner-Independent that "approximately 350 dilaudid tablets were removed from his (Berryhill's) possession" at the time of his arrest. The tablets were allegedly stuffed into a pair of blue jeans found in the suspect's car. He estimated their value at "in excess of $15,000."

Authorities also confiscated $386 in cash.

Bond for Berryhill was set at $50,000 by Circuit Court Judge Tommy Gardner. Berryhill's wife, Bobbie, and John Berryhill, a relative, subsequently submitted a property bond for his release.

Sheriff Gant refused to sign the bond, claiming the Berryhills had not submitted proof to verify they had property that was free of liens or mortgages.

Berryhill's attorneys, Joe Ray Langston and Duncan "Bubba" Lott then filed a writ of habeas corpus in an attempt to force Gant to sign the bond.

The motion was heard Monday,

July 30, by Judge Gardner in Lee County Circuit Court. Judge Gardner denied the motion.

The procedure was explained by Alcorn County Attorney Danny Lowrey: "They were asking the judge in the petition to order Sheriff Gant to approve a property bond. But the judge denied their request and dismissed the petition."

"The sheriff has the authority to approve the bond, and, the law says, sufficient sureties. And our contention is that this is pretty well under the sheriff's discretion as to what is a 'sufficient surety,'" Lowrey said.

"In this particular case the sheriff was not presented any facts or any information concerning the worth of the proposed sureties, and he would not approve them."

"They had not presented any evidence to him that they were worth $50,000," Lowrey said. "In fact, in the hearing it came out that on one of the proposed sureties the property was jointly owned by John Berryhill with his wife, and his wife had not joined in signing the bond."

"So, basically, because John Berryhill's wife had not signed the bond, and because they had not presented any facts to the sheriff to show their net worth, Judge Gardner denied the motion."

"Also, when the bond was presented to the sheriff of Alcorn County, it had been approved by the sheriff of Prentiss County, W.V. Horn. But it said, 'W.V. Horn by Sharon Windham'."

"And at the time they presented the bond to Sheriff Gant, he had not been advised by Sheriff Horn that he had actually approved it, and Sheriff Gant did not know Sharon Windham to be Sheriff Horn's clerk," Lowrey said.

Berryhill's attorney, Duncan Lott told The Banner-Independent Tuesday afternoon, July 31, that his client had made bond and had been released.

"We feel like the judge's decision was wrong. But it really doesn't matter because we made another bond and he's out now," Lott said. He said Berryhill was released around 10 a.m. Tuesday.

Refusals

said. "The general feeling seemed to be that we had not given enough notice," Greene said. "There was one family that said they wouldn't have enough time to find a house and move into town before school starts."

"Another family said they would have to find a baby sitter. And another said she had gone to the county schools and would like for her kids to go to the county schools, but she didn't want them to ride a school bus."

"So the board discussed the problem privately. There was mixed opinion. Some members wanted to change it from just first grade and go one through eight."

"I didn't really want to change it at all," Greene said. "But, realizing that those parents did have a problem, I told the board that, before we got into a heated discussion, it might be best to just hold it up for a year, then next year not release any first or second graders."

"That way, if the parents want to go ahead and enroll them in the first grade elsewhere for one year, that would be their prerogative. But we will not release them next year."

"Luckily, the board agreed to go along with my recommendation," Greene said.

The superintendent said there will be absolutely no exceptions to the no release rule, once it takes effect. "My attorney has assured me that this board has that authority. And I asked the board before they made the decision whether there would be any exceptions for anybody, either Booneville district or any other district. And they said no."

Greene said there are presently 232 students from the county district going to school in other districts. He said the majority of these were students in grades five through 12 who had been students in Booneville city schools before the separation of districts.

He said the county school district is losing $207.75 per student per year in maintenance money. This amounts to $48,188 per year.

In addition, the district loses one teacher unit for every 24 students in grades one through four and one teacher unit for every 27 students in grades five through 12 now attending school in another district, Greene said.

"I understand these parents' problem. But I also understand that I swore that I would do my best to uphold this school district. And I feel I am not doing that by giving 10 teacher units to another district... plus $207 per student," Greene said.

Correction

A story in last week's Banner-Independent concerning Leslie Anne Carter had some information omitted.

Leslie Anne Carter, three year old daughter of Mike and Cheryl Carter of Marietta, won the state title of Little Miss America at the Hilton Inn in Tupelo, July 14.

FIVE YEAR AWARD PRESENTED - E.C. Chapman (left) of the National Child Safety Council presented Booneville Police Chief Bobby Lambert with a special five year award July 26 in recognition of the department's "dedicated service to the safety education of children." The department provides booklets to schools concerning general safety and drug information.

Unemployment Up Statewide

Mississippi's unemployment rate rose to 10.5 percent in June, an increase of one percentage point compared to May's jobless rate of 9.5 percent, according to Mississippi Employment Security Commission Executive Director Cohen Robertson. Last year's June unemployment rate was 13.9 percent.

The 10.5 percent unemployment rate for the state was higher than the 7.4 percent national rate for June.

Mississippi Employment Security Commission figures showed 112,100 unemployed and 956,300 employed out of a civilian labor force of 1,068,400. The initial unemployment insurance claims totalled 18,134 in June.

Fifty of the state's 82 counties had unemployment rates above 10 percent in June. Of that number, three counties had unemployment rates above 20 percent.

ASCS News

By C.E. CALVERT
County Executive Director

Farm program participants who are planning to move farm-stored grain under loan to make room for their 1984 grain must make arrangements in advance to do so.

Farmers who plan to commingle their 1984 and 1983 harvests and request a loan, also need to make arrangements with our office.

Grain under regular or reserve loan is mortgaged and if it is removed before repayment of the loan or receipt of release authorization, it is considered unauthorized removal and subject to penalty. The penalty consists of immediate repayment of the loan, plus interest, plus early redemption, if applicable, denial of further loans and possible investigation by the Office of the Inspector General. To help maintain the quality of grain under loan, farmers may rotate their farm-stored grain as new crops are harvested.

One rotating method is for the farmer with sufficient storage capacity to store his most recent harvest on his farm, and then obtain authorization from the county ASC committee to release the older crops from other bins.

If the farmer does not have sufficient storage space, upon approval of the county committee, grain under loan can be released to the farmer up to 30 days before he or she expects to have the new grain harvested. The grain can then be removed from the bin and sold or fed.

A third method is for the producer to get permission from the county ASC committee about 90 days before harvest to release the grain under loan which is then placed in a licensed warehouse. We will hold the warehouse receipt until 30 days before harvest.

Farmers are also reminded that careful and regular inspections of their farm-stored crops at this time are particularly important. Producers with price support loans are responsible for the quality of the grain through the loan's maturity date.

MISSISSIPPI CORN growers have indicated they have planted 130,000 acres this year, 30,000 acres more than in 1983, according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture's crop acreage report. In 1982, corn plantings in the State totaled 150,000 acres.

