Attempted Murder

A man has been charged with attempted murder after he allegedly shot into a house late Monday night, according to the Prentiss County Sheriff's Department.

Tommy Moore, 19, of Route 3, Booneville, was charged with attempted murder after he allegedly fired a shot with a shotgun into the residence of Ethel Horton of Route 3, Booneville.

The incident occurred between 11 p.m. and midnight Dec. 17, the sheriff's department spokesman said.

Apparently only one shot was fired but the shot went through the front door, through the refrigerator and exited the back door.

Mrs. Horton was in the house with two 15-year-old girls at the time of the shooting. No one was hurt, the spokesman said.

It is believed the person Moore was allegedly shooting at was not at home when the shooting occurred, the spokesman said. The motive of the shooting is unknown, the sheriff's department said.

Moore was arrested Tuesday morning by second district constable Bud Michael, who is the son-in-law of Mrs. Horton.

Bond for Moore has been set at $25,000. The date of a preliminary hearing had not been set as of early Tuesday.

Trusty Caught

A trusty who escaped from the Prentiss County jail Dec. 7, was apprehended by the Baldwin Police Department Dec. 13.

Bobby Tyes, 33, of Macon St., Baldwin, a state prisoner who was in jail for a parole violation, was taken to Parchman State Penitentiary by Sheriff W.V. Horn after he was arrested by the Baldwin Police Department Thursday of last week.

Tyes now also faces charges of jail escape.

Banner Closed

The Banner-Independent office will be closed Christmas Day.

This means all deadlines will be moved up.

Society news (including birth announcements, birthday pictures, correspondent's columns, engagement and wedding stories) and items for What's Going On must be turned in by noon Friday, Dec. 21, in order to be published in next week's paper.

The classified ad deadline will be 3 p.m. Friday.

Blue Bell May Open

According to Booneville Blue Bell plant manager Joe Waterson, there is no truth to a rumor that the local garment manufacturer will reopen within the next week, but plans are being formulated to reopen the plant after the first of the year.

Asked about a report that the plant would reopen within the week, Waterson said, "Our situation at this point is that we are not making that announcement at this time."

"I am still optimistic about our situation and plans, at this point, are being made to reopen the plant in the menswear division," he said. "If you will recall, that's one of the alternatives that was listed."

"The final plans haven't been completed, but we are hoping to make an announcement about the first week in January," Waterson said.

Tentative Consolidation Plans Released

By ED WOODWARD
Managing Editor

School superintendents around the state received letters from State Educational Finance Commission executive secretary Dr. Frank I. Lovell Jr. Tuesday, Dec. 18, which included the EFC's tentative reorganization plan for their individual school districts.

The tentative reorganization plan for Prentiss County, copies of which were sent to Prentiss County superintendent J.W. Greene, Booneville Municipal Separate District superintendent R.D. Griffin and Baldwin Municipal Separate District Superintendent Steve Clark creates a new consolidated school district from the three districts.

The plan reads, "The Booneville Municipal Separate School District shall be changed to become a special municipal separate school district embracing all the territory of Prentiss County, and that territory in Lee County presently within the Baldwin Separate School District."

"The official name of such district shall be established at a later date," the plan concludes.

A note is included, which states, "If, and when, the Legislature adopts a uniform school law, all districts will be of the same type, with the same governance and financing provisions."

In the letter accompanying the reorganization plans, local school boards are asked to submit their alternative consolidation plans to the EFC by Feb. 15, 1985.

"During the month of March, the Commission will conduct hearings on such alternate proposals, if hearings are requested by the appropriate school board(s)," the letter says.

The plan is signed by Dr. Lovell and dated Dec. 17, 1984.

Initial reaction of the superintendents of the districts involved is varied.

"The Prentiss County school system will have an alternative plan," said Greene. "We plan to have a study made county-wide, then meet with the boards and officials of the other two districts."

"We're interested in whatever is most beneficial to the students of the county," he said.

"I'm so upset I don't know what to comment on," Clark said.

"We're going to meet with our school board as quickly as we can, and our attorney. And, of course, we'll have to meet with Prentiss County, Mr. Greene and his board, and Mr. Griffin and his board," he said.

"But we'll meet at the earliest convenience to try to come up with a plan before Feb. 15," Clark said.

"I just looked at it (the reorganization plan) one time," he said. "Of course, we'll have to get an attorney. But, I can tell you right now it's really got me upset."

Clark said he had obtained a copy of the plans for the entire state. "In 1954, school districts were reduced from around 3,000 to 153. And, now, we're going from 153 down to, maybe, 90."

"That reduces it right on down to where we're going to have large schools, and I don't know whether that's going to be best for education, or not," Clark said.

Griffin was said to be out of town and was not available for comment.

Dr. Lovell was asked how creation of a special municipal school district would affect the boards and officials of the present three districts involved.

"They will have to start over from square one," he said, adding that the decision as to whether board members would be elected,

Christmas Flowers

Gina Barron is pictured with poinsettias grown by Mackie and Janice Holder in their greenhouse at Altitude. The Holders have been growing poinsettias for seven years. This year they grew 1,500 of the Christmas flowers. One of the legends surrounding the poinsettia tells of a poor young girl who longed to present a gift to the mother of Jesus but having nothing of value, picked a handful of weeds to present Mary. As she gave her humble gift, the weeds were suddenly transformed into huge scarlet blooms, and thus was born the Christmas poinsettia. Gina is the daughter of Grandie and Kay Barron. Her grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Alvie Deaton of Thrasher.

TV-53 Manager Searching For Local Investors

By KEN CHRISTIAN
Publisher

Julian Graddick readily admits that unexpected financial problems have plagued Booneville's proposed low-power television station since he first moved here from Mobile, Ala., several months ago to become the station's general manager.

However, he says that all of the past due bills owed by Dove Broadcasting Inc., owner of the station license, are in the process of being paid. He adds that he has no intention of giving up yet on getting the station on the air.

Now that the original investors - businessmen from the Mobile area - have pulled out of the deal, Graddick is looking for local investors to buy into the station to help finance it.

Graddick, who plans to keep a 25-percent interest in the station, said he has talked to several local individuals about becoming involved in backing the station financially.

"Interest has been shown by several local people," he said, "including a local doctor, a local lawyer and other professional people."

However, no one has yet committed to Graddick that they will invest in the station.

THE FEDERAL Communications Commission approved a building permit for UHF channel 53 in Booneville in January 1984. This permit was one of several applications submitted by Graddick and several other investors in Mobile, Ala. - but the only one thus far to have received FCC approval. Under FCC regulations, the station had one year from the date of the approval of the building permit to get on the air. However, because of all the problems, the FCC has since granted a six-month extension.

Graddick moved to Booneville in September to begin the process of getting the station on the air.

He said that when he first came here, financing of the station was his least concern - he was more concerned with finding qualified, experienced people to help him run the station.

However, things worked out exactly the opposite. Once it was known that the station might open here, Graddick said he was overwhelmed at the number of experienced people who contacted him.

But, unfortunately, the financing did not come through as easily as expected.

According to Graddick, Booneville banks refused to lend the company money to purchase the equipment needed to operate the station because all of the investors were from Mobile and were not known locally.

