Roundup

Intruder Shot

A Prentiss County man was shot in both feet by a woman after the man tried to enter the woman's house, according to Prentiss County Deputy Bill Inghram.

James L. Beene of Route 2, Booneville, was shot in his feet with a .22 pistol Sunday night. The shooting occurred at the residence of Mrs. Robert Burress in the Airport Housing Project. Mrs. Burress apparently shot Beene after he attempted to enter her house, Inghram said.

No charges have been filed, he said.

Beene was taken to the Baptist Memorial Hospital in Booneville.

Holiday Closings

Booneville City Hall will be closed Tuesday, Jan. 1, in observance of New Year's Day.

The Prentiss County Courthouse will also be closed New Year's Day.

The Booneville Post Office will be closed New Year's Day. No mail will be delivered that day.

Garbage Schedules

There will be only one change in the county garbage pickup schedule for New Year's Day week, according to R.C. Stennett of the Prentiss County Landfill.

Tuesday's pickup will be on Wednesday.

The city garbage pickup will be on the regular schedule Dec. 31. Tuesday's pickup will be made the following day. Other pickups will be made as close to schedule as possible.

Banner Deadlines

The Banner-Independent office will be closed New Year's Day.

This means all deadlines will be moved up.

Society news (including birth announcements, birthday pictures, correspondent's columns, engagement and wedding stories) and items for What's Going On must be turned in by noon Friday, Dec. 28, in order to be published in next week's paper.

The classified ad deadline will be 3 p.m. Friday.

Food Stamp Benefits

Food stamp benefits may change for households whose members receive Social Security and/or Supplemental Security Income because of the 3.5 percent cost-of-living increase which will be reflected in the checks issued by the Social Security Administration in January.

County food stamp staffs will be reviewing Social Security and SSI recipient food stamp cases. Anytime there is a change in the recipient's income, it can affect eligibility or benefit level.

All food stamp households will be informed of the possibility of a change in their food stamp benefits at the time they receive their January allotments. Food stamp recipients may contact their worker if they have any questions concerning the review.

Alcorn At Near Record 27.8%

Prentiss Unemployment Climbs To 17%

According to reports from the Mississippi State Employment Service, Prentiss County's unemployment rate climbed to 17 percent in mid-November, while Alcorn County's jobless rate hit near-record proportions at 27.8 percent.

Charles Smith, manager of the MSES Corinth office, said the total number of unemployed in Prentiss County rose to 2,170 in November, 480 above the previous estimate and 1,050 above November 1983.

Smith said the county's civilian labor force also experienced an increase over 1983 figures, reaching 12,760.

The number of Prentiss Countians employed in November was 10,590, compared to 10,910 in October and 10,730 in November 1983.

Smith said the increase in unemployment was primarily due to temporary layoffs in Prentiss County by Blue Bell and other manufacturers.

He said manufacturing employment in the county registered 2,260; 140 below the previous estimate and 410 below November 1983, with a large decline in the apparel industry accounting for the larger part of the decline.

Nonmanufacturing employment rose slightly to 4,150, he said.

In neighboring counties, Alcorn County registered a staggering 27.8 percent unemployment rate, only .8 less than the June 1984 record of 28.6 percent, Smith said.

This gave Alcorn the dubious distinction of having the highest unemployment rate in Mississippi.

Tishomingo County also placed in the state's Top Ten with a rate of 22.6 percent. Tippah was slightly less than Prentiss with 16.8 percent.

The statewide unemployment rate for November was 11 percent, an increase of 4 percent over October's statewide rate of 10.6 percent. The November 1983 statewide rate was 10.2 percent.

Smith said the overall civilian labor force in Northeast Mississippi's six-county area of Alcorn, Benton, Marshall, Prentiss, Tippah and Tishomingo rose to 65,460 in November, while the number of people unemployed rose to 12,770, 19.5 percent of the labor force.

The number employed decreased to 52,690, he said.

Manufacturing employment dropped to 16,010 in the six-county area, compared to 16,950 in October and 18,180 one year ago.

Smith said comparisons reveal the largest decline to be in the electrical machinery group, and Alcorn's 27.8 figure may be misleading because it was tabulated during the week of Nov. 12, when more than 600 people were on temporary layoff from ITT in Corinth.

ITT also employs a number of Prentiss Countians, as well as residents of other neighboring counties and the temporary layoff could have affected figures in those counties as well.

"I think some of the increase could be attributed to that. But it was not that alone which caused the huge jump in our unemployment numbers," Smith said.

"We are still continuing to lose jobs in the manufacturing sector of our industrial base. It was not the layoffs of one industry which caused all the increase in the numbers," he said.

Accident

A Christmas Eve trucking accident involved three 18-wheelers Monday afternoon on Highway 45. According to the Booneville Police Department, a car pulled out from Mary Ann Drive onto Highway 45 in front of one of the 18-wheelers causing it to run off the road and get stuck. Another 18-wheeler stopped to help the trucker and became stuck also. Then the third 18-wheeler, loaded with pipes and driven by Jerry Walker of Route 3, Rienzi, for Trantham Trucking, stopped to help them. The road bank apparently gave way and his truck turned over, dumping his load of pipes. The accident occurred around 2:30 p.m. and it was about 6:30 p.m. before all the 18-wheelers were pulled away.

City Annexes Industrial Park Land

By ED WOODWARD
Managing Editor

With the publication of an ordinance in the Dec. 20, 1984, issue of The Banner-Independent, the city of Booneville has officially annexed the Booneville-Prentiss County Industrial Park.

Mayor Charles Crabb said the move, which has been under consideration for over a year, should be a help in enticing new industry to locate in the city.

"The land is still jointly owned by the city and county," Crabb said.

"Being in the city limits will have nothing to do with the ownership."

Crabb said only the industrial park itself has been annexed. He said it was not necessary to include any residential property in the annexation in order to connect the present boundaries to the new ones.

"But we had a couple of plants up there that were not in the city. So, in order to give them police and fire protection, we voted to take in the entire park."

"Really, being inside the corporate limits will cut their (fire insurance) premium about 50 percent," he said.

Crabb said, though he had opposed the annexation of various residential areas proposed earlier this year by Aldermen R.G. Houston and Wade Lambert because of the city's inability to provide necessary services to such areas, he was in favor of the industrial park annexation.

"There are no residences at all involved in this," he said. "We've already got utilities in the (industrial) park. Everything is already there. So there will really be no increased cost to the city."

"The only thing we are doing is simply running a boundary line to take in the existing industrial park. And, in so doing, it will provide the industries a better rate of insurance."

"We will also be able to provide them services and give them a tax exemption," Crabb said. "We can do that now since they are in the city."

"Of course, the county gave them one. But, this will help us in the future with what land we have left (in the industrial park) if we can give tax exemptions and we can show the industrial prospect that his insurance rating will be on a Class Six rating and will save them about 50 percent of what they would have otherwise had to pay," Crabb said.

"And it will provide them with police protection. We could have handled it...In fact, we were doing it. We were out of our jurisdiction. But we had an agreement with the county that we could patrol that and assist them."

"But what we wanted to do was to get it to where we could give it more special attention," Crabb said.

Franks' Museum Sold To Huntsville

A familiar landmark on Highway 45 South between Booneville and Frankstown, James Franks' museum and sorghum mill, will soon disappear.

Franks said he has sold most of his antiques to the city of Huntsville, Ala., where it will be moved as soon as it has been inventoried and packed.

"We've sold the majority of it," Franks said. "I kept my shop tools, four old cars, four tractors, about that many gas engines and a few personal items."

"We're already closed up," he said. "My health got bad was the reason I had to sell out."

Franks said his museum has been open "about 14 years this past April," though he has been collecting what he called "junk" for a much longer time.

During that time, the museum and sorghum mill were the subject of feature articles in local and area newspapers and regional and national magazines.

"There have been a lot of writeups. We've got all kind of clippings down here," he said. "One magazine was about the personalities of the south. Another one was Amazing America. Mississippi magazine had a writeup and another little magazine that was printed in Tupelo a few years ago had a good writeup."

Asked how his museum began, Franks said, "I just always liked old stuff. And when somebody'd die and the family would move, I'd get all the junk, looked like. That's kinda the way I got started with it."

Franks estimated his collection contained between 6,000 and 7,000 pieces. "They've been down here inventorying. Four of them worked here for a couple of weeks and they counted the big items."

"They tagged nearly 3,000 items and there's more than that in small items they haven't even tagged yet. That's just the larger items," he said.

Franks said his museum has not been open much recently because of his age and health. He is 75 and has

County Drug Awareness Program

Director Well-Experienced As Counselor

By ED WOODWARD
Managing Editor

(The following article is the first of several, which may not necessarily be published in consecutive weeks, dealing with the new drug awareness program being formed in Prentiss County, as well as other facets of the drug abuse problem revealed in the drug abuse series published earlier this year in The Banner-Independent.)

The purpose of this intermittent series will be to keep readers abreast of current developments regarding the problem and local efforts to combat it. EW)

The Prentiss County Community Fund has pledged $4,000 to a new program, the Prentiss County Drug Awareness Program, which will be directed by Booneville Presbyterian Church pastor Joe Pack Arnold.

Arnold, a recovering alcoholic himself, and one of the people instrumental in the forming of the Northeast Mississippi Chapter of the National Council on Alcoholism, is a trained drug and alcohol counselor.

"I came out of a drinking society in the Delta. And I don't know whether I inherited the disease or contracted it, or what. But I began recovery sort of simultaneously with become a minister," Arnold said.

"I did a year in clinical pastoral education in a state hospital and I was on the admissions board. And it was very apparent to me that a lot of people were coming in with paranoid schizophrenic symptomatology who began to lose a lot of that symptomatology and that behavior after they were detoxed," he said.

Arnold said this gave him the idea that a good percentage of people with mental problems reached that state through what he refers to as "alcohol and other drug abuse."

He then began working with the Department of Mental Health in South Carolina and received training in counseling alcoholic families. He then spent four years working as a counselor for the Idaho Bureau of Substance Abuse.

"That's where I really got my training," he said. "It's a state operated education and treatment program. And that's where I got interested in family treatment. We were an outpatient agency, but we had contracts for detox, intermediate care and we also funded the local chapter of the NCA."

"I got caught up in both of those," Arnold said. "It was exciting being involved in education, as well as the treatment part of it."