National average farm prices for the crop are expected to range between $2.65 and $3.20 per bushel - 10 to 65 cents above the national average loan rate. Farmers averaged about $3.25 a bushel for corn a year ago.

The report indicates farmers intend to harvest for grain 105,000 acres of corn this year compared to 55,000 acres last year and 90,000 acres in 1982.

Local farmers enrolled 109.2 corn base acres in the 1984 feed grain acreage reduction program and designated 12.9 acres for the acreage conservation reserve. These farmers will be eligible to receive price support loans, target price protection and other program benefits.

The county loan rate for 1984 corn is $2.71 per bushel. The nine-month price support loan helps farmers pay operating and production costs and allows them time to assess the market or to hold grain for feeding later.

Nationally, farmers intend to plant 79.9 million acres of corn, 33 percent more than last year, when the acreage reduction program lowered planted acreage to the lowest since records began.

SUPPORT PRICES for wool and mohair for 1984 marketing are $1.65 per pound for shorn wool and $5.169 per pound for mohair according to Secretary of Agriculture John R. Block. Mohair is being supported at the same percent of parity as wool. Block said pulled wool will continue to be supported at a level comparable to the support price for shorn wool through payments on unshorn lambs.

As in past year, he said, shorn wool payments will be based on a percentage of each producer's returns from sales. The percentage will be that required to raise the national average price received by all producers for shorn wool in 1984 up to the support price of $1.65 a pound, he said. In 1984 shorn wool prices are expected to average around 75 cents per pound compared to 61.3 cents in 1983.

Mohair payments will be calculated in a manner similar to wool. Block said projected prices indicate payments will be necessary for 1984 marketings. Mohair prices during 1984 are expected to average around $4.75 per pound compared to $4.05 in 1983.

County Agent's Notes

By CLIFFORD HAMPTON
County Agent

Prentiss County is one of twelve counties in Northeast Mississippi with the highest soil erosion in the state and Mississippi is ranked third in the nation in soil erosion. "The average county in Mississippi is losing more than 10 tons of topsoil per acre per year," said Dalton Garner of Booneville, Area IV Vice President, Mississippi Association of Conservation Districts. "Excessive soil erosion is taking a high toll of our valuable topsoil throughout our region," Garner added.

To emphasize the importance of these losses on agricultural production an Area HOT Field Day will be held on Aug. 23 at the James Creek Ranch in Aberdeen. The field day is being planned by farmers, landowners and supported by all agencies and organizations serving agriculture in the area.

According to Clifford J. Hampton, County Agent with the Cooperative Extension Service Prentiss County loses an average of 11 tons of topsoil per acre per year. "Some are severely eroding cropland is losing more than 30 tons per acre per year, about 10 times the amount that can be lost and still maintain crop production," Clifford Hampton said. Soil scientists say the tolerance of Northeast Mississippi soils is only 3 tons per acre per year.

"Work on the James Creek Ranch to be highlighted on Aug. 23 will show visitors how to conserve soil while maintaining or improving crop yields," said John Wilson, District Program Leader with the Cooperative Extension Service and member of the publicity committee for the field day. Demonstrations shown will be practical ones which farmers and landowners can easily use. Included will be conservation tillage, doublecropping, mechanical structures such as terraces and diversions, critical area treatment, crop residue management, and management of surface field ditches.

"We want everyone to become aware of the seriousness of the erosion problem and how practical steps may be made to stop it" County Agent Clifford Hampton said.

Soil Conservation News

By ED CALVERT
Soil Conservationist
Booneville Field Office

Last week the long awaited soil survey of Prentiss County by the Soil Conservation Service (SCS) got underway.

This survey will affect the work of many people. It will be beneficial to farmers and ranchers, home builders, bankers, the Highway Department, and many others.

The soil survey can help farmers in planning the kind of management which will protect the soil and still provide good yields. It will help zoning and planning commissions guide the urbanization of the land and can be used by engineers, home builders and realtors in selecting sites for roads, buildings, ponds, and other structures. A soil map can point out limitations in the soil.

In making the survey, soil scientists will cover every acre in the county making test borings and examining the soil to a depth of five feet. The soil is examined for texture, drainage, reaction, and structure. The slope of the soil is measured and recorded along with factors which might affect the suitability of the soil for farming, engineering, building sites, recreation, and other uses.

Soil scientists from the Soil Conservation Service will be working on the survey for approximately the next three years. These three men who will be doing this survey are Mac Robards (party leader), Rickey Cox, and Dwain Daniels.

Town and city people have an interest in the soil, too. Information gained from the soil survey applies to a small lot as well as to a large farm. The soil properties that affect farm and woodland uses are the same ones that affect the suitability of the soil for urban purposes. Whether you plan to dig a basement or a drainage canal, install a septic tank field or build a road, the kind of soil is important.

Soil characteristics like depth, texture, permeability, wetness, overflow hazard, slope, and erosion conditions greatly affect the cost and degree of success.

Many people are not aware that shade trees are like house plants in that they differ in their relative light requirements.

Most large shade trees grow well in full sunlight. However, shade is an entirely different situation. Some trees tolerate partial or full shade fairly well, others not so well.

Most large shade trees are not very tolerant of shade. Pines, oaks, gums, hickories, sycamore, elms and poplars all do best in full sun.

Others, such as magnolias, beeches and red maples, tolerate partial shade and grow reasonable well.

Many smaller trees, because they occur in the understory of large trees, have a natural tolerance to shade. These include dogwood, redbud, ironwood, silver bell, cherry laurel, American holly, yaupon and hophornbean.

The understory of large forest trees provides a "nursery" area for many species, protecting young seedlings from the burning sun of summer and the extreme cold of winter. As the trees get older and larger, they require more sunlight for optimum growth.

Very few native tree species in Mississippi will grow well in total or deep shade. All trees need a certain amount of light to manufacture food needed for growth. If you suspect a tree that you especially want in your landscape is not getting enough sun, it may suffice to "prune up" (remove lower limbs to raise the canopy) or thin out branches of larger overstory trees. Or, if the tree is not too large, it possibly can be transplanted to a sunnier spot.

Flowering trees almost always require more sunlight for flower production than for general overall growth. This is why trees such as dogwood will grow well in shady spots but bloom better in sunny spots.

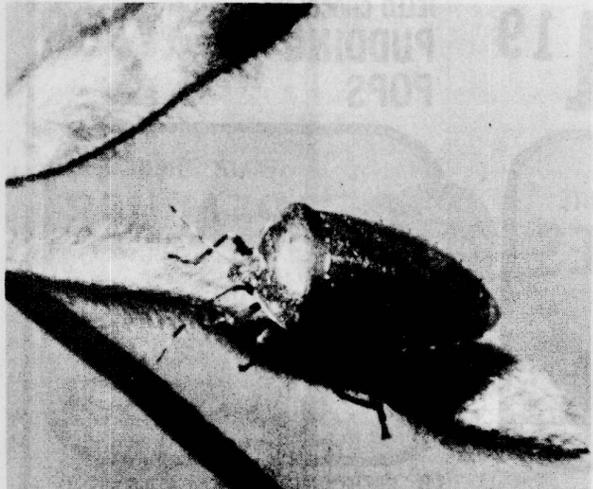

Stink Bug Control

The piercing, sucking mouthparts of the stink bug - primarily the southern green stink bug - can be devastating to soybean yield and quality. Consequently, the Mississippi Extension Service recommends that stink bug infestations be treated when routine field scouting turns up one stink bug per three feet of row.