And, banks in Mobile refused to lend them the money because the money would not be used in the Mobile area, he said.

Under the original agreement, Graddick said, his partners in Mobile had agreed to pay his salary once he moved to Booneville. However, he says, they did not do so.

"I have been here since September without pay," he said. "And I have spent all the funds I have personally."

IN THE MEANTIME, both Graddick and his wife have worked at part-time jobs - he as a plumber's helper and she in an area restaurant.

He said that the phone at his home in Booneville has been disconnected due to a number of long distance phone calls which were made on company business. Graddick said he sent in payment for his portion of the bill, but the investors in Mobile failed to pay their share as they said they would.

According to Graddick, the Mobile investors are no longer interested in the Booneville TV station because it has taken too long

Mrs. Santa Tells It Like It Is

By ED WOODWARD
Managing Editor

Although I have managed to track him down for Christmas interviews for three years straight, Santa Claus eluded me this year.

He was in and out of Booneville in the blink of an eye on Dec. 3, and rumor has it he has been feeding his reindeer hormones he acquired from the Russian Olympic team.

The hormones are said to be so powerful they turned Rudolph's nose into a strobe, and the FAA has denied Santa airspace within 50 miles of any major US airport because he passed too close to the Teeterboro, N.J., airport and an Air France Concorde mistook it for Kennedy and tried to land there.

Since I was denied my traditional interview with the jolly old elf (No, not Kermit Jones or Gaitha Jumper - Santa), and I needed a Christmas-oriented interview, Angela gave me the North Pole's 800 number and suggested I talk to Brunhilde Kringle - Mrs. Santa Claus.

After accidentally dialing 1-800-257-1234 three times and 1-844-HITS twice, I finally managed to punch out 1-800-646-4646 (6HO-HOHO), and a voice answered, "Guten tag. Vos ist?"

I introduced myself, and my first question prompted a stream of possibly unprintable Teutonic epithets. But, after she had calmed down, Mrs. Kringle was able to tell me what special problems she encounters during the Christmas season and, in some cases, year round.

"First, I have to get his suit ready. When he gets back from his annual trip he's so tired he just tosses it into the closet and it lies there on the floor all year. By the time I recover, I've forgotten about it and, when I finally remember it has to be cleaned, it's Thanksgiving again already," she said.

"Do you have any idea how that suit looks after he's climbed up and down all those chimneys?" Mrs. Kringle asked. "It's filthy! I can't get a dry cleaner to even touch it. I've tried and tried to get him to wear a black suit but he insists red is the traditional color, and what kid would sit in the lap of a Santa who appointed or both will be left up to local officials.

"Basically, they could be elected district wide, or at large," Lovell said. "But, if the city authorities -- the city board of aldermen, and the board of supervisors sit down and decide to appoint some or all of the board members, they may do so."

"They could allow the city to appoint all of them, the board of supervisors to appoint all of them, or each board to appoint some of them. Or they could decide to have them all elected, part of them elected and part of them appointed," he said.

Asked if he didn't mean the two boards of aldermen and the board of supervisors would have to get together on the decision, Lovell said, "No. You can't tie your district to but one city."

Asked if this meant the Baldwin Board of Aldermen would have no say, Lovell said, "No. We haven't decided which city the district would be tied to."

Lovell said he still advocates appointed superintendents for the new districts, rather than elected administrators.

He said rumors that he is leaning toward the idea of only one high school for the combined Prentiss County district were not true. "I'm not leaning any way," he said.

"Whether there should be one, two, three or whatever (schools), I don't have any specific notions about that, except for what the criteria states regarding wealth disparity and color balance," Lovell said.

The criteria he referred to say that no district shall have a property assessment which is more than 20 percent greater per enrolled pupil than any other district in the county, and that no reorganized school district shall have a resident minority (black or white) school

BIBLE QUESTION BOX

QUESTION: CAN ONE BE SAVED OUT OF THE CHURCH?

JOHNNY RICHARDSON

ANSWER: Some erroneous concepts blind us from precious truth. The concept that God orders and blesses all churches of denominationalism is one such error. Lack of understanding of the Biblical teaching of the church contributes to the confusion. Some believe that it is one thing to become a Christian and another thing to become a member of the church. When one is obedient to the faith the Lord adds him to the church. (Acts 2:47) The church doesn't save, it is the saved. "... Christ is the head of the church: and he is the savior of the body." (Eph. 5:23) Paul already affirmed that the church is his body. (Eph. 1:22, 23) Christ is the savior, the church is the body of saved. There is no promise in the scripture of salvation outside the church. Two questions: If the church is not important why did Christ die for it? Can one be an heir to the inheritance of God without being in his family? Paul teaches us that "the house of God ... is the church of the living God." (1 Tim. 3:15) My friend do not despise the family of God, be obedient to the faith.

W.R. 'Dick' Brown

Late Poet's Work Published

Fans of the late W.R. "Dick" Brown's poetry have a treat in store.

Richard Brown Jr., an associate professor of education at Auburn University in Montgomery, Ala., has re-compiled a collection of his father's poems into a book entitled "Skip in My Row."

In his introduction to the book, Richard Brown Jr. says that title will have special significance to anyone who has hoed cotton ten or 12 hours a day under a hot summer sun.

"For a fellow worker to reach over to your row and hoe a strip of cotton in order that you might catch up with the group was one of the kindest gifts one could give," he says.

According to Brown, his father's book is "a portrait of life and love in the traditional South written by one who grew up in a family headed by a tenant farmer."

"Skip in My Row" is a second edition of Dick Brown's original book of poems, "Selected Poems." However, his son has edited it, taking out some of the original poems and adding others that his father had not included in the previous edition.

The sequence in which the poems are presented has been altered also. Dick Brown had originally planned to edit the poems himself for the second edition, but his failing health prevented him from doing so.

The poems deal mainly with life in the 1930's and 40's. "It's an ideal book for the older generation to share with the younger generation," Richard Brown said.

The poems have four basic themes -- family relationships, hunting, wildlife, and religion.

The author, Dick Brown, was born in Blackland in 1908 and lived in Booneville when he died in 1982. Originally a farmer, he became known not only for his poetry, but also for his paintings and as a breeder and trainer of bird dogs (in 1981 he was named to the American Field Trial Hall of Fame).

Richard Brown Jr. was to be in Booneville Wednesday and Thursday of this week to leave copies of the book of poems at several locations. He said he also hopes to be able to display some of his father's paintings at the locations where the book of poems will be available.

Brown said "Skip in My Row" will be available for $5.95 at the following businesses -- Grays, Bank of Mississippi, Milwick Office Supplies, Men's Quarters, Jumbertown Supermarket, and the George E. Allen Library.

A Painting By Dick Brown

wore a black suit, and he probably has a point.

"But red shows dirt like crazy and that white fur is impossible to get clean. I just have to replace it every year. He doesn't know it but I've been using fake fur for 10 years because I started getting obscene phone calls from environmentalists."

"He won't consider using a wash and wear suit. He hates polyester. He says he sweats too much and no parent wants a picture of their kid sitting in Santa's lap holding its nose, and I can see his point, but I have to wash the furslugginer thing a dozen times just to get all the soot out of it," she said.

