Reward Offered

Officials of Belmont Manufacturing Co. are offering a $1,000 reward for information leading to the arrest and prosecution of the person or persons who broke into their factory building on the Highway 30-4 Bypass and rifled a safe Wednesday night, Aug. 1.

According to owners Thurston and Reggie Little, the thieves forced their way into the building by tearing out a section of wall on the north side of the building.

They then kicked open the door to the comptroller's office and opened the safe. "They either were accomplished safe crackers or already knew the combination," said Thurston Little, who said the safe was not damaged.

Little said $200 in petty cash was missing and the thieves had obviously gone through files kept in the safe. "A financial statement may be missing," he said.

Little said the missing money was proceeds from the soft drinks machines. "It is actually money belonging to our employees. They use it to pay for their annual Christmas party," he said.

The Littles said they were offering the $1,000 reward on behalf of the employees. "We want the thief or thieves caught not so much for personal gratification, but for the company, itself. It's a matter of principle," said Thurston Little.

The Littles said they bought the furniture manufacturing company March 1, 1984, and have shown "tremendous growth" in the four months since the purchase. "Sales have almost doubled," said Thurston Little.

He said the company employs 100 people.

Local S&L Sold

Security Savings has acquired New North Mississippi Federal Savings & Loan of Oxford.

The institution's branch offices including the one in Booneville, will become branches of Security Savings, according to H.C. Bailey Jr., president of the Jackson-based company which acquired New North Mississippi from the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation.

To help with the acquisition, the FSLIC purchased all of New North Mississippi's non-performing loans for cash and provided other assistance.

"We at Security are pleased to begin our service to the people of North Mississippi, and we welcome the opportunity to compete in this vital area of our state," Bailey said.

"There will be no inconvenience or interruption of service to New North Mississippi customers, and we will honor existing supplies of New North Mississippi checks," he said.

Security now has consolidated assets of more than $250 million and net worth of more than $15 million, with 23 offices statewide, according to Bailey.

Bailey said Security is one of the H.C. Bailey Companies, a Mississippi organization that began more than 53 years ago.

Its other interests include mortgage banking, residential and commercial insurance, property management, real estate sales, residential construction, real estate investments, real estate development and the only private vault facility in Mississippi, he said.

Brown Shoe To Cease Operations

By ED WOODWARD
Managing Editor

Brown Shoe Co. officials announced Friday that they are closing three area factories, including the Booneville plant which employs approximately 425 people.

In a prepared statement, Alton Phillips, manager of the Booneville plant, said, "It is with regret that Brown Shoe Co. announces that the factory here in Booneville will discontinue operations in the near future.

"This decision is the result of ongoing consolidation within certain footwear manufacturing operations and is directly related to changing market conditions and the rising level of imports," Phillips said.

"Brown Shoe Co. appreciates the cooperation and support of its employees in the Booneville community. And we will assist the people of Booneville in every way possible to find a new industry to occupy the facility.

"In the meantime, we will honor our responsibilities for maintaining the plant until the lease expires or, if prior to the end of the lease, agreement can be reached with a new industry."

Phillips referred any further questions to J.B. Biggs Jr., vice-president for public relations, at the company's St. Louis home office.

Asked the schedule for closing, Biggs said, "There is no specific schedule at this time. It will be in the near future...over the next several months. We have not set a specific target date."

"The layoffs will begin immediately," Biggs said.

Biggs admitted the closing of the Booneville plant and two other Brown Shoe Co. plants in Selmer and Humboldt, Tenn., is the result of losses suffered by the company because of competition from cheaper imported shoes.

"This is directly related to the import situation. It has not hurt us universally; just primarily in our unbranded lines of footwear, such as we manufacture in Booneville," Biggs said.

Local businessmen and officials are hopeful that a replacement industry can be found for the 400-plus people about to lose their jobs.

"All the merchants are sorry to see such a fine employer discontinue operations," said Marshall Dickerson, president of the Booneville Uptown Merchants Association.

"We're especially concerned for the over 400 people who have worked there, and we want to pledge our support to the mayor, and the development association and others who will be seeking a new industry to take up the slack.

"We feel like, with the positive business climate that we have here in Booneville, that something will come along to offer new employment."

Speaking for himself, Dickerson said, "I'm confident that another employer can be found. These people who worked at Brown Shoe were some of the best employees in the county."

"We're very saddened that this is happening," said Mayor Charles E. Crabb.

Asked what was being done to try to find a new tenant for the Brown Shoe Co. building, Crabb said, "The building belongs to the county and Friday, when I was notified by company officials, I immediately called the Board of Economic Development in Jackson, making them aware that we would have a

Possible Help From Other Area Manufacturers Soon

According to Prentiss County Development Association Executive Director Doug Mansell, approximately 400 new jobs will become available in Prentiss County over the next six months.

All, however, would require retraining of workers formerly skilled in footwear manufacturing at Brown Shoe Co., he admitted.

"I have been checking with other area manufacturers. And things look better than I thought," Mansell said.

"Parker-Hannifin is going to employ an additional 170 people by the first part of 1985," he said, adding that this number is in addition to people the local auto parts manufacturing plant presently has scheduled for training.

Mansell said officials of Park Lane furniture told him they plan to hire an additional 50 employees "by the first quarter of 1985."

"And, in Baldwin, the new Southern Diversified Industries plant will be hiring an additional 140 people by first quarter '85, and Mesker-Clark, a new company about to begin construction, will be hiring 40 to 50 people," Mansell said.

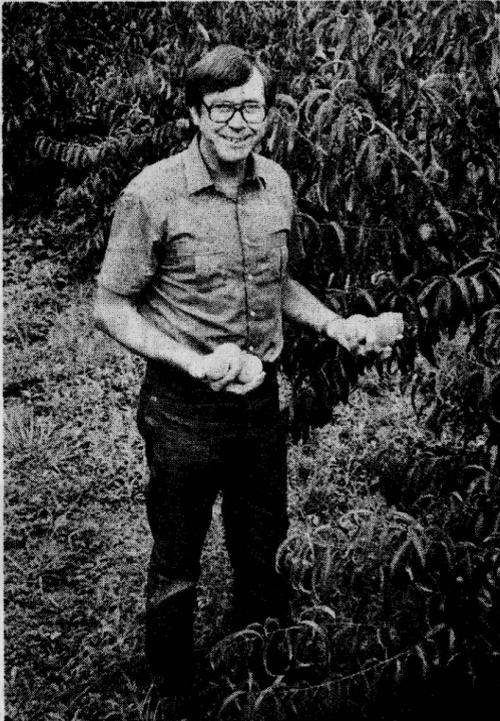

Southern Diversified Industries is a manufacturer of plastic containers. Mesker-Clark is a door manufacturer.

Mansell pointed out that the hiring projections of the four industries totaled 390 to 400 new jobs for the county in the near future.

Brown Shoe Company's current employment is estimated at "between 400 and 425" by company representatives.

Peaches

What Started As A Hobby, Has Become 'Quite A Job'

By ANGELA SMITH
Staff Reporter

James Rutherford started his peach orchard in 1974 by planting 100 trees. Ten years later his orchards contain almost 1,000 peach trees.

Former County Agent Taylor Smith was responsible for getting Rutherford his first 100 trees. "It started out as a hobby but it's become a little bit of a job," Rutherford said.

Another reason he began his peach orchard is that his wife, Patsy, liked peaches so well. "Lawrence Stell had some peach trees and he gave us peaches and they were the best I'd ever eaten, so I decided to grow some myself."

Rutherford lives between Frankstown and Baldwin on Highway 45 South.

He has two orchards covering 10 acres with about 100 trees to an acre. There are three acres in the "old" orchard and seven acres in the "new" orchard, Rutherford said.

"THIS IS THE BEST" year I've ever had for peaches," Rutherford said.

This year the peach trees received hail damage for the first time. "I thought I was ruined after the hail, but this has turned out to be the best

Local Plant Given 10-Year Exemption

Parker-Hannifin was awarded a 10 year exemption from city ad valorem taxes by the Booneville Board of Mayor and Aldermen at their regular monthly meeting, Tuesday night, Aug. 7.

Ray Doyle, Parker-Hannifin's manager of state and local taxes appeared before the board to request the exemption, which will absolve the company of taxes in the amount of $719,028.80.

Doyle thanked the board for the exemption saying it would make it much easier for the company to get started in Booneville.

"We hope to be employing 250 within one to one-and-a-half years and may be building an addition to the present building within five years," Doyle said. "We are looking toward a long tenure in Booneville.

In contrast, in the lone reference to the closing of Booneville's Brown Shoe Co. plant, Mayor Charles E. Crabb proposed that the board pass a resolution to be given to Brown Shoe expressing "appreciation for

Four Now Qualified For PCEPA Board

According to Ronny Rowland, manager of the Prentiss County Electric Power Association, four candidates have now qualified for the seats on the PCEPA Board of Directors which expire this year.

In addition to Cecil Smith, whose qualification for the Area Five, Post Two position was reported in the Aug. 2, 1984 issue of The Banner-Independent, new candidates who qualified prior to the Aug. 6 deadline are Booneville Postmaster Jack Wright for Booneville, Post Two; Mrs. Marjorie Waters for Area One, Post Two; and Baldwin used car dealer Ronald Michael for Baldwin, Post One.

Each will oppose an incumbent PCEPA director. Smith opposes Edwin Brown, Mrs. Waters opposes L.C. Wright, Jack Wright opposes Brit Barron and Michael opposes James M. Jones.

Mrs. Waters admitted that she had decided to run at the suggestion of Cecil Smith, who had already qualified for the board election.

"Cecil called me Monday and asked if he could come and talk with me," she said. "When he arrived, he told me he had enough names for me to qualify if I wanted to. So, I told him I would."

Mrs. Waters said she signed her petition and Smith delivered it to Rowland at the PCEPA offices. But Rowland insisted she sign in his presence, so Smith phoned her and she went to Rowland's office.

"I signed. Then he checked his watch and said I had turned in my petition past deadline because it was after 10 a.m.," she said, adding that she was not actually sure, as of Tuesday morning, if her petition had been accepted.

"They have the power to do whatever they want. So I don't know whether they'll let me be on the ballot or not," Mrs. Waters said.

After checking with Rowland, The Banner-Independent had previously reported the deadline simply as Aug. 6. The PCEPA bylaws say only that the petition must be filed with the secretary of the cooperative (Rowland) "not

Drug Abuse In Prentiss County, Part 8

What Are Area Educators Doing?

By ED WOODWARD
Managing Editor

(This is the final installment in our series on the problem of drug abuse in Prentiss County. Though there are still those who refuse to believe a problem exists, one does. It is hoped this series has made more people aware of that fact and will spur them to search for solutions.)