According to Mississippi soybean insect experts, stink bugs inflict two basic kinds of unacceptable damage. First, penetration of developing pods can cause pods to stop developing or be aborted, reducing yield potential. Secondly, seed penetration causes seeds to become deformed or stained, factors that can result in dockage.

There are various insecticide treatments recommended for stink bug control. Formulations containing methyl parathion are rated highly for effectiveness and economical control. Methyl parathion provides immediate stink bug control because it is absorbed into the insect and doesn't require time-wasting ingestion.

FmHA Postpones Plans To Move District Offices

The Farmers Home Administration has announced that it has postponed indefinitely the moving of its district offices from Greenville and Clarksdale.

The Greenville district office was to have been moved to Vicksburg on Aug. 3, and the Clarksdale district office moved to Charleston on that date.

Don Barrett, State Director of FmHA, stated that the large number of construction projects presently being financed by FmHA in these districts make it impractical to move these offices now.

FmHA has in progress 18 apartment project loans totalling over 20 million dollars in these districts. "Mississippi's FmHA housing program has become the largest in the nation," stated Barrett. "We became concerned that moving these offices now might slow our growth rate."

Since Oct. 1, 1983, FmHA has poured more than 130 million dollars into Mississippi's housing industry, and is continuing to obligate funds at a rate of over one million dollars per day.

Home Economist's Notes

By PATTY K. ROBINSON
Extension Home Economist

Peaches can add variety to meals all year long if preserved in the summer when they are plentiful. Peaches can successfully be canned, frozen, dried or made into jams or preserves.

There are two general types of peaches including the freestone, where the flesh readily separates from the pit, and the cling, where the flesh clings tightly to the pit. Freestone varieties are generally selected for canning because of the ease in which the pit can be removed. Most people prefer to use cling peaches for eating fresh, freezing or drying.

When selection peaches, pick ones which are still fairly firm, with a yellow or creamy skin between the red areas. Avoid hard peaches with a distinct green color as these are immature and probably won't ripen satisfactorily. Avoid over-ripe peaches and those with large bruises or signs of decay.

When buying peaches to can or freeze, remember that a bushel of peaches weighs about 48 pounds and will yield about 18 quarts of canned or frozen fruit.

Peaches may successfully be canned in sugar syrup, water or fruit juice. Sugar improves the flavor and texture of canned peaches, but can be omitted.

Persons cutting down on sugar may wish to can in water or in fruit juice. Orange, pineapple and apple juice all make good substitutes for sugar syrup.

If you're going to substitute water or fruit juice or water as a filler to maintain the best quality. Frozen peaches should be stored at 0 degrees F or below and can be kept for up to 12 months.

Serve them with a few ice crystals still in the fruit. Peaches may be mushy and discolored if they are completely thawed.

In addition to their suitability for canning and freezing, peaches are wonderful for jams. Commercial pectin packages give instructions for jams, both cooked and uncooked kinds, and jelly.

For drying, select tree-ripened fruit for best flavor. Peeling is optional. The fruit will dry faster if peeled and sliced rather than dried in halves.

Dry peaches until they are leathery and pliable with no pockets of moisture. Dried peaches can be used as snacks, made into cobblers or pies or cut up and used in fruit breads and cookies. They also add variety to homemade granola.

4-H Notes

By WAYNE LAND
Extension 4-H Youth Agent

Just as spring brings flowers, fall brings the dairy shows. Through the 4-H dairy project, 1064 4-H dairy club members are enrolled. About 45 percent are girls and 55 percent are boys. These girls and boys learn many basic dairy practices while they participate in the 4-H dairy project. Here are some of the necessities in getting ready for dairy showtime:

To do your best in the shows, you need to start with a good calf. The girl or boy who starts with a mediocre or poor calf often becomes discouraged. Select your best animal to show, if you have more than one. When purchasing a calf, get the very best calf possible. The good calf will cost more, but it is well worth it in the long run. Remember your first calf will likely be a foundation animal you can build a small herd around.

In order to have your animal looking her best showday, you should blanket her for about six weeks. However, before you blanket the animal, she needs a good bath. Remove the blanket daily and give the animal a vigorous brushing. This removes the long hair and makes it smooth and fine. The animal should be kept out of the sun during the day while wearing the blanket.

Hay! Hay! Hay! Feed all the good quality hay your animal will eat. Hay should be fed in small quanties at least three times a day. Hay helps the heifer grow in the proper proportion and keeps her sharp and dairylike in appearance.

Your heifer needs just enough grain to keep her growing and in good condition. This will vary with each animal, but usually is about five pounds daily. Do not forget to provide TM salt and plenty of good fresh water.

Just as your fingernails need an occasional trimming, so will the hooves of your animal. Trim from the end of toes back. This can be done easily with a sharp one inch wood chisel. Stand the animal on a two inch thick board. Take only a small amount off each time and space the trimmings into about three different operations.

Always lead your animal with the show halter you plan to use on showday. Place the halter on the animal with the lead strap extending from the left side. Always lead your animal in a clockwise manner. This will put you on the outside of the circle when you lead with the left hand and walk backwards. Leading the heifer daily for short 15-minute periods is an ideal way to teach the animal to lead at your command.

Be sure you know the date of birth of your animal and what class she will show in. Also it is helpful to know her sire and if she is bred, when. On cows, know when she last calved. These are facts the judge might ask you and when you know the answer promptly, it usually means the judge is impressed and will likely result in a higher placing in the class.

Be sure you have your registration certificate ready for the show. You need a good tie-halter plus a good show halter. Your animal will eat and drink more readily if you carry the buckets to the show she uses at home. The fewer the changes, the better. Do not forget a good clean show blanket is helpful. You will also need a good show uniform for yourself.

Learn in advance the correct way to clip your animal. You might practice on an animal at home that you do not plan to show. There is an art to clipping an animal correctly. The way you clip your animal can very definitely improve your chances of placing higher in the class. Your agent can show you the proper way.

Three essentials are necessary to win "Blue Ribbons": (1) a good type calf, (2) good care, (3) proper training. For more information on proper preparation for shows, contact the Prentiss County Extension office.

Pounds, or about $8.50 in U.S. dollars, per person for a comfortable overnight stay including a large breakfast of cereal, tea or coffee, bread, bacon and sausage, and an egg cooked as you like it. No one pushes back from the table less than satisfied.

At the Merrick's farmhouse at Knock, a central Irish town that serves as a Roman Catholic pilgrimage city for many, including the Pope in a recent year, tourists can stay overnight in a beautiful Georgian style farm mansion and meander before breakfast through the ruins of a 13th century Norman Castle adjacent to the farmhouse.