"And, if you're wondering why it takes so long to get around to cleaning it, just answer me one thing, Mr. Baumwood, or whatever your name is. Do you have any idea what it's like to cook and sew for and clean up after 55 elves? You wouldn't believe how messy little people are."

I pointed out that I do, after all, work with Kay Parr. But she said that wasn't the same.

"And they eat like you wouldn't believe for such little people," she continued. "You think your grocery bill is something. You should see mine."

"And, while Kris is gallivanting all over the world, I'm left with the job of throwing a Christmas party for them. All your wife has to do is get ready for two sets of relatives at Christmas. How would she like to fix dinner for 55 elves and all their relatives?"

"And, boy! Are they finicky eaters. I mean picky...picky...picky. You wouldn't believe it how picky they are. The turkey is too dry and the ham isn't done enough. The dressing is too spicy, or not spicy enough."

"Some want cornbread dressing, others want Yankee dressing. Some don't like oysters in it, or onions, or sage...Some of them even want their baked potatoes peeled and stuffed."

I wanted desperately to change the subject, but Mrs. Kringle didn't even stop to breathe. "Then, there's the reindeer," she segued from the elves without missing a beat.

"Have you ever cooked for a reindeer? I mean there's only so many ways to fix hay and oats. Try it sometime. Try to find a cookbook with gourmet dishes made from hay and oats. I've had problems ever since Donner and Blitzen met Craig Claibourne at an Ole Miss game and Rudolph guested on Julia Child's show."

"Why he came back and wanted alfalfa Avignon with champignons and haricot verte. I mean that reindeer has been unfit to live with ever since he had that song written about him and he starred in that stupid biographical TV show, half of which, I can tell you, was a bunch of bratwurst."

Mrs. Klaus finally stopped for a breath and I quickly asked what I knew millions of kids were dying to know: What is Santa Claus really like?

"That's a good question," she replied. "You've interviewed him three times. You tell me. I'm lucky to ever see him. He gets back Christmas morning, goes to bed and stays there a week."

"When he gets up he spends a week with his accountant, then spends three weeks answering 'Why didn't you bring what I asked for?' letters, and that takes care of January."

"He spends February in Santa Claus, Ind. posing for publicity pictures and doing interviews (I made a note to go there in February). And in March he's off to help the Easter Bunny, though I don't know why. The Bunny never comes here to help with Christmas."

"He says it's because he's no snowshoe rabbit, but I say he's just lazy," she growled.

She ticked off month after month with Kris doing this and that, finally getting to November "when he's back in the shop helping the elves retool for the new season's toys and I get to see him a couple of hours a day until the middle of the month when he's off again training his stand-ins for department store and mall appearances and riding in a few Christmas parades himself," she said.

"And, by the time he gets back it's the middle of December and I'm trying to clean that stupid suit. If it weren't for me he wouldn't get started on his trip before Valentine's Day, he's so disorganized."

She grew pensive for a moment. "After you've been married 350 years it's a little late to start thinking about a divorce," she said. "Besides, who wants custody of 55 elves and nine reindeer?"

She sounded as if she might start crying, so I thanked her and hung up.

Next year, I may interview Rudolph. After all, what kind of problems can he have, other than, maybe, changing bulbs in his nose every three weeks, or so?

IS ONE SAVED BY GRACE?

Some who claim that they are saved by grace, believe that salvation is by grace alone. Grace refers to the unmerited, unearned, and undeserved favor of God. The grace of God makes salvation possible. (Titus 2:11) Grace came by Jesus Christ. (John 1:17) All who are saved will be saved by grace. (Eph. 2:8)

Salvation by grace does not mean grace alone, because Paul stated it was through faith. Grace is God's part and faith is man's part of salvation. One is saved by grace, but he must also have a saving faith, which works by love. (Gal. 5:6)

Man cannot save himself, but that does not mean that man is passive. The kind of works condemned are works of the law. (Rom. 3:20, 27, 28) Works of righteousness are essential in one's salvation. (Matt. 3:15)

Salvation is a gift. (Rom. 6:23) For the exchange of a gift, there must be a giver and a receiver. God is the giver and man is the recipient. Conditions can be and often are connected with a gift. (Joshua 6:2) We can receive the gift when we meet the necessary conditions.

Both Paul and the Ephesians were saved by grace. Both did something in order to be saved by grace. (Acts 22:16, Acts 19:15) Salvation was a gift for both, but conditions had to be met in order to receive the gift.

Salvation is by grace through faith and is a gift, but conditions must be met to receive the gift. Have you met the conditions in order to be saved by grace through faith?

Talk 'O The Town

Street Opinion

QUESTION: What does Christmas mean to you?

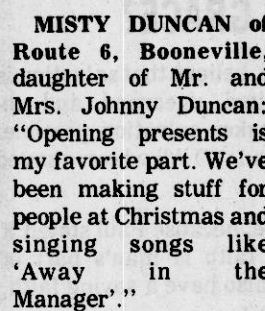

HOBIE LINDSEY of Route 5, Booneville, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lindsey: "It's Jesus' birthday. We'll exchange presents. I'm expecting Santa to come. I've been good this year. I want a .410 shotgun."

WENDY BREED-LOVE of Route 7, Booneville, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Breedlove: "Jesus' birth. I think about Jesus' birthday. We'll have a party at church. 'Silent Night' is my favorite carol."

BRIAN GEORGE of Route 5, Booneville, son of Mr. and Mrs. Larry George: "It's a lot of fun and you get a lot of presents and Santa Claus comes to see you. We put our Christmas tree up a few days ago. I'd like to wish everyone a Merry Christmas."

MISTY DUNCAN of Route 6, Booneville, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Duncan: "Opening presents is my favorite part. We've been making stuff for people at Christmas and singing songs like 'Away in the Manager'."

JANA JOHNSON of Route 6, Booneville, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jackie Johnson: "It means to give gifts and have fun and do things. We've been singing Christmas songs and we plan to put our tree up pretty soon."

(Editor's note: "Talk O' The Town" is not intended as a scientific poll of public opinion. Rather, it is simply intended to give Prentiss Countians an opportunity to voice their opinions on particular issues and topics. Maybe we'll ask you next!)

Ponderings

By Angela Smith

Staff Reporter

With only a few days remaining before Christmas arrives, I feel I should mention once more how lovely the Christmas decorations are this year in Prentiss County.

Christmas seems to bring out the best in people. And this year -- if lights and decorations are any indication -- Prentiss Countians are filled with Christmas spirit.

I don't know all the names of the people who have decorated extensively but some of the people I do know are David Gahagan in Pisgah, Glen Bristo in Lake City and Dealle Hisaw on Forrest Lee Drive. And of course there is Johnny Cummings on Hatchie Street who has added even more lights than he had last year.

Those who would like to see home after home decorated should drive down Tuscumbia Road. If I could give awards I would have to give the people on this road awards for the time and effort they have taken. It is truly a joy to drive down this road and see all the lights at the many different houses. As last year, the Cosbys and Stites have remarkable displays -- and most of their neighbors do, too. This is one of my favorite holiday roads!

Since I live in Thrasher I should brag on my neighbors such as Mike and Shelia Bullard who have a colorfully lighted tree outside, as does Mr. and Mrs. Guy Coley.