Authorities agree that drug and alcohol abuse is a terminal illness if it is not treated. And it has been proven that it can be treated.

Unfortunately, it has also been determined that chemical dependency is an incurable disease. Treatment can arrest the disease but the addict or alcoholic will still be an addict or alcoholic, subject to relapse at any time for the remainder of his or her life.

Once an addict, always an addict is a proven fact. So, obviously the only possible cure for the disease of chemical dependency is prevention. And the best method of prevention is through education.

The most vulnerable to chemical dependency are adolescents. They are subject to insecurity and peer pressure. They want to be liked, accepted...and not different, while, at the same time, they search for a personal identity.

Consequently, they end up mimicking each other while trying to be different. And it is in this mimicking that the potential for drug abuse arises, first with beer and marijuana, both of which are door-openers to experimentation with strong substances.

What is being done by local educators to make our youth aware of the dangers of chemical abuse before they learn first hand? The answer varies with the school district, though all appear to be stressing discipline over education, and all cite lack of funds as a reason for not stressing anti-drug abuse education.

Booneville City School Superintendent R.D. Griffin admits that the city schools are doing only what is required by the state in drug education.

And, despite the comments of Timber Hills mental health worker Jerry Christian in a previous installment of this series, Griffin insists this lack of programs is because of a lack of money.

Christian said his agency had approached the city school board on several occasions, offering help with anti-drug abuse education, but the board had not responded. He said word had filtered back to him that the city board did not think there was a drug abuse problem in the city schools.

"That is not true," Griffin said. "I have no knowledge of our ever being approached by Mr. Christian. But I do know that the board knows there is a drug problem. And I know there is a drug problem.

"But, as far as I know, none of us has ever talked to Mr. Christian about a drug program from Timber Hills."

Griffin said drug education is presently worked into appropriate classes whenever possible, and anyone caught with drugs in school is disciplined appropriately according to guidelines in the school handbook.

"We joined with the county district in bringing John Novak's program to the students earlier in the school year. But, generally, without an auditorium, it is difficult to hold assemblies for specific drug

BIBLE QUESTION BOX

QUESTION: Mr. Hogland, I read in Luke 12, where a rich man saved up his money and the Bible called him a fool. Is a person a fool for saving a little money?

WARD HOGLAND

ANSWER: This man was not a fool because he was a lunatic. He was not what one would call a mental case. There is nothing in the text which indicates he was unscrupulous in his dealing. Many people assume that if a man has money he is a crook. This is not always true. Some of the greatest men of the Bible were men of wealth, such as Abraham, Job, Jason and Barnabas. Wealth is no more of a vice than poverty is a virtue. Money has no character. It derives its character from its owner. The character of the man who possesses money is imparted to his money. Money is a peculiar matter. It drains the warm blood out of the being and the fragrant dew out of the spirit. This man was a fool because he left GOD out of his life. He was also a fool because he left MAN out of his life. He was interested only in "I" and "my". He was also a fool because he thought money would satisfy his soul. He found out the hard way that there is more to life than money. Then, he was a fool because he thought he had a perpetual lease on life. He should have known that life is as a vapor that is here for only a short time.

WRITE BOX 15 - BOONEVILLE, MISS.

Local Bankers Pledge To Work With Brown Shoe Employees

Officials of the three banks operating in Booneville have all pledged to do their best to work with their customers who have been employed at Brown Shoe.

"A plant that size just has a tremendous impact on the economy of a small town and it's just terrible when something like this happens," said Peoples Bank President Sam Milton.

"And we see it so much more closely at a bank when we know we have certain customers who will find it very difficult to pay their expenses without having a paycheck.

"We have several several customers who work at Brown Shoe. And we know it will be difficult for them. Most of the time these things are beyond the community's control. And the thing that we can do, hopefully, is to get somebody in that building to offset these lost jobs," he said.

"If you've got to lose a plant, with the fact the county owns the building, they've got a building right there for somebody. And there are many companies that would be willing to move, provided there is a place for them to go and they wouldn't have to build," Milton said.

Milton pledged his bank's cooperation with the employees about to be laid off. "In a situation like this, when people are laid off like this and it's beyond their control, we'll work with them as long as they'll work with us," he said.

Junior Roper, president of the local branch of the Bank of Mississippi, said, "It's going to have a drastic effect on the economy of the county, for sure. We can get a lot of new industry in. But, when you lose a plant that hires 400, you just slide back to zero and have to start back up.

"A lot of the people at Brown Shoe have been there a long time and it's going to have a drastic effect on their lifestyles. And, in turn, it will have an effect on the banks, too," he said. "It's going to put them in a situation, and us in a situation that we'll just have to try to work out with them. It won't be easy for them to find other work, I'm sure. And I'm sure we'll lose a lot of people out of the county.

"There are even some employees there who are husbands and wives, both, working there. And that's even worse. It's hard for a person to imagine what they'll be faced with," Roper said.

"We've got loans out to a lot of these people. And it's just going to be a problem that we'll have to work out with them. Naturally, we'll want to try to work with them, if at all possible. When they get in a situation like this, they're going to need all the help they can get," he said.

First Bank President Bobby Elam said "It's a shock to us that something like this would happen. It's definitely going to have an effect on the economy in the Booneville area.

"We have quiet a few customers who are workers there. And it's definitely going to have an effect on the loan area, too. But we're willing to work with these people in any way that we can to see that they maintain their good credit standings.

"Any way that we can help them, we'll certainly do it," Elam said.

Manager Predicted Closing In February

Local Brown Shoe Co. Plant Manager Alton Phillips told The Banner-Independent in February 1984 that imported shoes were a critical problem that might eventually lead to the company's closing some of its plants

"Imports, right now, are hurting us," he said.

Phillips said imported shoes account for approximately two-thirds of the U.S. market and predicted that Brown Shoe and other American companies would have to close if the trend were not reversed.

In Oct. 1983 Brown Shoe joined with other American shoe manufacturers in an organized protest against imports from Taiwan and Korea, quality shoes selling for less than they can be made for in America.

U.S. government established quotas with the two countries were eliminated in June 1981. Imported non-rubber footwear then increased from 375 million pairs in 1981 to 560 million pairs in 1983.

In contrast, domestic footwear production during the same period fell from 372 million pairs to an estimated 320 million pairs, causing a loss of approximately 25,000 American footwear industry jobs.

Work Slow At Other Area Shoe Factories

Northeast Mississippi's two remaining footwear factories are also feeling the impact of the import competition that brought about the closing of Booneville's Brown Shoe Co. plant, according to their officials.

And neither plant manager was able to offer any hope of employment for the 400 experienced shoe manufacturing workers about to be laid off.

"We're certainly feeling the effects of imports, too," said Larry Quinn, manager of Charm Step Shoes in Fulton. "Of course, imports are taking up about 74 percent of the market right now," he said.

"We have approximately 75 people on lack of work (layoff). And I wouldn't be able to help place any of the Brown Shoe workers right now.

"There are some excellent people there. And under booming conditions I'd certainly love to have their experience and expertise. But, unfortunately, I just couldn't place them now," Quinn said.

Donnie Green, manager of Genesco's Foot Carress plant in Ripley was equally negative. "Right at the present time, we're running short, too," he said.

"In fact, we're working three and four days a week and we've got somewhere in the neighborhood of 40 people laid off.

"What will happen three months from now, or whenever, I don't know. But at the present time, there is not much possibility I could offer any help to the Brown Shoe employees," Green said.

"We certainly would be interested in some of them on down the line, if the need arises," Green said. But he did not indicate when he felt that might be.

vacant building so that they might be on the lookout for any prospective industries that are looking for an existing building."

Crabb confirmed that negotiations are in progress with an industry that is considering Booneville and another community for a plant location.

"This is one reason I called Jackson, because they are handling those negotiations and I wanted to make them aware that, if this company was interested in an existing building, we will have one," he said.

"Of course, this building belongs to the county, and I am simply just trying to be of any help that I might be in helping to get an industry so these people who have worked so many years there (at Brown Shoe) can have another job.

"This is a county building. But we will work with the board of supervisors any way we can," Crabb said.

"And, also, when they (Brown Shoe officials) told us about the phasing out of the company, they indicated that they would assist in any manner that they could to help get someone in that building," he said.

"It's a sad occasion, not only for our county and city, but for those who have been working there for a number of years. Some of them are husband and wife, and they've made a career out of it. But it was just something that, evidently, could not be helped because of the great number of imported shoes that were sold in America last year," Mayor Crabb said.

Doug "Moose" Mansell, executive director of the Prentiss County Development Association said, "There's really no need for me to go into how bad this is. Everybody knows it's bad and I wouldn't be doing anything but reiterating what's already been said."

Mansell said the PCDA and the Prentiss County Board of Supervisors are already working to find a replacement for the lost industry.

"I have talked with a representative from the Department of Economic Development who will be here either tomorrow (Tuesday, Aug. 7) or Wednesday morning," he said. "He is bringing with him an outline...some papers to fill out so we can list the building with the state as an available building for prospects looking to locate in the community.

"Certainly, an area with an available building has an advantage over an area that does not have an available building. And we do have some people who are presently looking at the county as a place to locate right now," Mansell said.

He said that company is also looking at other communities, but an existing building could sway their decision in Booneville's favor. "And that's what we're going to try to do," Mansell said.

J.P. Davis, president of the board of supervisors confirmed Mansell's information. "We are working on it. But we don't know anything right now," he said.

"We've been in contact with the economic development people in Jackson and we are in the process of working on it," he said.

WHAT HAPPENS MOMENTS AFTER DEATH?

The whole human race lives under the sentence of death (Heb. 9: 27). It was because of sin that death was passed on all men (Rom. 5:12). At death there is a separation of the body and the spirit, which God describes as death (Eccl. 12:7, James 2:26). Since we all face death, what happens moments after death?

Moments after death, the soul or spirit is in hades (Acts 2:27). The righteous are escorted into hades (Luke 23:43, Luke 16:22). The unrighteous also go into hades, but in a different place (2 Peter 2:4, Luke 16:23). The righteous are comforted while the unrighteous are tormented.

Moments after death, there will be an assignment. One's fate is known moments after death. The righteous and unrighteous are assigned to different places in hades.

Moments after death, souls are conscious (Rev. 6:9-11) The wicked are conscious of being punished while the righteous are conscious of being comforted (Luke 16:24-25).

Moments after death, there will be recognition. The rich man recognized Abraham and Lazarus on life's other side (Luke 16:23). Peter, James and John recognized Moses and Elias as they talked with Christ on the mount of transfiguration. Moses and Elias had been dead hundreds of years, but they were still the same people and were recognized (Matt. 17:1-5).

Moments after death, there will be memory. The rich man was told to remember how it was in his lifetime (Luke 16:25). The rich man also remembered his fathers house and five brethren (Luke 16:27-28).