In the Moore's constantly enlarging farmhouse near Cork overnights may discuss cattle, hay, or the variety of vegetable crops produced there with Mr. Moore who customarily sits and chats with his guests a little while each evening. Mrs. Moore is a congenial, often-laughing little farm lady who is constantly adding to or remodeling their farmhouse to accommodate more tourists. She and her daughter baked cakes the evening we were there for 16 athletes expected the next day.

We discussed the farm cooperatives and the Irish Farmers' Association which assist them in several phases of their farm business, and their practice of double-cropping tourism as a successful diversification which has added a new chapter to the story of Irish agriculture that includes a potato famine in the last century with its resultant mass migration of many Irish farmers to the United States for survival.

The "B and B" signs and the shamrock symbols are growing steadily each year as heralds of good sense and good times for an increasing tide of tourists -- and good business for Irish farm folk.

Local Supermarket Provides Training Videotapes For FBLA

At the recent Mississippi FBLA State Leadership Conference, members of the Prentiss County Vocational Technical School FBLA Chapter were told of a new way to sell the free enterprise system through the use of videotapes.

The tapes feature several Mississippi businesses, among them Coca Cola Bottling Company and Lewis Grocery Company, owner of the Sunflower Food Store chain.

These videotapes were prepared in cooperation with the Mississippi Economic Council to teach free enterprise concepts. They focus on how individuals recognized a need for a product and sought to fulfill that need.

FBLA members decided to seek the help of Charles W. Patten Jr. manager of the local Sunflower Food Store, in procuring these videotapes for the Prentiss County Vo-Tech.

Patten had been in touch with the president of Lewis Groceries and assured the FBLA Chapter that he would work with them with this free enterprise project.

It must also be remembered that these study committees have to have staffs and technical assistance, and so the tab keeps increasing, moreso since the same staff doesn't work for both the House and Senate interim committees.

All of this comes out of that nebulous thing called the House Contingent Fund and the Senate Contingent Fund, which seems to be regarded by some legislative leaders as play money. It is no subject to the same budgetary constraints as appropriations to state agencies.

There's even a new wrinkle in how certain favored legislators can draw money out of the contingent fund - the new legislative "advisers" removed under the new Governmental Reorganization Act.

In all, Newman has appointed a total of 66 House members to the interim committees, and to other various assignments for which they will draw money between sessions. Some House members are on more than one interim payroll.

Incidentally, only five out of the 26 House members who had voted for the rules changes to take away some of the powers of the Speaker, have wound up on the interim committees.

There is some feeling that Newman, by passing out goodies to more than a majority of the House membership may be able to effectively neutralize the threat to his power base which was beginning to appear toward the end of the 1984 session.

By LEE DAVIS
Librarian
George E. Allen Library

If you keep up with best-seller lists and book reviews, you know that octogenarian Helen Hoover Santmyer's "And Ladies of the Club" heads this week's lists.

A very long book, it is a fictionalized account of life in an Ohio town from 1868 to 1932. The Allen Library has a short waiting list for this novel to which your name will be added at your request.

Another from this week's list is The Witches of Eastwick, by John Updike in which three "witches" wreck havoc in a contemporary Rhode Island town.

Also on the list is Him with His Foot in His Mouth and Other Stories, a collection of five pieces of fiction by Nobel Prize winner Saul Bellow.

For several weeks Dr. Seuss has been on the best-seller list with The Butter Battle Book, a picture book essentially presenting a warning about the nuclear arms race.

On the non-fiction list is San Diego third baseman Greg Nettles' story about his experience with the New York Yankees entitled Balls.

W.R. Morris has written a popular biography of Tennessee sheriff Buford Pusser called The Twelfth of August. A movie Walking Tall and its sequel made the man a hero. In a new publication, Buford, Morris compares the real story and the moving picture version. "It's a historical tragedy, but Hollywood drowned the real Buford Pusser in fiction ink," Morris insists.

The library is glad to be receiving new books suited especially to young adults of high school age, through both younger and older readers find them interesting. These are labeled with a Y on the spine and shelved separately.

Lindsay, Lindsay, Fly away Home is an interesting one about a seventeen-year-old world-traveler suddenly sent to live in a U.S. suburb with an aunt who is a total stranger. There is a bit of mystery in this story by Stella Pevsner, who also wrote A Smart Kid Like You and Maybe, Cute Is a Four-Letter Word.

Girls' All-Star Game

Prentiss Duo Provides Fireworks Despite Loss

By SCOTT MCKINNEY
Sports Writer

Although the North squad lost to the South, the crowd of over 3,000 fans at Saturday's Girls' High School All-Star Game at the Mississippi Coliseum in Jackson went home impressed with two Prentiss County athletes.

Wheeler's Tangie Miller and Booneville's Kunshinge Sorrell provided the majority of the fireworks despite their team's exciting 51-48 loss to the South.

Miller, who has signed with Coach Van Chancellor's Ole Miss Lady Rebels, grabbed eight rebounds, made nine assists, scored five points and made six steals. She was named the game's Most Valuable Defensive Player.

Sorrell, who has signed to play with Coach Rickey Ford and the Northeast Tigerettes, was the game's high scorer with 19 points. Sorrell, co-captain of the North squad, set an All-Star record with 15 assists.

"It really felt great to be able to play in this game," Miller said. "I was glad I had the chance to play against such great talent."

Although the Prentiss County athletes stole the show, the South won the game, outscoring the North 13-2 in the final three minutes to pull ahead for the victory.

Sorrell made a last second effort to put the North on top with a 15-foot jump shot with three seconds left. But, the shot was long and the South prevailed.

"I knew as soon as I let the ball go that it wasn't going in," Sorrell said. "I just hoped Valerie (Valerie Rushing of New Hope High School) could get the rebound and put it back in."

Both teams got off to a slow start as the intensity of the game showed on all faces. Rushing scored the first points, hitting a 10-footer at the 5:15 mark, giving the North their first lead.

Ironically, Rushing would hit another 10-foot shot late in the fourth period to give the North squad their last lead.

The South opened up to a 13-9 lead after one period of play as Mae Ola Bolten of McLain High School led the way. Bolten was named the game's Most Valuable Offensive Player, edging out Sorrell for the award.

North Coach Phil Adair of Alcorn Central inserted Sorrell and Miller into the lineup as the second quarter started. The move paid off.

Sorrell scored 11 of her team's 15 second quarter points and Miller made three key steals as the North pulled ahead with a 24-19 halftime lead.

Sorrell hit an 18-foot jumper as the time expired in the first half to give the North their five point lead.

The North squad held on to a six-point lead as the third period ended. And Rushing held America's best high school girl's basketball player, 6'4" Chana Perry of Brookhaven, to just two points.

The North squad ran into a cold shooting spell in the final period. Perry came alive and scored 10 points, and Sorrell's last second effort was only inches too long to push the South ahead for the win.