Sharon Windham's home is decorated, too -- just so Santa will be sure and pay a visit to her two sons. Across the street from them there are lights shining at Billy Barron's home. Chris Campbell has good decorations, too. There have probably been other decorations put up since I've driven by.

The Piney Grove-New Candler-Altitude area is also a good place to see lights.

There simply isn't room to call everyone's name who has "gone all out" this year for Christmas. But those who have decorated can be assured that the decorations haven't gone unnoticed -- and the decorations are being enjoyed by many people...and probably no one is enjoying them more than I am!

IT'S HARD to believe that Christmas is only days away.

All of my Christmases have been spent in Prentiss County. I can't remember a white Christmas -- but probably only because I have a bad memory.

My father tells of a white Christmas when he was a little boy and how he saw "tracks" on the roof left by Santa's sleigh.

But even if we don't have a white Christmas this year (and the weather feels more like summer than winter) Christmas is Christmas. A very special time.

There is one letter to Santa in our Christmas edition where a little girl tells Santa that she knows why we celebrate Christmas. "It's Jesus' birthday," she says. That's a good thought to keep in mind.

I hope all of you will have a happy Christmas.

Court Square Ponderings

"Christmas is the time of the year when mother has to separate the men from the toys."

Letters

Dear Editor:

In regard to what I have seen in The Banner-Independent and other newspapers about what is wrong or right with education in Mississippi and in Prentiss County:

Everyone seems to be asking the same question, "Where is the money coming from?" Me, too.

What Booneville and Prentiss County need is a good factory that hires primarily men and pays more than $2.00 per hour to start off. Then, we might have a little money to pay our teachers and keep up our classrooms.

What about accountability and AIM? As I understand it, a student can pass his regular courses, but fail AIM and he has failed his grade. Will this lead to a parent suing a teacher for not being accountable?

Teachers, if you don't like working overtime without pay, go on strike. Be willing to go without to help your future. All great men and women of history have.

In The Banner, one teacher asked, "Who is going to teach my grandchildren?" Well, teacher, there will always be a teacher because I believe there are too many teaching now who shouldn't be there but are because school teaching has become a way to save face.

We tell our kids, "Go to college." They do, and try other things, but can't pass. So, they go into teaching.

Teaching has become involved with politics. It's not what you know, but who you know, and certain teachers get jobs at certain schools. This thing of local teachers for local jobs has helped to lower the standards of education.

How can a 22 year old gain the true respect of a 17 or 18 year old brother, sister or cousin? It's like a pastor coming to his home church for his first church. He gets very little respect.

I also believe local teachers come cheaper than hiring one from out of town.

In closing, I say we will never have better schools until the people decide they would rather have a Class A education than an A or B Class basketball championship. Ronald E. Wenzel

Dear Editor:

I am a student at Booneville High School. Again we are announcing our urgent need of new facilities. It is very hard for me and my fellow students to concentrate on our work while we are fighting the elements.

The heating system is inadequate. When it is turned on, it is so hot no one can stand it, so the heat has to be turned off. Then the winter air comes through the holes and cracks, and we freeze.

Once winter hits Booneville, the population of the students is plagued with colds and flu because of sweating one minute and shivering the next.

Besides the students' personal well being, the entire building is a disgrace to this growing town. We can't even hold assemblies in our auditorium because it is condemned.

When the school hosts activities, the fun is spoiled because everyone is trying to keep one eye on the cracks in the wall. Sometimes the drabness of the building even keeps people from attending.

So could we all get together and give Booneville a school to be proud of? The town and all future generations of Blue Devils would benefit from it.

Sincerely yours, Regina Adams

Dear Editor:

As a student of Booneville High School, I would like to express my desire for a new high school.

Going to school at B.H.S. is really dangerous. All the walls are cracked, and some even sway back and forth. The heating is never regular, and the electrical wiring is old and worn.

One can tell the school is old because it has no modern science labs or music departments. This is not fair to the B.H.S. students because they are limited in experiments and learning.

If the walls of B.H.S. were as strong as the spirit of B.H.S., the students would have it made. Even though the school is old and about to fall in, the student body doesn't let that get them down.

Someday, we all hope to see a new school built with modern classrooms, labs, music departments and a gymnasium.

Sincerely, Lisa Horn

Dear Editor:

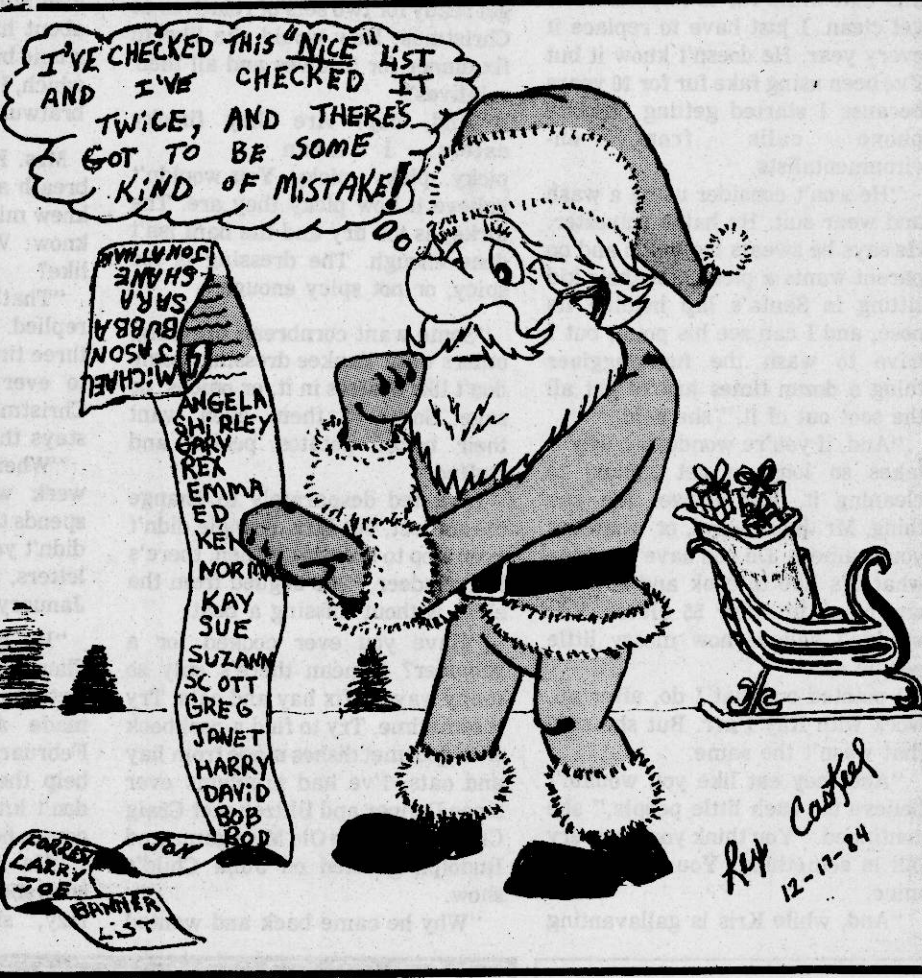

As a student of Booneville High School, I would like to call your attention the deplorable conditions at our school. The building has suffered much structural damage since its construction in 1934, and conditions have worsened especially over the past few years. Because of the building's age, remodeling would be impractical, and construction of a new high school is the only alternative.