"And, suddenly, I looked back, and I had 80 hours in training and therapy," he said.

Arnold said he wants the new local organization to be relatively informal, with an advisory board to offer suggestions on how best to make the community aware of its drug problem and possible solutions.

"I want it to operate simply as a program of the Prentiss County Community Fund. I only want a board of people who can help me an incurable muscle disease. "We just couldn't keep it open, and, if you've got a business, you have to keep it open," he said.

"These people came along looking for something. And they've got a nice place over at Huntsville. They've already got a railroad museum. So I sold it to them."

"I've kept my shop tools. I enjoy working. And everyday that I feel like it I'll be working in the shop on some of the stuff I've kept," he said.

Franks' museum also enabled him to become a movie actor on at least two occasions. He was Preacher Whitehead in the film, Tomorrow, which starred Robert Duvall and was filmed in 1970 in Jacinto, in Itawamba County north of Tremont and on the Tupelo fairgrounds.

He was also featured as a blacksmith in another film of a William Faulkner short story, The Barn Burning, which was filmed near Oxford in 1981.

"We rented a lot of this stuff to movie companies. And (when Tomorrow was being filmed) they came by here looking at the old stuff, and they kept talking about the preacher."

"And, before they left, they wanted to know if I wanted a part in it. And I said, well, if it paid anything. It paid pretty good, so they left me the script and told me to read it and they'd come back in a few days."

Asked if he had ever done any acting before his role in Tomorrow, Franks said, "My wife says, 'One way or the other, I have.'"

USDA Research Shows Vitamin B-6 Can Relieve Sickle Cell Anemia Symptoms

U.S. Department of Agriculture preliminary studies show for the first time that vitamin B-6 relieves painful body cramps caused by sickle cell anemia, a USDA scientist said today.

Sickle cell anemia is an inherited blood disease affecting approximately 50,000 black Americans. Victims suffer debilitating cramps, especially when under day-to-day stress, and often require hospitalization.

Robert D. Reynolds of USDA's Agricultural Research Service, a co-researcher in the studies, cautioned that vitamin B-6 is not a cure for the disease.

Indiscriminant use of high doses of the vitamin may lead to serious nerve damage, he said. Reynolds is a chemist in the Vitamin and Mineral Nutrition Laboratory of the agency's Human Nutrition Research Center in Beltsville, Md.

Reynolds and research colleague Dr. Clayton L. Natta of Columbia University, New York City, said they plan to undertake further research immediately on vitamin

B-6's role in alleviating attacks of sickle cell anemia.

After observing a vitamin B-6 deficiency in all sickle cell anemia patients they studied, Reynolds and Natta carried out tests of the vitamin the last year and a half at Columbia University Hospitals.

Natta, a physician on the hospital staff, directed the vitamin dosages and blood sampling; Reynolds performed the laboratory analyses.

Over 18 months, Natta gave two 50-milligram oral doses of the vitamin daily to five patients with the disease. This dosage appears safe for these patients, he said. Sickle cell anemia attacks of all the patients decreased in frequency and severity, Natta said, and all the patients reported that their general well-being had improved.

The researchers cited the case of one patient with a history of being hospitalized for sickle cell anemia about once every two months. But, while taking daily B-6 supplements for a year, the patient needed no hospital care, they said.

Drugs

with planning and offer suggestions. My concern is that we not try to duplicate services that are already offered," he said.

In addition to being active with the NCA, Arnold is the local advisor to DREAM. "We're cranking up," he said. "It's a slow process because you have to build a lot of steps into it to make it work.

"Forming a community-wide...actually county-wide steering committee is a difficult process, especially in rural America, because everybody is so turf conscious.

"I think there is more acceptance among the parents (that there actually is a problem) today, than there used to be," Arnold said.

"And the ultimate goal of DREAM in Prentiss County, as I see it, is prevention.

"And our ultimate, ultimate goal is to have a prevention program in place in the public schools. That's the long-range goal," he said.

"When you look at the arrest records...for example, if you take The Big Bust of '84, those people were, for the most part, in their 20s and early 30s. And somebody'd be a fool to think that they waited until they graduated from high school before they started smoking dope...or whatever it was they did that got them as far along as they got."

"They didn't wake up one morning and say, 'I think I'll go borrow some dilaudid from a pharmacy,'" Arnold said.

"One thing that is happening is that Renata Eaton, the county school nurse, is working real hard on getting the AIM program as the place where we plug in. In fact, I think DREAM has already been promised a slot in the AIM program.

"So, that's where the prevention thing has to happen, I think, basically...in the public schools. And to some extent, in churches.

"Most good prevention programs are housed in and designed for the lower elementary grades, or even in primary classes for that matter, where you deal more with learning to be open...learning to talk about what's going on...values clarification, feelings.

"And you talk about the drugs as kind of one way that you might get yourself messed up," Arnold said.

"Then, you can deal with abuse and all kinds of other stuff in the same area.

(Next week's article will explore Arnold's ideas about how to implement methods of bringing about awareness and prevention of drug abuse. EW)

BIBLE QUESTION BOX

QUESTION: What are some advantages of long life?

JOHNNY RICHARDSON

ANSWER "Length of Days" was thought to be a peculiar and cherished blessing promised to Abraham, Job, David and others. Who among us does not agree? Long life multiplies the opportunities for service in glorifying God... Persons of advanced age have made some of the most remarkable accomplishments. Titian painted his masterpiece, "The Battle Of Lapanto" at the age of 98, Verdi wrote his great opera Otello at 74, and Falstaff at 80. Edison built chemical plants after he was 67; Gen. MacArthur was Supreme Commander of the occupation of Japan in his 70's. Socrates learned to play a musical instrument in his old age; Cato, at 80 studied Greek; Dr. Samuel Johnson applied himself to the Dutch language only a few years before his death; yet one morning in later life, he amused himself by committing to memory 800 lines of Virgil. You too have talent and ability. Not all persons have the same. Don't be discouraged because you can't do what others can. Do what you are able to do. Write a cheery note, make a pleasant call to one less fortunate. Make life a joy and live it fully. Be busy. "It is far better to wear out than to rust out."

Outstanding Young Director Award

Marching Blue Devil Director Honored

By ED WOODWARD
Managing Editor

Greg Fant, director of Booneville High School's Marching Blue Devil Band, was honored by his peers at the recent Mississippi State Band Clinic, held in Biloxi.

Fant was the 1984 recipient of the A.E. MacLain Outstanding Young Band Director Award, given by the Mississippi Bandmasters Association.

"They kind of evaluate the work you've been doing, and the 'young', rather than having to do with age, refers to the recipient being relatively new in the field," Fant explained.

He said he was especially proud because the award usually is given to directors at larger schools. "I feel pretty good about it," Fant said.

Fant had accompanied two members of the BHS Band, Amy Goddard and Nan Lawrence, to the clinic.

"Basically, what it actually is is 'the Mississippi State Bandmasters Convention,'" he said. "Two band students from every band in the state are selected to go. And, when they get down there they try out."

"They have three bands, and the outcome of their tryout determines where they will place in which band," Fant said. Miss Lawrence, a flautist, placed third chair, first band, while Miss Goddard, who plays clarinet, placed sixth chair, second band.

"The first band was conducted by Claude T. Smith, a nationally known composer and clinician," Fant said.

"The second band was conducted by James Sparks, who, for the past 11 years, was at Grissom High School in Huntsville, Ala. Now, he's the assistant band director at the University of Tennessee in Knoxville.

"And the third band was conducted by Ralph Hale, who is the past band director at Christian Brothers High School in Memphis. He has written several band methods," Fant said.

"The whole purpose of the clinic is for the band directors to get together, hear new music and come up with a list of music for State Band Contest, which is April 12th through 20th. But it also gives our young musicians an opportunity to work with nationally known clinicians, meet other kids and grow in that respect.

"It also offers a chance for different meetings like the National Band Association, Mississippi Bandmasters Association and different groups like that," he said.

Fant said the members of the BHS Band have learned they have an opportunity to perform in Florida in the spring.

"The Booneville Band sent in an audition tape to Sea World in Orlando, Fla.. We passed the audition and we will be performing at Sea World on May 27," he said. "We'll be leaving the week after school is out and going down there, performing and visiting some of the sights."

Fant said the Marching Blue Devils can expect to be very busy between now and the Florida trip, though. "We are also planning for the eighth grade band and, possibly, the jazz band to do a concert sometime in February."

"I looked at my calendar the other day," he said. "We start with Lions Band tryouts Jan. 12. We have three trying out so far, and I'm hoping all three will be able to make it down there."

"We have solo and ensemble contest on Jan. 19. Then we have Lions Band callbacks the next Saturday. Then the next weekend is the Ole Miss and the Mississippi State band clinics; the next weekend is the Southern band clinic and the next weekend is the Delta State University Honor band."

"The next weekend is the Northeast Mississippi Honor Band, and that takes us into March and March 1 is the Junior High Solo and Ensemble Contest," Fant said.

"Then, we have to prepare for State Band Contest. And, after we get back from there, we'll have approximately four weeks to get ready to go to Florida. So, we've got our work cut out for us."

"And, after that, we go into next year," he said.

Fant also said he wanted to express his appreciation to the community for their support of the band and its fund raising activities.

Business Information Emphasis

Analytically-minded students who want a challenge and excellent job opportunities might consider a new University of Southern Mississippi program applying computers to business information needs.

Beginning with the fall 1984 semester, the USM College of Business Administration began offering a new emphasis called Business Information Systems (BIS), sometimes referred to as Management Information Systems (MIS).

"The focus of the new program is on the application of computers to business information needs," a department spokesman explained. "The BIS curriculum prepares students for analyzing business problems and suggesting or developing appropriate information systems."

"With the new program integrated around a business administration base, the student should be better prepared for analyzing information problems from a manager's perspective," the spokesman added.

Talk 'O The Town

Street Opinion

QUESTION: What are your New Year's resolutions?

CARRIE EATON of Route 4, Booneville: "I plan to be a better person."

ALLEN JOHNSON of Route 4, Booneville: "I just live year by year. Basically a new year gives new hope and motivation for the future. We always want to better ourselves. A new year is a new challenge I hope to meet with God's grace."

MRS. HORACE MASSEY of Marietta: "I hardly ever make any resolutions because I break them."

ESTELLA SMITH of Route 1, Booneville: "I'll just try to treat everyone right and to be a better Christian."