"When we had the ball with under a minute left in the game, we called time out and I told them that we wanted Kunshinge to take the last shot," Coach Adair said. "From where I was sitting it looked like the ball was going in. But, she had a tough shot over a 6'4" defender and it was just long."

"I wanted Kunshinge to shoot the last shot because I know she is capable of handling that type of pressure and making the basket," Adair said. "Also, she has hit two last second shots against me and I know first hand that she is capable of the game-winner."

"But, she gave a great effort and I'm proud of her and the rest of these girls. They've been a great group to work with all week," Adair said.

Sorrell was also disappointed that her shot didn't go in, but said she was very happy that she got to play in the game.

"It was just like playing in the finals of the State Tournament. I've always dreamed of playing in this game and I am really glad I got to play against some of these other players," Sorrell said. "It will be something that I will remember forever."

Miller said she will start preparing for the tough Southeastern Conference in the next few weeks. And Sorrell said she will be working out, getting ready for her first season as a college athlete.

Girls' Softball Action

Rotary Stays Unbeaten After Eighth Week

By GREG SHOOK
Sports Writer

Rotary's girls remain undefeated after eight complete weeks of softball, while H & W Industries and Otasco keep the second place spot up for grabs.

In make-up games Thursday night Ethridge Auto Supply defeated H & W 5-4 in extra innings. And the night cap game saw Rotary whipping Otasco 12-2 in three innings.

In the H & W - Ethridge game, Ethridge jumped ahead 1-0 in the first inning after Marla Southern batted Julie Owens in. In the third inning H & W scored two runs to pull ahead of Ethridge.

Ethridge then went scoreless during the third and fourth innings, and in the fifth H & W scored two more runs to give them a 4-1 lead and a likely victory.

But in the final inning Ethridge came back to tie the score at four-all. Then Traci Dodds looped one to right field to drive in Angie Eaton and the winning run.

Top hitters in the game was Marla Southern, who went 3-3 for Ethridge and Jodi McKinney, also 3-3, for H & W Industries.

In the second game Rotary led off the first inning with four runs and never looked back, adding five more in the second to make it clear they intended to come out on top.

Otasco, did not give up so easily. They came out in the second inning for what looked like a rally, but only found one run. In the third and final inning Otasco could again find only one run, while Rotary scored three to seal the win.

Top hitters in the game were Kim Wren, going 2-2 for Otasco and Rotary's Brandie Pitts, also 2-2.

More make-up games were played Friday night. In the first game H & W Industries beat Otasco 9-2 in a battle for second place. In the second game Rotary waxed Ethridge 17-0.

In the first game the first inning went scoreless. But in the second inning H & W managed a run while Otasco stayed at zip.

In the third inning H & W broke it loose with a five run rally, then came back in what looked like another rally to score two, putting the score at 6-2.

In the final inning Otasco went scoreless while H & W managed three more runs to finish the ball game at 9-2.

Leading H & W hitters were Leigh Ann Stewart and Chasity Johnson, both going 2-3. For Otasco it was Kim Wren, Laticie Mathis and Leigh Carol Jackson, all going 2-2.

In what many would call a blow-out, Rotary's Jill Johnson pitched a one hitter as Rotary had just one error in the game against Ethridge.

In the first inning Rotary scored 10 runs while Ethridge went silent. Then in the second inning Rotary received seven more runs to finish off Ethridge.

Leading Rotary were Brandie Pitts and Keta Stevens, both going 3-3. The only hit against Rotary came on an error by the second baseman. Marla Southern was given the credit for the hit.

Rotary	8-0
H & W Industries	4-4
Otasco	4-4
Ethridge	2-6

Little League At City Park

Brown Shoe, Sonic Still Tied For First 1st

By SCOTT MCKINNEY
Sports Writer

With only one week left in the regular season, Brown Shoe and Sonic are again tied for first place in the City Park's Little League.

Both teams have games this week that could decide the league championship. However, if both teams are tied at the end of the season, Sonic will be declared the league champions because they have already beaten Brown Shoe earlier in the season.

Sonic seemed to have the league title all wrapped up until Peoples Bank beat the Sonic squad last week 13-9.

John Walendzik got credit for the win in the game while Bryan Fisher was charged with the loss.

Chris Chism, Scott Brown, Walendzik and Jason Carr all led Peoples Bank at the plate with three hits each. Josh Tollison, Gary Holder, Todd Jones and Fisher all had two hits each for Sonic with Fisher blasting a solo homerun.

Sonic did manage to stay on top of league standings, however, as they beat First Bank 10-0 last week.

Darren Hughes pitched a one-hitter and struck out six to earn the win for Sonic. Chris Roy was charged with the loss.

Hughes also drove in the winning run as he blasted a two run homerun in the early innings for Sonic. Gary Holder also added two hits. Tim Stolz got First Bank's only hit on the evening.

Prentiss Mfg. slipped past Pizza Inn last week 3-2 in other league play.

Jason Etheridge got the victory as he struck out six. Jimbo Laster was charged with the loss.

Bronson Tabler and Chris Burcham had two hits each to lead Prentiss at the plate. Marty Dacus and Kevin Robinson had two hits each for Pizza Inn in a losing effort.

Prentiss won their second game of the week as they later beat Johnson's Lumber 13-12 in a pure slugfest.

Jason Etheridge again earned credit for the victory while Joey Clark was charged with the loss.

Jason Livingston, Bronson Tabler and Chris Burcham all had three hits each to pace Prentiss. Shane Taylor, Billy Mitchell and Robert Bots all led Johnson's with three hits and Taylor also blasted a homerun.

In T-ball action last week, the Jaycees were forced to forfeit to Farmer's and Merchant's and Rotary knocked off Bank of Mississippi.

The brackets for both the t-ball and little league tournaments are in this week's edition of the Banner-Independent.

Fishing Roundup

Weather Cooperative For Area Anglers

By SCOTT MCKINNEY
Sports Writer

The fishing in all of the area lakes has started to pick up as the weather has been very co-operative for all anglers.

Early afternoon and evening thundershowers enhance the chances for all fishermen to get good results while fishing. The fish usually start biting when the thundershowers are about to occur as the barometric pressure drops causing the fish to become more active.

Also, Baldwin semi-professional angler Danny Comer said that August is usually an excellent fishing month because the fish are feeding more.

BAY SPRINGS - The bream have been the best biting fish at Bay Springs Lake since it first opened this past spring.

But, the bream fishing has slowed down in the lake from the earlier months. However, anglers are still catching anywhere from 10 to 40 bream each trip out. Some of the better bream areas for the next few weeks should be Wilson's Point and Jackson's Camp.

Many fishermen are also catching a few catfish in the lake. But, most of these fish have been caught on trot lines. August is considered the catfish season and early reports show that the season is already underway in some areas of the lake.

The bass at Bay Springs are also starting to bite better than they have been in the past. They are still in the shallow water areas and three inch balsa bees and crank baits have generally been the best baits.

SARDIS - Sardis Lake is still red hot as it has been all summer. The bass are biting worms and balsa bees in the rivers and backwater sections of the lake. Also, the bream are biting very well in the backwater sections. Crickets and worms have been the best baits.