Through you and the newspaper industry, students like myself hope the community will be made more aware of the schools conditions and the hazard it poses for the faculty and students.

Sincerely, Jim Caver

That Yankee From Yonder

By Ed Woodward

Managing Editor

Last year we told Jason about Santa. He appeared to accept it awfully well. He just mullied over the idea and didn't cry or even ask any questions.

It wasn't until this year that we discovered the reason for the strange reaction. He didn't believe us.

Jason is much like I was. He is a dreamer. And he hates to let go of those dreams. Hence his interpretation of our earth-shaking news was simply that we didn't believe anymore.

Rather than accepting our news, he decided to humor us. He told us as much this year when he let us know that he still believes. And I find that extremely heartening.

I still believed in Santa when I was in the fifth grade. But that doesn't happen much today. I'm afraid Jason is an exception. Maybe he is naive; and maybe I was naive even for 1952, a naive era. Or maybe we both simply believe in hanging onto something we think is worth hanging onto.

I, too, was an imaginative kid. Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs lived in my sandbox when I was four and five years old. And, to this day, I can vividly remember being able to see and talk with them.

An 11 year old boy who still believes in Santa would certainly be the subject of his peers' derision today. I imagine Jason takes some kidding at nine. We have done our best to eliminate imagination during a child's formative years by replacing radio with TV, making movies as graphic as possible and constructing toys that do everything themselves.

All that's left is video adventure games and Dungeons and Dragons. And the toy companies are introducing "action figures" to even take the imagination away from that.

One of the few good things we had in the 40s and 50s was imagination. With radio drama our minds could soar because we had to supply the visuals. When Bud Collier uttered the magic words, "Up, up and away!" he didn't have to be suspended from wires, like Christopher Reeve, in order to fly.

The radio sound effects man simply supplied the sound of wind whistling by him; we knew he was Superman and our minds did the rest.

When, first Orson Welles, then Victor Jory, asked, "Who knows what evil lurks in the hearts of man?" we believed that The Shadow had clouded the minds of those around him to achieve invisibility. No special effects man had to create floating objects.

The same was true of movies. If a gun went "Bang!" and Barton McClaine or Ward Bond fell forward, we didn't need to see the hole appear in the chest with spurting blood. We "knew" they were dead, until they resurrected as the bad guys in the next Saturday's western.

When playing, if we wanted a gun, we used our index finger or a bent stick. If we needed a sword and shield, a straight stick or a piece of lathe and a garbage can lid did the trick.

If we wanted a rocket ship or a submarine we used a refrigerator box. And an orange crate, some baby buggy wheels and a little scrap lumber made a great racing car (Have you tried to find an orange crate lately?)

All good things have bad side effects, including technological progress. And, now, we have reached the point where imagination is no longer required, even discouraged, of children.

TV supplies the picture to go with the dialogue. The special effects men not only supply the bullet holes, they let us see what happens when the bullet comes out the other side. And the toys do so much themselves, kids don't need to pretend anymore.

I wonder how soon believing in Santa will become obsolete, too, especially since you now have to pay to sit on his lap. That's enough to disillusion even the best of dreamers.

Despite Jason's faith, I'm sure it's hard to find many believing third graders now. And I'm sure I was among the last of the believing fifth graders.

VA Improvement Act Offers Vets Job Training

"The Veterans' Benefits Improvement Act of 1984, signed by the President on Oct. 24, contains certain amendments to the Emergency Veteran's Job Training Act Program," according to Jackson VA Regional Office Director, Samuel J. Maraman.

The act provides that a certificate of eligibility will now expire 90 days after it is issued to the veteran, effective the date of enactment of the law.

All certificates of eligibility issued on or after Oct. 25, show the 90 day expiration date. Previously, a certificate expired after 60 days.

Amounts appropriated for the job training program will remain available until Sept. 30, 1987. A veteran now has until Feb. 28, 1985 to initially apply for training under the Emergency Veteran's Job Training Act.

A veteran with a certificate of eligibility has until Sept. 1, 1985 to begin training under the act.

Storing Holiday Eggnog

Homemade eggnog, using raw eggs, should be kept refrigerated no more than three to four days. The raw eggs can become a potential bacterial hazard if the eggnog is kept longer. Homemade eggnog can be frozen. It should be frozen in portions that will be used up when thawed and served. Thawing must be done in the refrigerator. The frozen eggnog may separate when thawed.

Beating the eggnog before serving will solve this problem. If desired, alcohol should be added just before serving the eggnog. Homemade cooked custard eggnog should be kept no longer than one week under refrigeration (see recipe below).

Commercially prepared eggnog can be purchased in supermarkets during the holiday season. This product is pasteurized after the

3 cups milk
1 tablespoon sherry extract
Grated nutmeg

eggs are added. Therefore, bacterial contamination is not a potential hazard. Commercial eggnog should be kept under refrigeration no longer than one week past the expiration date marked on the container.

Christmas Eggnog

3 egg yolks
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup heavy cream
3 egg whites
¾ cup sugar

Separate eggs. Beat yolks while gradually adding ½ cup of the sugar and all the salt. Gradually add milk and cream. Cook over hot water, stirring constantly until mixture is thick enough to coat a spoon. Cool in refrigerator. When chilled, add sherry extract. Beat egg whites until stiff; gradually add remaining sugar, beating constantly until stiff.

Fold into chilled custard mixture. When ready to serve, pour into chilled punch bowl; sprinkle with nutmeg. Makes 2 quarts, or sixteen 4-ounce servings.

Mississippi ETV has two Christmas specials planned for Christmas Eve. "What Child Is This" can be seen at 9 p.m., followed at 10 by "An Olde New England Concert."

"What Child Is This" features the combined 400-voice choirs of St. Olaf College in Northfield, Minnesota, and their 100-member orchestra.

The concert, a tradition at St. Olaf since 1912, includes Christmas

"An Olde New England Concert" is a recreation of a "Publick Concert of Music" as it might have been done in New Haven, Connecticut, 200 years ago.

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK:

Of What Are You Afraid?

By Doug Greenway

Psychologists tell us the Christmas season is the most depressing time of the year for many Americans.

I like the holiday season because of family, friends, and fun -- but for those who have no close family, friends or fun, these days can be awful indeed.

Supposedly 40 percent of Americans are overweight and only 10 percent underweight. There are twice as many obese people today than in 1900, even though we eat 10 percent less. If I were to consume only one more soft drink per day (100 calories) than my body burns -- I'd gain 50 lbs. in 5 years. (Better Health, UABulletin, Birmingham, Sept. 84). Now, we are afraid to eat the holiday fare and depressed if we do.

We are afraid to go to the big city. Too much crime. Probably get our car stolen. Depressing.

Speaking of cars -- during an average of 50 years of driving you have a one in one hundred chance of having a fatal accident and a one in three chance of at least one disabling injury. The use of seatbelts means a 50 percent lessening of the chance of death-disability -- but only 10 percent of folks use them regularly. (Better Health, Sept. '84). We are afraid to ride in the car.