MAE ELLA LEACH of Route 1, Booneville: "I'll try to be a good person, raise my grandchildren by the help of the Lord, and treat everyone right."

MILTON KOON of Route 1, Booneville: "New Year's resolutions are like crying babies in church. They ought to be carried out immediately."

(Editor's note: "Talk O' The Town" is not intended as a scientific poll of public opinion. Rather, it is simply intended to give Prentiss Countians an opportunity to voice their opinions on particular issues and topics. Maybe we'll ask you next!)

Ponderings

By Angela Smith
Staff Reporter

You are reading a column written by a person who usually doesn't make New Year's resolutions. Many people say, "Why make resolutions - I'll just break them." That's one way of looking at it. But another way to look at it is to try to make the new year a better year than the last. And to make anything better takes work.

So I think for 1985 I should turn over a new leaf (and hope it won't be moldy on the other side). I can begin "turning over a new leaf" by making some resolutions.

For instance, I have resolved to be kinder to people.

If one of the sports writers calls again just to ask me what time it is, I'll simply tell him the time. And I'll refrain from telling him how dumb I think it is for him to call and ask me the time. (On second thought, I don't think I can make this a firm resolution. I'll just try to say how dumb that is in a "nice" way).

I'll also try to be kinder to those people who wait to call and ask me to take a picture for them in a mere ten minutes. I know it's hard for some people to believe - but sometimes it's impossible for me to drop everything I'm doing to take a picture just on the spur of the moment. I need advance notice. And that's more than 10 minutes. Very often there are several people who want a picture taken at the same time as someone else - and it's hard to be three places at one time. (But sometimes I feel like I've accomplished it).

And I'm going to try and stay calm when I go to take a picture that someone requests and then they keep me waiting 15-20 minutes before they are ready to have the picture taken. Instead of just standing there and waiting - I could be just standing there and waiting and doing "Street Opinion" at the same time.

I'll also try to have a better outlook when someone asks me to take a picture at a meeting and when I arrive at the meeting the people tell me they don't want their picture taken.

ONE resolution the editor wishes I would make is that of getting this column written before Wednesday morning - the day the newspaper goes to press. Every week I tell myself that next week is going to be different and I'm going to write my column early. But something always happens and I put off writing my column.

Since I've made so many resolutions for me, I think I'll take it upon myself to make some for other people, too.

I think the publisher should resolve to let me take off at least every other Friday in 1985.

Another resolution for the publisher is that he stop coming in my office and scaring me by saying "boo!" when I'm busy typing.

The resolution for the editor is simple - he needs to contribute money every payday to my "duck bank" which he gave me for Christmas.

And one final resolution - I'm not going to make any more resolutions for a long, long time.

Lott Announced Desire For Stennis' Seat Too Soon?

By BILL MINOR
Syndicated Columnist

JACKSON, Miss. - In a surprise move, U.S. Rep. Trent Lott sent word down to a closed door session of the State Republican Executive Committee last week that he will run for the seat of ailing Sen. John Stennis if it comes open.

Lott telephoned GOP chairman Ebbie Spivey from Washington and asked her to convey his intentions to the party executive committee which met here last Thursday night. The message was intended only for the ears of the committee, but it was impossible with 50 people present that word would not leak of the Lott move.

This column learned of the unexpected Lott decision the following day.

Lott had not been considered a likely candidate for the Stennis seat because conventional thinking had it that the 43-year-old 7-term congressman from the coastal 5th District was content to remain in the House as one of the GOP's rising stars in that chamber.

Why Lott suddenly decided he needed to make it known that he would run for the Senate if the chance comes is not yet clear to Republican leaders down here.

But one Mississippi GOP leader called it "not smart politically" for Lott to appear anxious about getting his name out as a candidate for the Stennis seat while the 83 year old solon is still battling to recover from his latest grave health crisis.

This same Republican insider said it appeared Lott overreacted to speculation that Haley Barbour, the 37-year-old Yazoo City attorney who ran against Stennis in 1982, was conceded the inside track as the most likely party standard-bearer if a special election were held for the Stennis seat.

Barbour happened to be in Washington at the time of Stennis' surgery to remove his left leg because of a cancerous tumor. He is known to have conferred with Lott during his Washington visit. While Barbour has been very prudent about it, he had let it be known to some that he was available.

Apparently Barbour, who arrived late at the executive committee meeting, was taken by surprise by the Lott message. Barbour responded that he felt discussion of candidacies for the Stennis seat was inappropriate at this time.

There's no doubt now, however, that Lott has bumped Barbour or any other Republican out of the way if a special Senate election comes.

If the election were to come before

Congressional elections in 1986, Lott would be able to run for the Senate seat without having to give up his present House seat.

In a "high man wins" election, with no runoff, Lott would be very hard to beat, particularly while the euphoria of the Ronald Reagan and Thad Cochran triumphs in Mississippi is still running high.

Lott has even stronger conservative credentials than Cochran, who noticeable moved to the right in the two years

Mississippi Farm Scene May Not Be What It Seems

By ED BLAKE
Mississippi Farm Bureau Federation

If the oft quoted saying that one picture is worth a thousand words are absolutely true, stock in Eastman Kodak Company would go bounding forward while most people probably would go around with their minds and mouths closed a lot tighter.

This thought crossed my mind recently as I visited fields in the south delta country with both camera and pencil in hand. I made a lot of pictures and some of them may be worth thousands of somebody's words, but I saw many scenes where fleeting images alone ran counter to accuracy concerning conditions under observation.

In Yazoo county we saw outstandingly high-yielding crops of cotton fully open for harvest - but with water standing in the water furrows causing quality deterioration of this fiber and some doubt remaining as to when cotton pickers will be able to harvest the crop.

I made eye-catching pictures of the fields of white fluff under blue skies and a radiant sun.

Reflections of the tall cotton stalks laden with white fiber in the water furrows. It was a physically beautiful scene.

But this beauty was deceptive. There is an unphotographed part of the total harvest picture that is not very pretty. I will try to describe it in words.

Cotton is a farm crop grown by farmers for a profit. The cycle depended on farmers' faith that weather conditions would be reasonable from spring through summer and fall so that a good harvest would more than pay for its production.

Cotton is more expensive to produce than most crops. Farmers borrow money from commercial sources at high interest rates with the hope and expectation that they will have the opportunity of harvesting a good crop and receive reasonable monetary reward for their efforts. They commit themselves to pay for all labor and machinery costs, and many other inputs including the fees of aerial applicators who spray the crops at timely intervals to protect the growing crops from grasses, weeds, and insect pests. These and other expenses are added to the debit side of the ledger books as they nurse their enterprises through the production cycle and on to harvest. They hope and dream of profits after the season is over.

Most of the cottonfields that I visited and photographed ultimately will be harvested after they have picking machines to trundle down the middles with finely tuned steel fingers snatching the cotton fiber and blowing it into a carrying bin atop the rig that somewhat resembles a mechanical lady bug.

But this cotton has stayed in the field longer than it should have stayed, and has been subjected to more rains than usual which have deteriorated its quality slowly but surely. Thus, nature almost capriciously has extracted a sizeable toll from the wallets of the farmers that produced it.

The main tragedy of the 1984 harvest is that a great majority of all Mississippi farmers have gone through this same experience with their crops of cotton and soybeans this year. Some have lost hope for much profit. Others know it is another year of red ink in the ledgers.

For some farmers, the soybean picture is worse than for cotton. As we examined soybean fields we observed water rippling in a beautiful sheen down long, double mini-canals through soybean fields. The small canals of water had formed were combines had sunk deeply into mud in an effort to get the beans harvested despite wet conditions. There was urgency when the rains would not relent. If left in the wet fields, the beans would deteriorate. Some would rot. Buyers

That Yankee From Yonder

By Ed Woodward

Managing Editor

It looks like some people will be playing a new game at the beginning of 1985.

It will be education oriented, but it will have nothing to do with anything trivial. So, you won't have to be able to tell anyone who played the black kid who was on Glenn Ford's side in Blackboard Jungle (It was Sidney Poitier, of course).

The game will be more similar to "Button, Button...Who's Got the Button?" but it will probably be called something like "Schools, Schools...Who'll Get the Schools?"

Dr. Frank Lovell and his Educational Finance Commission dropped their expected big bomb earlier than expected when they sent last week's memo with its attached "tentative" school district reorganization plan.

In fact, Lovell's memo admitted that the plan was early. "In our November 20 communication to you, we stated that you would be notified of the Commission's TENTATIVE reorganization of school districts by early January, 1985," the memo began.

It was dated Dec. 17, received by most superintendents of education on Dec. 18, and it gave local boards until Feb. 15, 1985 - a little less than two months - to finally get together and agree on something they have never been able to agree on: their own consolidation plan.

Lovell told me on the phone on the afternoon of Dec. 18, after I had obtained a copy of the EFC's "tentative" plan for the consolidation of the Prentiss County, Booneville and Baldwin districts, that, if possible, he wants the decisions made on a local level.

So, I think there was a deliberate method in his madness of releasing the "tentative" plan early. And I think Lovell's ploy is accomplishing exactly what he meant it to accomplish. It is lighting fires under local school superintendents and their boards state-wide.

Up till now, they have all talked about how they want to make the decisions about consolidation, and they have all bragged about how they plan to get together with their neighboring superintendents and boards. But talk is all most of them have done.

By releasing the EFC's plan early, and giving local officials only until Feb. 15 to come up with their own alternative plans, Lovell is, in effect, telling local superintendents and boards to put up, or shut up.

It is doubtful anything constructive will be accomplished by J.W. Greene, Steve Clark, Bob Griffin and their respective boards over the holidays. But I am willing to bet that, in the first week in January, somewhere in Prentiss County, there will be a series of very important meetings attended by three groups of people who would probably have never gotten together if Frank Lovell hadn't contrived to give them all a mutual enemy.

They will get together, they will cooperate and they will, probably, come up with an alternative plan, but, not so much because all of them are worried about Prentiss County's schools or students, though I'm sure most of them at least believe that's their motivation.

They will all want to look good, now, because after the smoke of consolidation clears, there will be only one board and one superintendent where there were three. Some of them are going to lose their jobs, and none of them wants to be one of the ones who does.

So, they are all going to want to look as conscientious and efficient as possible to Prentiss County voters, excuse me, residents.