Moments after death, destiny is sealed. No one can leave or change their destiny after death (Luke 16:26). All changes for the better have to be made while living since destiny cannot be changed moments after death.

Death will come to all men. During life one should prepare for death because destiny is sealed at death. Are you prepared for death and what will happen moments after death?

Street Opinion

QUESTION: What effect do you think the closing of Brown Shoe Company will have on Prentiss County's economy?

ALICE TIDWELL of Hatchie Street, Booneville: "It's going to have a big effect. It takes two to make a living and there are so many cases of both the husband and wife working there. They say they may get another factory but they don't know how long that might be or even if they will. It's pitiful."

WANDA AUSTIN of Route 1, Burnsville: "It's going to have a real bad effect. There were already a lot of people out of work and this will only make it worse. It's really a shame."

SARA PRATER of Route 2, Booneville: "I feel like we'll have a poor economy because so many people will be out of work. It's going to be bad for the people. The employment rate is up already. I just don't know where they'll find work."

LOYCE FARRAR of Main Street, Booneville: "It's going to be a big blow to Prentiss County. I have a lot of friends who are my customers who work there that I will be very much sympathetic for."

MITCHELL PAN-NELL of Route 3, Booneville: "It's got to have a major effect on the economy. I was surprised that it closed as many plants as Brown Shoe has. I don't think they'll be able to get another factory. If they lose one the odds are against them to get another back."

JERRY CALDWELL of Shiloh Road, Corinth: "It should hurt quite a bit. We hear a lot about industries moving South but they don't seem to move in this area. It didn't surprise me that it closed because a lot of industries are moving overseas. The overseas industries are more competitive every year."

(Editor's note: "Talk O' The Town" is not intended as a scientific poll of public opinion. Rather, it is simply intended to give Prentiss Countians an opportunity to voice their opinions on particular issues and topics. Maybe we'll ask you next!)

Hooray! I'm back from the World's Fair and my plane didn't crash!

Last Wednesday Shirley Burns, who also works here, and I took our first airline flight to New Orleans to visit my uncle and aunt, William and Kate Anderson. We returned home Saturday.

I wish I could tell you how calm we were during the flight. I could tell you that, but it wouldn't be the truth.

By the time we left for the Tupelo Airport last Wednesday, both Shirley and I were basket cases. (Of course, I'm one all the time). We were nervous because the people we work with had told us horror stories concerning airplanes.

Shirley and I have been compared to "B.A." on the A-Team. He has a fear of flying, too, and has to be knocked out before getting on the plane. But Shirley and I couldn't find anyone to knock us out for our first flight.

It was raining when our plane (a very small one) left the Tupelo Airport. We arrived in Memphis half an hour later.

We didn't have any problems at the Memphis

Airport. Everyone could tell we didn't know what we were doing, so they kindly told us what to do next.

When we arrived an hour later at the New Orleans Airport my aunt Kate, her daughter Susan, and my other aunt, Edith Morris of Hattiesburg, were waiting there to meet us.

I later mentioned to them that if they had really wanted to see Shirley and me frightened, they could have hidden from our view.

My Aunt Kate said that I looked petrified enough when the stewardess carried me off the plane and she didn't want to add to my distress.

For those people who have never flown in a plane before and are considering flying, I want to assure you how easy flying is. I really liked it. No matter how much I screamed.

THE WORLD'S FAIR was wonderful. There was so much to see. The Fair covers over 80 acres. So comfortable shoes are essential.

Some of the exhibits include those from China, Japan, Canada, France, Italy, Australia, the Vatican, the United States, Peru, Korea and Egypt. And the Mississippi Pavilion is chocked full of things to see.

One of my favorite things at the fair was the Louisiana Expedition - a "boat ride" down a swamp. The special effects were incredible.

The aquade show is definitely worth seeing.

I also liked the gondola ride - cable cars strung high above the Mississippi River. Was I scared? Of course. But I rode it twice. The second time I rode it was around 10:30 p.m. - just when the fireworks were going off. It was beautiful.

Shirley, Susan and I also rode the ferris wheel - the tallest one in the United States. Naturally it stopped when we were at the top.

My Aunt Kate and her friend Sherry go to the World's Fair almost every day. Now I know why. There is always something new to see.

We spent most of Thursday and Thursday night and a portion of Friday afternoon at the Fair. We had a wonderful time but there's just too much to see in a short time. However, we did get to see quite a bit of the Fair because my aunt and her friend were good tour guides.

For those who have the chance, I would highly recommend attending the World's Fair.

County School Report

Preparations Underway For 1984-1985 Year

By J.W. GREENE
Superintendent of Prentiss
County Schools

The official Task Force on Performance-Based School Accreditation has recommended that 18 credits be necessary for graduation instead of 16. Requirements include four credits of English, two of Math, two of Science, two of Social Studies, and eight of electives such as Business, Vocational, Driver Education, etc.

This recommended change will affect students in the 10th grade this year, so principals are working very hard on the schedules at their schools. Scheduling is further complicated by band, athletics, vo-tech courses, and the P.E., art and music that must be fully implemented this year in accordance with our AIM Plan.

We recently received notification from the State Department that the Staff Development Plan for 1984-85 submitted by Prentiss County has been approved. Activities to carry out this program are now being planned.

Although this organized plan of staff training is another new requirement brought about by the Education Reform Act, it should greatly improve our school district. Activities will be designed to meet specific needs of the staff in the district. The State will provide some of the funds needed to implement our Staff Development Plan.

Work continues at our buildings to prepare for the opening of school. I want to thank Glen Green at Jumpertown who is volunteering his time and equipment to blow insulation in the lunchroom.

Mrs. Diane Akers continues to plant the new system for operation of lunchrooms. Beginning this school year all lunchroom workers will wear uniforms purchased by the school district. The uniforms will be the same for all workers at a school, but each school may choose their own style.

Recently Mrs. Akers completed a course on computers at the Vocational-Technical School. We are anticipating the addition of a computer to accommodate the accounting system for the centralized purchasing. This computer will also be used for other office procedures when the rest of our personnel are trained to use it.

In recent columns we have given you some information about all our board members and our two new principals. We also want you to know more about the other four principals we have in the county. Mr. Cayce DePoyster has been at Hills Chapel School for 24 years, 2 as teacher and 22 as principal. Originally from Tishomingo County, Mr. DePoyster received his education from Northeast, Mississippi State University and the University of Mississippi.

He and his wife Reba have three children and two grandchildren. They are members of Little Flock Primitive Baptist Church.

DePoyster is also an active member of the Lion's Club.

Letters

Dear Editor:

My mother gave me a subscription to The Banner last Christmas, and I look forward to each weekly issue - a delightful way to hear from home.

For the past few weeks though, I have been especially eager to receive my copy. Never before in all my years of reading The Banner have I been so very much excited, enlightened and impressed as by your series on drug abuse in Prentiss County.

You see, I too am an addict - an alcohol addict. For twelve years of my life, I was drunk. I never wandered about why I drank, but I couldn't understand why I was always drunk. Then slowly and painfully, I realized that I was an alcoholic - that I was addicted to alcohol.

Drinking is not enough for the alcoholic; he must get drunk. Society tolerates, sometimes even encourages drinking; but it has little patience with a drunk. Sooner or later, the drunk must be locked up, covered up or sobered up. Thank God, I sobered up.

My drinking costs me cars, jobs, apartments, relationships and finally my physical health. My dependency on the drug alcohol became so great that I could not go more than ninety minutes without a shot - and a shot is a shot is . . .

If I were awake, I was drinking; if I were asleep, I was drunk. My hands shook so bad that I could not shave in the morning until I had managed to keep down a half pint of vodka. Before the day was finished, I would consume a half gallon. Then came the hospital rooms. I threw up, blew up and eventually was tied down. My liver and pancreas would no longer tolerate the drug that I depended on so very desperately. I almost died fighting the D.T.'s in a Tupelo hospital. Believe it or not, I drank again.

On February 1, 1983, I sat on the Moonwalk in New Orleans. I didn't have the money to buy a drink. I knew if I didn't get one soon, I would have to fight the spiders again. Yes, I thought about walking out into that river, but I didn't have the guts. I decided that I had hit bottom. I had to get help.

Maybe the decision to get help took more guts than just ending it all. I don't know. I knew that to get well, I had to give up alcohol forever. To the alcoholic, this is a very grim, painful realization.

On February 2, 1983, I found myself in Haven House in Corinth - one of the treatment centers you speak of in your articles. Through Haven House, I discovered Alcoholics Anonymous.

Thanks to the fine guidance of Mr. Frank Carlisle, Larry Cox, Dickey Walden, and others at Haven House and to the continuing support of A.A. members the world over, I have not taken a drink since that day. My health has returned, I have an apartment and a job. My hands have stopped shaking. I can shave in the morning.

Your articles are very important because they inform people that there is a serious problem, but, more importantly, there is hope for the addict who still suffers.

For me the solution required not only professional help but a change from within as well - an entire psychic, spiritual change. Today, instead of being miserable because I can't drink, I'm grateful that I do not have to drink - damned grateful!

Keep up the good work and just maybe many more will join me in this new-found freedom.

Sincerely,
Fred Green

P.S. Sorry this letter is not typed. But, you guessed it, when I was drinking, I hocked my typewriter.

Dear Editor:

We could hardly believe anyone would print such an item in the Banner. (Referring to cartoon in July 28, 1984 issue)

Is it a requirement in Prentiss County for Supervisors to live on a dirt road? The person responsible for this item, do they live on a dirt road?

We feel the group of supervisors we have now are one of the best we've had ever in Prentiss County.

We are very disappointed in this type of newspaper work. Mr and Mrs. Tulon Lambert

That Yankee From Yonder

By Ed Woodward

Managing Editor

It would seem that two branches of the same tree would have some connection with each other. But this is obviously not true when the tree is the U.S. government and the branches are two different departments.

In this case, the uncoordinated departments are Interior and Defense, or specifically the subentities, Bureau of Parks and Recreation and U.S. Army Corps of Engineers.

Case in point: If you cross the Tenn-Tom Waterway on the Natchez Trace Parkway and look north from the new bridge you get a beautiful view of the Bay Springs Lock and Dam, less than a mile away. But to get from the Trace to the dam, you have to drive almost 10 miles.

In this area we now have what is potentially a major tourist attraction. The Bay Springs Lock and Dam is the largest such facility on the Tennessee-Tombigbee Waterway. It will raise and lift barge tows 84 feet.

It is a marvel of engineering with one-of-a-kind construction. The walls of the lock are anchored to solid rock with gigantic 64-foot long toggle bolts, a method designed expressly for the project.

Nearly 10,000 people attended the official opening and dedication last May, which indicates that people just might be interested in seeing the lock and dam, as well as using the lake for recreation.