Folks are afraid of losing their jobs. Losing their spouses. Losing their kids. Losing their health. Losing their wealth. Losing their houses. Losing their mind. Of what are YOU afraid???? Why are you depressed?

Forget your fears and depression and GO DO SOMETHING for someone right now!!!!!! Thank God that Christians have more purpose in life than anybody in the world. Fight fear with faith!

Listen to the BIBLE on "fear,"

"... but we were troubled on every side; without were fightings, within were fears. Nevertheless God, that comforteth those that are cast down, comforted us..." (II Cor. 7:5b-6a)

"And fear not them which kill the body, but are not able to kill the soul: but rather fear him which is able to destroy both soul and body in hell.

Are not two sparrows sold for a farthing? And one of them shall not fall on the ground without your Father.

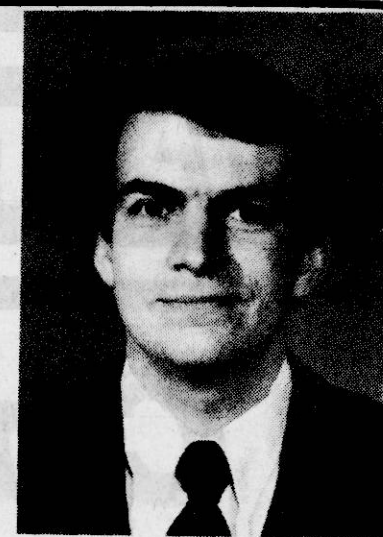

But the very hairs of your head are all numbered.

Fear ye not therefore, ye are of more value than many sparrows."

(Matt. 10:28-31)

Think about it.

I'll see you Sunday

Agriculture

The Banner-Independent

ASCS News

By C.E. CALVERT
County Executive Director

Foreign persons who acquire or transfer any interest other than a security interest in Prentiss County agricultural land are reminded to report the transaction to our office within 90 days.

The reporting requirement stems from the Agricultural Foreign Investment Disclosure Act and gives USDA a survey of the amount of agricultural land owned by foreign persons. Those who fail to report face possible penalties.

A report must be filed when a single foreign individual, organization, or government holds a direct or indirect interest of 10 percent or more; when a group of foreign individuals, organizations, or governments, acting in concert, hold an aggregate interest of 10 percent or more; and when a group of foreign individuals, organizations, and governments, not acting in concert, hold an aggregate of 50 percent interest or more in agricultural land.

The definition of agricultural land includes all farm, ranch, forestry and timber land exceeding 10 acres in the aggregate. However, if the annual sale of the farm, ranch, forestry or timber products produced on these acres exceeds $1,000 the land must be reported.

Foreign disclosure reports contain the date the land was acquired or transferred, the value of the purchase price yet to be paid, and the estimated value of the land. Foreign persons are required to keep direct and indirect ownership information current, report to us if they cease to be a foreign person, and if the agricultural land ceases to be agricultural.

TO AVOID late payments, wool and lamb producers must turn in their 1984 sales receipts and file an application by Jan. 31.

Farmers who have a record of their wool and mohair sales are eligible for incentive payments only if the sales are reported to the ASCS office. The quantity sold does not affect the eligibility. However, sales slips should contain the month of shearing, month of sale, number of head shorn, pounds of wool (grease basis) or mohair sold, and net proceeds. Shorn wool and mohair payments will be made only for bonafide sales documented on invoices prepared by the purchaser. Sales slips for lambs must show the liveweight and state that the lambs were unshorn.

Shorn wool and mohair payments are based on a percentage of each producer's returns from sales. The percentage is the amount required to raise the national average price received by all producers for shorn wool and mohair in 1984 up to the support prices of $1.65 a pound for wool and $5.17 per pound for mohair.

IN THE opening session of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Annual Outlook Conference, Dec. 3-5, board chairman James R. Donald told conferees to expect significant changes in agriculture in the future.

"Many changes have occurred during the course of the Agriculture and Food Act of 1981, and significant change is expected in the years ahead." Changes in agriculture have been brought about by ties to the general economy at home and abroad and links to agricultural developments abroad.

U.S. agriculture has undergone significant production and marketing adjustments in the past year in response to greatly reduced crop output. Mr. Donald said the season ahead appears to be one of further adjustment, due to large commodity supplies and slow demand growth. "In 1984-85, farmers responded to higher prices and crop acreage went up more than one-tenth from the previous year's level. Growing conditions improved and the average yield also is up more than one-tenth."

U.S. exports may increase slightly, he said, but record crops abroad and the relatively strong U.S. dollar will moderate export gains. Crop prices are likely to remain under pressure from large global supplies. Meat supplies are expected to remain large, although a little below 1984, and livestock prices should average higher.

"Larger crop marketings and higher livestock prices may lead to higher cash receipts for farmers in 1985," Mr. Donald said. Continued moderate increases in inflation should hold down the rate of increase in production expenses next year, although expenses may be up a little more than cash receipts.

"The years ahead are likely to see agriculture more closely tied to other sectors of the economy around the world and become even more closely linked to agricultural developments in other countries. It is within this environment that new farm legislation will be considered," the USDA official said.

County Agent's Notes

By CLIFFORD J. HAMPTON
County Agent

Now is the time to lime crop land to insure returns for spring.

So much has been said and written about applying lime on legumes that we sometimes forget how important it is on wheat, grain sorghum and corn.

While the weather thus far in Prentiss County has not been good for applying lime, lime needs to be applied this winter to allow time for the chemical reactions to take place by spring planting.

Lime supplies calcium, an essential element, as well as raises the soil pH, which makes other nutrients available for the plants to use. A soil pH of 5.6 to 6.2 is high enough to produce top yields on most grain crops.

Dolomitic lime supplies magnesium, other important plant growth element. Magnesium deficiency on corn, for example, can occur where corn is grown for silage or where yields are high. Adding one ton of dolomitic limestone every six years should correct this problem.

Using too much lime can cause zinc deficiency in corn. At a pH of near 7.0 or higher, zinc is "tied up." So, using a fertilizer that contains zinc is advisable if soil zinc levels are marginal and lime is applied.

Grain sorghum is particularly sensitive to low pH. A pH of 5.6 or higher is necessary to reach top yields. A lower pH of 5.3 to 5.4 reduces yields 12 to 15 percent, while a pH of 4.8 to 4.9 reduces yields 60 to 65 percent. At lower pH sorghum may die in the seedling stage.

Soil testing is the only way to know for sure if your soil is at the desired pH level. Our office has the information and materials you need to take a soil test and determine lime and fertilizer needs.

Soil Conservation

By ED CALVERT
Soil Conservationist
Booneville Field Office

Fall makes an ideal time to apply needed lime, phosphorus, and potassium. With the increased interest in double cropping wheat and soybeans, a fall application of fertilizer can hold many advantages.

This is especially true for lime. Lime requires from four to six months to react with the soil to reduce the acidity. Thus, fall applications of lime allow the soil to be ready for maximum production of the crops planted the following spring. Lime reacts more quickly if it is lightly incorporated into the soil. However, nature will do a good job of working the lime into the soil with rain water, freezing and thawing and wetting and drying.

Both phosphorus and potassium are held well by the soil, making fall application very feasible. P and K can be left on the surface of most untilled land. This is especially true for no-tilling wheat on land of 5 percent slope and less.