Of course, how they are going to come up with a plan to consolidate this county's schools, without making a good percentage of the population mad at them is another question.

But it should be an interesting game to watch.

Almost 400 Attend Homemakers Club's Holiday House

The Prentiss County Homemaker Clubs recently sponsored Holiday House at the Westside Community Center. The event was open to the public and over 375 people signed the register.

The Trees of Christmas, the Holiday Cookbook, the Tasting Table and the Country Store were some of the events taking place throughout the day.

The Trees of Christmas featured handmade decorations. Each of the eight Extension Homemaker Clubs designed and decorated a tree.

The Tasting Table held 14 different dishes prepared from recipes in the Holiday Cookbook. The Country Store featured an array of handmade items.

Two demonstrations were presented -- "Green's and Things," by Mrs. Bobbye McCollum and Mrs. Joyce Akins, Extension Home Economist from Union and Lafayette Counties, respectfully. They gave several arrangement ideas and hints for working with and preserving greenery throughout the holiday season.

"Make Ahead Party Foods" was the title of the demonstration presented by Mrs. Jeanine Martin, Extension Home Economist from Alcorn County and Mrs. Patty Robinson, Prentiss County Extension Home Economist.

They suggested easy cheese balls, dips, finger goods and cookies to be used during the busy season. They also prepared and demonstrated cooking techniques for eight easy to make recipes.

Winter Warmth And Comfort

High heating bills are forcing many consumers to lower their central thermostats and use portable space heaters to supplement their heating needs, according to the Association of Home Appliance Manufacturers.

Electric heaters often are preferred over other portable types, such as oil, gas and kerosene, because they have no open flame, require no combustible fuels, fuel tanks or other items that need special storage and handling care, and give off no noxious fumes or odors.

For added precaution, many of today's portable electric heaters have built-in safety features, such as guards around the heat coils and a tip-over safety switch or heat-sensor device.

Yet, safety can't be emphasized enough in the winter, especially since consumer misuse is the most frequent cause of accidents with portable heaters. To keep your home warm and free of heating accidents this winter, follow the safety tips recommended by heater manufacturers.

A new safety leaflet explains how to use the portable electric heaters safely. For a free copy, write to AHAM, 20 North Wacker Drive, Chicago, Ill. 60606.

Ventroliquist Entertains Members Of Booneville Women's Club At Christmas

The Booneville Woman's Club celebrated Christmas in the Merrill Cartwright home Thursday, Dec. 13.

The occasion was highlighted by a visit with "J.K." through the ventriquiry of his "mother," Connie Vandier. Mrs. Vandier is a former Boneville resident now living in Fubn.

In addition, Christmas music was provided by Dawn Davidson and

Carol Dickerson. Mrs. Davidson, accompanied on piano by Mrs. Dickerson, sang "It Came Upon a Midnight Clear" and "Oh, Little Town of Bethlehem."

Mrs. Cartwright's home reflected the Christmas season from the 9-foot flocked cedar tree, poinsettias, and home-made decorations.

Members answered roll call with safety tips. They included reminders to be cautious with Christmas candles and tree lights, cooking (turning handles in), poisonous plants around children and safe driving. Particularly, members were reminded that drinking and driving is dangerous.

Presiding over the meeting was President Mrs. J.W. Browne. Hostesses with Mrs. Cartwright were Mrs. Lewis Perry, Mrs. Woodrow Davis and Mrs. John David Price.

COUNTY TEACHERS WORKSHOP - First and second grade teachers and their teacher assistants met Dec. 13, for a workshop at the George E. Allen Library. The workshop taught activities to relate to AIM objectives.

County Teachers Creating Activities To Relate To AIM

A group of first and second grade teachers and their teacher assistants in Prentiss County made a variety of instructional materials to be used in the classroom to reinforce AIM objectives during a Make-it-Take-it Workshop held at the George E. Allen Library Dec. 13.

The 19 teachers and 19 assistants displayed individual learning activities and the materials were provided to construct each of them.

Martha Spearman, County Teacher-Assistant Coordinator, organized the session because "the teachers voiced a need for instructional materials." The session encouraged creativity on their part and allowed them to use the materials according to their individual needs.

"Commercial materials are so expensive and limit you use. At the Make-it-Take-it Workshop the teachers and assistants can tailor the materials to the needs of their students individual learning situations," Mrs. Spearman explained.

She added what the teachers and assistants gained from Thursday's seven-hour session only serves as a vehicle for stretching their own creative effort. The workshop touched on every area of the curriculum.

The Make-it-Take-it workshop is named such because the teachers make their own instructional materials from scratch and then take them back to their respective classroom. The "learning by doing" experience reinforces self-reliance, she said.

Mrs. Spearman said all assistant teachers must pass a state-mandated achievement test, which includes, among other components, reading and writing components. She said the majority of Prentiss County Assistant teachers have one to four years college and previous experience working with young children.

EDUCATION DIVISION - The Education Division of the Prentiss County Community Fund has exceeded its goal for the 1985 fund campaign. Pictured are (l-r) Bobby Griffin, Booneville City Schools Superintendent;

Dean Joe Childers of Northeast Junior College; Mrs. Louise Peeler; J.W. Greene, Prentiss County Schools Superintendent; and Sam Milton, President of the Prentiss County Community Fund.

Thought For The Week:

Jesus In The Alphabet!

By Dwight R. Massengill

TEXT: Revelation 22:13 "I am Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the end, the first and the last."

The Alpha and Omega are the first and last letters in the Greek language, like A and Z in our English language. Jesus is A and Z and everything in between! In simple terms; He is everything from A to Z that we need to live a full and meaningful life!

A - Jesus is the AUTHOR of the Bible! II Timothy 3:16.
 B - Jesus is the BREAD of life! John 6:35
 C - Jesus is the One who gave the Great COMMISSION! Matthew 28:19-20
 D - Jesus is the DELIVERER! DANIEL 3:17
 E - Jesus is the ETERNAL Life! John 10:28
 F - Jesus is our FELLOWSHIP! I John 1:3
 G - Jesus is the GIFT of God! II Corinthians 9:15
 H - Jesus is the HARVESTER At the last Day! (Takes the grain; leaves the chaff) Matthew 13:30
 I - Jesus is the INCORRUPTIBLE Seed! I Peter 1:23
 J - Jesus is our JOY! Psalm 16:11
 K - Jesus is our KEEPER! Psalm 121:5

L - Jesus is our LAMP (Psalm 119:105) and our LORD! Acts 2:36
 M - Jesus is our MEDITATION! Psalm 119:97, 99
 N - Jesus is our NAME! Proverbs 22:1 (C-h-r-i-s-t-i-a-n!)
 O - Jesus is the OBEDIENT One! Philippians 2:8
 P - Jesus is our PROVIDER (Phil. 4:19) and our PEACE! Ephesians 2:14
 Q - Jesus is the One who said, "... I come QUICKLY ..." Revelation 22:20
 R - Jesus is our RECONCILIATION (II Cor. 5:19) and REVIVAL! II Chron. 7:14
 S - Jesus is our SHIELD! Psalm 33:20
 T - Jesus is our TEACHER! Psalm 94:12
 U - Jesus is our UNITY as a church and as God's children! Psalm 133:1
 V - Jesus is our VICTORY! I Corinthians 15:56-57
 W - Jesus is the WATER of life! John 4:14
 X - Jesus is the EXODUS or X-ODUS (The book of Exodus means "A way out," thus meaning a way out of the land of sin).
 Y - Jesus is our YEARNING to do His will! Hebrews 10:9
 Z - Jesus is our ZEAL to burn out living the Spirit-filled life and sharing the gospel with a world that needs God's love! Galatians 2:20

Roy Underhill can take a tree and an axe and, before long, have a house and everything to go in it. He begins his fourth season of showing folks how he does it on The Woodwright's Shop at 6 p.m., Sundays, beginning Jan. 6, on Mississippi ETV.

In his 13 new programs, Underhill tackles a variety of projects, from kitchen spoons to an entire 18th century blacksmith shop.

Between projects, he will visit other craftsmen and travel to interesting places along the East coast to find more examples of 19th century woodcraft.

In the season opener on the 6th, Underhill visits the Dominy workshops at the Winterthur Museum in Wilmington, Delaware. The museum houses a collection of more than 1,100 tools that were used by three generations of the Dominy family.

State Highway Department's New Inmate Labor Program To Begin January 2

Northern District Highway Commissioner Zack Stewart announced that the new inmate labor program is getting underway on Jan. 2, 1985, utilizing a five-man crew under the supervision of the Mississippi State Highway Department.

This program, which Commissioner Stewart pushed, will allow non-violent and first offender prisoners to work with the Department in maintaining the state's highway right-of-ways. Work assigned to inmates will be normal duties as assigned to regular employees.

The work will be limited to hand labor or hand tools and will consist of the normal eight hours.

"We are very pleased that this program is now underway," Stewart said. "It will not only benefit the people involved, but it will also help beautify the state's highway right-of-ways."

This program was established through an agreement with the Mississippi State Highway Department and the Mississippi Department of Corrections.

It will be implemented in Northeast Mississippi and several counties are involved. The program initially will utilize inmates from the community work center in Corinth.

This effort is the first of its type in the state and it has been tabbed as a pilot program.

prior to his election, and employed much conservative rhetoric during his campaign.

Lott already has excellent name recognition statewide in Mississippi from frequent appearances on the network evening news as a spokesman for the Reagan program in Congress, and more recently as the chairman of the platform committee of the 1984 Republican National Convention in Dallas.

A ways neatly groomed, every-hair-in-place, Lott is the personification of the glib New Right in the Republican Party which plans to dominate political thought in this country for the rest of this century.

He has been mentioned as a possible running mate in 1988 for Rep.

Jackie Kemp of New York, who is considered the leading presidential hope in the right-wing of the Republican Party. But Lott very likely could not be considered for the second place on a GOP ticket with Kemp if he remained in the House.

Consequently, by moving over the Senate, his chances would probably be increased as vice-presidential material. This may have been in Lott's mind in making the shift from a non-candidate to a candidate for the Stennis seat.

It is well known in the Mississippi GOP that Lott and Cochran have a rivalry going that some occasions has erupted into a rather bitter intraparty split. Some have even speculated that Lott has shied away from seeking a Senate seat because he would be junior to Cochran.