PICKWICK - The fishing at Pickwick Lake has been very slow over the past six weeks. A lot of fish are being caught on trot lines, but the anglers have been struggling on the lake.

However, Pickwick is known for its August and September fishing so anglers should start getting some good results within the next few weeks.

FISHING TALES - One of the loyal readers of this column told me recently that he went fishing at one of the area lakes and had terrible results. He couldn't believe that I had said the fishing was good at this lake.

However, it turns out that he wasn't fishing in the area which I said would produce the best results. He had fished in an area that wasn't known for the fish that were caught there.

So, it goes to show one thing - Always listen to me and you'll always catch a lot of fish. (Right, Ed?)

Remember, if you have any questions, tips or comments, feel free to send me your mail. Address your letters to the Fishing Roundup, the Banner-Independent, P.O. Box 269, Booneville, Miss. 38829.

Until next week, good fishing!

Jumpertown Park Action Stays Hot To The End

The season at the Jumpertown City Park is now near the end, but the action is still hot.

Last Tuesday, July 24, the action featured Cardinal Cafe defeating Prentiss Mfg. In the second game Geno Livestock barely escaped from the hands of Geno Auto Parts in extra innings. And, in the final game the J'Team beat Sell-Rite.

Monday night's action saw Geno Livestock defeat Palmer Backhoe in a close game. Cardinal Cafe beat Prentiss Mfg. in the second game. In the third game the Honeybee's defeated Wesley Fence.

The Tuesday night games featured Sweeney Dairy over Kossuth and Jumper Oil also defeating Kossuth.

In the final game of the evening Concord Baptist Church played Geno Auto Parts. However the scores were not available at press time.

This will be the schedule for next's weeks action at the Jumpertown City Park:

Monday, August 6, 6:30 p.m. - Jumper Oil vs. Sweeney Dairy, 7:30 p.m. - Concord Baptist Church vs. Palmer Backhoe, 8:30 p.m. - Wesley Fence vs. Jumper Oil & Sweeney Dairy.

Tuesday, August 7, 6:30 p.m. - Geno Livestock vs. Geno Auto Parts, 7:30 p.m. - J'Team Express vs. Perrigo Fertilizer, 8:30 p.m. - Sell-Rite vs. J'Team Express.

On Thursday night, August 9, a Hot-Dog supper for all the teams will be held at the park. Team trophies will be awarded at the supper.

At 8:00 p.m. the Old Timers game will be played.

Jumpertown City Park Director Steve Goldman wishes to invite everyone out to enjoy the action.

Ward Named NCAA Region 23 Director

Northeast Junior College Athletic Director Bill Ward was recently named director of the National Community College Athletic Association's Region 23 area.

Ward, who headed the Northeast football program for fourteen years before taking over as athletic director, was elected director of Mississippi and Louisiana Junior College athletics at the Region 23 coaches meeting in Jackson last week.

Ward's two year term begins Aug. 1, as he replaces Holmes Junior College Athletic Director Benny Kimbell. Among Ward's new duties will be the planning of regional tournaments and playoffs, selection of All-American candidates from the region and investigation in ruling on the eligibility of individuals and member colleges. He will also represent the region at the NCAA legislative assembly.

"It's an honor to be selected by my colleagues to serve as their voice in the national organization," Ward said. "I'm proud to be associated with an organization that has served its membership so well."

Sports Roundup

City Park Holding Softball Tournament

Booneville West Side City Park Athletic Director Roger Inman announced Monday that the park will be sponsoring an open softball tournament next week for all interested men's and women's teams.

The drawing for the tournament will be Tuesday, Aug. 6, at 7 at the park pavilion. The tournament will start Aug. 9. The entry fee will be $40 and teams will hit their own Blue Dot softballs.

Anyone that is interested should contact Inman at the City Park or by calling 728-3440, or be present at the drawing.

Park Asking For Help

Booneville Alderman R.G. Houston said Tuesday that he needs the help of the citizens of Booneville on the preservation of the new jogging trail.

According to Houston, the trail is only for walkers and joggers and vehicles with wheels are not permitted on the trail. However, wheelchairs will be allowed to go on the trail Houston said.

People on three-wheelers, bicyclist and persons in automobiles have been on the trail. But, Houston warns that anyone violating the new rules will be fined.

Also, the city is asking for help on the new football stadium, which is expected to be completed in September.

Donations and volunteers to help prepare the stands and pressbox are needed at the present time. Anyone that would like to help the park with this project should contact Houston or Park Director Freddie Loveless.

BHS Gridders To Meet

Booneville High School Athletic Director and Head Football Coach Wayne Jones announced Monday that there will be a team meeting Aug. 6, at 6 in the football dressing room for all athletes in grades 8-12 who are interested in playing football this fall.

Also, Jones said that the athletes will take their physicals Tuesday, Aug. 7, at 2 in the emergency room at the Baptist Memorial Hospital. Jones stressed that it is very important for the players to attend both meetings.

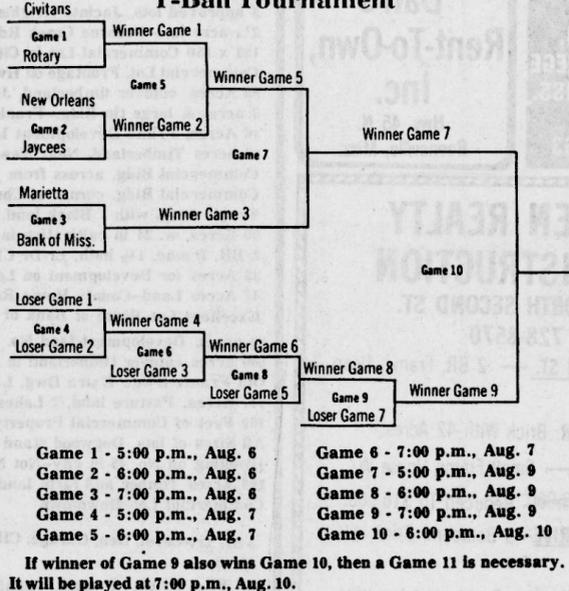

Any player needing more information should contact Jones at the football coaches office or at home.

In 1919 John Weeks came across an old German recipe for hamburgers while he was visiting St. Louis. That same year, he returned to Corinth and opened a hamburger stand. Fate Weeks, 10 years old at the time, began his career there with his brother John. At one time, five of the Weeks' brothers were selling hamburgers in Corinth at the same time - John, Cord, Dave, Bill and Fate. In 1957, Fate came to Booneville. He sold hamburgers from four different locations in Booneville before retiring. For the first time in 56 years there wasn't a Weeks selling hamburgers. In 1980, Fate's son, Willie, and his wife, Dianne, took over the last cafe that Fate Weeks had opened in Booneville. Today, they serve the same old-fashioned hamburgers that have been a family tradition for 65 years.

Prentiss County Schools Seeking Handicapped Students

The Prentiss County School System is looking for handicapped children 21 years of age and under who are not being served.