The most logical route for tourists to take if they plan to visit Bay Springs is the Natchez Trace Parkway. But they may just change their mind when they find out how difficult it is to get from one to the other.

Whether you are traveling northeast and exit the Trace at Route 4 near Dennis or are traveling southwest and exit the Trace near Victoria Pharr's Grocery, you are apt to wonder whether the trip is worth it before you reach the lock and dam.

Why didn't the Bureau of Parks and Recreation, which is responsible for the Natchez Trace Parkway, and the Corps of Engineers, which is responsible for the Tenn-Tom and Bay Springs Lock, Dam and Lake, coordinate with each other on a Bay Springs Lake exit from the Trace?

The BP&R had to build a new bridge across the waterway. And they designed to build a beautiful, shady picnic area near the bridge. Why did they not also think to somehow intersect the Trace with the existing road that runs parallel to the Tenn-Tom, intersecting with Route 4 at the dam half-a-mile north?

There would also have been another beneficial side-effect to such an intersection. Residents of Itawamba County living on the east side of the Tenn-Tom have been grumbling for some time because they must now drive to either Highway 4 at Bay Springs or Highway 78 south of Fulton to get to the other side of the waterway, whether they are going to Tupelo, or just want to get to the Marietta, Kirkville or Mantachie areas.

An intersection of what they call North Road with the Trace would cut their traveling distance considerably.

But, as usual, the entities least likely to have any coordination with each other are two agencies of the U.S. government.

It reminds me of the time in New York City when the city repaved 2nd Avenue and Con Edison crews came out the next day and dug 10 holes in it.

"Justin Wilson's Louisiana Cookin'," a new series of "how-to" programs starring South Louisiana's favorite humorist, can be seen at 4 and 4:30 p.m., Saturdays, beginning August 11, on Mississippi ETV.

Two half-hour programs from this new series will air back-to-back every Saturday afternoon. Produced by Louisiana Public Broadcasting, the series is similar to Mississippi ETV's original "Cookin' Cajun" series with Wilson, produced in 1972 and 1976.

Wilson prepares typical Cajun dishes and entertains with Cajun stories and jokes in the process.

TREASURE HUNT.

The William Teller® $3,000 Treasure Hunt is on! It's the biggest and best treasure hunt ever in Mississippi. There are several ways to win, so get started now.

A separate Treasure Hunt will be held in each of the five William Teller® counties: Lee, Pontotoc, Monroe, Prentiss and Clay. In each county, a certificate redeemable for $500 has been hidden somewhere on public property. Please note that it is not necessary to dig, overturn or deface any property to find the treasure.

Clues, Bonus Clues and Surprise Cash.

Clues specifically written for each county will be posted at The People Place offices in those counties. But they'll appear sooner on William Teller® transaction receipts. A new clue will be added each week until the treasures are found. An additional bonus clue will be given each week whenever you show three William Teller® transaction receipts from the same week but with different dates. The more you use William Teller®, the better your chance to receive notices of Surprise Cash, in $1, $5 or $10 denominations, printed at random on various receipts.

So the best chance of finding your share is to get a William Teller® card and start using it. You can use it 24-hours a day to make deposits, loan payments, cash withdrawals, transfers between accounts, or to find out your account balance. If you don't have a William Teller® card, get one now. Fill out an application at any People Place location. It's not necessary to have a William Teller® card to participate in the $3,000 William Teller® Treasure Hunt, but there are more ways to win if you do.

CAT Results Pinpoint Problems In County 4th, 9th and 10th Grades

During April 1984, approximately 2200 students in the Prentiss County school system were given the California Achievement Test. According to J.W. Green, Prentiss County school superintendent, the purpose of the CAT is to determine the students' academic performance and locate any problem areas in the schools' curriculum. Greene said the test results will be used during the 1984-85 school year to "plan staff development activities, curriculum review and revision and, in general, any necessary corrective measures to help reduce any identified problems. "It is anticipated that grades 11 or 12 will be included in the evaluation procedure next year, as well as the science department," he said. The superintendent said the CAT tests did indicate some problem areas in the county district. "Our students in grades 1, 2 and 3 compare favorably with their peers nationwide," he said. "But one identified problem occurs in grade 4 in the area of language expression - the use of nouns, verbs, adjectives, pronouns, etc. "And, since there is no apparent deficiency in grades 3 or 5, we believe the problem is isolated to grade 4 only," Greene said. "However, in mathematics concepts - story problems, graphs, number theory and properties, numeration, etc. - a trend begins in grade 4 and grows worse in grades 5 and 6," he said. Greene said this indicates this problem does extend across the grade levels and needs to be corrected. "Reference skills...library and dictionary usage, map skills, graphs, using reader's guides...is also an apparent problem in grades 4, 5 and 9. "Staff development activities involving librarians and English teachers are being planned to correct this," Greene said. He said the area of greatest deficiency and concern is with the grade 9 and 10 test results. "While there are some bright indicators, the overall results suggest real problems and the need to correct them as soon as possible," Greene said. He said a plan is being worked on that will combine standardized CAT results, AIM evaluation data, ACT results and teacher and administrator input to help identify specific deficiencies. Greene said the results will be a program to be used in the fall of 1984.

"Parents are encouraged to call their child's school and schedule a conference with the teachers and counselor in regard to their child's individual test results," Greene said.

Fall Orientation Sessions August 25 And 26 At MSU

Fall orientation sessions for freshmen and transfer students will be Aug. 25-26 at Mississippi State University and any new students who did not attend the June sessions are urged to attend. While new MSU students are not required to attend the sessions, orientation director Jimmy Abraham said they are "strongly encouraged" to participate. Orientation, which is for both students and their parents, provides the opportunity to talk with academic deans before registration, meet fellow new students and become more familiar with the campus. Orientation for freshman students and their parents begins Aug. 25 with registration 9-10 a.m. Transfer students and their parents register the same day 10 a.m.-noon. An opening banquet begins at noon for all participants. The program for parents will conclude at 3:30 p.m. on Aug. 25 and the new student program will end at 11:30 a.m. Aug. 26.

Complete information on the sessions can be obtained by writing the Office of College and School Relations, Box NN, Mississippi State, Miss. 39762, or telephoning (601) 325-3076. ### Ole Miss Credit Telecourses

The University of Mississippi will offer two college credit telecourses this fall. The courses, which will be aired on both the University's Channel 12 and Mississippi Educational Television, are CSCI 241, "The New Literacy: An Introduction to Computers" and PSY 204, "Understanding Human Behavior." Both begin Saturday, Aug. 25, and offer three credit hours to those officially registering for either course. "The New Literacy" provides a complete overview of the computer and surveys electronic data processing, hardware and software systems in 26 half-hour programs. "Understanding Human Behavior" surveys the physiological, intra-psychic and social-behavioral perspectives on human thought and behavior in 30 half-hour programs. Cost for each course is $92 for three credit hours, and texts and materials may be purchased from the Ole Miss Bookstore. Persons interested in obtaining further information about telecourse learning may contact Independent Study, the Division of Continuing Education, University, Miss. 38677; telephone (601) 232-7282.

A special orientation session for all new graduate students and all first-time entering students 25 years of age and older will be held Sunday, Aug. 26. The program will begin at 1 p.m. in the lobby of Allen Hall. Attendance is free. "Participants will receive an information packet and instructions on registration during the first part of the program," Abraham said. "Also scheduled are informal, small-group, question-and-answer sessions with academic deans, faculty and members of the professional staff." Abraham said the program will conclude with a tour of Mitchell Memorial Library and a complimentary buffet of sandwiches and snacks. "We strongly encourage advance

How To Claim Your Room At USM

The University of Southern Mississippi Housing Office reminds students with specific room assignments to claim their rooms between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m., Aug. 25. Students with only hall assignments must claim a room on Aug. 26 between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. Students who do not claim their rooms by 5 p.m. Aug. 26 will be considered no-shows losing their $40 deposit and the room reservation. Several of the halls have been renovated including new carpeting for the hallways, new paint for the rooms and new fire alarms in Elam Arms. Scott has freshly painted rooms and new fire alarms. Bond and part of Pannellic have new paint. Hattiesburg and Mississippi have new fire alarms and new room lights. Students unable to arrive by the Aug. 25 or 26 deadline or who wish to cancel their room reservation should contact the Housing Office at 266-4783. A high occupancy rate is expected this fall and failure to notify housing of a change in your plans leaves other students on a waiting list for rooms.

Home Economist's Notes

By PATTY K. ROBINSON
Extension Home Economist

The number one influence in women's fashions for Fall-Winter 1984 is the menswear look, complete with tie and hat. Tailored classics in menswear styles, colors and fabrics, but made for women are dominating the market.

Other fashion influence include the Japanese, High-tech, and Military look. The Japanese influence in fashion is seen in the over-sized styles with asymmetry and the mixing, layering and wrapping of fabrics. High-tech has influenced clothes by taking a structural and metallic approach to design. Designs created with grommets, zippers, and snaps take on a functional space age look. The use of epaulets, flanges, tabs and pockets are a result of a military influence.

Many of the trends that began last season are continuing into the new Fall-Winter fashion season - the chemise, jumpsuit, tunic and coattress are all important silhouettes for Fall-Winter 1984. The dress is the single most important silhouette, with the chemise at the forefront.

Even though the chemise has one basic shape, it can take on a variety of looks depending on the fabric and the detailing. The chemise is easy-to-sew and the style is flattering to almost any figure type. Necklines are emphasized with draping, buttons, and-or asymmetrical closures.

Deep dramatic dolman, batwing or kimono sleeves are everywhere.

Hemlines are anywhere you want them to be, from way above the knee, down to the ankle. Jackets vary to, from cropped, waistlength to below-the-hip styles - in single and double-breasted designs that are narrow and fitted or oversized and roomy.

For the younger generation, rock stars are the number one fashion influence with "Boy George" and "Michael Jackson" at the top of the list. Boys and girls both are copying the clothes and looks of these music idols. Browns are the most dynamic color groups of the season - wood, bark, chocolate amber, and raisin. A spectrum of intense blues and blue-influenced greens along with russet and pumpkin tones. Oatmeal, camel, taupe, granite, smokey gray, and navy are the top neutrals. Neutrals, paired with vivid bright color accents will be the season's mainstay.

Plaids are stronger than ever, with tartans and glen plaids heading the list. Checks are big in the way of houndstooth, windowpane checks and buffalo checks. Menswear tweeds, flannels, and gabardines are paired with opulent silks. Pretty paisleys and foulards round out the "menswear mood" fabrics.

Knits are strong, especially jerseys for dresses, suits and sportswear pieces. Nighttime fabrics include satin, shimmering silks, charmeuse, faille and brocade.