In any case, all these considerations have evidently been resolved in Lott's mind and he has set a new agenda aimed at furthering his career in the Senate.

A Lott candidacy poses an even more difficult task for the Democrats who are hoping that Stennis can hold on at least for another year to give them a chance to regroup from the devastating defeat of William Winter.

But jockeying for position to run for the Stennis seat if the opening does come is already underway in the Democratic ranks. Former U.S. Rep. David Bowen is out renewing contacts he had made last year in anticipation of being a Senate candidate against Cochran if Winter had not run.

Bowen meanwhile is taking a teaching post for the upcoming semester at Mississippi State University which could give him some important new contacts among State alumni and the agricultural forces tied to the university.

One new prospect among Democrats for the Senate seat is Atty. Gen. Edwin Pittman, who has admitted to some of his colleagues in state government that he is giving consideration to such a race if the chance comes. Otherwise, Pittman can be counted as a "sure" candidate for govern-not in 1987.

While conjecture over who will be Stennis' successor continues to be the main topic in Mississippi politics, the determined old Senator shows no sign of giving up.

Ag Affairs

would discount them accordingly if they bought them at all.

I witnessed water filled tracks that got deeper and deeper until they abruptly ended in the middle of the field. The rest of the beans were still there - spoiled by now.

I made pictures. Some people would call them good pictures. But for others they are bad pictures like the rest of the story that pictures do not tell. It concerns the drama of the farmer who comes home after riding over his spoiling fields with worry lines over his brow. He doesn't know whether to distract himself in some way like watching the evening news to see worse situations than his own, or watching a football game to forget his own deadly game. Or he might just head for a deer camp for a few days.

Still in the unphotographed picture are the heavy mortgages hanging over the farms and the crops. This scene is one that farmers sometimes talk about among themselves in low, measured tones. Their creditors talk about it too at other times and places - usually behind closed doors.

For far too many Mississippi farmers in November, 1984, this is a gloomily accurate word picture of their position in a jam of fickle weather conditions, inflation, a continuing run of low to no income years and the increasing pressures of rising debt loads with no specific signs that things soon will get better.

MSU Researchers Discover Virus Killing Catfish

Thousands of dollars in lost revenue for the catfish industry may be saved by a recent discovery of a disease which killed approximately 40 percent of the industry's young fish in 1980.

College of Veterinary Medicine researchers at Mississippi State University, in cooperation with the Department of Wildlife and Fisheries, have identified channel catfish virus in broodfish.

Catfish producers and farmers currently have no means of controlling the disease, which attacks only the young, because its origin is unknown, said Dr. Paul Bowser, associate professor of aquatic medicine at MSU.

Bowser said the discovery of the virus in the broodfish should eventually help catfish producers and farmers manage the disease by developing preventive methods for its control.

The Mississippi catfish industry lost nearly half of its young catfish during the extremely hot summer of 1980, according to reports of the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service. Bowser explained the disease is more active during times of stress for the fish, such as periods of extremely hot weather.

"Under conditions of severe stress," Bowser said, "losses can be as high as 100 percent."

The young fish list of 1980 created a vacuum in potential production that year and stimulated research concerning the virus. Since Mississippi catfish production accounts for almost 80 percent of national catfish production, the industry makes a significant contribution to the agriculture-based economy of the state.

The channel catfish virus research project was started three years ago and was funded by the College of Veterinary Medicine and the Mississippi Agriculture and Forestry Experiment Station.

Research on the disease is continuing by these institutions, funded in part by the Catfish Farmers of America.

"The goal of future research is to develop a reliable technique to identify adult catfish that carry channel catfish virus disease," Bowser said.

VOT Employer Of The Week

Cindy Huddleston and Charles Patten

The Vocational Business Education Department at the Prentiss County Vocational Technical School this week spotlights Charles Patten Jr., Manager of Sunflower Food Store, and their student-employee, Cindy Huddleston from Booneville High School and the Cooperative Vocational Office Training Program.

Patten is a graduate of Booneville High School and attended Northeast Junior College. He is married to the former Brenda Cole, and they have one child, Anita Michelle.

Cindy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Huddleston, and a junior at Booneville High School.

She has been a class reporter, cheerleader, as well as student council member. She is a member of the National Honor Society, the Anchor Club, Hi-Boone Staff, the Drama Club, Math and Science Club, SPACE Club, Annual Staff, and the Prentiss County FBLA Chapter.

Establishing Computer Curriculum

University of Southern Mississippi officials Thursday announced the impending establishment of a campus-wide, computer-augmented curriculum that will be the first program of its type on college campuses across the nation.

The program, which will be launched within the next few weeks, will make state-of-the-art microcomputers available to students and faculty at reduced prices at the USM Bookstore, with long-term financing arranged through an agreement with IBM Corporation.

Other key aspects of the program will involve establishment of a faculty network to implement the program and mould it to fit the widely varying curriculums of the different academic areas; and the distribution of 200 university-purchased microcomputers at public "clusters" that will serve USM students, faculty and staff members who choose not to buy personal computers.

"A combination of all these elements into one plan is unique in the United States," said Dr. G. David Huffman, dean of the USM College of Science and Technology, and the man who has spearheaded development of the project. "It's the first program of its kind in the country."

Joining Huffman in announcing establishment of the program at a campus news conference were Dr. Aubrey K. Lucas, USM President, and Fred Powell, director of IBM operations in Mississippi.

"The biggest advantage of the program is that students will be able to purchase a computer," said Huffman, noting a unique "secondary financing" arrangement okayed by the state's Central Data Processing Authority would allow the university to obtain a $1 million line of computer credit from IBM, then sell the computers directly to students and faculty through the campus bookstore.

IBM will offer discounts ranging from 36 to 43 percent on a variety of microcomputers and peripheral equipment ranging in the cost from $1,000 to $10,000, and purchasers will be able to spread the cost over 48 months by making monthly payments or working the cost into semester tuition fees. The annual financing cost would be well below the current prime interest rate.

Also, in another unique development, Huffman said IBM agreed to establish a maintenance facility in Hattiesburg to provide speedy repairs and other service for computer purchasers.

He said an "IBM fair" would be held on the USM campus later this month to display the various microcomputer models and show the different options that will be made available at the university bookstore by mid-December.

The PC Junior model, which would cost about $1,300 and has a 12-month warranty, features a 128K main memory, 360K disc, color graphics, a synchronous communication systems to connect it to the mainframe, a graphics printer and some software in the form of a disc operating system. Other more expensive models include the PC, XT and the $10,000 AT model.

The 200 computers purchased by the university for placement in public "clusters" early in 1985 will be strategically located across the campus according to the needs of the various academic areas.

"These systems will be placed in a staged fashion over a six-to-12-month period as we gain experience," said Huffman, who holds a Ph.D. degree in engineering science from Ohio State University, and is a former professor and chairman of the Department of Computer and Information Science at Purdue University, Indianapolis.

He said USM students, faculty and staff members would have access to the cluster-center computers during specified hours. He said students would use the computers to meet course requirements for some 150 to 200 classes across the campus.

"This will prepare our students for employment in today's market," he added.

In setting up a faculty network to implement the program, Huffman said a director will be appointed to head the project. This director will report directly to USM's vice president for academic affairs, Dr. James Sims, and will be responsible for training representatives of each of the university's schools and colleges. The representatives, in turn, will train other faculty members and they will train students.

"The instructor may hand out discs instead of workbooks," Huffman explained. "For example, some procedures that now are performed manually in an accounting course may be assigned as a task on the computer. Using spread-sheet programs will teach the students to perform the task just like businesses actually do it."

PREPARING FRUIT - Booneville firemen are shown preparing fruit boxes for the needy at Christmas. This year the Goodfellows Program raised approximately $4,200 to provide about 400 fruit boxes for the needy.

Low-Income Heating Assistance Available From Governor's Office

Eligible low-income households with elderly or handicapped persons can again receive monetary assistance to help offset winter heating costs through the Low-Income Heating Energy Assistance Program, according to the Governor's Office of Energy and Community Services.

Beginning Dec. 1, families certified eligible can receive one-time payments of $100 to $240 which can legally be cashed only through the energy vendors declared on their applications.

Mississippi received approximately $18,300,000 from a federal Low-Income Home Energy Assistance Block Grant to fund this year's LIHEAP activities, which include a winter heating and summer cooling assistance program, a low-income weatherization program, an emergency intervention program and an energy conservation education program.

All applicants must meet certain requirements. They must have income equal to or less than 125 percent of the OMB poverty income guidelines, be responsible for cost of energy, have proof of income for everyone in household and produce an energy bill showing utility responsibility in their name.

A single household, for example, could have no more than $6,225 income to qualify. A family of four could have no more than $12,750.

Persons wishing to apply for LIHEAP assistance should contact the local community action agency in their area to make appointments.

Homebound persons who cannot go to an office to apply should contact their local agency by telephone, and arrangements will be made to either have an application taken in their homes or assist someone else in filing the application for the homebound persons.

Approximately 84,000 low-income Mississippi households were aided through LIHEAP assistance last year.

Additional information on LIHEAP may be obtained by calling the Governor's Office of Energy and Community Services at 354-6099 or 961-4740 or the Governor's Service Line, toll-free, 1-800-222-7622.

SCB Expands Information Service

Did you ever need to mail a quick letter to someone only to find you didn't have the zip code? Or maybe you've found a note at home with what seemed to be an important telephone number, but you couldn't remember whose it was?

With South Central Bell's expanded Directory Assistance service, these and similar situations will be problems of the past. Effective Nov. 15, directory assistance operators began giving customers directory addresses, zip codes, and names when customers gave the operators a telephone number.

A charge of 30 cents applies for each call, and customers can request two listings on each call.