Fall applications of nitrogen to wheat is not currently recommended unless it is following grain sorghum. Then 25-30 pounds of nitrogen should be applied per acre to help the micro-organisms with the decomposition of the grain sorghum stubble. When wheat is not following grain sorghum, then a late winter or very early spring topdressing of the needed nitrogen is recommended.

There are further advantages in having a fall fertilization program. Prices are generally cheaper as compared to the following spring; the spring work load is reduced; the risk of being caught in a fertilizer shortage is lessened; and most importantly, next year's crop is ensured to have good soil fertility especially when lime is needed.

The amount of fertilizer you need to apply will depend on the cropping system you have, weather conditions, and the results of your soil test. For a double-cropping system of wheat and soybeans, without a soil test, an average of 250 pounds of 0-15-30 should be applied in the fall with 200 pounds of nitrogen in the spring.

For further information of fall fertilization you can contact the Soil Conservation Service at 728-3544.

Trying to decide which item is the best buy for the money can be confusing.

Most items are manufactured by several different companies, each selling its product for a little different price. Many items are made in more than one quality by the manufacturer and some have several different models or designs which may or may not be of a different quality even though there are different features in the various models.

Although good quality usually costs more than poor quality, a high price is not an assurance of top quality. Through the 4-H consumer education project, youth learn how to judge quality and determine which quality is their best buy.

For many products, such as household appliances, tools and furniture, the higher the quality, the more durable the item and the longer it will last. However, this is not the case for all items, for example, china, fine glassware and gold chains.

Before making a purchase, consider carefully what quality of product will meet your needs. High quality may be the best buy if:

- The item is to be used for a long time and will not go out of style or is not likely to be replaced immediately by an improved design.
- The best materials and workmanship are desirable for the way you will use the item.
- The way the item is to be used will justify the investment.
- The price is affordable.

Find out more about 4-H and the consumer education program. Contact the county Extension office.

BHS Insights

By KIMI DROWN
BHS Journalism Student

Ho! Ho! Ho!

Well, Santa may be jolly, but the BHS students weren't as happy about last week. Although today was the last day of school and every one was excited about first semester ending, the week has been frantic because of semester exams. Report cards will not come out until after we resume school on Jan. 7; meaning all students should have a merrier Christmas.

Congratulations to Amy Goddard and Nan Lawrence, who were selected to participate in the All-State Band in Biloxi. Nan who plays piccolo, made third chair first band. Amy, playing clarinet, made fifth chair second band. Both band members represented the BHS Band well.

Also, while in Biloxi, Mr. Greg Fant, Booneville band director, received the Outstanding Young Band Director of the Year Award. Mr. Fant truly deserves this award because of the time and effort he gives to the band.

Congratulations to Mrs. Martha Weatherford, who has just received her doctorate of elementary education.

The tenth grade English classes, taught by Mrs. Carolyn Jackson, had very interesting panel discussion last week. The students studied different topics, from rock music to abortion. Different groups presented their finding to the class.

Mrs. Marie Spain's Future Problem Solving Teams seem to be headed in the right direction. Three of the BHS teams made the Top 10 in the state competition for their first practice problem. Watch out, State! Here they come!

The results of the BHS Beauty Review are as follows:

BHS: Christi McCoy - Most Beautiful; Jennifer J. Jones - 1st Alternate; Claire Lamb - 2nd Alternate; Jenny Miller - 3rd Alternate; and Cindy Hutchins - 4th Alternate.

BJHS: Paula Dacus - Most Beautiful; Kim McKinney - 1st Alternate; Lorrie Cartwright - 2nd Alternate; Mary Jo Storey - 3rd Alternate; and Jenny Presley - 4th Alternate.

To close the semester, the Devils and Devilettes will be playing at home this Friday night.

But Devilettes Lost Three

Devils Won Three Games In Last Week

By SCOTT MCKINNEY
Sports Writer

The Booneville High School Blue Devils pushed their record past the 500 mark last week by winning three games.

On the other side of the court, Coach Carlos Smith's Lady Devils continued to experience the youthful blues, dropping three games last week.

Despite sporting a 14 point halftime lead, the Devils allowed the Kossuth Aggies to slip back into the game, but held on to down the "Goat Ropers" 63-58 last Saturday.

North Mississippi's leading scorer, Clay Johnson of Booneville, was forced to leave the game in the third period after fouling out with only six points.

But, Buddy Bartlett took up where Johnson left off and led the Devils in scoring with 20 points. Teammate Rodney McVey aided in the win with 19 points as he converted 7 of 9 free throws down the stretch to preserve the Booneville victory.

Jeff Rencher paced Kossuth with 18 points.

The defending Class A state runner-up Lady Aggies of Kossuth demonstrated why they are one of the favorites in returning to Jackson this year as they downed the Lady Devils 55-29.

All-Stater Nyla Davis led Kossuth with 14 and Michelle Butler added 13.

Pam Crump scored 8 for the Lady Devils and Susan Downs added 7.

JOHNSON WAS BACK on the right track against Saltillo as he poured in 33 points to lead Booneville to a 74-71 victory over the Tigers.

McVey added 17 for Booneville. Brian Lanphere led the Tigers with 19 points.

Two Lady Tigers broke the 20 point mark in the early game as Saltillo downed the Lady Devils 67-54 after Booneville had led 32-30 at intermission.

Amy Lindsey scored 22 and Ara Enis added 21 to lead the lady Tigers to victory. Jenny Weatherford scored 16, Lea Hughes, 13, and Crump, 10, to pace the Lady Devils.

LAST TUESDAY the Devils and the Bulldogs of Tishomingo split a roundball doubleheader at Tishomingo.

The Lady Dawgs downed the Devilettes 61-54 as the Devils beat the Bulldogs 75-50 in the nightcap.

Weatherford led the Lady Devils with 20 points as Downs added 8. Teena Harriss led Tishomingo with 28 markers.

Johnson hit for 26 points, McVey, 17, and Caver, 11, in leading the Devils to victory over the Bulldogs. Kenny South led Tishomingo with 22 points as David Browning added 13.

Both the Devils and the Lady Devils will be in action at the BHS gym tomorrow night when they host the Pontotoc Warriors.

Walnut Downs Jumpertown Twice

BY GREG SHOOK
Sports Writer

The Jumpertown Cardinals were downed twice Tuesday Dec. 10, by the Walnut Wildcats in Walnut.

The Lady Cardinals were dropped in the first game, 61-46, by the Lady Wildcats, who opened up with quick early scoring. Cardella Rucker put in a quick eight points to start the game before the Lady Cardinals had any chance of gaining control.

Not until late in the fourth quarter did the Lady Cardinals broke out with a sudden spark of fire, which was quickly put out by the Lady Wildcats.

Leading the way for the Lady Wildcats were Rucker with 19 points and Kim Haddix with 10. Point leaders for the Lady Cardinals were Cassie Davis with 12 points and Lila Lucerne with 10.

The Wildcats dropped the Jumpertown boys 77-63 in the second game of the night. The Cardinals started out in the game by trading point for point with the Wildcats, but were never able to pull ahead, allowing the Wildcats to lead by a small margin throughout the first half.