4-H News

By WAYNE LAND
Extension 4-H Youth Agent

As vegetables are gathered from gardens, youth enrolled in the 4-H food preservation project are practicing freezing them. All vegetables to be frozen should be young and tender since freezing cannot improve a poor product.

Wash the vegetables several times in cold water. Lift the vegetables out of the water rather than letting the water drain off. Dirt may be left on the vegetables if allowed to drain.

Assemble all the equipment needed for freezing before beginning. You will need a blancher with basket and cover, a sharp paring knife, a cutting board, a colander, cooking spoons, dish towels, pot holders and a wide-mouth funnel.

Common containers are freezer weight polyethylene (plastic) bags and rigid polyethylene cartons. Whatever container you choose, be sure it is the right size for your family.

Place one gallon of water in the blancher and bring to a rapid boil. Place one pound of vegetables in the basket and lower into the water. Put the lid on the blancher for the desired amount of time. When the time is up, remove the basket immediately from the water.

Plunge the blanched vegetables into cold or ice water. The quicker the vegetables are cooled, the better the frozen product. Change the water so it will always be cold.

When the vegetables are cool, drain them thoroughly.

Place the vegetables in the container. If plastic bags are used, press all the air out before sealing. If plastic cartons are used, leave one-half inch headspace for the food to expand.

Label each package before it is frozen with the name of the vegetable, the amount and the date frozen. Place a single layer of packages directly on the freezer shelf. After 24 hours, the packages can be stacked. Vegetables can be kept in the freezer up to one year.

For more information about the 4-

H food preservation project can be obtained from the county Extension office.

Juvenile Arrested Second Time

A Booneville juvenile who was arrested two weeks ago for stealing a car from the hospital parking lot was arrested Saturday night for stealing a car belonging to a Booneville policeman.

The juvenile, 17, along with another 17-year-old boy and a 14-year-old girl were in a Lincoln belonging to Booneville Police Officer Joe Shackelford.

The girl's mother had reportedly been interested in buying the car and was trying it out when the girl somehow got the car, according to Prentiss County Deputy Dan Wilson.

Both the car and the juvenile girl were reported missing to law authorities around 10:30 p.m. Saturday.

The Prentiss County Sheriff's Department had routine roadblocks set up on the VFW road late Saturday night when the car was stopped. The juvenile who was driving the car did not have a driver's license and was asked to pull over to the side of the road, Wilson said.

At that point, the driver left the roadblock and the chase began, he said.

The Alcorn County Sheriff's Department set up a roadblock near Suitor's Crossing on Highway 45, but the car went through it. The car was finally stopped by Alcorn County south of K&K Truck Stop, Wilson said.

The driver of the car was the same juvenile who was charged with stealing a car belonging to Mrs. J.R. Counce from the hospital parking lot July 23.

The juvenile was charged with reckless driving, no driver's license, running three road blocks, speeding, resisting arrest and failure to stop for an officer.

A hearing for him is scheduled for Aug. 16 to determine whether he will be certified to stand trial as an adult.

The other juveniles have reportedly "turned state's evidence," meaning they will testify against the other juvenile, according to a spokesman at the sheriff's department.

Exemption

the almost 30 years the company spent in the county and the jobs they provided."

The motion failed to receive a second and died without a vote.

Mayor Crabb announced receipt of a $500 donation to the park fund from Schweiger Industries.

Alderman R.G. Houston reported on the progress of work currently being done in the city park. He said the jogging track had been completed, the old tennis courts had been sealed and the new ones paved.

He then recommended that the board look into the possibility of extending the city limits. "We're just sitting here and not growing. Everyone is building outside the city. And you either grow or you back up," he said.

"We have lost good doctors because of the situation in this town," Houston said. "I think we can do good for Prentiss County and the city if we'll get behind a drive for expansion."

Alderman Wade Lambert echoed Houston's statements and agreed the matter should be investigated.

"I think interest in this idea had been renewed by the county school board's refusal to release students," said Alderman Charles Steen.

"It is time we got started," said Lambert.

Mayor Crabb pointed out that the city had received a study on expansion possibilities from the state Research and Development Department.

"Well, whatever's necessary, we need to do it," Houston said. Lambert agreed, and Houston made a motion that the board begin studying the possibility of expanding the city limits.

Before the motion could be seconded, Mayor Crabb refused to accept it. "I want to see your written proposal first," he told Houston.

"I'll be glad to bring it before you anytime," Houston said.

The board then discussed the offer of Mabel Cunningham to donate her house on State Street to the city.

Mayor Crabb explained that the house is to go to the city and the land to the First Baptist Church upon the death of Mrs. Cunningham's brother Tom. The city will then have six months to move Gen. Nathan Bedford Forrest as a headquarters prior to the Battle of Brice's Crossroads. He said it is where Forrest planned his strategy for the battle and the general's "scribblings" are reported to still be on a wall under the present wallpaper.

the house to a new location.

Crabb suggested the house could be placed somewhere in the city park and used as a tourist information center. School property was suggested as an alternative location.

Crabb said the house was used by the board voted to accept the house and put it "somewhere on city property."

In other business the board voted to advertise for a new clerk to replace Ms. Lee Mayhan, who is retiring at the end of August.

The aldermen discussed ways of increasing storage space for city departments, agreed to pay Baptist Memorial Hospital for treatment of city prisoners and agreed to run a study on the feasibility of extending city gas service to the east side of the Highway 30-4 Bypass outside the present city limits.

Peaches

crop I've ever had," he said.

He has six varieties of peaches. The Dixie Red peaches ripen the first of June. There are three varieties of the Red Haven peaches. They ripen around June 15, 25 and July 4. The Belle of Georgia peaches begin ripening Aug. 1, and the Alberta peaches around Aug. 5.

The Belle of Georgia peaches have proven to be the most popular variety because these peaches freeze so well, he said.

But oddly enough, Rutherford received his first Belle of Georgia trees by accident. He had ordered Alberta trees from a nursery in McMinnville, Tenn., but received the Belle of Georgia trees instead. Because of the popularity of the Belle of Georgia trees, he plans to order 250 this year. His personal favorite is the Alberta peach.

He has set out all his peach trees by hand -- by himself.

THE PRUNING OF the peach trees begins around Christmas. It takes Rutherford until March 15 to finish pruning the trees.

When the trees begin blooming, he begins fertilizing the trees and starts a spray program.

He built his sprayer himself for about $500.

"I had gone to shows and seen sprayers for $8,000. So I got a cotton picker front end and other odds and ends and built my own." He pulls the 250 gallon sprayer on a trailer behind his tractor.

He has sprayed his peach trees 15 times this year -- about every time after it rains. When the fruit starts ripening, he stops spraying the trees. Because it takes so much time with his peach orchards, Rutherford doesn't have much time for outside hobbies.

"You either grow peaches or hunt -- not both." And there isn't much time for vacations because when other people are taking their vacations they are at Rutherford's orchard picking peaches.

If there is one bad aspect to having a peach orchard, Rutherford said, it is not having peaches when people think he should. "I try to explain to them if I don't have peaches. But at times like that, it makes me wonder why I'm in this."

"Sometimes when people ask me why I started my peach orchard I tell them I've never been too smart," he joked.

In addition to having the ten acre peach orchard, Rutherford works at Brown Shoe Company as a plant engineer. He has worked there for 28 years.

Now that Brown Shoe Company has announced plans of closing the Booneville branch, Rutherford says his peach orchard will come in handy.

His wife, Patsy, works in the office at the Auto Auction near Baldwyn. They have one daughter, Rhonda Lansdale who lives next door to them. She and her husband, Billy, have two daughters, Heather, 4, and Kristi, 2.

"My granddaughters help me a lot," Rutherford smiled. "They would ride the tractor with me every day but it's too dangerous."

NOW THAT THE peaches are ripening it is an especially busy time for Rutherford.

"It's hectic this time of year. I've thought about hiding a few times," he grinned.

People are allowed to pick their own peaches from the small trees. Rutherford prefers to pick the peaches from the larger trees himself. He begins picking peaches after 4:30 p.m. and picks every day except Sunday. He is on vacation this week.

Most of his customers are from Prentiss and Lee County. "I learn something all the time about the peach orchards," Rutherford said. "The only way to learn is as you go. I go to meetings at State college and they tell me how to do things. But the things they suggest may not always work for me -- so if it doesn't work I'll change it."

He has about 20 trees that have every limb broken on them. The trees had so many peaches on them that the wind broke the trees. It will take about four years to get those trees back in shape, he said.

He loses a certain number of trees every year because peach trees are short lived. But 90 percent of the trees he first set out are still alive.

"Growing peaches is a risky business," he said. "The weather, cold, frost, hail and wind all effect the peaches. One wind can blow all the peaches off. You just have to have a lot of faith."

PCEPA

less than 25 days before the meeting of the members," which is the last Friday in August, or Aug. 31.

"Of course, if you go by the hour, 25 days is actually 10 o'clock, since the annual meeting is always at 10 o'clock (in the morning)," Rowland said. "But the board agreed with what I thought, that we should go ahead and accept her petition."

"We need to go into this with a winning attitude," Mrs. Waters said. "What needs to be done now is to set up some committee meetings and appoint committees to use the telephone and ask people to get out for that meeting."

According to the bylaws, a quorum of 1560 members is required for any business, including election of board members, to take place at the meeting. If no quorum is present, incumbent board members are automatically re-elected for another four-year term.

Mrs. Waters said past experiences with the PCEPA in her capacity as owner of a several rental properties in Booneville made her feel changes in the cooperative's methods of operation are necessary.

"They'll change the by-laws to read anything they want to," she said. "It's ridiculous what they do. A present tenant is penalized for what a past tenant did. They can do whatever they want and most people just accept it and never return a word."

"It's time that we did something. It's time we made some changes," she said, adding, "They've been nice to me. Those girls (in the office) have been extremely nice to me."

"But there are some policies they have...about deposits and things like that, that should be changed. It's time for those things to be changed."

As an illustration, Mrs. Waters said that, at one of her buildings downtown she had already paid a $500 deposit for electricity. But, when a tenant moved in, they were charged an additional $500 deposit.

She said the PCEPA had then refused to refund her deposit, saying, since she uses the upstairs for storage, she would still occasionally be using electricity, herself.

"I have lots of dealings with them through my renters," Mrs. Waters said. "And they crucify them sometimes...just crucify them. It's a bad situation."

"And I may have really gotten myself into it, because they can crucify me with my apartments," she said.

Ronald Michael said he originally submitted his petition last week with 27 names (25 are needed to qualify). "Mr. Rowland called me back three times that afternoon to tell me I lacked one name, that three of the names on my petition weren't right."

"For example, one member's wife had signed it with her first and last name, rather than Mrs. and her husband's name. And he wouldn't let that count," Michael said.