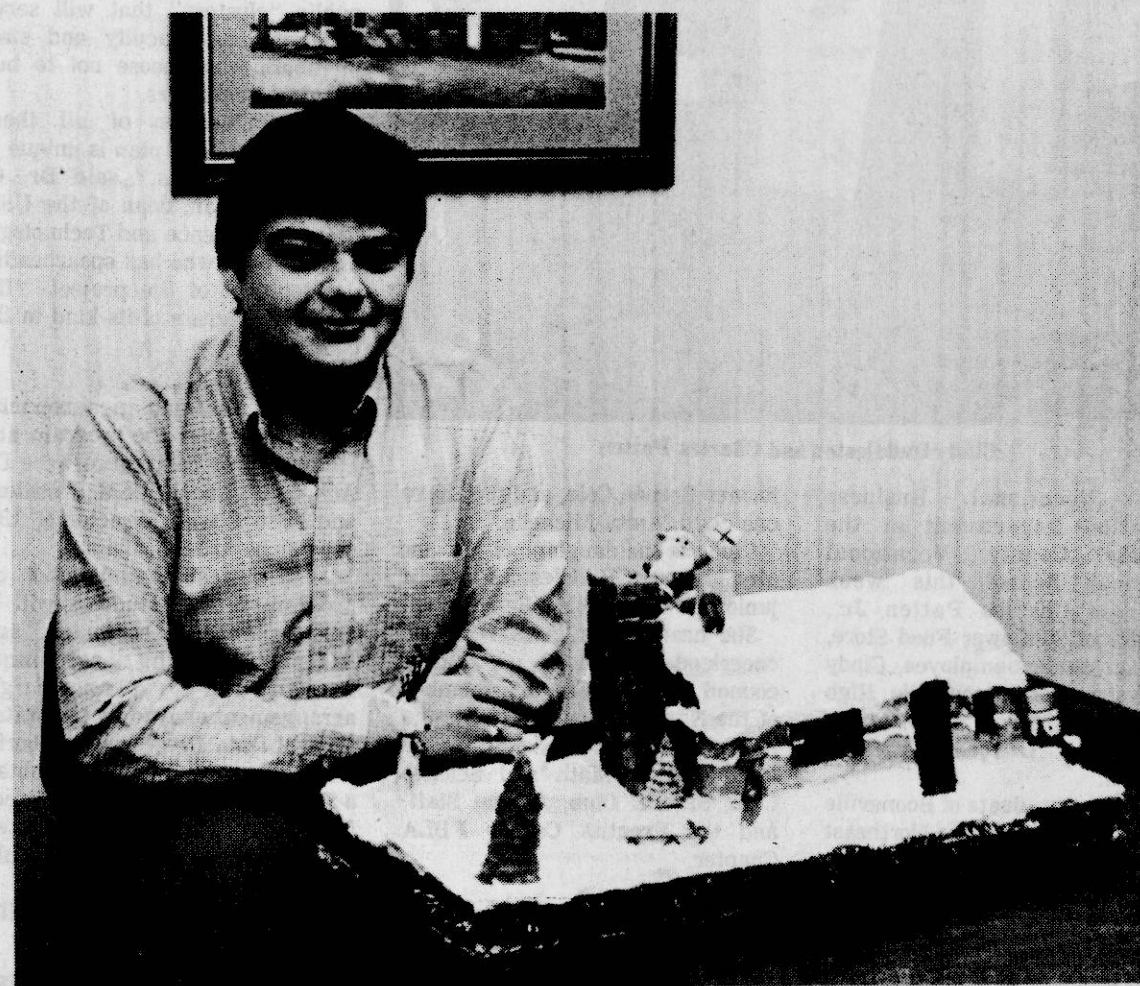

He added that address and name information for other customers will be excluded upon request by calling either the Residence Service Center or Business Service Center.

The telephone company expects the address service to be widely used by businesses as a reliable, fast way to get information. Zip code, directory address, and telephone number information is available through Directory

Assistance 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

CHRISTMAS CAKE - Keith Vuncannon of Route 7, Booneville, made this Christmas scene cake as an anniversary present for his parents, Larry and Marie Vuncannon who celebrated their 24th anniversary Dec. 23. The cake took 15 hours to prepare and Vuncannon made up his own design. Hershey's candy was used for the doors and windows of the snow covered house while caramel kisses were used to make the chimney. There are 8 lbs. of confectioner's sugar in the cake plus 12 cups of flour and 16 eggs. Vuncannon is a student at Northeast Junior College and also works at the Regional Rehabilitation Center in Tupelo.

County Agent's Notes

Mid December is the last call for planting ornamental trees, shrubs, and ground covers in Prentiss County. Our coldest weather is usually in January and February. We should not plant during this time. Planting season will reopen in March.

December is also the last call for winterizing landscape trees and shrubs. Remember to use plenty of mulch - especially around newly planted material. Also newly planted landscape trees should be staked and tied.

Our publication entitled "Pruning Landscape Plants" recommends late winter as the ideal time to prune landscape trees and shrubs. However, some home gardeners have a little extra time during the Christmas holidays. Landscape plant material is dormant by this time so it is acceptable to prune most material. Remember that spring blooming shrubs should be pruned after they flower so you can enjoy the burst of spring color.

Pruning now would prune off most of the flower buds. This group includes well known items such as Forsythia, Spirea, Deutzia, Weigela, Winter Honeysuckle, Philadelphus, and Viburnum. In addition, azaleas should not be pruned until after they flower.

You should be aware that it will not hurt these plants to prune them this time of year. It is simply a matter of either enjoying the flowers or pruning them off before they bloom.

Maples should not be pruned during the winter since they bleed quite excessively when spring arrives. We prefer mid-summer to later-summer pruning for maples.

Will fallen tree leaves remaining on the lawn until spring harm or kill the turfgrasses?

The answer is quite simple no. In fact, the foliage cover from leaf drop is Mother Nature's way of blanketing and mulching undergrowth for protection from desiccation (drying) and freeze damage. Raking is basically a matter of aesthetics and fire prevention. Always maintain a minimum firebreak of about 20 feet near the house. The leaves should be removed when spring transition begins in March.

On the other hand, if you have a cool season grass such as fescue, bluegrass, or ryegrass, leaf cover should be removed so these grasses can get ample light. They make most of their growth during the fall and spring months and need the light for best growth.

What's New Year's dinner without blackeye peas and hog jowl?

That tradition is carried on, in many homes, year after year. Whether it brings good luck, as in the legendary story, it does afford a pleasant change in eating habits.

Serve blackeye peas, turnip greens, baked sweet potatoes and corn bread for a traditional southern menu.

If your New Year plans include blackeye peas you have several choices in the grocery store. Select from dry, canned or frozen. You'll pay more for canned or frozen peas. However, on time and fuel for preparation, canned peas make the least demand.

Texture and flavor preference for different forms of field peas vary with individual tastes and methods of preparation. There's little room for argument when it comes to the choice of peas canned from dry stock or from fresh peas. Texture and flavor are definitely poor for those that are labeled "canned from dry stock" or "cooked-dry peas."

Price has always been lower for these peas than for canned fresh peas, but there's little difference in cost of the two types now - another evidence that the cost of the can may affect retail price more than the cost of its contents.

Texture and flavor of frozen peas, surprisingly enough, are seldom superior to that of the least expensive brands of canned peas. With proper seasoning and heating methods, the flavor and texture of canned peas may be excellent. When you compare cost of canned or dried peas for economy, remember the preparation method is important in getting the most satisfaction for the money spent.

If your choice for New Year's dinner is dry peas, the way you cook them will have a lot to do with their texture. Since mushy peas do not look as appetizing as crisp, whole, tender ones, texture also affects appearance.

To cook dry peas tender without mushiness use an hour hot soak instead of the overnight soaking our grandmothers used.

Here's how: Wash and slice a half pound of hog jowl (or other pork). Add 4 cups of water and simmer for 1½ hours. Wash 1½ cups dry peas and put in vessel with jowl. Bring back to a boil and remove from heat for one hour while peas soak. Return peas to heat and simmer slowly 30 to 40 minutes, until peas are tender but not mushy. Add 1 to 2 teaspoons of salt during the last few minutes of cooking. You'll need to use less salt if you use cured pork.

For the best buy in other New Year's food, study the food ads carefully. Midnight snacks of the "fix-it-yourself" type may come directly from our less expensive foods. Wedges of big red apples, slabs of mellow cheese, and peanut butter on crackers are tasty, nourishing, and economical.

Although choices in prepared sandwich meats are numerous, lowest prices are for the most frequently used ones, such as bologna and spiced ham. You can usually save money by buying sandwich meats in unsliced pieces.

For more elegant entertaining, spreads and dips made at home from Cheddar cheese or leftover ham or poultry are as economical as they are good. If you must assemble snacks in a hurry, you'll pay more, but there's a wide assortment of partly or fully prepared dips and sandwich spreads available.

Hot chocolate appeals to young and old alike on cold winter nights. The easiest solution to this problem is to heat chocolate milk or add hot water to a hot chocolate mix. These are available in individual packets. In making hot chocolate from fresh

By WAYNE LAND

After eating festive dishes during the holidays, it is easy to mistake food poisoning with indigestion. These tips from 4-H members in the food preservation projects will help eliminate the confusion.

Salmonellosis is one of the more common types of foodborne diseases of food poisoning. The source of the disease is the bacteria Salmonella. They can live, grow and cause illness in the digestive tract of people after they eat contaminated food.

Symptoms include stomach trouble, chills and fever. Foods that are particularly susceptible to salmonellosis are poultry, meats, egg shells, and turtles.

Staph infection is caused by a bacteria that produces a poisonous toxin and causes illness after eating the contaminated food. It is often transmitted by food handlers who carry the bacteria through a sneeze or cough.

Usually this foodborne disease is transmitted in milk foods, egg and potato salads, ham and casseroles.

Botulism is caused by a bacteria that grows only in the absence of air and produces a deadly toxin. The toxin may be destroyed by heating the food at boiling temperature for at least 10 minutes. Spinach, corn and meats should be boiled for 20 minutes.

Botulism is characterized by muscle weakness and paralysis. Disturbance of vision, swallowing and speech are also symptoms. This type of foodborne disease occurs mainly from eating home canned foods that have been improperly processed.

Timberline

By ROBERT THORNTON
County Forester

Dr. Fred Cubbage over at the University of Georgia did a study earlier this year to test the old axiom that "it pays to get assistance from a qualified forester in managing your timberland."

His study involved taking a look at technical work done by Georgia Forestry Commission foresters on privately owned timberland, as opposed to what landowners accomplished on their own. You might be interested in the results; particularly if you own timberland and have chosen, up to this point, not to use a professional forester's advice in its management.