Handicapped children include those who are mentally retarded, hard of hearing, deaf, orthopedically impaired, speech impaired, visually handicapped, seriously emotionally disturbed, or children with specific learning disabilities.

Prentiss County School System provides for handicapped children in the following ways: It guarantees all rights and protection for the children set forth following ways: It guarantees all rights and protection for the children set forth by the law. It establishes the kind and number of facilities and services required to reach and maintain full service for these children. It defines "appropriate" education through the development of an individual education plan. It also guarantees the maintenance of full due process and safeguard procedures, uses assessment procedures which are multi-factored, multi-scored, and carried out by qualified persons, and protects the confidentiality of data.

If you know of any handicapped children who are not in school, please contact James Googe (Prentiss County's Child Finder) by calling 728-4632 or writing to him at the following address: P.O. Box 779, Booneville, Miss. 38829. When a child who is suspected of being handicapped is referred, the Child Finder will make sure that the referral is properly evaluated and, if found eligible, either placed in an existing class or placed on a waiting list with plans being made for the provision of a free appropriate public education to him in accordance with applicable state and federal laws and court decision.

USDA Raises Income Limits For Child Nutrition Program

New income limits for the child nutrition programs became effective July 1, Assistant Secretary Mary C. Jarratt said.

The income limit for free school meals for a family of four was raised from $12,870 to $13,260 annually. The limit for reduced-price meals increased from $18,315 to $18,870.

Now a family of four may receive up to $18,870 and still take part in the supplementary food program for women, infants and children. Previously, the income limit was $18,315.

Congress requires USDA to update the eligibility guidelines each July 1, to reflect changes in the consumer price index. These guidelines affect the national school lunch, school breakfast, special milk and child care food programs, all administered by USDA's Food and Nutrition Service at the Federal level.

Maximum annual gross income limits for participation are:

Household size, free meal eligibility and reduced price eligibility are as follows: 1, $6,474, $9,213; 2, $8,736, $12,432; 3, $10,998, $15,651; 4, $13,260, $18,870;

5, $15,522, $22,089; 6, $17,784, $25,308; 7, $20,046, $28,527; 8, $22,308, $31,746.

For each additional family add: $2,262 for free meal eligibility and $3,219 for reduced price eligibility.

State and local agencies on July 1 began applying the new income eligibility standards to all new applicants for the WIC program, and to all current participants at their next certification.

The WIC program now serves a record 3 million participants a monthly package of supplemental foods.

Veterans Business Conference This Saturday In Jackson

The U.S. Small Business Administration in co-sponsorship with Hinds Jr. College will conduct a business training conference for Veterans in Jackson Aug. 4.

The conference will be held at the Coliseum Ramada Inn. Registration will begin at 8 a.m. and the conference will conclude at 6 p.m.

The conference will offer business counseling, management training, and will be of special benefit to Vietnam-era and disabled veterans, many of whom are interested in going into business for themselves or are already in business. All veterans are invited to attend however.

A conference fee of $10.00 includes the luncheon and reception. The following subjects will be offered: Starting and Managing a Small Business; Sources of Capital; Business Planning; Legal Structure and Taxes; Recordkeeping; Home-Base Businesses and Franchising; Sales Promotion and Advertising; and SBA Programs.

Each session, with one exception, will be conducted by a Vietnam veteran with expertise in the subject. Representatives from approximately twenty agencies and organizations will be present to provide information and answer questions, at their individual booth. Many other agencies and organizations have assisted in the planning of this important conference.

For further information contact the SBA at (601) 960-4378 or Hinds Jr. College at (601) 857-3352.

AT&T Introducing One-Call System For Business Customers

AT&T Information Systems is introducing a new one-call maintenance service for business telecommunications equipment and facilities.

The new offering, called "Service-Plus," coordinates maintenance of AT&T equipment, including phones served by Centrex systems - plus, customers' voice and data lines.

"A major new concept for AT&T since divestiture, Service-Plus is one of a broad line of highly flexible maintenance offerings geared to the diverse needs of a wide variety of customers," said Reid McGee, area vice president of AT&T Information Systems' installation and maintenance operations.

With Service-Plus, AT&T agrees to take all maintenance calls from the customer, isolate troubles to line or equipment, repair its equipment or refer line troubles to the appropriate carrier and oversee the resolution of the problem.

The new service will be sold to customers in Mississippi through AT&T Information Systems' marketing branch offices and business service and sales centers.

In addition to Service-Plus, AT&T introduced five major equipment maintenance options which allow customers to tailor service coverage to their individual needs. The new options - which in no way alter existing agreements with customers - include:

"Business Day Service." AT&T's standard maintenance agreement offering for most products provides coverage from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday and includes spare parts. The company will respond within four hours for major system failures and within 24 hours for minor system failures.

"Around-the-Clock Service" extends business day coverage to 24 hours a day, seven days a week (including holidays) for major system failures.

"Dedicated Service" offers customers a full-time systems technician(s) on site for one, two or three shifts a day for five, six or seven days a week. This technician is responsible for equipment moves and changes and can perform emergency maintenance.

"Exchange Point Service." Under this option - which was initially limited to customers with Merlin communications systems - all business customers can drop off or mail in equipment for repair or replacement at designated service sites.

"Per-Occurrence Service" lets customers contract for service on a time-and-materials basis and is available alone or in conjunction with other options.

"These are only our standard maintenance options," said McGee. "More are on the way."

State Paralysis Association Chartered Recently

The Mississippi Paralysis Association has recently been chartered by the State of Mississippi, as a non-profit Corporation.

The main function of the Association will be to serve as a support group to the newly paralyzed and their families. It will offer friendship and emotional support, give advice on home and van modifications, recommend least expensive sources for supplies, and suggest possible agencies for financial assistance.

It plans to inform members of promising spinal cord research and encourage friendships through annual gatherings and fund raising benefits. The Board of Directors will use money when available for funding promising spinal cord research.

A search is now being conducted across Mississippi for those paralyzed due to spinal cord injury. Due to the Patient Privacy Act no lists are available from doctors or from the Mississippi Methodist Rehabilitation Center.

Join Mississippi Paralysis Association today by writing P.O. Box 4268, Jackson, Ms. 39216 or calling 601-366-3672. No membership fee is being charged at present. However, one of the greatest needs of the Association is adequate funding.

Contributions from prospective members or friends of the paralyzed can be made and sent to the above address. A memorial or contribution made in honor of a paralyzed friend will be acknowledged appropriately.

An organizational lakeside picnic is being planned for August in Jackson. All paralyzed Mississippians and their families are invited.

The need for Mississippi Paralysis Association will grow because more people are surviving catastrophic injuries. Great strides have been made in rehabilitation, accessibility for the handicapped, and research.

Center Formed To Prevent Underground Cable Damage

Contractors, home gardeners, builders and other excavators can now save time and prevent damage to underground utility cables and pipelines with only one toll-free telephone call - to the Mississippi One-Call Center.