"I took over 100 names back there Monday. And he (Rowland) said, 'You didn't need but one.' And I said, 'I wanted to be sure I had plenty,'" he said.

Michael said he had finally qualified at 11:05 a.m. "I understand he told Marjie Waters that the deadline was 10 a.m. Monday.

But he didn't tell me that," he said.

"What he did tell me, last week I asked him when I had to get those other names in, and he said, 'Anytime Monday.'"

Michael said he also asked Rowland how the voting would take place since, in the past, proxies had been mailed out.

"He said, 'Well, I really don't know. We're going to have to have a board meeting,'" Michael said.

Rowland told The Banner-Independent Tuesday that the board is still discussing meeting and election plans and the information will be available in time for publication in the Aug. 16 issue.

"What I think," Michael said. "I realize you've got to have a board of directors for any organization or any business. But I think the PCEPA should be turned back over to the people it belongs to."

"I don't want to get after the board. But I think the people own it. Therefore, the people should have more of a voice in it," he said.

"The problem now is how do we get 1600 people to show up at a meeting at 10 o'clock on a Friday morning?" Michael said.

"If I really wanted to get out and go to work, I could have gotten 10,000 signatures on my petition. But I don't need 10,000 signatures. I need 1600 people to show up at that meeting at 10 a.m. Friday, Aug. 31. And we're certainly going to try to get them."

"I'd like to get that meeting changed to Saturday. But the only way to do that is to change the bylaws," Michael said.

Despite several attempts, Jack Wright could not be reached for comment.

Drugs

abuse programs in the high school," he said.

The high school auditorium was condemned by the city school board last fall when a large crack in the south wall was discovered.

Griffin said the city schools will continue to offer what drug education is required and will take advantage of any free programs offered from outside.

"Being a new superintendent coming into the school system put me in a position where it took a while to build up trust among other school officials. So, at first, when I asked one of my principals if he had a drug problem, he said, 'No,'" said Prentiss County School Superintendent J.W. Greene.

Greene said he knows there is a problem in his district but it has taken him some time to make his board aware of it. "In one or two cases I told a board member, 'We've got a problem. And, if you're not aware of it, you need to be made aware of it,'" he said.

"I know we've got a problem. I've had too many people tell me we have a problem for it not to be true. And I think I have just now begun to get their trust so we can communicate about the problem," Greene said.

"I have expressed my feelings that we have drug problems in all our schools," he said. "Some of it is minor; some of it is major. And I'm hopeful that I now have my principals and teachers more observant."

Greene pointed out that county school nurse Renate Eaton began on her own to offer anti-drug education to all grades, including elementary. He said he and the board are now hoping to help her expand her program.

He said policy guidelines that he hopes will help to cut down on traffic in and out of the schools and control any influx of drugs are also being formulated.

"I want to move at it from this angle first," he said, indicating that stronger measures would be used if necessary, including drug-sniffing dogs.

"I know we'll never put a stop to it. But I do know we can at least cut down on it," Greene said.

And he said he is currently searching for a workshop program similar to the one offered by John Novak last fall to offer to county school students during the coming year. "In my opinion, that was one of the best programs that's ever been offered. But we need to come back with something else to reinforce that," he said.

"With just one drink, or one puff of marijuana what they learned there will fade out after a while," Greene said.

Baldwyn School Superintendent Stave Clark said cutbacks on funding have seriously hampered all educators' efforts to control drugs in the schools.

He asked Baldwyn High School Principal C.L. "Red" Shelton to elaborate on what has been done since Baldwyn lost a drug counselor in those cutbacks.

"I can't pull something out of a drawer and say, 'Here's our program,'" Shelton said.

"In the past we've had guest speakers...WCFB in Tupelo has sent speakers up. We offered the 'Chemical People' videotape program from ETV..."

Shelton said, though Baldwyn did not participate in the John Novak program, "the week before we were involved in the program offered by the Telephone Pioneers of America. We had approximately 80 kids we released from school with their parents' permission to attend it."

"Our efforts have been generally in that sense. But, as for a specific, detailed plan, we don't have one," Shelton said.

Shelton and Clark also said they had initiated guidelines and increased efforts at discipline to curb the existing problem.

"I'm not going to be naive and say we don't have a drug problem," Shelton said. "I'm sure we've got kids who are abusing drugs. But it's not rampant enough that it's out in the open yet."

Shelton, Griffin and Greene all admitted that something needs to be done by the schools in anti-drug abuse education. But all three said any intensive program would have to come from outside because of lack of funds, new edicts from the newly formed Lay Board of Education and time consuming work with such things as AIM plans.

"We've got so much on tap it's just hard to get around to everything. And it's going to get worse before it gets better," Shelton said.

County Agent's Notes

By CLIFFORD HAMPTON
County Agent

The adult sorghum midge is a reddish, gnat-like insect that is extremely hard to see. However, Prentiss County farmers should become familiar with the life cycle of the sorghum midge since control measures are directed to the adult midge.

These tiny insects are most active during mid-morning. Fields should be scouted daily during the bloom period for midge infestations. Scout fields during the morning between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. when activity is at its peak.

Insecticide treatment is necessary when an average of one adult midge is found per head after 20 percent to 30 percent of the heads are blooming.

If windy weather conditions exist midges will be more difficult to locate and sample accurately.

A second and third application may be needed after the previous one, especially if staggered plantings are involved.

An adult female sorghum midge lays 30 to 100 eggs during its lifetime of one day. It takes only two days for eggs to hatch into larvae. The larvae are tiny pink to orange maggots that feed inside the developing seed.

A complete generation occurs in about 12 to 16 days. There may be four to eight generations per year.

Damage from this pest often goes unnoticed by farmers until it has seriously damaged yields. For more information about detecting and treating the sorghum midge, contact the local Extension office.

Trying to boost a tractor with a dead or weak battery can have tragic consequences if precautions aren't followed.

Starting a stalled tractor while the operator is on the ground can result in the person being run over if the tractor starts up in gear. This is possible if the neutral safety switch is bypassed.

To start a tractor safely, connect the auxiliary battery to the tractor's battery terminal (Plus side) and to the tractor's frame (- side). Don't connect the auxiliary battery to the starter terminals.

Start the tractor only from the operator's seat, when any chance of tractor runaway can be prevented.

For more information concerning Sorghum Midge detection, or preventing tractor runaways come by the county Extension office on 404 East Church St., or call 728-5631.

Soil Conservation

By DON JONES
Soil Conservation Technician

A pond, no matter how well planned and built, must be adequately maintained if its intended purposes are to be realized throughout its expected life. Lack of maintenance has caused severe damage to many dams and spillways. Some structures have failed completely.

Inspect your pond periodically. Be sure to examine it after heavy rains to determine whether it is functioning properly or needs minor repairs. Repairing damage immediately usually eliminates the need for more costly repairs later. Damage may be small, but if neglected it may increase until repair becomes impractical and the entire structure must be replaced.

Fill any rills on the side slopes of the dam and any washes in the spillway immediately with suitable material and compact it thoroughly. Re-seed or re-sod these areas and fertilize as needed.

To maintain the protective plant cover on the dam and on the earth spillway, mow it frequently and fertilize when needed. Mowing prevents the growth of woody plants where undesirable and helps develop a cover and root system more resistant to runoff. If the plant cover is protected by fencing, keep the fences in good repair.

In some localities burrowing animals such as badgers, gophers, and muskrat cause severe damage to dams and spillways. If this damage is not repaired, it may lead to failure of the dam. A heavy layer of sand or gravel on the fill discourages burrowing to some extent.

Keep the water in your pond as clean and unpolluted as possible. Do not permit unnecessary trampling by livestock, particularly hogs. Divert drainage from barn lots, feeding yards, bedding grounds, or any other source of contamination away from the pond. Clean water is especially important in ponds used for wildlife and recreation.

If you have a problem with your pond or would like more information on ponds, contact the Soil Conservation Service at 107 College St., in Booneville or call us at 728-3544.

Record $2.6 Million In FRDP Funds Allotted To Qualified Mississippi Landowners

A record 2.6 million dollars in Forest Resource Development Program (FRDP) funds is currently being allotted to qualified Mississippi landowners for the 1985 program year, according to State Forester Robert S. (Sid) Moss.

The FRDP money comes from a tax on harvested timber (Timber Severance Tax) and is used to share the cost with landowners of forest improvement practices such as tree planting, release work (deadening of cull trees to allow more growing room for desired species), etc.

Cost shares are paid at 50 percent of the cost of forest improvement practice up to a specified limit. Any non-industrial, private landowner is potentially eligible for the forestry incentive money.

Since 1974, when Mississippi's Forest Resource Development Act was enacted hundreds of landowners have annually signed up for the FRDP program, which is administered by the Mississippi Forestry Commission through its local Country Foresters Offices. More than 200,000 acres of the State's timber growing land has been improved in the first ten years of the program.

Moss said that interested landowners should see their County Foresters right away and apply for FRDP cost-sharing before the last dollars are allotted.

"We have always had more requests than we've had money available for paying cost-shares," the State Forester said.

Moss said additional private vendors may be needed in some areas of the State to handle the increased workload resulting from the record funding of the FRDP in fiscal 1985. Persons interested in establishing private forestry vendorships should check with the local County Foresters to determine local needs and performance standards.

"There's a loving closeness and a community spirit in Booneville and Prentiss County."

Mrs. W.M. Murphy was born and reared in Prentiss County. Lived here all her life and has seen a lot of changes take place. But she'll tell you the one thing that never seems to change is the caring, friendly, neighborly spirit in the community.

"That doesn't mean we haven't progressed. Within the last few years, we've added our George E. Allen Library. Then there's our hospital expansion program. Because of it, we are going to be able to offer better medical facilities and attract specialists to the area.

"Our Tennessee-Tombigbee expansion is going to give us recreational areas and new business developments. Which, in turn, will mean more jobs for our people and better living conditions in the long run.

"And what thrills me most is to see our education levels on the rise and our teachers' standards being upgraded."

Well it might. Mrs. Murphy spent 38 years in the local school systems as a teacher, principal, and administrator. In addition she has worked to develop such programs as Head Start, Special Education, Vocational Training, Child Development and others. Her heart has always been in helping young people develop into happy, productive citizens.

So as a board member of First Bank, it is natural that the bank program she points to with greatest pride is our Young Citizen's Award.

"I have friends who have served on the judging team and I know what a difficult time they have selecting winners from among the many fine applicants. Choosing the one boy or girl who has rendered the greatest service to the community. Or taken on the greatest responsibility. Or has shown outstanding leadership abilities. That's not an easy job. What they are doing is actually picking tomorrow's leaders. And I'm proud to be associated with an institution like

First Bank that encourages our young people to develop into responsible citizens by recognizing and rewarding them."

First Bank is proud, too. Proud of having people like Mrs. W.M. Murphy on our board.