Here's some of what Dr. Cubbage found after studying 20 tracts that were managed with the aid of foresters and 20 that were not, between 1979 and 1982:

- 1.) Pine timber harvested from assisted tracts amounted to 1,135 cubic ft. per acre; while timber harvested from unassisted tracts averaged 1,485 cubic ft. per acre. (In other words, unassisted timberland was more heavily cut.)
- 2.) Softwood (pine) volume left after harvest was much higher on assisted tracts than on unassisted tracts. (810 cu. ft. verses 226 cu. ft. per acre).
- 3.) More seedlings were growing on assisted tracts after natural stand harvests than on unassisted tracts. (There were 1,602 seedlings per acre left on the former and only 803 on the later.)

But the real "kicker" in this study had to do with how much better the average sale price was for volume cut off the assisted tracts. Here's what Cubbage recorded on that score:

Assisted sales brought $108 per thousand board feet of timber sold, while the unassisted sale price averaged only $66 per thousand!

Combining the current sales income on assisted tracts with the fact that the residual stand was left in much better condition, Cubbage found that landowners who utilized the services of a State Forestry Agency forester in harvesting their timber provided for themselves 66 percent greater income per acre ($1,563 to $940.)

Reputable forestry consultants could be expected to do at least as well in helping landowners realize more income from their timber.

Folks, we want to help. That's what the Forestry Commission is all about. Give us a call will you? - Before you cut that timber! The number to call is 728-6835 . . . or write us at Mississippi Forestry Commission, P.O. Box 751, Booneville, Miss. 38829.

Bulldogs Chew Up War Eagles

By GREG SHOOK
Sports Writer

The crowd began gathering at the doors early in the afternoon for the double-header between the area's only two unbeaten teams, the Wheeler War Eagles and the New Albany Bulldogs, which was scheduled to start at 6:30 p.m. By 7 p.m. at least 1500 people had crowded into a gym designed to hold approximately 800.

And when the crowd had cleared the gym Friday night the Eagles had fallen short of the Number Three ranked Bulldogs by 74-66 before the home stand crowd.

The Eagles who were ranked Number One in the Little Five schools and Number 15 in the state are now 21-1 for the season, while the Bulldogs move to 14-0.

The New Albany ballclub got things started early in the game, scoring their first two points with 7:30 showing on the clock in the first quarter. Wheeler scored a quick two of their own just seconds later.

The Eagles then let ball handling mistakes take charge and the Bulldogs gained six quick points. Rebounds proved to be a negative factor for the War Eagles as New Albany's Johnny Payton and Chester Strickland crashed the boards to give New Albany almost continuous scoring.

With 2:19 left in the first quarter Wheeler cut the Bulldogs lead to 12-10 on two free throws by Tony Tate. But the Bulldogs came back with seven quick points to put them up 19-14 at the end of the first quarter.

The Bulldogs began moving ahead of the Eagles in the second quarter thanks to a couple of 20 footers from Johnny Payton and several 10 footers from Michael Ball.

The half time score showed New Albany up 39-31.

During the third quarter the Bulldogs went up by 12 on the score board. But an aggressive run and gun attack by the Eagles rallied them back to within four.

The fourth quarter proved to be the most destructive quarter for the War Eagles who could not capitalize on open shots and free throws.

Payton managed to gain 10 rebounds in the fourth quarter to aid the Bulldogs in their win.

Johnny Payton finished the game with 29 points for the New Albany Bulldogs. He was followed by Chester Strickland with 16, Chris Johnson with 11 and Michael Ball with 10.

For the War Eagles Mike Chandler led the high scorers spot with 15 points, followed by Willie 'Goose' Miller with 13 and Tony Tate with 10.

"We dreaded coming to Wheeler's home court," said Bulldog coach Harvey Childers after the game.

"As far as the rankings, they mean absolutely nothing to me," he said. "Any body that would rank us that many points above Wheeler...there has to be something wrong with their ranking system, because Wheeler is by far one of the greatest teams in the state."

"I don't know if we deserve to be up there. But they certainly deserve to be a lot higher than they were," Childers said.

In the girls game played earlier the Lady Bulldogs beat the Lady War Eagles 80-45.

Leading the scoring for the Lady Dogs was Barbara Strickland with 22 points and Daphne Davis with 23.

For the Lady War Eagles it was Pam Johnson with 17 points and Teena Micheal with 12 points.

New Assistant Football Coach Named For BHS

By SCOTT MCKINNEY
Sports Writer

Booneville High School Principal Mac Curlee has announced the school's hiring of Andy Greening as the new assistant football and baseball coach, replacing Ken Shackelford, who resigned last month.

Curlee made the announcement after the school board had reviewed all applicants for the position.

"Coach Greening was interviewed and seemed to be the type of person we were looking for," Curlee said. "He had inquired about a position here last year, and we knew he would be interested in this position."

Shackelford's resignation was effective at the end of the fall semester, as he left Booneville to pursue a career in the insurance field. Greening will step in at the start of the spring semester at Booneville.

"I feel like this is a step up in my career," Greening said. "I'm anxious to get to work with the staff and kids at Booneville."

Greening said one thing that will help him at Booneville is his age and ability to relate to the kids.

"I always have been able to get along real well with the kids," he said. "I demand a lot from the athletes, but I still get along real well with them."

Greening is originally from Corinth, where he was an all-conference tackle in 1974. After finishing his prep career at Corinth, he played for two years at Northeast Junior College where he was named a permanent captain.

Although he did not pursue his career in football, Greening attended Mississippi State where he earned a bachelors degree in physical education and later a masters.

After graduating Mississippi State, Greening accepted a position as assistant football and baseball coach at Burnsville High School in Alcorn County. Greening's baseball team that year finished with a 21-5 record.

He then moved to the opposite side of the county to coach at Biggersville High. In three years at Biggersville, his football teams had a record of 22-12. However, he contributes the Lion's success those years to Mississippi State running back and former Biggersville standout Jeff Patton.

Greening took a huge step after his three year tenure at Biggersville, accepting a position at Mississippi State as a graduate assistant coach with the MSU football team in strength and conditioning.

After spending one year at State, Greening went to Pillow Academy in Greenwood, where his football team went 7-3 this past fall.

Another asset Greening said he possesses for the Booneville position is his belief in the weight program. BHS coach Wayne Jones has been an avid follower of the weight and conditioning program, and Greening said this has completely turned around the Booneville program.

Greening said his experiences with the weights will only better the Devils' current program.

"Coach Jones has one of the best weight programs going on at the school," he said. "Maybe, what I have learned in my career will help the kids in some way."

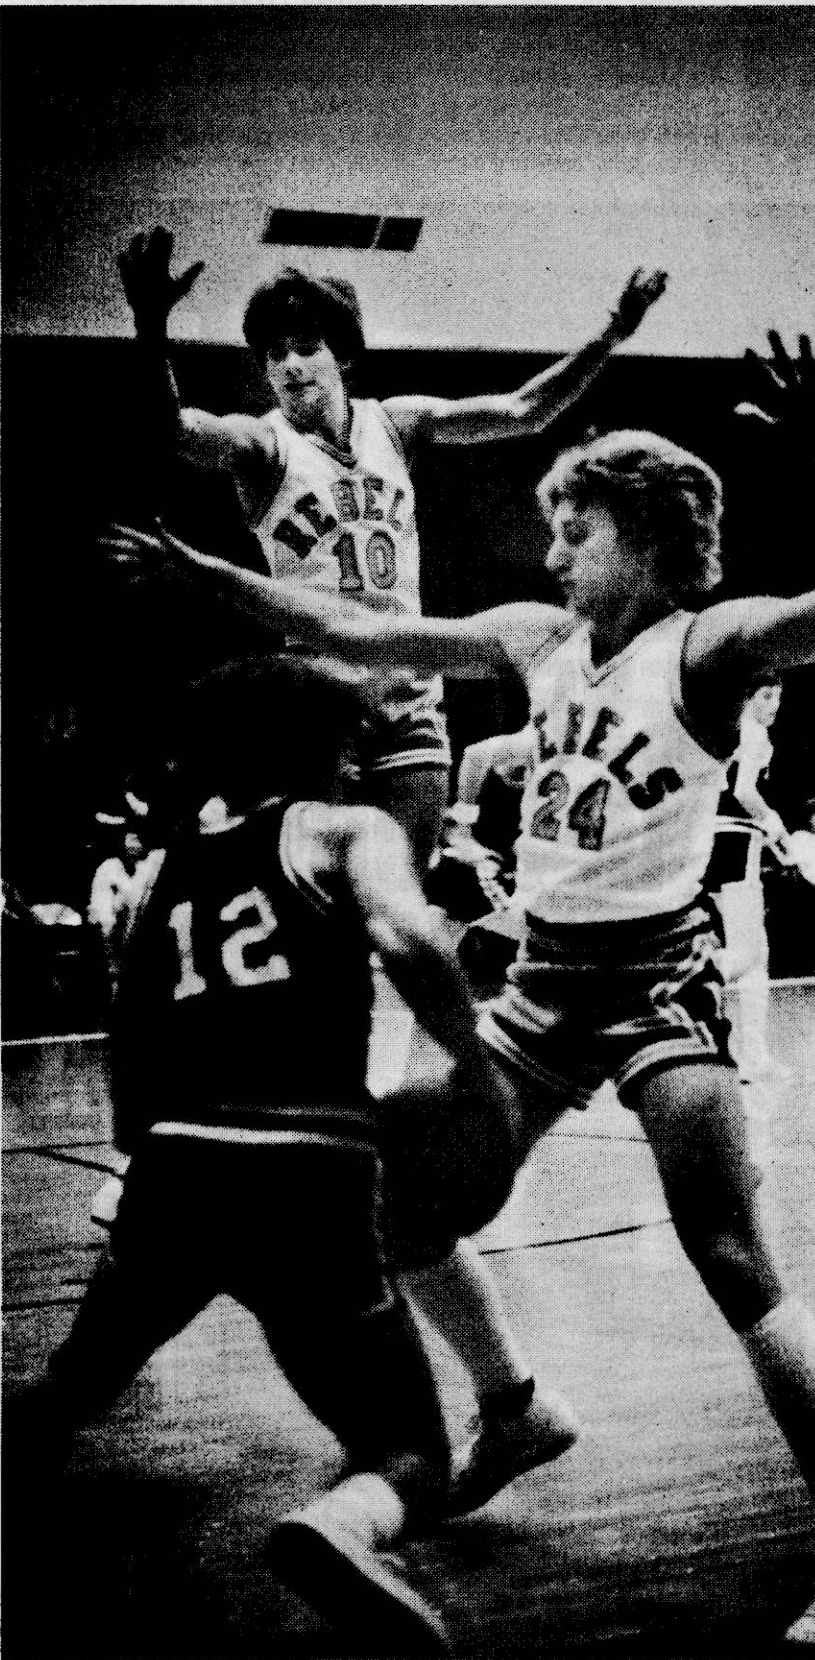

Helping the kids is one of Greening's main goals he said. "I'm not just out here to win football games," he said. "I want to help our kids be better prepared for life as well as football."