Much of the first-half scoring came from Andre Simmons and Craig Lauderdale for Jumpertown. Ron and Mike Melton came off the bench for the Wildcats to take charge in keeping the Cardinals slowed down.

As the second half opened, the Wildcats began to increase their lead with every shot. The Cardinals were unsuccessful in their attempts to block the quick passes of Walnut's Tim Haddix, and the Wildcats had increased their lead to 12 points by the end of the third quarter.

In the final quarter the Wildcats started to run away with the ball game, despite the outside shooting by Cardinals Simmons and Lauderdale, and when the game had ended the Wildcats had come up with the win.

Leading the Wildcats was Tim Haddix with 29 points. Following Haddix was the Melton duo, Mike with 13 and Ron with 12. Also with 12 points was Kavid Eubanks. Terry Jones ended up the Wildcats' double-figure scoring with 10 points.

For Jumpertown it was Andre Simmons with 18 points, Tim Betts with 14 points, Craig Lauderdale with 13 and and Bobby Shugars with 13 each.

The Cardinals are currently playing the in Northeast Holiday Tournament in Bonner Arnold Coliseum.

BETTS ON THE MOVE- Jumpertown's Tim Betts (40) and an unidentified Walnut Wildcat seem to have their eyes focused on the same subject in the Cardinal's recent game with the Wildcats. Betts and his teammates lost to Walnut and bowed out of the tournament. (Photo by Greg Shook).

NEW SITE, BALDWIN SPLIT DOUBLEHEADER

New Site and Baldwin split a doubleheader Tuesday, Dec. 11, in New Site. In the first game the 21-2 Lady Royals took a 10 point upper hand over the Lady Bearcats, 38-28, while the Bearcats took the nightcap over the Royals by 49-34 after a slim 18-15 half time lead.

Katie Caveness held the high scorer's spot for the Lady Royals with nine points, while Teena Bender led the Lady Bearcats with 12.

John Price scored 15 points to lead the Bearcats' scoring in the night cap. Price was followed by Jim Palmer with 12 and Tim Jumper with 10. Ronald Clark took the high scorer's spot for the Royals with 11 points.

FROM THE COACH'S DESK

By BILL WARD
NEMJC Athletic Director

Our men Tigers and lady Tigers are still undefeated in conference play except for the one loss to the Northwest Lady Rangers.

Last Friday, Dec. 7, both of our teams defeated Mary Holmes Junior College. Our ladies won 89-58 and our men won 85-78.

Thursday night, Dec. 13, our teams played at Martin Junior College in Tennessee. Our ladies won easily 63-53. Our men played real good, but lost in overtime 81-78.

Now we are in our Christmas break and our Lady Tigers' record is eight wins and one loss. The men have a record of eight wins and three losses. Both teams have played real well and deserve a good rest because we will really have a lot of basketball after Christmas.

Our men are undefeated in North Division play and our women are one game behind Northwest. This speaks well of NEMJC basketball.

We are in the middle of our high school Holiday Tournament, and having a real good one. You can catch some real good games if you come up tonight, Friday night and for the finals, Saturday night.

Don't forget, Saturday night you can watch Belmont girls and North Pontotoc girls at 7:15. The first game, a boy's consolation game, will start at 6:00, and the finals of the tournament will start at 8:30.

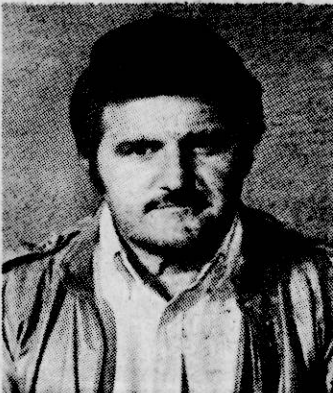

We will be giving three place trophies and plaques to the 10 all-tournament team players.

Be sure to put this on your calendar. The coaches voted to have our Holiday Tournament every year in the third week in December. Next year the tourney will be Dec. 16-21. I think this was good and will help get more teams in the tournament.

When we get back after Christmas, we will have the Prentiss County Tournament, starting Jan. 9, and lasting through Jan 12. Also, don't forget Northeast will play Coahoma Junior College Saturday, Jan. 12 at 1 p.m.

Hope you enjoy your holidays and win all of your bowl games. Hope I do better than I did in my regular season picks. It's bad when you let Manfred Saylor and Doug Jumper beat you!

to get the initial bank financing. He said that, for these businessmen, the $135,000 needed to get the station going was a small investment compared to many of their other business deals. However, due to the lack of cooperation from financial institutions both in Booneville and in Mobile, they have now moved on to other investments and have lost interest in TV-53.

Ironically, now that these investors have pulled out, Graddick has since located a financial institution in Birmingham, Ala., that will finance the equipment for the station -- approximately $90,000 worth.

However, Graddick said he still needs about $45,000 in operating capital to get the station on the air. This is what he hopes to raise from local investors.

HE SAID THE station could be operated with less funds, but he has plans for a first class station in Booneville.

"The success of all low power stations across the country has depended on local programming," he said. "This is expensive because you have to hire a lot of local personnel."

He said he could just put up a satellite dish, an antenna and a transmitter and rebroadcast a signal picked up from a satellite. This would meet FCC regulations, he said, but would not provide any local service other than advertising for Booneville.

"The type of programming we are proposing is first class," he said. "We would have all of the capabilities that a large network would have -- on a small scale."

Graddick and his family are going back to Mobile to spend the holidays with their family. He said that he is "planning" to be back to look for some type of employment "to tide me over" until he can get the TV station rolling again.

However, he admits that he is also contemplating moving back to Mobile "to seek employment to hold me over until I can get a group together" to finance the station.

When Graddick first came to Booneville, Dove Broadcasting leased a building on Market Street to house TV-53's studio and offices. This lease agreement expires on December 31 and Graddick said the company does not plan to renew the lease at that time.

The building belongs to R.J. "Piggy" Bonds. Graddick said that he has an understanding with Bonds that when the station is ready to go into operation, it would move back into that building -- if it has not already been leased to someone else in the meantime.

"Mr. Bonds has been more than helpful in that respect," he said.

If the building is leased before TV-53 is ready for it, "we'll just have to look for some place else," Graddick said.

SINCE HIS PHONE has been disconnected, Graddick said anyone wishing to contact him about investing in the station could reach him by mail at 805 N. Third St., Booneville, Or, in Mobile over the holidays at (205) 456-8027.

Parkway Urges Holiday Safety

Natchez Trace Parkway superintendent James L. Bainbridge said the parkway ranger staff will be on extended hours during the Christmas and New Year holiday periods to provide for visitor safety and protection and to assist with visitor emergencies.

Bainbridge said, "During the holiday period last year four motorist lost their lives on the parkway. We hope by extending our patrol coverage we can ensure a safe Holiday Season for our parkway visitors."

Bainbridge said a major cause of fatal accidents on the Natchez Trace Parkway is inattention by drivers, often caused by driver fatigue. Driver fatigue is a constant problem when people are traveling long distances and at night.

He suggested that drivers be rested before they start and take frequent breaks. "If a driver becomes drowsy, he should pull safely off the road and rest. No one under the influence of drugs or alcohol should be behind the wheel," Bainbridge said.