Fishing Roundup

Weather Slows Down Fishing

By SCOTT MCKINNEY
Sports Writer

According to Baldwin semi-professional angler Danny Comer, the current weather pattern has caused the area fishing to slow down.

"The weather has been very unpredictable of late, and so has the fishing," Comer said. "It looks like it wants to rain at times and then it looks like it will be sunny. This pattern has caused the fish to almost quit biting."

Bay Springs lake has been the only lake in the area that has been producing some good results. "The cloud cover has enhanced the fishing at Bay Springs," Comer said. "It is one of the hottest lakes around at this time."

GRENADA LAKE - The fish have also been biting well at Grenada lake. Comer said that most fish are being caught in about four feet of water.

Also, the average fish at Grenada in the past few weeks has been around three pounds.

The best bait to use at Grenada for the upcoming week should be worms.

SARDIS LAKE - The fishing is still good at Sardis as it has been all summer.

The backwater areas and the lakes running into Sardis are the best places to fish in the next few weeks. The water is not clear, but it is not muddy, and anglers should fish about three to five foot deep.

The best bait at Sardis for the next few weeks should be worms and three inch balsa bees.

"Sardis is known for its fall and winter fishing best," Comer said. "Sauger is the fish that everyone will start fishing for in a few more months. The have to stay in cooler water and the water is still warm up there."

Comer said that the first of November is usually the best time to fish for the Saugers.

PICKWICK - The fishing at Pickwick is still slow but it is starting to get better according to Comer.

FISHING TALES - This past week my brother and several of his friends went fishing in the New Site area. When I was asked to go, I considered going, but I refused because of my last experience with this group.

After my brother returned home, he told me what I had missed. It seems that he again caught all the fish and his friends didn't catch any. Maybe he should be writing this column. Of course he is still experiencing "beginner's luck."

TOURNAMENT NEWS - The Tupelo Bass Club held a tournament last weekend on Grenada Lake. Steve Alton took first place with 16 lbs. Johnny Long was second with 14 lbs., and Comer caught the lunker, a 5 lb., 8 oz. bass.

There will be two Red Man tournaments within the next few weeks. Grenada Lake will host one tourney this weekend, but the entry deadline is already past.

However, the Mississippi Bass Association will have a tournament Aug. 19, at Sardis. Anyone interested in entering the tourney should contact Comer at 365-5811.

Remember, if you have a question, tip, or comment that you would like to share with other readers, don't hesitate to send us your mail. Address your letters to the Fishing Roundup, the Banner-Independent, P.O. Box 269, Booneville, Miss. 38829. Until next week, good fishing!

Miller On Road To Success

By SCOTT MCKINNEY
Sports Writer

It's a long way from an old goal attached to a tree in the Frankstown bottom to the Tad Smith Coliseum on the campus of the University of Mississippi. But, Wheeler's Tangie Miller has made that trip, and continues on her road to success.

Two weeks ago, Miller was named Most Valuable Defensive Player in the Mississippi High School Girl's All-Star game in Jackson as her North teammates almost pulled off a major upset against the highly-favored South team.

The star guard grabbed eight rebounds, dished out nine assists, scored five points and made six steals. Her play on the floor in the Mississippi Coliseum impressed the more than 3,000 fans in attendance.

One play in particular, taking place in the second period, let the spectators know that Tangie Miller was for real.

The North squad had a three-against-two fast break early in the second quarter. The 5'8" Miller was leading the pack with a hard, fast dribble down the court.

As she went up for an apparent shot, she made a surprise behind-the-back blind pass to teammate Kunshinge Sorrell of Booneville.

The crowd at the coliseum went berserk as Sorrell converted the play into a North basket.

The Prentiss County and Wheeler fans in attendance have come to expect such play from their All-Star. And, Miller, herself, was confident that she was capable of such high play.

"I just went out on the floor and did what I usually do," Miller said. "I was just a little more excited and pumped up than usual. I really wanted to do well."

"I would rather for us to win than for me to get all these awards. But, it helps a little to get recognized and be honored this way," she said.

Although the North's effort to win fell just three points short, Miller said she was glad to have the experience of playing in the All-Star game.

"I was glad just to get to play against all of these other great players," she said. "It was a thrill just to get selected to play. I never got to play in the State tournament while at Wheeler and this is like a dream come true."

Miller's high school coach Lonnie Murphy was well pleased with his former player's performance.

"I expected Tangie to really do well in this game. I am extremely proud of her and for her," Murphy said. "I was glad she played so well and represented our school this way, but I am also disappointed that she is no longer playing for me and our team."

"It is hard to describe what what she has done for our program here at Wheeler," Murphy said. "She hasn't really got the recognition she deserves, but she will now because of her all-out effort during this game."

Ole Miss head girl's basketball coach Van Chancellor was also well pleased with Miller's performance (Miller has already signed a letter of intent to play with Chancellor's Lady Rebels this fall).

"She is an excellent athlete and will be a valuable asset to our team," Chancellor said. "Her play in this game is typical of what she can do for our program."

The rim is now down on the tree behind Miller's house. But, the worn dirt court and the battle scars on the tree are reminders to the young athlete of her long, hard road to success.

The only run for Etheridge came in the fifth inning.

Top hitters in the game were Tracey Dodds and Heather Hayes, both 2-3, and Shawn Starling, who went 3-3.

For H & W it was Chasity Johnson going 2-2, while Sally Bishop and Leigh-Ann Stewart both went 2-3.

On Number Four With A Four

Local Golfer Gets Hole-In-One

Joseph W. Johnsey Sr. used a number four wood last Saturday to get a hole-in-one on the Booneville Golf and Country Club's par three, number four hole.

Larry Carroll, Billy Bolden, J.W. Jacobs and Billy Kelton all witnessed the 190 yard ace.

Johnsey said that he was excited when he saw the ball fall in the cup.

"I screamed pretty loud when it fell," Johnsey said. "I let everybody around know about it when I yelled."

Jeff Finch is returning home to Monroe County after four years.

Finch, who has been the basketball coach at Marietta for the last four years, has been selected head boys' basketball coach at Nettleton High School.

A 1976 graduate of Hamilton High School, Finch received his masters degree from Mississippi State University in 1980. He has been coaching at Marietta since then.

Finch led Marietta to an overall 79-18 record during his tenure at the school. His teams earned two county championships and two five-county championships.

He also coached the five-county girls basketball championship team last year at Marietta.

"My reasons for leaving Marietta are more money and the chance to coach a high school team," Finch said.

"I am really proud to have coached at Marietta," He said. "I would like to thank the people of Marietta and Principal Bernell Smith for giving me their trust and faith," Finch said.

For The Murphy Joneses

The Happy Ending Is Only The Beginning

By MARC LINDSEY
NEMJC Public Information
Office

Everybody loves a happy ending, like when the hero swims great rivers, climbs mountains and walks through fire to reach his quest.

In their own way a family in Booneville, having endured the fire, has just begun with a happy ending. Few couples have waited longer for or tried harder to find a child to call their own. But after eight years of dead ends and disappointment, Murphy and Lora Jones are the proud parents of a beautiful, bouncing baby girl . . . from Korea.

"We dealt with about 15 adoption agencies here in the States, but most of them just didn't have babies available," Murf said. "But the people at the Holt Agency tells us there are a lot of babies available for adoption in Korea, Thailand, India, South America and the Philippines."

The Holt Adoption Agency, based in Eugene, Ore., set up the adoption process that would nine months later bring Jade Ashley to the Joneses. After filling out mountains of paper work and going through interviews, Murf and Lora were accepted in December of 1983.

The following April they received word from their Memphis-based social worker, Dr. Kathy Fletcher, that a baby had been chosen for their adoption.

"Jade had been abandoned when she was only two or three days old," Murf said. "But the first pictures we saw of her were taken when she was six weeks old. Of course, we fell in love with her right away."

Being the kind of people Murf and Lora are, they had no choice but to fall in love with Jade. Murf, chairman of Northeast Junior College's Speech Department and Lora, a nurse at Booneville's Baptist Memorial Hospital, are what many might call "born parents."

After trying time and again to adopt a child through various agencies, the Joneses tried their hand at the foster parent program. They took charge of at least one of three boys ages two, four and fourteen during a period of six or seven months. However, the foster parent plan ended in heartache for Murf and Lora when the boys were taken from them.

"That was kind of a bad experience," Lora said. "It was then that we decided we wouldn't bring a child back into our home unless it was ours permanently."

Finally, the Joneses completed the last of the paperwork that left Memphis May 10. The only thing that lay between them and their precious Jade were eight weeks . . . eight torturous, seemingly endless weeks.

"Those eight weeks seemed like an eternity," Lora said.

But the day did come. July 11 in Memphis, Jade joined her family.

"What we felt when Jade got here is, well, kind of hard to describe," Lora said. "I felt kind of . . . relieved, I guess."

"Relief and elation," Murf chimed in.

It's obvious Lora and Murf felt gratitude for Jade. And undoubtedly, Jade will one day feel the same gratitude toward her parents.

"I hate to say it, but in a lot of Oriental countries, females have no value," Murf said. "Girls are recognized in everything according to the lineage of their fathers. Illegitimates therefore can't get work cards, can't go to school and can't get registry cards for anything . . . they wind up in the streets."

"Yet, we're not going to deny Jade her heritage. If she's interested when she's older, we plan to take her back to Korea," Murf said.

"We've already gotten books and are getting magazines about Korea. But what we do about her heritage in the future depends totally on her interest," Lora added.

"Right now, we're just glad that we've been blessed with a good baby who accepted us as mother and father immediately," Murf said.

The Joneses said they recognized that a lot of couples like themselves want a child desperately and said they "most definitely" recommend the process they used for people who didn't harbor reservations about adopting foreign children.

"It was no problem for us," Murf said. "As far as Lora and I are concerned, a child is a child."

"Sure, there was a lot of paperwork involved, but it wasn't a hard process," Murf said. "I've just got one word of advice. If anybody wants a baby as badly as Lora and I did, don't give up. One will appear somewhere."

One did appear for Lora and Murf. To hear them tell it, you would think she was carried in on angel's wings instead of a jet. And with Jade came the happy ending to the Joneses' eight year quest for their child.

Now the three start working on "and they lived happily ever after . . ."

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK:

The Greatest Force In The World! Part 1

I Corinthians 13:8 -- 'Love never fails' (Amplified Bible)

Dwight Massengill

Dwight Massengill

Pastor

Oak Hill Baptist Church

Love that finds its source in God is truly the greatest force in the world. We all know that hate is a powerful force in the world between nations, businesses, and individuals; but love is more powerful than hate.