Jones said last week that the addition to Greening will be a big plus to the Booneville program.

"He will step right in and give us some needed help in the weight room," Jones said. "He's the type of coach that expects one-hundred percent from the kids and nothing else. His presence and experience will really help us. We're looking forward to having him on the staff."

Greening is no stranger to Booneville, as he is married to the former Rhonda McCreary of Booneville.

Greening's responsibilities at BHS include assistant football and baseball coach. Jones said that official team assignments have not been made as of the holiday break.

TRAPPED-- Thrasher's Denson Scott (10) and Russ Lambert (24) seem to have Kossuth's Bill Overton trapped on the baseline in the recent Rebels-Aggle matchup in the Northeast Holiday tournament. Overton and his teammates, however, managed to get out of this situation and take a win over the Rebels. (Photo by Greg Shook)

Bearcats Take Five-County Tourney

By GREG SHOOK
Sports Writer

Though Baldwin, Jumpertown, Thrasher and New Site all participated in the Northeast Junior College Five-County Tournament last week at Bonner Arnold Coliseum, Baldwin, the tourney champ, was the only Prentiss County team to advance to the finals.

Thrasher and New Site were both eliminated in the first round of play. Jumpertown advanced to the second round before being eliminated by the Bearcats.

The Thrasher Rebels were the first to be sent home Tuesday night after losing to the Kossuth Aggies by 59-46 despite a battling first half of play.

After trading baskets with the Rebels throughout the first half, the Aggies took a last second shot in the second quarter to pull ahead by 28-26 at the half time break.

In the third quarter the Aggies continued to pull away, scoring 16 points to the Rebels' six. The Rebels retaliated with a full court press, barely slowing the Aggies attack.

Thrasher attempted a come-back with a quick shot here, and a steal there, pulling back to within eight points with only a few minutes remaining in the game. But Kossuth held their lead to game's end.

Leading scoring for the Aggies were James Johnson with 16 points, Jeff Rencher with 15 and Bill Overton with 13. Rebel top scorers were Russell Lambert and Bill Windham with 10 each.

IT LOOKED LIKE A SLOW START for the Jumpertown Cardinals, as they dropped the Tishomingo Bulldogs 55-26 in Tuesday's night-cap. But, by the second quarter, the game belonged to the Cardinals.

Jumpertown scored 18 points in five minutes to push their lead to 33-11 at the half time mark. And the Cardinals were able to continue that pace for the remainder of the game.

Leading the Cardinals in scoring was Tim Betts with 13 points. For Tishomingo, Ken South's 11 points capped the high scoring honors.

NEW SITE WAS DOWNED by the Corinth Warriors 70-55 in their Dec. 19 matchup.

The Royals only led the Warriors once, near the end of the first half after two quick buckets by Ronald Clark, making the half time score 30-26, New Site.

But the Royals were unable to hold control when the third quarter began, and the Warriors pulled away to take the win.

Leading the Warriors were Tony Edmonds with 19 points, Mike Burgess with 18 and Gary Irons with 12. New Site was led by Ronald Clark with 20 points and Neil Moss with 18.

JUMPERTOWN DROPPED their second round game to the Baldwin Bearcats 61-46.

Baldwin jumped out to an early lead and never lost it. Despite a brief rally by the Cardinals late in the second quarter, the Bearcats led 30-22 at the half time break.

The Bearcats took advantage of the time in the second half as they continued to pull away from the Cardinals.

The Bearcats were led by Tim

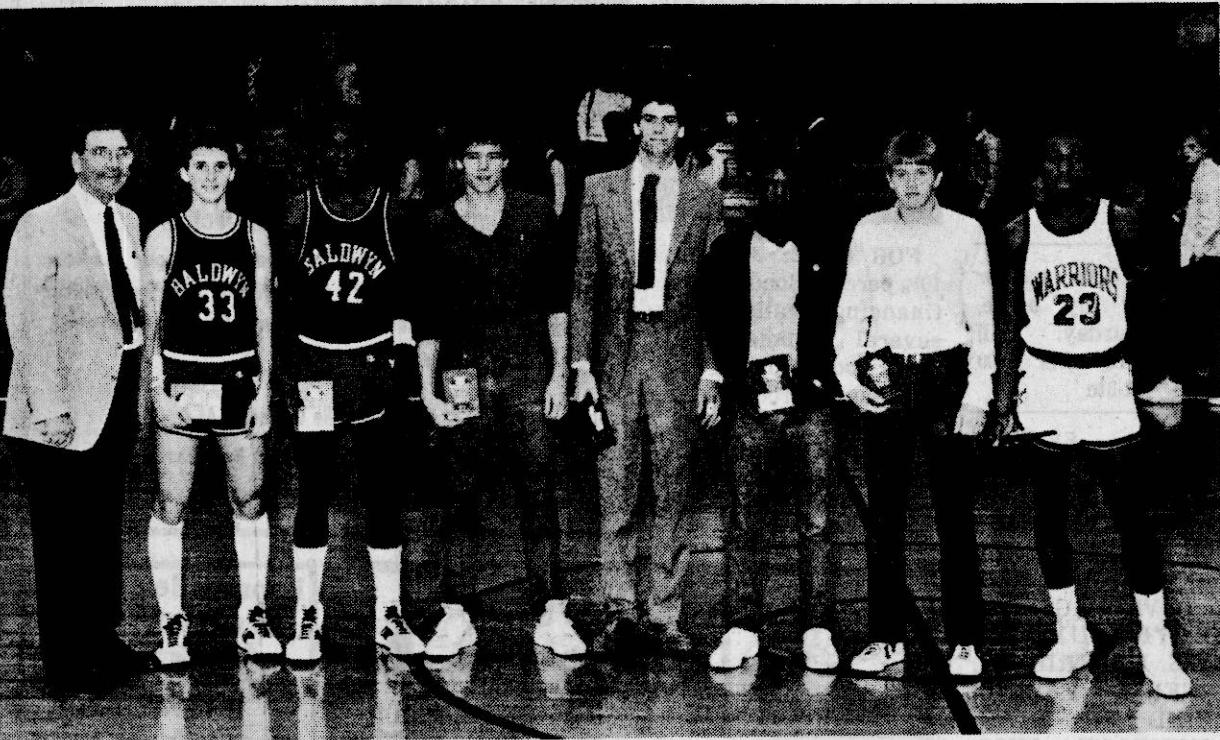

Jumper with 21 points, John Price with 13 and Barry Prather and Jim Palmer with 10 each.

For the Cardinals Julius Perrin led the scoring with 16 points and Craig Lauderdale contributed 10.

AFTER DOWNING JUMPERTOWN to gain a berth in the finals, the Bearcats made good use of their inside game in outscoring the Corinth Warriors for the championship 47-46.

Tim Jumper's turnaround from eight feet out with one second remaining gave the 'Cats the top spot in the second annual tournament.

John Price led Baldwin with 18 points and Jumper added 12. Corinth's Gary Iron scored 17 to lead the Warriors.

Sports Writer's Predictions For '85

By SCOTT MCKINNEY
Sports Writer

It seems that everyone who is anyone has made their astrological predictions for the upcoming new year. Jeanne Dixon has her usual footnotes of fortune and Johnny Carson even gave a few prognostications last week.

So, I have taken it upon myself to render unto you my forecasts for 1985.

Many of our readers know about my predictions from those I have made in our Sports Plus sections. But, I am here to resolve that I am truly majestic in the unseen world. (I once saw that as a slogan for a toilet tissue commercial.)

I am limited in my predictions. I only foresee what will occur in the world of sports over the span of the next 365 days. But, many have taken my predictions and used them as a guiding light for their journey. (If you believe that, then I have some land in Florida that you might be interested in!)

After much thought and meditation, I have reached a conclusion on all of my predictions -- and so has my editor.

But, for what it's worth, here are my predictions for the upcoming year:

- (1)-- The Seattle Seahawks and the Chicago Bears will advance in the NFL playoffs and face each other in the Super Bowl for the NFL crown.
- (2)-- Memphis State, Georgetown, LSU and DePaul will all advance into the NCAA's final four tournament with Georgetown earning their second straight title.
- (3)-- Michael Jordan will lead the Chicago Bulls into the NBA championship series and past Larry Bird and the Boston Celtics.
- (4)-- The Atlanta Braves and the Milwaukee Brewers will win their respective divisions and leagues and advance into the World Series. The Braves will capture the top spot in baseball as they will beat the Brew Crew in five games.

And, finally, on the local level, all of the area football teams will have winning seasons and advance into state playoff action. And, the Northeast Tigers will turn around last year's 0-10 season and win the state championship.

Many of these predictions may seem farfetched and absurd, but what do you expect from a sports writer?

Blue Devils Drop Two

The Pontotoc High School basketball teams took two games from the Booneville Blue Devils at the BHS gym last Friday night as teams finished their holiday schedules.

The Lady Warriors beat the Devilettes 64-36 in the opener. Shelia Harden and Melissa Westmoreland scored 14 points each in a well-balanced attack from the Warriors. Angie Wilson also added 10 points for the Lady Warriors.

Pam Crump paced the Booneville attack with 13, while Lea Hughes added 10.

A 28-point performance from Pontotoc's Wesley Walls aided in the Warriors 70-58 win over the Devils in the nightcap.

Ken Lester scored 18 and Stacy Chew added 10 in the Pontotoc victory.

Rodney McVey scored 17 to lead the Booneville attack as Clay Johnson, the second leading scorer in North Mississippi behind Robert Woodard of Houlika, was held to 14. Jim Caver chipped in with 12 points for the Devils.

The Lady Devils head into the holiday break with a 2-13 record. The Devils are at .500 with a 7-7 record. Both teams will return to the floor on January 4 when they travel to Ingomar to face the Falcons.

The Devils will return to the friendly confines of the BHS gym on Jan. 8 when they host coach Gerald Caveness' Alcorn Central Golden Bears.