More than 40 utilities, municipalities and other organizations have formed the non-profit One-Call Center to help protect underground communications lines, gas transmission and distribution lines, electric power lines, pipelines, water, sewer, cable television and other underground facilities throughout the state.

Using computerized records, the center can tell an excavator which companies have underground facilities in an area. The center will then notify these companies that the cables and pipelines need to be marked to prevent damage.

"The system will not only cut down on damage to cables and pipelines saving money and inconvenience for the public, but it should also make work easier for contractors," explained Sam Johnson, center administrator.

"People doing excavation work should call us two working days before they start digging. This will give the companies with underground facilities enough time to mark them before digging begins," Johnson said.

Callers should give the center their name and telephone number, a complete address for the digging site and a description of the type of work to be done.

"The locating work can be done even more quickly if we also have the full legal description of the location including the section township, and range information," Johnson said.

"Similar systems have been established in 40 other states with great success, so we have high hopes for this program," Johnson added.

The toll-free number for the Mississippi One-Call Center is 1-800-227-6477. The center is open Monday through Friday, 7:30 a.m.-5:00 p.m.

There is no charge for the locating service. Member fees cover the cost of operating the center.

The Ins & Outs Of Getting A Patent

By ED BLAKE
Mississippi
Farm Bureau
Federation

Farm people, of necessity, are some of the most ingenious people on earth, and some of their improvisations have led to industrial products of such consequence that some of them or their heirs may yet be kicking themselves for not having a patent on that new gizmo they made.

Also, many citizens invest a lot of time and money needlessly, thinking they are standing on the brink of fame and fortune when dozens or maybe hundreds of others have beat them to the patent office.

The U.S. Patent Office is the federal agency that accepts, but mostly rejects, patent applications and sets people straight regarding the first person to cross the legal wire through the patent process.

Following are some of the facts concerning the patenting process which may be useful to those considering applying for a patent.

It has been said that necessity is the mother of invention. And that's how farmers get so heavily involved in improvisation - to save "down time" when equipment breaks down in the field, or to adapt a piece of bought equipment to function in an alternate manner as needed.

So, if you think that odd contraption that you came up with holds promise for good fortune to come your way, look at the procedures of patenting. You then may hasten into the patent life, or you may back off from patent application.

The lure of a patent is the fact that the inventor gets exclusive rights to produce, use or sell an invention for 17 years. How much success he achieves in producing, using or selling his invention is up to him. But there are some requisites that must be met from the outset of patent consideration.

A patent search on a free basis is a logical first beginning. This determines if the invention infringes upon any other patents and if the invention is of patentable significance. Many refinements are made on processes and devices that already exist and most of them are not significant enough to warrant a patent.

There are patent lawyers around to conduct this search. Also there are patent search firms available that specialize in this service. It is considered best to deal with a searcher who specializes in the subject of the invention. The cost of a patent search will be about $150 or more.

Submission of an application does not protect an idea, although the terms "patent applied for" and "patent pending" may be attached to the invention during the patent process.

The patent process may take two to three years to complete at a cost of $1,000 or more. During this time it is well to promote the utilization or marketing of the product, especially since a patent has a limited life.

Another key step is having a patent lawyer write a description of every detail of the invention in proper legal terminology. This is important to prevent court challenges by someone who may have developed something similar or an improvement in the existing invention.

The ratio of patented inventions to patent applications is very, very low - but the advantage through profits for successful inventors are enormous and should not be taken lightly.

According To SS District Manager

Employers Of Household Help Must Report Wages To Social Security

According to Hugh Tigrett, District Manager, Social Security Administration in Tupelo, people who employ help around the house on a regular basis - gardeners, babysitters, cooks, and other types of household workers - should be sure to become familiar with the rules governing when and how wages paid should be reported for Social Security purposes.

Failure to do so can mean problems for all concerned, ranging from a fine for the employer to a gap in the Social Security protection for the employee.

Tigrett stated many people do not realize the responsibilities they have once they decide to have someone work for them.

The employer is responsible for deducting the taxes from the employee's pay, adding the employer's share of the tax, and sending the taxes and a report of wages paid, to the Internal Revenue Service.

Records of each person's earnings are held at the Social Security Administration in Baltimore, Maryland. This record is the basis for the payment of benefits when a person retires, becomes disabled, or to the family when a person dies.

Tigrett pointed out that household workers' wages are covered by Social Security only if they amount to $50 in cash from one employer during a calendar quarter - a 3-month period beginning January, April, July, or October.

If the wages paid a household worker are less than $50, no reporting is necessary. The IRS office has forms that can be used for reporting wages and paying Social Security taxes.

In 1984, employers pay 7 cents on each dollar of wages paid and employees pay 6.7 cents.

Reporting wages of household workers has traditionally been a troublesome problem, according to Tigrett. In addition to widespread lack of awareness of their reporting responsibilities on the part of many employers, many employees prefer not to have their wages reported since income taxes may also be payable.

Employees may discourage reporting and refuse to work for a person who insists on reporting. Many employers find it necessary to pay both the employer and the employee Social Security tax in order to get competent household help.

It is important to note that the responsibility - and the liability - for reporting rests with the employer. Failure to report may result in a fine for unpaid taxes.

And many employees change their minds about the informal agreement not to report when they apply for benefits. This may mean a visit from the IRS to collect back taxes.

Employers or employees who wish more information on reporting of household workers' wages should call the Social Security office and ask for SSA Publication No. 05-10021.

The telephone number is 842-6211.

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK:

Summer Sales...

By C. D. Edge

God has no Summer Sales. He never offers spiritual benefits in the bargain basement of the world. This means that to be a spiritual person you'll have to pay full price. Most of us have read the price tags as we have admired the spiritual character of people who were used of God. When we turn the tag over, we know the price will be the same - and really we don't want it to change - but somehow we pass up quality spiritual things when we read these familiar prices.

BIBLE STUDY - We don't obtain spiritual knowledge by osmosis. Bible truths are the reward of those who seek diligently.

SERVICE - Present your bodies, the Bible says - nothing less is satisfactory. Christianity is both being and doing.

The price tags are the same as they have always been. There will be no Summer Sale on Spiritual Character. You'll just have to pay full price... or settle for less and live a disappointed life.

'Nova' Program To Relate Latest Facts About Alcoholism

Nova examines the many aspects of alcoholism - medical, historical and social - in a rebroadcast at 8 p.m., Tuesday, Aug. 7, on Mississippi ETV.

In a culture in which alcohol is socially acceptable, the search for a scientific understanding of alcoholism is a complex as the disease.

"Alcoholism: Life Under the Influence," first seen on ETV in January, points out that, until recently, the alcoholic personality was considered weak and defective; but new evidence suggests that no such personality exists.

Today medical research is revealing that there may well be a genetic basis for the disease and that children could be screened for it.

This emerging development holds profound implications for preventive treatment in the future. But until these screening tests are developed, finding and treating the alcoholic patient remains one of the most pervasive frustrations in American health care.

At the end of each session all the instructors returned to their schools eager to use their new knowledge in the classroom.