Paul gives us an amazing analysis of what true love has as its characteristics. First of all, Paul says that true love is PATIENT! (v. 4 love "suffereth long.") The New Testament word always describes patience with PEOPLE. Chrysostom said that it is the word used of the man who has been treated wrong and who has it easily in his power to get even but will not do it. Love is patient!

But Paul also says that true love is kind! (Love "is kind," v. 4). Origen interpreted the thought to mean that love is "sweet to all." In Ephesians 4:32, it says, "And be ye kind one to another..." How terrible if in our unkindness we frighten souls away from our kind Lord and Saviour. A kind person never causes trouble for anyone in any way and make sure you never forget that! (Me too!) Love is kind.

Paul goes on to say that true love is not jealous! (v. 4 Love "envieth not.") In the context of this whole letter, these Corinthian Christians were being reminded that they were not to be jealous if God did not give to them the gifts that others had. For example, if Bro. Jones was blessed with the gift of giving, Bro. Brown was not to get jealous just because he only had the gift of mercy, and could not give away 50,000 dollars every year like his brother in Christ. True love is not grieved when others are being blessed with a better job, better home, or better car. True love is always happy for the person that is being blessed and is excited for them! True love is not jealous!

Ask the Lord to help you examine your own heart to see if you are a patient person, a kind person, and a person free from jealousy. Lord Jesus, give us more PATIENT, KIND, and JEALOUS FREE people in the community where we live; and let it begin with us who want these character qualities. Through Christ who had these qualities. Amen.

Stylish Children's Wear Scores Top Marks For Fashion Mileage

Fall is filled with activities that signal a fresh new beginning - like back to school. It's a special time for kids - from active toddlers about to enter nursery school, to the pre-teen plunging into the junior high school whirl. And, it's a time when youngsters need clothing that lets them keep up the pace, while looking great. Look for classic boys' sweaters to wear over button-down shirts, corduroy pleated skirts and skirts with suspenders for girls, overalls and coveralls for infants.

Tops for girls sport delightful screen prints, such as the popular unicorn theme, perky appliques and ruffled sleeve treatments. Boys take to the layered jog suit look and athletic styling in tops and slacks.

Make The Grade With New Back-To-School Wardrobe

Back-to-school marks an exciting beginning. Whether a wide-eyed freshman or an upperclassman returning to class, students face a myriad of new adventures. That means they need a new wardrobe suitable for all activities - a wardrobe that can go from the classroom to a football game to a Saturday night date.

First of all, students shouldn't exceed their budget. A few related separates can go a long way. A good start would be a sweater vest.

"Vests are being played up 110 percent this year," says George D'Ambrosio, sweater buyer for a large chain of women's stores. "A vest is the ideal layer piece." Popular in grid patterns, vests work over striped or plaid shirts that have a definite menswear influence. Pullover sweaters are another good purchase, but note that tweeds and flecked yarns are replacing yesterday's shetlands.

SMASHING SWEATER - Worn over corduroy "baggy" trousers, a sweater provides a popular, contemporary look.

The Beauty Of Cultured Pearls Is Timeless

For fall 1984, fashion designers are in love with simplicity - a simplicity of line, drama achieved through understatement. This elegant, very sophisticated look relies strongly upon real jewelry to enhance without overshadowing, and embellish without fuss.

For this reason, many American designers have chosen to rely upon the jewelry's radiant quality to make an important statement about the fineness of the clothing. Its fabric and tailoring. Of all fine jewelry, cultured pearls are particular favorites because they are both subtle in their appeal and sensuous. Their rich, lustrous beauty provides a perfect counterpoint for the muted tones (sometimes sparked by brights) and draped or spare shapes of fall daywear. They are an eye-catching contrast to the iridescent velvets and sleek silks which characterize many designers' evening wear collections.

'Of all fine jewelry, cultured pearls are particular favorites...'

Cultured pearls' timeless beauty is a classic adjunct to a well-dressed woman's wardrobe, especially this year when nothing looks as right as a matinee or opera length strand of graduated or matched cultured pearls over a slim, calf-length sweater dress, or an elegantly draped silk blouse worn with a long lean skirt.

Cultured pearl earrings, as always, add a perfect finishing touch. Some of fall's oversized jackets, paired with slim, knee-skimming skirts, demand a dramatic pin, worn on the lapel. Among the jewelry designs for fall are spectacular pins combining sprays of gold with a multitude of cultured pearls or fresh water pearls, which are currently very much in vogue.

Slim pants are plentifully in evidence for fall '84. Their clean lines and well-trod good looks are enhanced by the strategic addition of cultured pearl jewelry - a choker at the open neck of a silk shirt; a classic matinee length strand of cultured pearls worn with that other thoroughbred classic, the cashmere sweater, or simply a pair of go-everywhere cultured pearl earrings.

For evening, the look is dressier, but drama still prevails. Red silk evening pajamas look striking worn with a four-strand matinee length necklace of cultured pearls. A two-piece cocktail dress in satin which combines a loose, cropped top with a short, narrow skirt is enhanced by a double strand cultured pearl necklace with a gold and diamond clasp. And, an opera length cultured pearl necklace and mabe pearl long, sleek and stylish lines. Whether for dressing, up or down, cultured pearl jewelry adds an unmistakable touch of class to autumn's clothing - classics with a dramatic difference which demand only the best!

The Bubble Cut New Fall Hair Styles Reflect Self-Expression And Adventure

For centuries women have had limitations placed on every aspect of their lives. The progressive attitude of women in the '50s began a period in which women dared to move and challenge constantly the boundaries that had been placed around them. This independence has left its mark, creating a need for hair and clothing that reflects this new breed of woman - determined, sexy and adventurous. As challenges changed, so did the look of women in the marketplace. Conservative, tailored images were the standard so that being feminine and successful didn't seem to mix. Women today have come to realize that they can be successful and feminine without apologies. With this in mind, internationally recognized hair designer Rocco Altobelli of St. Paul, Minnesota, has created the Bubble Cut '84. This cut is designed for easy care and natural movement that accentuates texture, color and boldness of line styled into the hair.

Balancing Intensity With Lively New Color Directions

In a word, the fashion news for fall is color. From the lively new brights against black to classic reds, yellows and plaids, this season's wardrobe will be far from just a replay of autumn leaf shades.

"To balance the color intensity of fashion, makeup shades will express a new passion this fall," says Virginia Haigh, manager of makeup development for Avon. Taking their cues from the international fashion design trendsetters, Avon's fall "Friedrich Stiles" shades for eyes, cheeks, lips and nails are shot through with gem-like brilliance. Whether worn with the daring day-glow accents making fashion headlines, or the dark neutrals of menswear inspired designs, these makeup colors have enough drama to stand up to any of fashion's strong statements this fall.

Colors on the face will harmonize completely with on another, but with an intensity that adds mystery, interest and imagination to a woman's face.

Ms. Haigh says, "A lively combination of jewel tones, like Avon's new 'Empress Ross,' 'Peacock Blue,' 'Oriental Gold' and 'Treasured Violet' eyeshadows, promises to make eyes the most important feature. The shades are clear and true, creating a palette of contrast and variety.

Both fashion and makeup take exciting, unpredictable new color directions this fall.

"It's a season when a woman can play out her most adventurous color fantasies for a dramatic, sensuous look," according to Ms. Haigh.

To The Students Of All Area High Schools And Their Parents

During the school year, area high school students will be asked to decide upon and purchase their High School Class Rings. It is our decision this year not to participate in the class ring selection process at the local school. We believe it's fairer to the students, as Young Consumers, to visit our store at their leisure and make their class ring selection in an unhurried atmosphere. The class ring purchase represents a sizeable investment for the students and/or their parents. Students want their class rings to be something they'll be proud to wear for a lifetime, thus deserving all the time and personal attention they need in the selection. Please consider these positive reasons to make the selection in our store:

- We have many styles to choose from.
- As many as 26 different stones available—many of them Genuine.
- All ring options are included in the price—there are no add-on charges!
- Initials are engraved free.
- School colors are added to the sides of the ring at no cost.
- Over 200 personalized side panels—sports, activities, etc.
- 600 designs beneath the stones to choose from—Free!
- Our delivery time will be 4-6 weeks.
- Manufacturer's discounts are available most of the time.

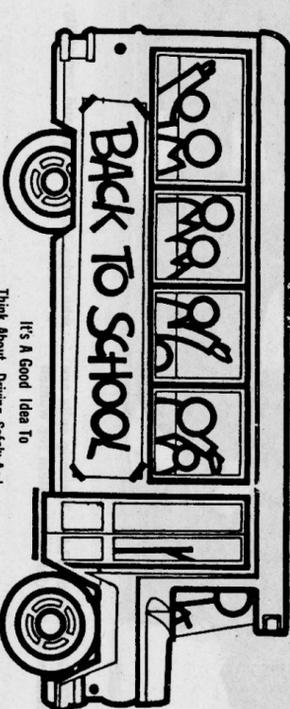

We are a permanent part of this community and hope to have you as life-long customers. There are no "now or never" ordering days; we're here all day, everyday and always available for resizing, repairs, and advice.

You can bring your family and friends into the pleasant atmosphere of our store, and take your time in choosing from our fine selection of the class ring you'd really like to have. We think you'll be happy with our personal attention and affordable prices.

Men's Fashionable Fall Jackets Offer New Drape, Colors

The new men's fashion look for this fall is jackets with a looser, fuller drape, lots of color, and in lightweight fabrics that are still able to protect against the big chill.

According to Herb Goldsmith, head of design for the popular "Members Only" label, men of all ages are demanding fashion styling in jackets more than ever before.

"Today's young man wants a jacket that drapes well over his cared-for body, while the young-at-heart wants a looser, more comfortable fit that will flatter him," says Goldsmith.

When the famous "Members Only" jacket exploded on the fashion scene five years ago, its two dozen colors created the largest color panorama in men's fashion. For this fall, the label is matching its color range with a veritable kaleidoscope of new jacket styles.

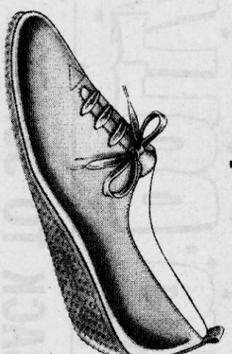

For the younger lifestyle, Goldsmith suggests jackets in a new sueded cotton, an exclusive "Members Only" fabric that has been washed and then brushed into a sueded finish. The sueded cotton styles feature such high-fashion details as leather trim, extended shoulder yokes and wool flannel linings.

A traditional winter fabric, corduroy, is given new dimensions when "Members Only" combines it with other fabrics in the same color. Some styles mix and match corduroy with canvas, leather, nylon and/or glaze.

"Today's man wants leather and more leather," says Goldsmith, "and so we're introducing the largest variety of leathers in our history."

Some of "Members Only" natural grain nappa leather comes with zippered breast pockets, some with matching corduroy sleeves.
